State Jobless Rate Steady; County's Lower

Maryland's labor market exhibited rather traditional seasonal patterns in September. Summer workers continued to leave the labor force as workers in education reentered the job market to begin the fall semester. The withdrawal and influx of workers stabilized the job market, helping to maintain the state's unemployment rate at 6.0 percent for the third consecutive month.

In Garrett County the jobless rate dropped from 8.2 percent in August to 7.9 percent in September, one and one-half points below last September's rate of 9.4 percent.

Nationally, downsizing in the labor force caused the unemployment rate to drop from 5.6 percent in August to 5.4 percent September.

"It is good news that employment in the state reached its highest level ever for September," said Secretary of Labor, Licensing and Regulation (DLLR) Eugene A. Conti, Jr. Additionally encouraging is the fact that Maryland's unemployment rate remained the same for three consecutive months and continues to be lower than the national unemployment rate."

Employment during September remained well above the 2.6 million mark, exceeding the September 1994 total by about 32,500 people. Seasonal layoffs continued also as the number of employed people dropped by nearly 25,800 over the month. Even with the employment declines summer workers leaving the labor force helped the number of unemployed people to also drop by more than 2,000 in September.

The number of jobs reported by Maryland employers was higher during September, primarily because of recalls in education and related satellite industries. These gains, coupled with hiring in general merchandise stores, food stores, business services and health services, diminished the impact of seasonal declines in food processing, restaurants, amusements, hotels and various outdoor-related activities.

An estimated 6.7 percent of the Western Maryland labor force was unemployed during September, down from 7.1 percent in August. In Washington County, where reductions in manufacturing contributed to employment declines, unemployment fell as workers left the job market.

Statewide, unemployment rates in September ranged from a low of 2.8 percent in Montgomery County to a high of 8.6 percent in Cecil County.

JWCC Meets For Crafts Evening

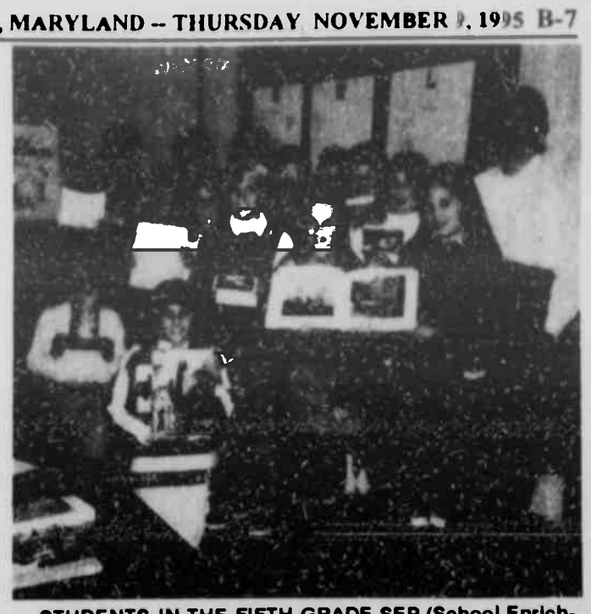
The Junior Woman's Civic Club met November 2 at a meeting room at the Elks' Lodge for an evening of crafts.

Inducted into the club as new members were Penny McLaughlin and Joelle Simmons. One guest, Brenda Arnold, attended the meeting.

During the business meeting donation checks were written for the Garrett Community College Foundation and Garrett County Habitat for Humanity. Preparations for the annual spaghetti dinner to benefit Garrett County Hospice were finalized. The dinner will be held Saturday, November 11, from 4 until 8 p.m. at the Oakland fire hall. Fifty-fifty tickets are currently on sale with the winner to be announced at the dinner. Tickets for both the dinner and the 50-50 drawing may be obtained in advance from any JWCC member or at the door the evening of the dinner.

The door prize, a fall dried flower arrangement, was won by Amy Graham.

The next meeting is scheduled for December 7 at 6 p.m. at the Silver Tree Inn and will be the club's holiday party and gift exchange. Any person interested in attending may contact Angie Stevens at 334-1711 for further information.



GRANTSVILLE

A surprise birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Nixon for Fran Barncord on Friday, Nov. 3.

Those attending were: Ed and Eleanor Solomon, Fran and Ed Barncord, Corriganville, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bowser, Mary Kamp, Mr. and Mrs. Bash Cross, Cumberland, Kay Speicher, Kenneth D. Resh, Monica Armstrong and son, Guy Edward, Andrews Air Force Base, Donna Lichliter, Salisbury, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Nixon.

A large decorated birthday cake centered the table. Balloons and flower arrangements were used in decorations. A luncheon was served buffet style.

Mrs. Josephine Crowe and Tom Resh, Baltimore, spent some time visiting with local family and relatives recently.

STUDENTS IN THE FIFTH GRADE SEP (School Enrichment Program) at Accident Elementary School were treated to a visit from Ruth Yoder, Grantsville, who served as a resource person for Elizabeth Long, an SEP student who is working on an independent study about Germany. Yoder, who lived in Germany as a child, moved to the United States with her husband, Keith Yoder, when she was 22 years old. She compared life in the two countries, and shared personal stories about World War II. She also showed the children cards and pictures of her home country, and taught a German Christmas rhyme. Pictured above are the students in Sheila Russell's SEP class, each of whom is working on an independent study. They are, shown left to right, kneeling: Kristin Hoffman and Heather Lander; standing, front row: Elizabeth Long, Lacie Berkebile, Dennis McKeever, Amanda Geisler, Jodi Fratz, and Melissa Patterson; back row: Jordan Haisig, Jamie Livengood, Brandi Wagner, Landon Southerly, Kristen Schefft, Kaylan Powell, Vicki Schlosnagle, and Ruth Yoder.

Local Delegates Attend Annual MSTA Convention

The 128th annual convention of the 46,000-member Maryland State Teachers Association (MSTA) met at the Ocean City Convention Center on October 27 and 28. Some 800 delegates, representing teachers and school support staff from Maryland's 23 counties and the City of Baltimore, debated issues facing them and their students in the state's 1,270 public schools.

Representing Garrett County as delegates to the annual convention this year were Irene Sigel, GCTA president, Mary Ann Fink, GCAESP president, Rosalind Eggleston, Terry Kratofil, Louis Newcomb, Kathleen Margroff, and Elaine Sines.

Resolutions on school reform and meeting the needs of students were debated, and the MSTA legislative program was reshaped.

Governor Parris Glendening addressed the convention Friday afternoon at the Ocean City Convention Center. The annual School Bell awards were given to winners of MSTA's annual journalism competition at the awards banquet Friday evening.

Some 4,000 teachers and support staff visited the education materials exhibit at the convention center during the two-day event.

A WALKING TRAIL is a new resource available to the community at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Located behind the hospital along Memorial Drive, the trail is almost one mile in length and is open to the public. Construction of the trail was made possible through the volunteer efforts of individuals, organizations, and businesses who donated their time and/or materials to the project. "The walking trail truly belongs to the community," commented Charlotte Bock, administrative director of community services at Garrett Memorial and the trail's project coordinator, "it was a community effort that made the walking trail become a reality for our area residents, providing them with yet another way for getting exercise, spending time with family or friends or just simply enjoying the outdoors." Pictured above are some of the many volunteers who assisted in the completion of the trail. From left are: Paul Shogren; Shane, Jessica and Annette Livengood; Jim Garner; unidentified; Gary Brack; Randall, Bonnie and Carrie Friend; Nicole Bosley; Lowell Leitzel and Debora Nichols. Other volunteers not present for the photo were: acting GCMH president Donald Battista and wife, Patty; Larry and Joni Thomas; Brett Garner; Wayne and Jackie Johnson; Jack and Agnes Franz; Charlotte Bock; Jordon Hazelwood; Chris Coviello; Bobby Andersen; Tom and Jayne Frawley; Kevin Andrews; GCMH dietary department personnel; Sisler Lumber personnel; and members of the GCMH VIVA organization. Pictured below, from left, are members of Garrett Memorial's VIVA (Volunteers in Various Areas) organization who have formed a weekly walking group: Betty DiCarlo; Janice Hutchison; Linda Lancelotta; Bobby Andersen; Millie Shilke; and Melva Bowser.

Stress, Time Management Course Slated

Stress and Time Management is the name of a three-session course being offered by Garrett Community College.

According to Sandy Major, program coordinator, the class is designed to help those who need to control their time learn the skills to do so. Mrs. Major said that some of the course materials are based on Stephen Covey's book, First Things First. Practical individualized learning experiences will focus on values, goals, and priorities; time management techniques; getting past procrastination and personal time wasters; increasing and using prime time; and conducting effective meetings.

Mrs. Major will be the instructor of the class, which will meet Nov. 27, Dec. 6, and Dec. 13 from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. at the McHenry Campus of GCC.

Space is limited, so persons interested in enrolling in the class are encouraged by Mrs. Major to do so now. More information is available from her or Julie Yoder at the GCC Small Business Development Center, telephone 387-3080.

HEARTFELT THANKS

would like to extend their appreciation, first, to the Southern Rescue Squad when called, for the expedient service provided in the matter of a life and death situation in my transfer to the Emergency Room of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital on October 14, 1995. Secondly, thanks to Dr. Robert Goralski, the emergency room staff and the intensive care staff who knew it as being imperative to have me transferred to Cumberland Memorial Hospital where more adequate equipment was available for life saving. Third, to the Freeman Ambulance Service who transported me from Oakland to Cumberland, we wish to thank you all for not just your medical expertise and the jobs you are called to do, but also wish to thank you for the comfort and encouragement you provided, the hope your smiles gave us and for the thoughtfulness and consideration in the decisions that had to be made. Fourth, once arriving at Cumberland Memorial Hospital for the services provided by Dr. Mark Sagin, Dr. Riza Janjua and the intensive care staff there, who too, were most caring and offered great encouragement during this period of crisis. Fifth, thanks to Rev. Doyle E. Payne and Rev. Donald Matthews for their spiritual care and concern for me and my family. Last, but not least, thanks to everyone for their prayers, cards, and telephone calls. I am old enough to believe in the power of prayer, yet young enough for having faith in modern technology available to mankind through dedicated personnel of our facilities.

Property Ads Generate Nearly 7,000 Calls

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said the Unclaimed Property Section of his office received nearly 7,000 telephone calls from potential owners between October 17 and October 27, as a result of publishing a 12-page full-size ad supplement in Maryland newspapers. The ads were placed to help find more than 13,000 individuals and businesses who are the most recently reported rightful owners of unclaimed insurance benefits worth millions of dollars.

"If you missed the ad inserts, you can still find out if you are the owner of unclaimed property by calling our office at (410) 225-1700 in the Baltimore area, or toll-free 1-800-782-7383 outside Baltimore," Goldstein said. "It's worth contacting our unclaimed property office periodically because our computer records cover more than 238,000 accounts worth about $68 million reported to us over the past 28 years."

The individuals calling the Unclaimed Property Section as a result of the recent ads are generally referred to insurance companies holding their money. About 80 days after the publication of the ads, holders of funds file a report of the accounts that remain unclaimed and turn the money over to the state.

"However, there is no time limit on claiming the money that is rightfully yours," Goldstein said. "You can claim the funds any time, and legitimate heirs can claim the funds after the original owner's death.

The comptroller noted that insurance companies are required to report unclaimed benefits to the Comptroller's Office by April 30 each year. Financial institutions and most other businesses with any type of unclaimed funds must report them by October 31 each year.

The comptroller advertises names of unclaimed property owners each spring and fall. The advertising campaign is just one of the many outreach efforts to locate owners of unclaimed funds. Other efforts include computer file matches with the Internal Revenue Service and other government agencies to reach out-of-state owners and setting up booths at state and local fairs and shopping malls to help people to check the unclaimed property files.

"Due to these kinds of outreach efforts the Comptroller's Office returned $8,055,181 in unclaimed funds to 11,936 individuals in calendar year 1994 alone," Goldstein said. "Among the claims paid in 1994 were two accounts worth $210,368 and $199,768. The average claim amount was $675."

Maryland law requires financial institutions, utilities, insurance companies and other corporations to report to the state comptroller any bank accounts, security deposits, wages, insurance benefits and the contents of safe deposits which are unclaimed after five years.

LET PROFESSIONALS HANDLE SHIPMENTS OF AG PRODUCTS

With the holiday gift giving season rapidly approaching and so much emphasis placed on personal health and the environments, many people give friends and family fresh fruit or live plants.

Both make great gifts, but if you are thinking about sending a plant, unprocessed nuts or fresh fruit to an out-of-state friend or relative, be sure your gift doesn't violate any agricultural laws or endanger another state's agricultural interests.

"A box of apples collected from your backyard tree or local orchard and sent to a friend in California is a thoughtful gift - but it's one that could harbor an insect or disease capable of harming the state's fruit industry," said Gary Gibson, assistant director of the Plant Industries Division of the West Virginia Department of Agriculture (WVDA).

"You also risk spreading plant pests with the movement of Christmas trees," he said. A tree moved from a gypsy moth regulated area to an unregulated area (within the state or out-of-state), increases the risk of introducing the gypsy moth into an uninfested area. Both state and federal quarantines regulate the movement of Christmas trees from infested areas, and some state like Delaware, for example, even regulate the importation of cut Christmas trees and parts of such trees because of these risks.

Trying to comply with various state and federal quarantines regulating the movement of agricultural products is beyond the capabilities of most home owners and requires the expertise of a state or federal inspector.

"The best way to send an unprocessed agricultural product to an out-of-state friend or relative is through a mail order company specializing in such shipments or through a nursery certified to ship plants out of state," Gibson said. "There are many out-of-state firms that can send fruit and nuts to other states. There are also some in-state orchards certified to send fruit shipments."

If you want to send West Virginia grown fruit to someone in another state, contact one of these orchards:

John H. Kilmer, Box 1884, Martinsburg, WV 25401, (304) 263-7448; Jefferson Orchard, PO Box 700, Kearneysville, WV 25430, (304) 725-9149; Mountaineer Orchards, Inc., Rt. 5, Box 629G, Martinsburg,WV 25401, (304) 263-6981; or Summit Point Raceway Orchards, Box 190, Summit Point WV 25446, (304) 725-8444.

The WVDA recommends letting professionals ship out of state during the holidays. That box of fruit or nuts you collected from your backyard may seem like a thoughtful gift, but to an insect or plant disease organism, it's just another way to travel to a new home.

National Farm Bureau Convention Set For Reno, Nev.

The issues confronting farmers and ranchers across the country are on the conference agenda for the 77th American Farm Bureau Federation Convention in Reno, Nev., January 7-11, 1996.

Property rights, trade opportunities, tax reform, the new farm bill, understanding technology and tax reform are just some of the topics to be discussed by conference speakers on Monday and Tuesday afternoons, January 8 and 9.

"The conferences are focused on issues those in agriculture are facing every day -- How can technology help me farm better? Where will I sell what I raise? And, what is the government doing to make it harder, or easier, for me to farm?" said convention coordinator Rolland Hayenga.

State Farm Bureaus are showing a lot of interest in the 1996 AFBF Convention in Reno, according to Hayenga. "We are looking forward to an exciting program. This year we're also looking at having a new image for the convention. Attendees will enjoy a special program and a chance to explore the Reno and Lake Tahoe area."

Luncheon To Kick Off 40th Farm-City Week

Rural and urban leaders from across the nation will celebrate 40 years of cooperation and progress when they gather in Indianapolis, Ind., November 16, for the 1995 Farm-City Week Kick-off Luncheon.

The luncheon, to be held at the United Airlines Maintenance and Conference Center in Indianapolis, will officially start this year's Farm-City week, November 17-23. Each year, the observance begins the week before Thanksgiving, ending on Thanksgiving Day.

"Since 1955 this special week has been celebrated to thank hard-working individuals," said Marsha Purcell, secretary/treasurer of the council, and director of the American Farm Bureau Foundation for Agriculture. "Beginning with farmers, the labor of many people helps provide Americans a bounty of quality food and fiber throughout the year."

Honorary co-chairs for this year's event are Merle H. Tucker, co-founder of the National Farm-City Council, and L.A. "Larry" Hapgood, former secretary of the council.

The idea for the council was born in 1955 in a dining car of the Capital Limited Pullman train running from Chicago to Washington, D.C. Over dinner, Tucker, then president of Kiwanis International, and C. Dana Bennett, consultant to the Foundation for American Agriculture, agreed to develop a broad-based program to increase understanding of the interdependence of all segments of society.

Today, more than 15,000 communities across the nation are involved in Farm-City programs of all kinds. For more information about Farm-City programs, those interested may contact Marsha Purcell at (312) 399-5764.

Rain Slows Soybean Harvest In Some Areas

For the week ending November 5, wet fields have slowed harvest of soybeans and planting of wheat in some areas. On average, soybean harvest continued at a slightly above average pace. Field corn harvest continued well ahead of normal. Sorghum harvest continued a little ahead of schedule. Small grain seedings continued. Wheat seedings were running just slightly ahead of average. Rye and barley were both running behind average. All three crops were in good to excellent condition. Apple harvest continued behind schedule. Pastures were two percent poor, 19 percent fair, 66 percent good, and 13 percent excellent. Fourth cuttings of other hay continued ahead of normal. Fifth cuttings of alfalfa continued, running behind the average. Hay supplies were mostly adequate.

Topsoil moisture was one percent short, 81 percent adequate, and 18 percent surplus. Subsoil moisture was one percent very short, 14 percent short, 82 percent adequate, and three percent surplus. Conditions allowed for an average of 3.6 days suitable for fieldwork.

DAIRY FARM PROFITABILITY LOOKS POOR

I really don't like to write "doom and gloom" information, but the following information is probably no surprise to you. This article just recently was published by Steve Ford, Agricultural Economics Specialist, Penn State University in the Dairy Digest of Somerset County, Pa.

A summary of farm financial records provided by the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau shows poor dairy farm profitability in 1994 and promises even lower profitability in 1995. Farm records from 875 dairy farms were summarized in the 1994 Pennsylvania Dairy Farm Business Analysis and showed that net farm income for 1994 on these farms averaged $17,749. The average for 1994 was 13 percent lower than 1993 and 48 percent lower than 1992's average. Farms in the sample averaged 72 milking and dry cows and sold an average of 16,769 pounds of milk per cow. Although the average net farm income for 1994 is lower than in previous years, it is more important to evaluate the distribution of net farm income. Almost 38 percent of the sample made less than $10,000 in net farm income for 1994.

Cash costs of production averaged $11.21 per cwt. for the 875 farms. Adjusting cash costs for accrual differences results in a cost from paid factors of production of $12.77 per cwt. This left $0.99 per cwt. to pay for unpaid factors of production such as owner and family labor, management, and equity in the farm business. When unpaid factors were included as opportunity costs of labor and capital, net farm income averaged - (minus) $23,448; a loss of $1.91 per cwt.

Farms also had difficulty meeting cash obligations in 1994. The distribution of the cash flow coverage ratio for these farms indicates that 57 percent of the sample could not meet cash obligations, even when non-farm income is included in the calculation. Previously existing cash reserves, asset sales, or new borrowing would have been required to pay all of their bills

The outlook for 1995 looks even worse. Milk price is expected to average about $0.40 less per cwt. in 1995. The average milk marketed for each farm in the 1994 sample was 12,248 cwt. The reduction in milk income alone will be almost $4,900 unless more milk is marketed on each farm. In addition, higher grain prices and local drought conditions will increase the costs of production on these farms. Average farm net income in 1995 is likely to be only one-half to two-thirds that of 1994.

Many farms may be forced to consider exiting the industry after 1995 due to poor profitability. Unfortunately, these farms may also face an additional tax burden on capital gains from property appreciation. The Pennsylvania Farm Bureau has calculated deferred tax liabilities on the farms in the sample, and the average is $135,109 per farm. Any farm considering liquidation must plan carefully and consider any tax liability present. It seems that for many farms, large losses may be incurred whether or not they continue in production.

PESTICIDE LICENSES EXAMINATION

MDA will be giving the Private Pesticide Applicator's License examination this coming Monday, Nov. 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the Garrett County Extension Office.

MARYLAND FORESTS

by Patrice Jastrzembski

Much of Maryland is forested. In fact, 43 percent of our state is forest land as compared to 34 percent as active agriculture and 23 percent as urbanized areas.

The total acreage of Maryland's forest land is 2.703 million acres. Of this, 90 percent is classified as timberland. Timberlands are forests that produce or are capable of producing timber that can be periodically harvested for wood products.

Some people fear that cutting trees is a detriment to our environment and are opposed to forest management for timber production. Cutting trees need not be bad. Read on to find out why.

It is true that many acres of forests are cut each year. In an average year, 186.5 million board feet of timber are harvested in Maryland for wood products (one board foot equals a piece of wood one foot by one foot by one inch). Yet much of the loss of forests in Maryland is not due to timber harvests but to land development. The Maryland Office of Planning estimates more than 10,000 acres of forests are cut each year for development.

When trees are cut for development, the forest is gone forever. When trees are cut for timber, new forests usually begin to grow back immediately. Sometimes the new forest is planted; sometimes it regenerates naturally.

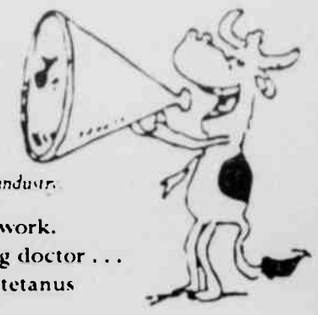
Many forest landowners cannot afford to own forest land and just let the trees sit. They are often pressured to sell many acres at a time. Landowners should be encouraged to manage their land for timber production, especially if it keeps the forests from being cut for new developments.

There are many different methods of harvesting timber. Often large parcels are cut at once. These parcels, or clearcuts, may range from one to many acres in size. Other times, only select trees are removed. Trees chosen to be cut may be of a certain type or size or age. Each forest stand is different, and each timber harvest is different.

When timber is cut everyone benefits. First, the landowner benefits monetarily from the sale of the timber. However, there is much more to it than money. Let's admit it - each day we all use a multitude of products derived from trees!

Cutting trees can be good for the environment too. Forests managed for timber production are typically more productive and diverse than those left for "nature to take its course". If a forest is not thinned or cut, it quickly becomes overcrowded. When this occurs, tree growth slows and the trees may die.

Another problem of an overcrowded forest is that sunlight may not be able to reach the forest floor. When this happens, it may be impossible for young trees to become established which threatens the future of that forest stand.



Wildlife benefits from forests being thinned and cut. Most of the plants used by wildlife for food grow on the forest floor and require sunlight. Clearcuts, which are often thought of as being bad for wildlife, actually provide food and shelter. Diverse species of food plants sprout up almost overnight after a clearcut and the remaining slash (branches and small logs) provide homes for mammals and birds.

Well-managed forests are healthy forests. Healthy forests filter pollutants from the air, produce oxygen that we breathe, cool off the land, and improve the quality of our water.

Well-managed forests are

New Horizons Program Accepting New Participants

The New Horizons Displaced Homemaker's Program of Garrett Community College is currently accepting new program participants for fiscal year 1996. New Horizons is the center for single parents, displaced homemakers, and single pregnant women and is designed to help program participants to access training so that they will have the necessary job skills to make them self-sufficient.

Persons eligible for the New Horizons program include single parents who are unmarried or legally separated from a spouse, and have sole or joint custody of minor children, or are currently pregnant; displaced homemakers who are adults with diminished job skills, who have lost their primary source of income through divorce, death or disability of a spouse, and who are unemployed or underemployed; or homemakers who lack marketable job skills because they have been caring for their family and home without salary.

New Horizons can offer program participants the following services: counseling and support which includes career exploration, goal setting, and action plan; a five-week, 10 session career planning class of self evaluation and career exploration; tuition assistance for credit and non-credit vocational classes at GCC; child care and/or transportation assistance while attending college; and referrals to community agencies for additional services, according to Barbara Frey, program coordinator.

Additionally, she said, New Horizons can help program participants to obtain a Graduation Equivalency Diploma (GED); explore and develop vocational interests and expand job options; identify work needs, motivation, and marketable skills; investigate and evaluate occupations, training programs, and sources of financial aid to attend college; and review employment options.

For information about the program or to determine eligibility, persons may call 387-3071 or 387-3102 weekdays from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

GCHD AT WELLNESS FAIR - During the recent Wellness Day held at Northern High School as part of national red ribbon events promoting drug-free communities, members of the Garrett County Health Department's community health staff set up table displays and led two workshops on health topics. Education Board Marks American Education Week

The Garrett County Board of Education will be taking action at its November 14 meeting on a resolution for American Education Week. According to Superintendent Jerome Ryscavage, school boards throughout the nation will be taking similar action to highlight the fact that the future of America in the next century will depend on the students who are in the schools of today.

This action will follow a full week of parent conferences which are being conducted at the school level this week. During the week schools throughout the county have set aside various periods of time during the day and evening to meet with parents in order to discuss the progress of students. Ryscavage noted that parents are taking full advantage of this opportunity to begin the 1995-96 school year with a clear understanding of how their youngsters are progressing after approximately two months of school.

In follow-up to these activities, all Garrett County schools have extended a special invitation to all parents as well as the general public to visit the public schools during the week of November 13-17 to learn more about what is being done in classrooms across the county.

Goldstein Notes State's Joining In Joint Audit Prog.

Maryland is now participating in a joint audit program sponsored by the Multistate Tax Commission to give the state a greater national presence and more value for its audit dollar, according to State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein.

"Through this cooperative program, where auditors working for the commission perform corporate income tax audits on national companies for participating states, we are expanding our tax compliance reach far beyond our current capabilities," Goldstein said.

The commission's joint audit program has produced a ratio of almost 13 dollars earned per dollar spent. Maryland will pay an audit program fee of $21,000 for the last nine months of the current fiscal year, an amount that Goldstein says could be recovered five times over in one audit.

As each new audit is scheduled, Maryland is offered the opportunity to participate. The Comptroller's Office has signed up for three audits to date.

"We decide on which audits to participate in, so the efforts we have made in our own previous audits aren't duplicated. We will help to train the commission's auditors in Maryland tax laws and regulations, and we will eventually have a vote on which businesses are selected for the joint audits.

"We will continue our own field audit program, doing both desk and field audits of companies doing business in Maryland. And we will still maintain our audit offices in New York, Chicago, and Los Angeles, where we employ experienced contractual auditors to audit multistate corporations headquartered in those areas.

"Our participation in the joint audit program isn't a replacement for our current audit efforts but a supplement to it, to get the most out of our resources during a time of budget constraints. There are more potential audits than we have resources to complete, and the program will give us additional audit and compliance coverage for large corporations very economically," Goldstein said. The Multistate Tax Commission was created by member states in 1967 as the administrative agency of the Multistate Tax Compact. Thirty-eight states and the District of Columbia participate in the commission. Maryland is an associate member.

Their prize will be a ride in a horse-drawn cart, which will be donated by James and Dot Spear.

HEAD START CELEBRATES 30 YEARS - Head Start, a federal, pre-achool child and family development program for low income families, celebrated its 30th year this past May. In Garrett County a float for the program was made and was part of the Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade. Team One Chevrolet provided the truck to tow the float, and Doug Bittinger donated the hay wagon, hay, and the driver. Farmers' Market donated pumpkins, and several other businesses and individuals helped to make the entry a success. Children who attend Head Start participate in a variety of education activities, and receive medical and dental care. Serving 192 local families, the Head Start centers are located in Oakland, Accident, Crellin, Mtn. Lake Park, Friendsville, Jennings, and Kitzmiller. There are also two home-based programs. Parent involvement is a vital part of the program, and parents are encouraged to volunteer in the classroom, take an active part in committee meetings, and participate in the Policy Council to help make operation decisions. The Oakland center also provides day care services for children aged 3-13. Applications are accepted at any time during the year, and may be obtained from the main office at 334-9431. Pictured above are Head Start students and parent volunteers on the Autumn Glory float. Shown below is the back of the float and some of the entry's decorations.

Alternatives To Leaf Burning Discussed By Health Department

by Walter L. Haydel,
Garrett County Health Department Sanitarian

Fall is here and once again, the autumn foliage is beginning to accumulate on the ground. Now the big questions is: "How do we get rid of the leaves?"

Burning often seems to be an easy solution to the problem. However, Maryland air quality regulations prohibit burning of leaves where collection service is available. Outside of the collection areas burning may be allowed, but is not recommended for a number of reasons.

The smoke from burning leaves contains high concentrations of air pollutants such as hydrocarbons, particulate matter, carbon monoxide, and nitrogen oxides. Because the burning is conducted on the ground, leaf smoke is more likely to be breathed before it has a chance to dissipate into the air.

Pollutants resulting from leaf burning can greatly aggravate the condition of persons suffering from respiratory disorders such as asthma, bronchitis, and emphysema, and can cause eye and nose irritations, fever, coughing, and cramps in a healthy person. Additionally, the pollutants in leaf smoke can cause house paint to deteriorate, injure plants and shrubbery, and generally deteriorate our air quality.

Residents in areas where there are too many leaves to be collected or where no collection is available should investigate using leaves for mulching, erosion control, and compost piles. It may also be possible to use mechanical shredding equipment or lawn mowers to chop up the leaves. These processes return needed nutrients to the soil, while efficiently eliminating the leaves.

Composting is a method that is gaining in popularity and can be easily started in your own back yard. To compost, enclose a small area of ground with chicken wire or wooden palates. Pile a six-inch layer of leaves and cover this with a one-inch layer of soil. Repeat as necessary. A sprinkle of lime may be added to speed up the process. Turn and mix the compost pile every few months, and in about 12 months, the result will be rich organic matter or humus for use as fertilizer in your garden. The compost will also provide an excellent mulch to retard weed growth and save soil moisture.

To obtain more information on leaf composting, interested persons may call the Cooperative Extension Service at 334-1990 or the Garrett County Health Department's office of Environmental Health Services at 334-8980.

The Garrett County landfill will accept large loads of leaves at the rate of $20 per ton, and will accept leaves from county homeowners for a fee of $0.01 per pound. The landfill prefers leaves not be bagged.

Swallow Falls area resident Homer Mellot will also accept leaves for a minimum fee of $3 per pick-up truck load (with four foot sides). His goal is to find markets and sell the finished, composted leaf mulch for $30 per ton.

Once the leaves break down, a rich organic matter similar to peat moss may be achieved which can provide an excellent weed-free mulch and fertilizer. For more details, Mellot may be reached at 387-6815.

Most municipalities within Garrett County have some type of leaf collection plan this fall. The collection schedules may vary depending on availability of equipment and when most of the foliage has dropped. Interested persons may contact their local town halls for details.

Should collection be unavailable and other means of leaf disposal be ineffective, leaves originating on the premises may be burned by householders between the hours of 4 p.m. and midnight. The fire may not be closer than 200 feet from the nearest neighboring residence and not create a nuisance.

Although it is not necessary to obtain a permit from Maryland Department of Natural Resources or the Garrett County Health Department, the following DNR regulations must be followed: The fire must be 200 feet from wooded areas, a 10 foot wide fire break must surround the fire, and a responsible person should remain on the scene until the fire is completely extinguished.

It is also important to contact Central Alarm at 334-1929 before burning leaves.

We all have a right to live in a fresh and clean atmosphere. Smoke from a neighboring leaf fire may be dangerous or unpleasant for many people and need not be tolerated. Please help keep Garrett County's air clean and safe to breath.

In Loving Memory of
who passed away Nov. 8, 1985

Dear Lord,
Please take this message to Cathy in Heaven above.
Tell her how much we miss her and give her all our love.
It's been lonely here without her
Life just hasn't been the same.
We live each day on memories always thinking of her name.
What it meant to lose her no one will ever know
Tell her she will never be forgotten
Because we love her so.

News from Preston, Tucker, Grant and Mineral Counties.

Food For Preston Seeking Volunteers For Holiday Giving

Coordinators for Food for Preston (FFP) are seeking volunteers to help collect and prepare food donated from throughout the county for an annual holiday food basket giveaway.

"Food for Preston provides a holiday food basket to needy Prestonians at Christmas," said Larue DeBastiani, volunteer coordinator for FFP. "Volunteers make Food for Preston work, and people and groups are needed to collect and bag the food. And work needs to begin now, because the food baskets will be distributed Dec. 18.

"Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, school children, police officers, bus riders, teachers, Rotarians, senior citizens, employees of several businesses, sororities -- the list of people who pitched in last year was impressive," DeBastiani added. "Now it's time to do it all again. It's important that the Food for Preston committee knows if your organization is working for us, so that we can publicize your efforts and we can work together."

In order to ensure that every household gets the same holiday food basket, donors are asked to give only those items on the menu agreed upon by organizers. This year's menu includes canned vegetables, spaghetti and spaghetti sauce, stuffing mix, pie fillings, flour or all purpose mix, a quick bread mix for rolls, muffins or cornbread. Other needed items include toilet tissue and bath soap.

Potatoes for the baskets will again be provided by the Knights of Pythias, and KDKA-TV will give gift certificates good for a free turkey. Storage space for donations is being provided by the Kingwood Eagles, Aerie 2391, and items may also be taken to the armory at Camp Dawson from 4-9 p.m. on Dec. 10; 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Dec. 11; or by 9 p.m. on Dec. 12.

Cash donations, according to DeBastiani, will be used to buy fresh fruit, and any items not donated. Money may be sent to: Food for Preston, P.O. Box 238, Kingwood, WV 26537.

Those interested in volunteering for this year's effort are asked to call 329-4706 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday; or 789-6912 anytime.

This was reiterated by Ms. Ginn who spoke of the need in today's families and particularly, of the children. She also told of adults who had been residents at the Burlington Home and of how it has had "a most positive effect on their lives because of the love aspect of their stay."

HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Aurora Extension Homemakers met October 17 with Opal Myers leading a discussion, "Taking a Look at What You See on TV." Mrs. Myers quizzed the members and concluded with a game based on TV commercials.

The meeting was held in the home of Martha Bolyard and she used as her theme, "Hands," accenting this with two readings and concluding with prayer. Anita Lantz served as hostess and served refreshments at the conclusion of the meeting to the 10 members present.

At the Fall Conference, held at Jackson's Mill, the West Virginia Homemakers voted to no longer be affiliated with the NAFCE and to continue on with their own program. Members of the Aurora club who attended and reported on their workshops were Ressie Conrad, Martha Bolyard, Delores Douglas, and Opal Myers, the latter a state representative to NAFCE. The special feature was a worm farm which Ms. Bolyard made in her class on the environment while at Jackson's Mill.

The club will now have a sign placed on the Aurora billboard, the club no longer displaying the NAFCE emblem. November 10, designated as the Great Readout Day, will be recognized by the club presenting a book to the Aurora School. On November 7, they will be helping with projects concerning latch key kids, poison prevention, and nutritious snacks at the Aurora School. Local Hospice Wins Medicare Certification Hospice of Garrett County, Inc., recently received Medicare certification, making the organization eligible for federal reimbursement for services.

With this new arrangement, the local hospice organization will now provide additional services, including physician services, nursing care, medical equipment and supplies, medications, inpatient care, respite care, home health aides, physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech language pathology, social services, dietician services, spiritual counseling, bereavement services, and continuous home care during a crisis.

To provide these newly expanded services, Hospice has hired a number of professionals and increased its volunteer staff.

The organization will continue in its mission to provide care to terminally ill persons and their families. Now that the group is Medicare/Medicaid certified, Hospice will receive a per diem rate for each patient and will be responsible for paying of all services provided.

"To provide these services, our memorials, donations, and fund-raisers are important," a spokesperson stated. "In some cases, we can bill insurance companies, but many of our services are not reimbursable."

As part of Hospice's application for Medicare certification, a two day survey of Hospice's operations was conducted by Suzanne Clark of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. The survey included reviews of Hospice's policy and procedures manual, a patient chart, a patient home visit, and professional and volunteer personnel files.

"The philosophy of our Hospice is to provide a concept of care for the terminally ill and their families, enabling the patient to live as fully as possible and making the entire family, or significant others, the unit of care and centering the caring process within the home," stated Hospice Executive Director Brenda Butscher. "A hospice is not a specific place; it may be the patient's home, a room in the hospital, or in a nursing home. It's a way of caring for the dying and their family with warmth and dignity."

Hospice accepts referrals from family members, friends, physicians, and other health care professionals, or from the terminally ill person. Each referral is reviewed by Hospice Medical Director Margaret Kaiser, M.D., or Assistant Medical Director D. Daniel Miller, D.O. Persons served by Hospice may keep their primary physicians, but each referral must be approved by Hospice physicians, a spokesperson stated.

To be eligible for Hospice services, persons must have been diagnosed with a terminal illness with a prognosis of six months or less to live if the disease pursues its normal course.

To volunteer or request services of Garrett County Hospice, persons may call 334-5151.

THE NEED OF THE HOUR
Edwin Markham

Fling forth the triple-colored flag to dare
The bright, untraveled highways of the air.
Blow the undaunted bugles, blow, and yet
Let not the boast betray us to forget.
Lo, there are high adventures for this hour--
Tourneys to test the sinews of our power.
For we must parry--as the years increase--
The hazards of success, the risks of peace!

What do we need to keep the nation whole,
To guard the pillars of the State? We need
The fine audacities of honest deed;
The homely old integrities of soul;
The swift temerities that take the part
Of outcast right--the wisdom of the heart;
Brave hopes that Mammon never can detain,
Nor sully with his gainless clutch for gain.

We need the Cromwell fire to make us feel
The common burden and the public trust
To be a thing as sacred and august
As the white vigil where the angels kneel.
We need the faith to go a path untrod,
The power to be alone and vote with God.

WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION
PRELIMINARY DECISION TO GRANT CATEGORICAL EXCLUSION (CE #69)

Project Name/Number:
Round Glade Landfill Closure/Leachate Collection
C-240816-01 LE
Project Applicant:
Garrett County Board of County Commissioners
Project: Location/County Round Glade Landfill/Garrett County
Total Project Cost/Loan: $2,134,000/$2,000,000

Projection Description: The proposed project consists of a closure cap and leachate collection system for the Round Glade Landfill. The cap will be comprised of an engineered soil cover as well as a synthetic liner and leachate collection system which will discharge leachate to a storage lagoon. The storage lagoon and pumping facilities will be constructed as separate projects. Ultimately, the lagoon leachate will be transported to the Deep Creek Lake Wastewater Treatment Plant.

Garrett County has applied for financial assistance from the Maryland Department of The Environment's State Revolving Loan Fund for the proposed project as described above. In accordance with requirements for complying with SERP under COMAR 26.03.11 for such assistance, a review has been performed by the Department on the applicant's request for a Categorical Exclusion from a comprehensive environmental review under SERP. The Department has determined that the proposed project qualifies for a Categorical Exclusion pursuant to COMAR 26.03.11.04 because the project constitutes new ancillary facilities adjacent or appurtenant to existing facilities, and resultantly will not have a significant adverse effect on the environment. This determination is based upon a careful review of the supporting documentation provided by the applicant and other documents available to the Department. In concert with this preliminary determination the Department has also found the project to be consistent with the Maryland Economic Growth, Resource Protection, and Planning Policy in accordance with Executive Order 01.01.1992.27.

As a result of the above determination, the applicant will not need to prepare and/or finalize an Environmental Information Document and the Department is prepared to approve the applicant's request for financial assistance without further environmental review.

Comments supporting or disagreeing with the above preliminary decision may be submitted for consideration by writing to:
Mr. Jag Khuman, Program Manager
Water and Wastewater Engineering Program
Water Management Administration
Maryland Department of Environment
2500 Broening Highway
Baltimore, Maryland 21224

Written comments should be submitted within 20 days from the date of this notice. After the close of this twenty-day open review period, and upon evaluating any written comments received, the Department will make a final decision.

Volunteers Needed

The National Multiple Sclerosis Society has openings for individuals who would like to volunteer in their area as a Friendly Visitor of Telefriend. Qualifications include warm hearts, dedication, smiles, and a pleasant personality.

Friendly Visitors are matched with a person in their area who has MS and lives in a nursing home or is homebound. Volunteers make bi-weekly social visits for a half-hour to their assigned companion. Visits involve friendly conversations and may include assisting with other activities such as reading or helping with light correspondence. Independent transportation is necessary.

Telefriends provide friendship and support over the phone, making the day a little brighter for someone with MS. Volunteers are asked to give one year of community service, reaching out to individuals requesting this service. They'll make one call a week to a designated person with MS. Telefriends will communicate to persons with similar hobbies, interests and backgrounds. Calls are local.

Friendly Visitors and Telefriend volunteers will be joining the new AmeriCorps "Bridge To Independence" volunteer program that helps people with MS achieve greater independence in their daily lives. Similar to the Peace Corps, AmeriCorps is a volunteer movement where citizens, businesses, schools and church's come together as partners in programs to solve the problems "in the spirit of service" for Americans who need assistance.

Professional training and orientation will be provided. For further information, please call: Robia Turner at: (301) 791-5754. 37-2

THE REPUBLICAN

VOL NO. 118 OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1995 PER COPY 47¢ Printed on RECYCLED NEWSPRINT

A MOST ELEGANT SCENE was captured on film yesterday by staff photographer Craig Phillips as he wandered about Garrett County, taking shots of nature's artwork. This photo was taken in the middle of yesterday's wintry storm, as one can determine by the relatively few inches of snow built up on the bridge railing. That same bridge today can barely be seen, buried in the 30-plus inches of snow received in the county over the past two days. The Oakland Train Station is shown in the background as it endures the start of yet another Garrett County winter - the station's 111th. While creating stunning scenery, the storm has caused the usual troubles, too - electricity outages and school closings, to name two. See more photos of the storm's effects in this section of today's issue.

POA To Make Bid For Lake This Month

Representatives of the Property Owners Association of Deep Creek Lake, Inc., plan to meet with management of the Pennsylvania Electric Company (Penelec) this month to discuss the proposed purchase of the lake bed and buffer strip by lake-area landowners, according to a recent POA newsletter.

"We have arranged a meeting with senior management of Penelec in early November, 1995," the newsletter reported. "We are hopeful that Penelec will recognize that what began in the early 1920's as a hydroelectric project has become a significant and precious natural resource for lake property owners, the citizens of Garrett County, and indeed all Marylanders."

POA President Mike Belmonte told The Republican in October that his group has drafted a 16-page bill which would empower the estimated 2,500 landowners in Garrett County Tax District 18 to purchase the lake bed and buffer strip, currently owned by Penelec, with state backed bonds. According to the plan, District 18 land owners would retire these bonds through a special ad valorem tax.

During a recent meeting of the Deep Creek Lake Advisory and Review Committee, Belmonte stated that he is unwilling to publicly speculate on a selling price for the lake before meeting with Penelec.

"We hope that Penelec responds favorably towards the idea of transfer of the lake and acts responsibly regarding a fair price for the lake," the POA newsletter stated. "Once we get a good idea of the range, we can make some cost projections based on estimates for your information and comment."

The newsletter stated that the POA includes approximately 900 paid members and maintains a mailing list of 2,800 persons.

With the purchase of the lake bed and buffer by District 18 property owners, Belmonte stated that recreational access to the lake could be ensured for future generations and lake use fees could be kept down.

According to the POA's plan, the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) would continue to manage lake recreation after the proposed lake buy-out.

"We trust Penelec will agree to transfer the lake and its management and operation to those who clearly should have this authority and obligation," the newsletter stated.

The POA newsletter also encouraged landowners to actively support the lake buy-out plan.

"In order to assure introduction and support for the legislation, we need your vocal support of this project . . .," the newsletter stated.

CYF OFFICE MAKES HEFTY PLEDGE - The Garrett County Commission for Women received a major boost this week in its quest to establish a shelter for victims of domestic violence, as the Office of Children, Youth, and Families made a $5,000 pledge to that campaign. Accepting a pledge letter in the above photo from Bob Stephens, director of the OCYF, is Sue Sines, chairman of the Commission's Steering Committee. Ms. Sines said that the campaign to raise $30,000 for the shelter is now underway and is expected to last through February. The Garrett County commissioners recently approved the submission of a grant request prepared by the Garrett County Community Action Committee office to purchase and renovate a property for the shelter. Duane Yoder, director of the CAC, said that funds raised by the community and used as matching monies will increase the likelihood that the grant will be approved. The commissioners also recently added a $5 fee to marriage licenses that will go exclusively for the establishment of the shelter. The fund for the shelter currently totals $6,800. Persons wishing to make a donation are asked to make checks payable to Domestic Violence Shelter Fund and mail them to P.O. Box 623, Oakland, MD 21550.

Garrett County Memorial Hospital Wins Award In National Program

Garrett County Memorial Hospital has been selected as a winner in the second annual National Health Information Awards Program which recognizes the nation's best in consumer health information programs and materials.

"Through the Eyes of Children" received a Bronze Award for the calendar category. Those involved in the production and design of the 1995 calendar were Garrett Memorial's community services department and Pioneer Press, Terra Alta, W.Va.

"We were delighted to participate in the National Health Information Awards Program and were honored to be selected as a winner," said Dana Winters, public relations coordinator at Garrett Memorial and coordinator for the calendar project. "Our winning entry was among the more than 600 entries judged by a panel of health information experts. To be recognized among other winners such as the Mayo Clinic, Kaiser Permanente, and Prevention magazine, is confirmation of our efforts to meet the health informational needs of our area residents."

The awards program is coordinated by the Health Information Resource Center, a national private sector clearinghouse for consumer health information programs and materials. The center, which house a large collection of such public and private sector materials, promotes the distribution of accurate, timely consumer health information materials to professionals and managers in the field.

Edwards: "New NFL Team Won't Increase Taxes"

In response to recent phone calls from local residents, District 1A Delegate George Edwards stated this week that the proposed new stadium for the "Baltimore Browns" will not be paid for with state tax funds. Instead, lottery players will foot the bill.

The Browns will relocate from Cleveland to Baltimore next year, barring any successful legal action to stop the move.

The Maryland Stadium Authority will pay for the construction of a National Football League stadium for the Browns in Baltimore with revenue bonds, rather than general obligation bonds which are retired with tax money, Edwards explained. The revenue bonds for the stadium will be retired with proceeds from the state's new sport-themed scratch-off lottery games.

Edwards added that this was the same method the Stadium Authority used to finance the newly completed Oriole Field at Camden Yards.

The delegate also commented that he has wanted the state to have an NFL team since the Colts left

Dock Removal Reminder Issued By Lake Office

A recent shoreline patrol of Deep Creek Lake by rangers of the State Forest and Park Service has indicated numerous boat docks remaining on the lake bottom. Lake regulations require that all dock structures be removed from the lake (above the high water mark), and secured to or removed from the buffer strip by December 1 of each year.

Docks left in the lake over the winter risk being damaged due to the fluctuations in lake and ice levels. The resulting debris may prove hazardous to boaters and lake users at a later date. Damage to docks also may be expensive to the property owners.

Personnel from the Deep Creek Lake Management Area, a unit of Department of Natural Resources (DNR), are asking the affected property owners to remove their docks prior to any severe winter weather, which may prohibit removal by December 1. They also advise that there are numerous local businesses

Combined Effort Of Local Police Leads To Arrest Of Alleged Thieves

Two men were arrested today as a result of a combined effort of the Oakland City Police, the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, and the Maryland State Police. Charles J. Wassil, 28, Gaithersburg, and Donald L. Hite, 37, Silver Spring, have been charged in connection with a burglary at the American Legion in Oakland, according to a report from Oakland City Police Chief John Sines. The two are also accused in connection with a breaking and entering at the Farmers' Market.

Sines said the two were seen in the parking lot of the American Legion at approximately 1 a.m. today by Trooper W. Dixon, who thought their presence at the closed building was suspicious. He apparently drove into the lot and the two drove away. Dixon found a safe in the lot, and both men are now accused of breaking into the Legion and removing the safe. A glass door into the building was found to be broken, according to the report.

Dixon pursued the two, and their car, a 1989 Chevrolet Cavalier, was found in a snowbank along Memorial Drive. The two men, apparently fleeing on foot, were captured on Windy Lane with the assistance of the sheriff's office canine unit Deek and Dep. M. Bittinger, as well as Dixon, Trooper Broadwater, and Deputy C. Nolan. Chief Sines charged Wassil and Hite with theft and second and fourth degree burglary. Det. R. Shaffer of the sheriff's office charged the defendants with theft and breaking and entering in connection with an apparently early morning break-in at the Farmers' Market in Oakland.

Both defendants are presently in the Garrett County Jail, awaiting a bond hearing. Cpl. M. Tichnell of the MSP Crime Lab also assisted in the arrest, Sines noted.

Two Injured When Car Flips On Glendale Rd.

Two people were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital Sunday afternoon after the vehicle they were traveling in flipped onto its side on the Glendale Road.

According to a report filed with the Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, 32-year-old Susan Sanders, Terra Alta, and 2-year-old Kristopher Sanders, were treated for minor injuries and then released, following the 3:23 p.m. mishap.

Sanders reportedly lost control of her vehicle on the icy roadway as it traveled near the North Glade Road, causing the car to skid off the road and flip onto its side.

No charges were filed, police said.

REAR-END COLLISION

A Grantsville woman was transported to Meyersdale (Pa.) Community Hospital where she was treated for injuries she sustained when her vehicle was rear-ended early Sunday evening, as she was stopped behind another vehicle on Rt. 219.

State police said Dawn E. Younkin, 34, was stopped on Rt. 219, behind a truck that was making a

Two Local Residents Render Aid To Cardiac Arrest Victim In Fla.

While waiting for a dinner theatre performance in Orlando, Florida, local funeral director Brad Stewart and Garrett County Memorial Hospital nurse Susan Smith found themselves in a situation demanding their medical knowledge as a woman nearby collapsed from an apparent heart attack.

Stewart and Smith were in Florida with the Earth Shuttle, a program for local eighth grade students led by teacher Shirley Spiker. Spiker arranges the trip each year for outstanding students to travel to EPCOT and other Orlando sites for educational as well as recreational purposes. Twenty-four students and 17 parents/chaperones went on this recent trip.

Approximately 15 minutes before the Sunday evening show began on Nov. 5, a woman from England fell to the ground, apparently in cardiac arrest. Stewart and Smith were unaware of the problem for two or three minutes, and then began to attend to the victim.

Stewart said upon examination, the woman was not breathing and did not have a pulse. He and Smith initiated CPR, which was continued until the local rescue squad arrived on the scene. The woman was transported to a nearby hospital, where her heartbeat and breathing were restored. At last report, Stewart said, she was stable but had not regained consciousness.

Stewart was a volunteer on the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad from 1971 until 1988. He was a CRT (certified respiratory technician) for several years, as well as an instructor and trainer for the American Heart Association. Smith has been practicing nursing at Garrett Memorial for over two years.

"It's been several years since I have been involved in a rescue call," Stewart said. "It's great to know that old skills are not forgotten."

The two were thanked by the theatre management and by members of the English tour group, who promised to keep the rescuers informed of the patient's progress.

GCMH CALENDAR NATIONALLY RECOGNIZED - Garrett County Memorial Hospital's annual calendar was selected as a winner in the National Health Information Awards. The program recognizes the nation's best in consumer health information programs and materials. "Participating organizations that win an award can be proud of their contributions to the health care information arena," said Carole Klein-Alexander, Health Information Resource Center assistant director. Each year, Garrett Memorial's calendar is direct-mailed to over 24,000 homes throughout Garrett and the surrounding West Virginia counties. Area residents can expect to receive the 1996 calendar at the beginning of December. Pictured, from left, are: Donald Battista, Garrett Memorial's acting president; Dana Winters, public relations coordinator at Garrett Memorial and coordinator of the calendar project, and Rich Hopkins, hospital Board of Governors member and president of Pioneer Press, Terra Alta, W.Va, the company that printed the publication.

AND THEY'RE OFF!... and leading the pack at the start of Saturday's Maryland State 1A Championships at Hereford High School were the two-time defending state champions, the Southern Rams, who coasted to their third straight 1A state title. The Rams, coached by Carl Booth, destroyed the rest of the field by recording 32 team points, 60 points better than their nearest competitors. Rams identifiable in the above photo are: #1121, Todd Howard; #1126, Mike Bittinger, #1126, Daniel Sincell, #1120, Kevin Andrews, and #1125, Matt Sincell. Also running for Southern were Nathan McBee and Charlie Wesley, whose faces are just behind Andrews. Meanwhile, the Southern girls captured the state runner-up title in their race, while the Northern girls placed fifth and the Northern boys finished sixth. Young County Man Convicted In District Court Of Felony Theft

Among the numerous cases heard in Garrett County District Court proceedings last week, was one involving a young Garrett County man who was convicted on one count of felony theft.

Wayne E. Mayne, 19, Crellin, was found guilty of that offense by visiting Allegany County District Court Judge Paul Stakem, who handed the defendant a 90-day suspended sentence. He also ordered Mayne to pay a $350 fine, and placed him on two years of unsupervised probation. An additional charge of trespassing was not prosecuted because of a plea agreement with the state's attorney's office.

The charges against Mayne were filed on May 16, after he and two other suspects stole several items, valued at $3,727, from a home in the White Rock area, with the intention of pawning those items in return for cash. Among the items stolen were a Rolex watch, a Remington rifle, two "Carson City" silver dollars (one dated 1883, the other 1884).

In other district court news, a felony theft charge, filed against Joseph L. Hutzell, 34, Friendsville, was not prosecuted by the state's attorney. The charge had been filed by Frank E. Cober & Sons, after Hutzell reportedly failed to pay more than $2,000 on an outstanding bill owed to the company.

In a related case, Terri A. Hutzell, 28, also of Friendsville, was not prosecuted on one count of felony theft, one count of traveling at a speed greater than reasonable, two counts of passing in a no-passing zone, and two counts of driving off the roadway while passing another vehicle. District court records indicate both Hutzells had gone to Frank E. Cober & Sons to retrieve a truck that they owed repair expenses on. Joseph Hutzell reportedly took the truck, and Terri Hutzell followed behind him in her personal vehicle, and they reportedly left the premises hurriedly. An employee of the repair garage followed the Hutzells, and stated Terri Hutzell passed two large trucks in a dangerous area of the roadway, causing the employee to end the chase, and return to the garage.

Philson D. Hinebaugh, 25, Oakland, pleaded guilty to one count of littering. He was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $150, and placed on 18 months of unsupervised probation for the offense. An additional charge of improper disposal of solid waste, and one count of malicious destruction of property, were not prosecuted because of plea agreements with the state's attorney.

The charges against Hinebaugh stemmed from an April 15 incident when he threw an aluminum can from a window of a moving vehicle. The can reportedly struck the windshield of another vehicle, causing a three-foot crack. The state police were notified of the incident, and when they later caught up with the vehicle, it was learned that Hinebaugh, who was a passenger in the vehicle, had thrown the can. At one point, according to the charging statement, Hinebaugh acted as though nothing was wrong with throwing cans along the roadside, because "people like to pick up the cans on the road."

Michael W. Chalupka Jr., 20, Berkeley Springs, W.Va., pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty of one count each of possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS), possession of CDS paraphernalia, and exceeding the speed limit. Sentencing, to be decided by Judge Burnett, will be set at a later date. The charges against the defendant stemmed from his Aug. 7 arrest by Maryland State Police, following a traffic stop on Interstate 68 for exceeding the speed limit. A subsequent search of Chalupka's vehicle revealed marijuana and its related drug paraphernalia.

A $1,000 bench warrant was issued for the arrest of Wilbert L. Younkin, 24, Mtn. Lake Park, who failed to appear in court for his hearing. He faces charges of possession of CDS and drug paraphernalia. He was arrested for those offenses on Aug. 13.

Joseph D. Fowler, 29, Bruceton Mills, W.Va., pleaded guilty to one count of CDS possession and one count of operating a vehicle with an out-of-state license that was suspended for failure to pay a fine. He was handed two 60-day suspended sentences, fined a total of $650, and placed on 18 months of supervised probation for the offenses. Additional charges of possession of CDS paraphernalia, not wearing a seatbelt, and operating a vehicle on an out-of-state suspended license, were not prosecuted because of plea agreements with the state's attorney. Conditions of his probation state he must attend a drug education program.

The charges against Fowler stemmed from his June 21 arrest by state police after a traffic stop for loud exhaust. The defendant initially told the investigating officer that his driver's license had been burned in a fire, but offered his social security number as an alternative. He stated he was licensed to drive in the state of Wisconsin. A check through the Motor Vehicles Administration revealed Fowler had several citations against him in Maryland, and that his Wisconsin license had been suspended. Following his arrest, Fowler was escorted to the state police barrack where a search revealed a small amount of marijuana located in a small plastic bag in his sock.

James A. Stewart, 34, and Angela K. Stewart, 29, both of Oakland, were convicted on one count each of possession of CDS. Each was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $300, and placed on 18 months of supervised probation. The presiding judge, Paul Stakem, also ordered the pair to attend a drug education program. Additional charges, including possession with intent to distribute, and possession of CDS packing material with intent to distribute, were not prosecuted by the state's attorney's office.

The defendants had been charged with the offenses on Oct. 10, after officers from the Oakland/Garrett County Narcotics Task Force, using a search and seizure warrant, entered their residence and recovered six small plastic bags containing marijuana, a film canister containing marijuana roaches, and a film canister containing marijuana. The charging statement noted that the amount of CDS recovered, and the way it was packaged, indicated an intent to distribute.

Sheila A. McMillen, 43, Mtn. Lake Park, was not prosecuted on one count of malicious destruction of property, at the request of the complainant, Eugenia L. McKinney. The charge was filed after an incident that occurred between April 1-11, when McMillen reportedly left a trailer, managed by McKinney, in filthy condition.

Roy Rinker, 28, Oakland, pleaded guilty in last week's court proceedings of one count of battery. He was sentenced to 10 days in jail (suspended), fined $100, and placed on six months of unsupervised probation. Conditions of his probation state he must have no contact with the complainant, Mark Upole, Cumberland.

According to court records, Upole stated that while he was at the Boardwalk Bar on June 18, Rinker attacked him without warning, causing an altercation between the two. While Upole was attempting to explain to the bar's bouncers what had happened, the defendant returned and struck him again.

Barbara A. Picou, 26, Oakland, was convicted on one count of possession of CDS. She was sentenced to 30 days in jail, but all of the sentence was suspended except for 48 hours. She was also placed on six months of supervised probation upon her release from incarceration. A charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted. Conditions of her probation state she must complete 30 hours of community service.

A co-defendant, Jason P. Kelley, 21, also of Oakland, was not prosecuted on one count each of possession of CDS, and possession of CDS paraphernalia.

The charges against the pair stemmed from an Aug.

2 search of their home by sheriff's deputies, who acted on the strength of a search and seizure warrant at Picou's home. The deputies recovered 2.3 grams of marijuana, 2.5 grams of marijuana seeds, two smoking pipes, a pair of tweezers with marijuana residue, and a roach holder.

David H. Burdette, 36, Weirton, W.Va., pleaded guilty in Judge Burnett's court to one count of CDS possession. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail (suspended), and fined $150. He was also ordered to complete 30 hours of community service. An additional charge of possession of CDS paraphernalia was not prosecuted by the state's attorney. Burdette was charged with the offenses on Aug. 5 by Rfc. Cooper at Swallow Falls State Park. The ranger, who was on routine patrol at the park's campsites, reportedly smelled burning marijuana at Burdette's site, and an investigation resulted in the discovery of the drug, as well as drug paraphernalia.

A violation of probation charge filed against Michelle D. Dunkle, 28, Oakland, resulted in the revocation of her probation, and Judge Stakem reimposed her original one year jail sentence. Dunkle had been convicted in 1993 of two counts of altering prescription orders. In addition to receiving two six-month suspended sentences at that time, she had also been placed on two years of supervised probation. That probation was in effect until December of this year. Dunkle's initial arrest for the offenses was in August 1993, after Oakland City Police apprehended her for attempting to obtain a prescription drug with a forged order.

A $5,000 bench warrant was issued for the arrest of Silas Z. Wave, 21, Romney, W.Va., who failed to appear in court to face charges of possession of CDS and its related drug paraphernalia. An earlier $1,000 bond was forfeited. Waye is set to face drug charges stemming from his Aug. 17 arrest by Maryland State Police.

William R. Sexton Jr., 20, Baltimore, was not prosecuted on one count each of possession of CDS with intent to manufacture, distribute, and dispense, and possession of CDS paraphernaha, at the request of the arresting officer.

District court records indicate Sexton had sent a controlled dangerous substance (LSD) through the mail to a detainee at the Backbone Mountain Youth Center in Swanton. The March 25 incident was investigated by officers from the Oakland/Garrett County Narcotics Task Force.

Robert E. McCrobie, 39, Oakland, pleaded guilty in Judge Burnett's court of one count of battery. He was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service. The charge stemmed from an April 25 incident that occurred in an alley behind the Oakland City Hall. A city police officer saw McCrobie spit in the face of Trisha McCurdy, also of Oakland. The officer called to McCrobie to walk over to him, and then initiated the arrest. Two additional battery charges, and one count of trespassing, filed against McCrobie in unrelated, but similar cases, were not prosecuted because the complainant, McCurdy, failed to appear to testify. One incident occurred on May 15, when an altercation between the two began at the Rt. 219 Flea Market. The remaining battery charge, along with the trespassing charge, stemmed from a Sept. 18 incident at McCurdy's home, when the defendant reportedly bit her finger.

Charles L. Spiker, 21, Mtn. Lake Park, was not prosecuted on three counts of battery, and one count of second degree rape, because the complainant would not testify. The charges stemmed from three separate incidents during the month of October. A guilty verdict for one count of CDS possession, was handed to Bernard J. Kenney, 30, Frostburg, who was ordered to serve 48 hours of a 30-day jail term for the offense. He was also fined $150, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service. An additional charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted by the state's attorney's office.

District court records indicate Kenny was arrested on March 3 by officers from the Oakland/Garrett County Narcotics Task Force who, during a surveillance at the Long Branch Saloon, Mtn. Lake Park, saw the defendant and several others get into a car that was parked there, and proceed to smoke marijuana.

One count of telephone abuse, filed against Peter I. House, 26, Friendsville, was placed on the stet docket at the request of the complainant, Janet E. Welch. An additional charge of assault was dismissed by the court. The charge was filed after an ongoing dispute between the two.

Robert L. Greenlee, 50, Alma, Ariz., was granted probation before judgement on a guilty verdict for possession of a concealed deadly weapon. One count of petty theft was not prosecuted. Greenlee's arrest occurred on Aug. 7, after state police at the Finzel Scale House found a handgun in his tractor-trailer during a routine truck inspection. It was later learned the gun was reported stolen from an individual in Salem, Ore.

Jason R. Speicher, age unknown, McHenry, pleaded guilty to two counts of petty theft. He was sentenced to one year in jail (suspended), fined $150, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to make $128 restitution to William O. Cummings. An additional charge of theft scheming was not prosecuted by the state's attorney. Conditions of Speicher's probation state he must also complete 60 hours of community service.

According to district court records, over a several month period, Speicher stole currency from the Silkscreener and Deep Creek Lake Video, property of Cummings.

A request for a sentence revision, sought by Terry L. Harvey, 28, Bloomington, was denied by Judge Burnett. The defendant was convicted in August of one count of casting rays of light while in possession of a weapon, and one count of hunting deer with a firearm during closed season. He received two three-month suspended sentences for the offenses. The charges stemmed from an Oct. 6, 1994, incident on the Pee Wee Road, and Harvey's arrest was initiated by Natural Resources Police Officer G.P. McCartney.

Three Treated, Released After One-Car Mishap

Three people were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a single-vehicle accident Saturday evening.

According to a report filed with the Oakland City Police, Jennie Hesson, 18, and Carrie Uphole, 18, both of Oakland, Nichole Wright, 19, Moorefield, W.Va., were transported to the hospital by the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad following the 8:30 p.m. accident, which happened at the intersection of Pennington Street and Bradley Lane, when Hesson, the driver of the vehicle, was unable to stop on the icy road.

No charges were filed, according to the police report, and all occupants were wearing their seatbelts. Also responding to the scene were members of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department.

Two Cited For DWI Following Car Accidents

Two local persons have been charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI) by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office following investigations into two separate car wrecks. Other arrests noted by the office include one individual charged with drug possession and another for alleged violation of an exparte order.

An Accident man was charged with DWI this week after the sheriff's office obtained a blood-alcohol level report from an area hospital. William P. Gank, 22, has been accused of driving while intoxicated on Sept. 22 when he wrecked his vehicle on Sang Run Road.

William G. Fazenbaker, 48, Keyser, W.Va., was charged with DWI on Saturday following a car wreck. He was apparently operating a vehicle on Rt. 135 when he wrecked near the Altamont Bridge. Dep. M. Bittinger made the arrest at 10:30 p.m., according to the report.

A man from Farmington, Pa., was arrested on the strength of three bench warrants and one arrest warrant, according to the police file. Raymond P. Bixler Jr., 32, is accused of violating an exparte order by entering the property of Joyce Bixler and removing tools from that location. He is also accused of two counts of failing to appear in court and one for failure to make deferred payments, according to the police reports.

Let's Declare War...

You have just sat down to supper with your family and the telephone rings. You answer and, after a brief pause, the person at the other end of the line says your name, barely coming close to its correct pronunciation (even if your name is Smith or Jones). Immediately you know its one of them - a telemarketer.

This scenario repeats itself, almost daily it seems, and sometimes as many as three or four times in one evening in literally hundreds of thousands of homes all over the nation.

We consider this an absolute, blatant invasion of our privacy by these people, causing us to rush to answer the phone, often in extremely inconvenient and sometimes even dangerous situations. We are controlled and we are manipulated by persons who have no right to do so. Even if we immediately hang up on them, we have still been forced to stop what we are doing to answer the phone.

It's past time that we all declare war on these intruders, who are obviously making a profit via this technique or they wouldn't continue to use it. We suggest the following procedure.

While there is definitely a certain degree of satisfaction derived from slamming the receiver down on these people, the thing to do is to stay on the line long enough to instruct the caller to place your name on their no-call list. By law they must honor this request, for if you make the request and the company calls you again, you may then file suit and be paid a $500 "fine" by the telemarketing firm for each call thereafter.

It is also advisable to get the name of the caller and to ask that person to send you a copy of the company's no-call policy. If the caller claims the company has no no-call policy, this should be reported immediately to the Better Business Bureau.

It is said that if just 10 percent of us victims of telemarketing would follow the above instructions, it would be enough to make the method unprofitable. Let's all jump on that bandwagon.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

The Board of Directors of the Domestic Violence Sexual Assault Resource Center would like to thank the Garrett County Commissioners for their support of the Shelter Project. The resolution that was passed raising the marriage license fees specifically for the shelter will go a long way toward obtaining this resource for Garrett County. Garrett County is the only county in the state of Maryland without a shelter of any kind and we are long overdue.

There is approximately $7,000 currently in the Domestic Violence Shelter Fund account, with $4,200 coming from the marriage license fees, $1,100 from the Steering Committee, and $1,700 from private donations. With continued support of the Garrett County Commissioners, and all of the other people working on this project, the Domestic Violence Sexual Assault Resource Center will have a shelter to run. Thanks again to Mr. Braskey, Mr. Glotfelty, and Mr. Wilt.

Sincerely,
Daryl T. Walters
President, DVSARC

To the Editor:

On November 6, we (four of us) finished our fourth and last Adopt-A-Highway pickup for the season. (Our assigned stretch is on 219 North, between Genus Centre and Glotfelty Enterprises.)

Most of the litter we picked up was candy wrappers, food and beverage containers, cigarette butts, pop and beer cans. No pick-ups are made during the winter so there is quite an accumulation of trash by spring.

It made me think, it really is very easy to carry a litter bag in your vehicle and place your litter in it--those candy wrappers, cups and food containers, pop and beer cans, and especially those cigarette butts--put them in your litter bag and then dispose of them in proper places.

We urge/encourage all Garrett Countians to be responsible, and do your share to keep our highways clean, please.

Thank you.

To the Editor:

On October 23, 1995, Southern High Band Boosters hosted a band competition for interested high school bands. There also was to be a competition held on that day in Towson, which was canceled due to inclemate weather conditions.

Southern High Band Boosters accepted four bands into their competition schedule on the very day of their event, after the cancellation at Towson. The weather was anything but cooperative, field conditions were much less than desirable; however, the Southern Band Boosters were most gracious hosts in spite of everything. There was even a hospitality room provided with hot refreshments and snacks for the chaperons, volunteers, and band related personnel.

I would like to commend the organizers and volunteers associated with that event and once again thank Southern Band and their Boosters for a very successful competition.

Sincerely,

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter in reference to how this county is run and also who runs it. I am incarcerated and have been since 2/23/95 and am now waiting to go to (D.O.C.) Department of Corrections to do a five-year sentence. My wife and I had a domestic dispute and were working our problems out. In court she did not testify against me, but the state picked up the charges and I was sentenced to do five years. In no other cases like mine (domestic dispute) did a spouse do jail time. There were several cases like mine and the cases were all dropped, once the wife or husband did not testify. There were no witnesses in my case to what happened, but a state trooper's testimony convicted me. No, not our good law officers, they don't lie. Yeah, right! Because of his testimony my wife and I can't be together, so our marriage is ending.

Another thing I cannot understand is why different people get more or less time than others for the same crime. If you've got the cash to line some people's pockets, you walk in this county. A certain lawyer has at least five D.W.I.'s (driving while intoxicated) and has never done a single day in jail, and has never lost his license. Why is this? Because he is in the clique in this area and with the law.

Another thing I would like to know is how a state official can be on probation and still supervise how other people are supposed to live. Only in Garrett County! I'm sure a lot of you people know what I mean. This county is nice; it was a great place to live. The people in it are what ruin this place. I'm not bawling about my time, even though it stated in The Republican paper that it was unusual. That's OK, cause this is my last. I've been a taxpayer for years, but I'm done with this county.

The truth of the matter is, the real crooks are in our judicial system, in my opinion! What is justice? Good question, huh?

Yours truly,
Long Gone!

I recently had the pleasure of distributing a copy of U.S. News & World Report America's Best Colleges to each junior and senior student at Northern High School. This was made possible by a very generous donation to the school by Rob Michael, State Farm Insurance agent.

This book is an excellent resource of college information for students and parents. It provides up-to-date facts as well as rankings of schools by region and majors the institutions may specialize in. Numerous informative articles are also included.

As junior/senior guidance counselor at Northern High School. I would like to take this opportunity to express sincere thanks to Mr. Michael on behalf of the junior and senior classes. I highly commend Mr. Michael for his on-going support of Garrett County schools!

Sincerely,
Mary M. Douds
Guidance Counselor

Mrs. Douds,

Mr. Michael did likewise for the juniors and seniors at Southern High School.

To the Editor:

Today was a very snowy day and I drove my husband, Rex, and me into a ditch on "rollercoaster hill" (8th Street just off Memorial Drive) as we headed for Rex's workplace: The Garrett County Health Department. I was driving the front-wheel car, because our four-wheel car is in the shop, so obviously I'm not adept at it!

Rex was picked up and taken to work by Dr. Dona Alvarez. Thank you, Dona! As I stood outside my car waiting for the call that Rex would make it to AAA at 8:15 a.m., this Wednesday morning, I marveled at the many members of a very caring community who drove by. Maggie Murphy, Fred Gregg, Maureen Sharps, and Barb Michaels all slowed down, rolled down their windows, and offered assistance in the way of a call or ride. If I forgot to name all of you, please realize that those mentioned and any others who offered assistance, I sincerely thank you. What kind, thoughtful, caring people you are!

Then Neal Stoner, a Jets football parent, drove by with his four-wheel drive vehicle, and a chain with hooks and offered to pull me out of the ditch. Thank you, Neal--you are a kind, helpful heart!

I am thankful I live here in Oakland, and that human caring is evident and alive. I fear to say that this type of caring may not have occurred in other places I have lived in my past 21 years of marriage. So, I give a five-star rating of caring community to our residents of Oakland Mountain Lake Park. God bless you all!

To the Editor:

There are many interesting aspects in your news coverage in recent months, which could use some further reporting investigatively; you have an excellent reporter Benjamin Robb, who could do it. I wish you would assign him to the task.

Your editorial Nov. 2, "It's a Cop Out," is excellent. Why has not the county commissioners asked Delegate Edwards to write a law allowing Garrett County to render the needed service to battered wives and children? He sure entered and had passed a bill in the legislature to let the former two and one present commissioners off the hook for their allegedly illegal purchases (via Pousek). It was the fastest action I have ever witnessed from Edwards. Not even a mention of a law for domestic violence victims housing financing. How come?

Why not do something about the "root causes" of the "need" for housing and care for victims of domestic violence? In Garrett County the mentally ill primarily are ignored! Pretend they don't exist or wished they didn't. Why?

I am disappointed in your bias of the school board actions. I wish you could be more objective. There have been many excellent letters to the editor in favor of majority decisions and actions of the school board; especially so Nov. 2, and I concur with them. We don't need a "bully ballot." We do not need a rubber stamp school board. We do not need a discourteous, disrespectful, threatening, hateful, vindictive, vilifying, personal tirade against elected school board members. We need inquiring, inquisitive, thoughtful, rational concern and interest which genuinely reflects theirs and their constituents' views. My representative, Charlotte Sebold, does that excellently. I voted for four of the current school board members. If they run again for the office I will vote for them and hope they will win. I am proud of these young people who took up the gauntlet to allow the populace as a whole to have a voice in the school system again.

Surely with the sorry state of the educational system nationwide, it's time some sanity came back into the education of the most valuable asset in our county.

Our children deserve far better than they are getting. They are being short changed big time.

I sincerely hope the "orchestrated show" in the special informational school board meeting takes a second look at their atrocious behavior and somewhere, somehow they are taught how the visitors to a school board official meeting are supposed to conduct themselves. Having attended school board meetings at intervals over 40 years in several states, including several over many years here, I do know the correct procedure and conduct. Why the police were not asked to escort some of the visitors from the meeting I would not know. I was not at the meeting. I do appreciate your news coverage.

Many of us would like to do many things we are now unable to do. There are age and health constraints. The taunt to the school board members as to where their supporters were and, why they were not there was inexcusably rude. I would hope for more "mature words and decorum" from the opposition.

Could more information be supplied to the school board before radical changes and seminars are introduced? If the academies could be enhanced that would indeed be a plus.

We taxpayers pay a lot for our educational system and we regret when we read "stat grades" are lower with less this and that, when we know real academic learning is so essential. "Forget the frills," our students need real substance in our world today. This is my opinion.

Thank you,
Mrs. Louise V. Harvey

To the Editor:

Legislation which will affect alt owners of private property in Garrett County and the value of their property if enacted, is pending in the U. S. Congress. The matter is property rights law, which requires that property owners be compensated for any loss of value to their property subjected to state and local government land-use regulation. The bill already passed by the House would compensate a property owner only after a decline in property value of 20 percent. The threshold in the Senate proposal would compensate a property owner only after a 33 percent loss in value. Senate markup is scheduled for this week.

The matter was before Washington state voters last week, who defeated a proposal by a 3-2 margin in last Tuesday's election. The proposed measure would have required state and local governments to compensate property owners for any decrease in land value resulting from regulation designed "for public benefit." The requirement would have covered restrictions on building in wetlands and logging regulations designed to protect fish and wildlife. Opponents said the proposal went much further and would prevent cities from enforcing zoning laws. About 20 states have recently passed property rights laws, but none have gone as far as the Washington state proposal.

However flawed the Washington state proposal may have been and what effect the resulting vote may have on the proposals in the U.S. Congress, may be put aside. What seems of great importance here is the size of the lobbying effort on both sides. $850,000 was raised for the campaign by the conservationalists. The contributors included: The League of Conservation Voters Education Fund ($55,000), American Association of Retired Persons, Washington State Labor Council, and the National Trust for Historical Preservation and wealthy environmentalists from Seattle, Colorado, and Pennsylvania.

A $1.1 million campaign was waged by the supporters of the proposal. Citizens for Property Rights, including $107,000 from the National Association of Home Builders, and contributions from the Defenders of Property Rights, state associations of home builders, local and national realty associations, the Washington State Farm Bureau, and several timber companies.

One may wonder what the stakes will be as the proposals in the U.S. Congress mature.

To the Editor:

I am a farmer being run over by the Maryland's bears. They are destroying food crops (corn) and animal life such as sheep and calves. If you have had anything to eat today, thank a farmer. Farmers are going out of business at an alarming rate. Some are going bankrupt. The farmers are in a squeeze. It takes a lot of 60¢ cattle to pay for a $60,000 tractor. Milk and other things are the same. If one of our cattle gets into someone's garden, the farmer is expected to pay for it. If a cow gets on the highway and someone gets hurt or killed, it could cost the farmer his life's work. At the same time, the state's wild game can ravage the county and be protected by law.

The bears came into the yard of my grandchildren. A bear killed their pet dog. That was like a funeral for the children. They are now afraid to play in their own yard.

Much is being said for animal rights. Whose rights come first, people's or animals'? If some hikers were to meet a sow with cubs, the animals may be satisfied first. Our grandchildren would like to hike and play in the woods, but they are afraid in their own yard.

Please remember the ones who are being infringed upon are the hard-working people who are paying your salary and the deer, bears, cougars, and rattle snakes don't take a bite out of it.

Please tell me where common sense lets off and rules begin. It is my feeling that a legal bear season would help to end this problem.

Yours truly,

View From My Window

by Jeffrey Wilson

The South Has Risen Again

Beneath the current debates in Congress-- on medicare. welfare reform, taxes, farm policy, etc. - run the deep waters of America's North-South divide.

More southerners hold positions of national leadership now than in any time since before the Civil War. There are exceptions, of course, but they are just that, exceptions. Bill Clinton, Al Gore, Newt Gingrich, and Dick Armee all hail from the south. Bob Dole comes from Kansas, a western state in which the North-South dichotomy was institutionalized in its creation.

The South-West alliance against the old North surprises no student of history. After the Civil War, many disenfranchised southern whites went west to find new opportunities. They carried with them the southern prejudice against the Union. This sentiment has been clearly enunciated in the cry of citizens from western states that they are going to take back the vast holdings presently under federal administration.

The idea of "taking back" only makes sense in an eastern context, and specifically in the 13 original states which yielded much of their sovereignty to a national government. The rest of the country belonged to the national entity first, and was granted limited state sovereignty by the federal government. It anything is to be "taken back" west of the Appalachians, it is only the national government that has a right to do the taking. Like it or not, it was the folks from Washington who were there first i.e. before states existed; clearly not before the indians.

The old South announced its intentions to dismember the Union, and always said it was that issue over which they fought the Civil War-- what they called "the War Between the States" which itself evidenced their ideological point of view. Enlightened expositors of that conviction readily admit, the old South chose a terrible issue on which to plant their flag.

I learned from a judge speaking from the bench some years ago not to pay too much attention to what people say they are doing, rather to observe carefully what in fact they are doing. Newt Gingrich and his comrades promote steps which, if taken, must lead inevitably to the dissolution of our Union. Their hearts are those of old-time states-righters, but their tongues have licked clean the dictionary of doublespeak.

The slogans of these new anti-unionists sound wonderfully appealing. "Let's get the federal government out of our lives." "Let's give our country back to the people," "Let's let local communities make their own decisions." "States can make better decisions about welfare, farm policy, medicaid, community projects and a dozen other things than the bureaucrats in Washington can." It all sounds great, but the premise behind the rhetoric is to reduce the power of our Union.

Criticizing the excesses of the federal government is easy to do, and I have done my share in public and private. But I know this: the quality of water flowing into the Atlantic Ocean from the Chesapeake Bay down in Virginia depends upon what happens all along the Bay, the Susquehanna, and Potomac Rivers and all their tributaries in five different states. That is even more the case in the Mississippi-Missouri watersheds. The air pollution created in Chicago heads east. The chemicals applied in Texas head north.

The United States of America has achieved its greatness because of the balance between the sovereignty of individual states and of the Union of all the states. Newt Gingrich and company apply solvent to the glue of our nation. That goes beyond issues of conservative and liberal, beyond the interests of business and labor, beyond the politics of rich and poor. It goes to the root belief of those who believe in our Union and those who do not.

Make-A-Wish Grants Young Girl's Wish To Visit Cousin In Seattle

by Patti Grose

The wish of a seriously ill Bittinger girl was granted earlier this month with a trip to Seattle, Wash., where she visited her aunt and uncle, and met her month-old cousin.

Thanks to the efforts of the Western Maryland Chapter of Make-A-Wish in Cumberland, 11-year-old Krista Beitzel, her parents, Willis and Greta Beitzel, and her brother, Wendell, boarded a plane for Seattle on Nov. 1, because Krista wanted to meet her cousin, Noah Evan Guengerich, son of Mrs. Beitzel's brother and sister-in-law, Evan and Lynn Guengerich, who was born Oct. 6.

Suffering from a life-threatening brain tumor, Krista has undergone surgery four times since it was first diagnosed in 1987 and, according to her mother, the slow-growing tumor is expected to return. The most recent surgery was in May of this year at Children's Hospital in Washington, D.C. Her doctor there told the family there was no more, medically, he could do for her. "He's not recommending we do any more surgery at this point," Mrs. Beitzel said. "It's causing more damage, and she's not getting any better. Our prayer at this point is just that she doesn't have to continue to suffer."

The Beitzels have relied on their faith in God to see them through Krista's ordeal. "We know He loves Krista more than we do," her mother said, "and He won't put us through any more than we can handle."

During her first surgery on Nov. 10, 1987, at a hospital in Little Rock, Ark., Krista was cared for by an intensive care unit nurse who later met Mrs. Beitzel's brother, and eventually married him.

Krista and her Aunt Lynn have had a special relationship over the years, and when it was decided the youngster qualified for Make-A-Wish, she chose to visit that special aunt, along with her uncle Evan, and her brand new cousin, Noah Evan.

Krista was greeted at the airport by the Guengerichs, her grandmother, Twila Guengerich, and the Make-A-Wish representative from Seattle, who made necessary arrangements for the family while they were there.

Balloons and banners decorated the Guengerich home for Krista's arrival, and one highlight of the week-long trip was a visit to the restaurant at the top of Seattle's Space Needle. She returned home with several souvenirs, and memories of her "dream" trip to see her special aunt, uncle, and cousin.

According to the Western Maryland Make-A-Wish coordinator, Cathy Roman, the Cumberland office handles six to eight wishes annually. The Mid-Atlantic Make-A-Wish chapter, which granted 260 wishes during the past year, is headquartered in Rockville, and covers Maryland, Washington, D.C., Delaware, and the five northern counties of Virginia.

Make-A-Wish is operated on a referral system. The chapter cannot solicit participants. "More children with life-threatening illnesses are out there," Roman said, "and we hope Make-A-Wish will be contacted to help make their wishes come true." She can be contacted by calling the Cumberland office at 301-727-6571.

Sheriff's Office Reports Recent Vehicle Mishaps

Reports of three car accidents in the past two weeks were on file at the Garrett County Sheriff's Office this week. Two local teenagers sustained minor injuries in a single-vehicle car wreck last Thursday, and a Swanton woman was hurt in a wreck on Nov. 8. A third wreck happened in Accident on Tuesday of this week, but a complete report has not yet been filed.

A single-vehicle accident on Nov. 9 resulted in minor injuries for two local teenagers. Chad A. Ward, 16, Oakland, was operating a 1995 Chevrolet southbound on Oakland-Sang Run Road when he apparently lost control of the vehicle and went off the right side of the road. The car hit a tree on the passenger's side, spun around 360 degrees, and hit another tree on the right front. The car slid 260 feet before coming to a stop.

Ward and a passenger in the car, Angela L. Virts, 16, both sustained minor injuries and were transported by Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where they were treated and released.

In another single-car incident, Margaret I. Craver, 39, Swanton, was reportedly hurt. Craver was operating a 1987 Pontiac Sunbird westbound on North Glade Road on Nov. 8 when the car slid on the icy roadway. It ran over a fence, down a steep embankment, and came to rest in a creek bed. The accident occurred at approximately 7 p.m.

Craver was taken by the rescue squad to Garrett Memorial, where she was treated for injuries.

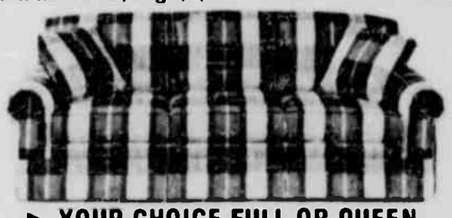
The third wreck occurred on Tuesday of this week on Rt. 219 in Accident. The Northern Rescue Squad and the Accident Volunteer Fire Department responded to the wreck, and one person was apparently transported to the hospital. A report was not complete at press time.

My Dearest Charlie:

I want to write this letter to you and the public to say how very sorry I am for what I have done. I know I've hurt you very badly. I was very upset hurt and confused at the time I filed the charges on you. I was only out to hurt you. I want everyone to know that the charges of sexual assault and battery against you were not true. I'm very sorry.

I've realized how much I truly do love you and never want to hurt you again. You truly don't know what you've got until you lose it and these past three weeks without you have opened up my eyes. I don't want to lose you.

If I could go back and change my actions, I would. It's going to take a lot to make up for what I've done. But please let me try. I need you in my life. You're everything to me. Without you I can't eat or sleep. All I do is think about you and the times that we've shared. I miss you so much it hurts.



Your loving wife,
Dora Spiker

Mountaintop Blanketed By Early 30-Inch Snow Storm

TRUCKING CAME TO A STANDSTILL on Interetate-68 Wednesday as surprised drivers hit the mountaintop white wonderland. The early winter weather system that stretched up through Garrett County dumped about 30 inches of the fluffy stuff, while surrounding areas along 68 received much less. Truckers made their way to Keysers Ridge to wait out the worst of it, and staff photographer Craig Phillips ended up there, too, as he tried in vain to get into Oakland to report for work. Road crews struggled to keep up with the accumulating snow, but it continued to fall all day, and has yet to let up. Driving was dangerous yesterday, as evidenced by the photo at right. Most residents stayed home, while those who ventured out took obvious risks.

BURIED - Homes, cars, trees, and everything else outside turned into nondescript bumps of snow yesterday as the inches built up all over the county. Numerous businesses, schools, and county and state offices were dark as residents stayed inside their blanketed homes and watched the snow continue to fall. Others worked for hours to dig out cars and driveways, and still others were kept busy building snowmen with out-of-school youngsters.

THE FUN BEGINS - The early deep snowfall sent many outside to launch into the fun of winter. The young man pictured above appears to be making a path for easier cross-country skiing, and the fellow at right is promoted to hero status as he gives a slick lift to a bundled-up kid. Local youngsters will continue to play in the snow today, as schools were closed again because of drifted roads and berms too unsafe for school bus riders. No county resident is a stranger to deep snow, and most can get some enjoyment out of it, whether it be in bouncing around in the drifts or simply gazing at the pristine beauty all around.

DIGGING OUT - Tools from the simplest household shovel to the county's largest pieces of machinery are being dusted off and put to use all over Garrett County as everyone works to dig out from under 30-plus inches of snow. The storm caused power outages for some 400 Potomac Edison customers, but all power was reportedly restored as of last evening. Most roads have been cleared, but some remain one lane or partially blocked. Drivers should continue to operate their vehicles with care, as the snow continues to come down today and sudden winds are causing temporary white-outs as well as icy road conditions.

New Arrivals

The births of three infants this week at Garrett County Memorial Hospital were announced this morning by a hospital spokesperson.

A son was born November 12 to Eric Carlton and Sandra Lee Decchioni Sines, Oakland.

A son was born November 13 to Christopher Leslie and Kendra Dawn Stemple Todd, Oakland.

A daughter was born November 15 to Daniel Patrick and Krista Beth Eisentrout Biggs, Swanton.

Admissions were listed at 62 with 49 discharges. This morning's census shows 39 patients.

Merv and Karen Marie (Frank) Yoder, Prince Frederick, announce the birth of their son, Joshua Alexander, on Nov. 12. Grandparents are Nancy Frank, Accident, and Col. Paul S. Frank Jr., Montgomery, Ala, and Elam and Laura Yoder, Grantsville.

Bartlett Won't Accept Pay Until Govt. Resumes

District VI Congressman Roscoe Bartlett stated yesterday that he will not accept a paycheck until the conclusion of the ongoing federal government shutdown.

"I strongly support the Republican plan to balance the budget in seven years and I firmly believe that implementation of this plan is essential to preserving the economic viability of this nation for our children and grandchildren," Bartlett stated in a letter to House Speaker Newt Gingrich dated Nov. 15. "However, during the course of the debate on this subject, the appropriation process has become stalled to the point employees in some government agencies and departments will not be paid their salary in the normal payment cycle . . .

"It is my understanding that elected members of Congress will be paid no matter the outcome of the appropriation process.

"I applaud the leadership of both the House and the Senate in guaranteeing that all federal employees will receive all the pay and benefits that they would usually receive in the normal payment cycle. However, I cannot, in all due conscience, accept a pay check until those constituents in my district who work for the Federal government and my own staff know when they will receive a pay check.

"I ask that the chief administrative officer be instructed not to issue me a pay check until my constituents and my staff members know the date that they will receive a pay check."

GCHD AmeriCorps Exercise Program Entering 2nd Year

Following last year's successful debut of the Exercise For A Healthier Tomorrow program, an initiative which managed to convince approximately 400 local residents to exercise, the Garrett County Health Department's AmeriCorps team is kicking-off the program's second season.

"Residents joining our project are being encouraged to 'take the healthy choice challenge' over a nine month period and really look at the choices they make each day in the areas of nutrition and exercise," explained Kendra Todd, local project coordinator.

Todd is working on the project with AmeriCorps members Diane Doman, Gretchen Durst, and Kerrie Kinnard and GCHD community outreach team member Linda Severe.

"You earn points for your individual choices, like exercising or weight-lifting; consuming fruits and vegetables; avoiding fats, salt, and fast foods; drinking more water; or taking the stairs," states Todd. "Accumulated points lead to incentive prizes ranging from flying disks to sunglasses to t-shirts."

Todd stated that the program not only seeks to motivate people to start exercising, but also attempts to recognize persons who are already exercising and eating right.

The overall goal of the project continues to be a reduction in the incidence of cardiovascular disease in Garrett County, a GCHD spokesperson noted.

"For that reason, the emphasis will remain on cardiovascular activity, which is still the most effective way to keep the heart healthy and burn calories," the spokesperson added.

"The biggest difference between the first and second year of this project is that this year we are focusing on the individual," remarked Todd. "No teams are being organized and we are not providing any classes or requiring any weekly records or visits to our fitness screenings. Participants this year are receiving credit for doing their own thing and taking advantage of resources that are already available in the area."

Fitness screenings will be available during the course of the project. Screenings are slated for Thursday, Nov. 9, at Flowery Vale Senior Center, Accident, and Tuesday, Nov. 14, at the Oakland Fire Hall. All activities will take place from 5 to 7 p.m., including height and weight measurements, blood pressure readings, flexibility tests, muscular streng.h and endurance tests, and cardiovascular step tests.

Fitness screenings will be offered again in March and July of next year and are open to anyone interested, even those not participating in the exercise project.

"Residents of all ages are encouraged to invite a friend or family member to join the project along with them anytime between now and July 15," stated Todd.

To receive a participant packet, interested persons may visit an upcoming fitness screening, contact a community outreach team member, or call or visit the health department or AmeriCorps office.

ARC Funds Grant To Develop Mineral Resources Study

The Maryland Office of Planning has received a grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) for the development of a "Mineral Resources Element Model and Guideline" study.

According to Ronald M. Kreitner, Director of the Maryland Office of Planning, "Mineral resources provide basic materials which support various economic activities in Maryland. Coal in Western Maryland and materials such as sand and gravel throughout the state are critical energy and construction resources."

The study will address issues such as the protection and recovery of these mineral resources. Steps to avoid preemption and plans for reclamation and reuse will be outlined. The compatibility of mineral extraction with adjacent land uses and proposed new management techniques will also be investigated. The study results can be used by local governments as they update comprehensive plans and implementation regulations to comply with Economic Growth, Resource Protection and Planning Act of 1992 and in particular, meet the mineral resource element requirements of Maryland's planning and zoning enabling legislation, Kreitner noted.

The total project cost is $20,000, with ARC providing 50 percent of the amount. The balance of the funding is being provided by the Maryland Office of Planning.

The ARC program in Maryland is directed through the office of Governor Parris N. Glendening, and coordinated by the Maryland Office of Planning. Although the study will have statewide significance, it will address in particular the issues Appalachian Maryland faces in dealing with resource protection within the context of an economic growth strategy, Kreitner said.

Runnin' Rams Capture Third State Title; Girls Finish Second

Huskies Finish Fifth, Sixth

Southern High School cross-country coach Carl Booth had no doubt that his team would bring home its third straight 1A Boys' Maryland State Championship this past weekend; it was just a matter of how big the margin would be between his team's point total and that of the second place team.

That margin was no fewer than 60 points, as four of the seven Runnin' Rams in the event, held at Hereford High School north of Baltimore, were among the top nine finishers and five were among the top 16.

Southern finished with 32 team points, host Hereford placed a distant second with 92 points, and was followed by Boonsboro with 94, Francis Scott Key with 100, Clear Spring with 120, the Northern Huskies with 147, Williamsport with 172, Edgewood with 201, Joppatowne with 212, and Easton with 263.

The Rams not only won their third straight state title, but also finished the season with a perfect record of 70-0, a mark that is probably unmatched by any other high school in the country. The streak this year upped Southern's consecutive wins to approximately 120.

Meanwhile, the Southern girls' team, coached by Louis Newcomb and expected to finish among the top four in the state, captured the runner-up trophy in the girls' 1A Championship race. The Rams, who have only one senior among the top runners, were topped only by a senior-dominated Boonsboro team.

Boonsboro finished with 36 points, the Rams recorded 73 and were followed by Smithsburg with 100, Brunswick with 105, Northern with 116, Francis Scott Key with 119, Hereford with 134, and Easton with 171.

Leading the Southern boys, as he has done all season long, was senior Todd Howard, who finished the rigorous 3.1-mile course in second place with a time of 17:13, eight seconds behind the winner Mark Schnebly of Clear Spring. Schnebly's brother, Brian, was the 1A state champion last year when Howard also won the runner-up trophy.

Howard had defeated Mark Schnebly by some 40 seconds in the regional meet just nine days before the state event, but Schnebly seized the lead in Saturday's race on the last steep hill on the Hereford course and never relinquished it.

STATE RUNNER-UP - Todd Howard, who led the Southern High School cross-country team to its first-ever undefeated season, also led the Rams to their third straight Maryland State 1A championship this past Saturday at Hereford High School. Howard, captain and one of five seniors on Coach Carl Booth's team, is pictured above crossing the finish line and capturing the 1A state runner-up trophy. Howard was edged out of state title by Mark Schnobly of Clear Spring, a runner whom he had defeated by some 40 seconds the previous week at the regional meet. It was the second state runner-up trophy Howard has won, as Mark Schnebly's brother Brian won the title last season.

ONE OF THE MOST RIGOROUS COURSES in the entire state is at Hereford High School, as the 3.1-mile distance features climbs up and down two extremely steep hills. Three Southern Rams are pictured above making the last climb on the course, which is about one-quarter mile from the finish. Pictured center is senior Kevin Andrews, who placed eighth overall, being followed by teammates Nathan McBee and Daniel Sincell. McBee, also a senior, finished fifth and Sincell, a sophomore, placed ninth. All three, along with second-place finisher Todd Howard, were named to the Maryland 1A All-State team. Just missing a spot on the All-State team was sophomore Mike Bittinger, pictured at right crossing the finish line in 16th place and raising four fingers on each hand to symbolize his belief that the Rams will return to Hereford next year and win an unprecedented fourth straight state championship.

Fellow seniors Nathan McBee and Kevin Andrews placed fifth and eighth, respectively, with times of 18:01 and 18:04, while sophomore Dan Sincell finished ninth in 18:10 and Mike Bittinger, also a sophomore, placed 16th in 18:53. Bittinger just missed making the All-State team, as the top 15 finishers receive that honor.

Southern's sixth finisher was junior Matt Sincell, who placed 29th overall with a time of 19:40, while senior Charlie Wesley came in 51st with a time of 20:45. There were 75 runners who finished the race, representing the top 1A high school teams from each of the four regions in the state, plus some individual runners who placed near the top in their respective regional races.

"I believe I'm the proudest and the luckiest coach in the whole world right now," stated an elated Coach Booth. "I woke up during the night before the race, and for some reason the number 38 kept coming to mind for our team score. We did even better than that (32)."

Booth said that, despite losing five seniors from the team to graduation next spring, including Howard, McBee, and Andrews, he believes the Rams have the talent and will have the commitment to win a fourth straight state title, something that has never been done in Maryland.

"I'm certainly going to miss those kids," Booth said. "All five of them are just like sons to me. But there's another great group of kids right behind them who will be back next year, and I truly think we will be able to win the fourth one."

Leading the Northern boys were Joe Weimer and Mark Shawley, who placed 20th and 22nd, respectively, with times of 19:08 and 19:10. Aaron Hordubay was 33rd in 19:51 and Jason Artice finished 39th in 20:11.

Amy Snyder, who is only a freshman on the Southern girls' team, was the fastest on her squad for the first time this season, as she finished in 10th place with a time of 22:20. She was followed by Meghan Dabney, a junior, in 11th place (22:21), and Lauren Newcomb, also a junior, in 13th place (22:24). All three were named to the All-State team.

Andrea Devens, the only senior among Southern's top six runners, finished 18th in 22:50, sophomore Christy Hoalcraft was 39th in 24:40, Katelyne McBee, another freshman, placed 52nd in 26:02, and senior Julie Caruso was 55th in 26:12.

"The girls did a lot of mental preparation at the motel the night before the race, and then they went out an ran possibly their best race of the entire season," stated Coach Newcomb. "We really thought we had a good shot at Boonsboro. We've been chasing them for three years now, and I think next year we'll catch them."

Two members of the Northern girls, coached by Charlie Himmler, also won All-State honors and led all of Garrett County's female runners. Kendra Duckworth, a 1994 All-Stater, earned that honor again by placing fifth overall with a time of 21:45, while sophomore Rachel Leverenz finished seventh in 21:53, despite falling down three times on the steep, rain-slickened course.

Other Northern runners and their finishes were: Stacy Dolan in 28th (23:55), Janel Hordubay in 45th (25:06), Shanna Powell in 59th (26:43), Megan Sines in 61st (26:47), and Stefanie Dolan in 66th (27:02).

Late Touchdown Gives Rams 8-0 Victory Over Spartans

It wasn't pretty, except for persons who love to watch defense, but the Southern varsity football team assured itself of a playoff spot last Friday night in a must-win situation by defeating visiting Bishop Walsh, 8-0.

For seemingly the umpteenth time this season, the Rams had to play on a wet home field, which is definitely not conducive for a power-oriented, running offense. It was not until the 3:31 mark of the fourth quarter that the Rams finally put the ball into the end zone to win the game against a team that brought a modest 3-7 mark to Oakland.

The victory provides a rather unique opportunity for the Rams: they will get another chance to defeat 1A foe Beall just two weeks after losing to the Mountaineers, 30-20, in a fumble-ridden clash in Frostburg. Southern will travel to the Beall gridiron most likely this Friday, unless officials decide to play the game on Saturday because of the snowy conditions.

It was about eight inches of snow that fell last Wednesday that made the Rams' field so soft and slick Friday night, preventing both offensive units from being able to move the ball, particularly since the BW offense is likewise mostly dependent on the running game.

The Rams finished with only 147 yards of offense, all of which came on the ground in 42 carries, while the Southern defense held the Spartans to just 38 yards on 26 carries and three completed passes.

The Southern defense created two opportunities for points in the first half, as Bryan O'Connell blocked a punt, giving the Rams possession on the BW 46, and Howard Crosco recovered a Spartan fumble on the BW 26, but neither materialized. The Rams gained only three yards before having to punt the ball away after O'Connell's block and, after Crosco's recovery, fumbled the ball right back to the Spartans on their seven-yard line.

The Spartans had no real opportunities to score throughout the entire game, as the Southern defense simply stopped them at or behind the line of scrimmage on almost every play.

An interception by BW's Greg Ruppenkamp stopped the Rams on their first possession of the second half, but O'Connell, who was starting his first game ever for Coach Tom Woods, again provided some key plays for the Southern defense, as he sacked BW quarterback Brett Blanco and rushed him on another play that caused him to throw an incomplete pass. O'Connell finished with four tackles behind the line.

The Spartans nearly recorded a safety late in the third quarter when the Ram offense was pushed back and Andy Woods was tackled right at the one-yard line. But a successful punt by Joel Uphold from just inside his own end line took away that threat.

It was an interception by Shawn Strawser with 7:28 to play in the game that ultimately set up the Rams' winning touchdown. Strawser was stopped at the BW 45, and the Ram offense moved the remaining 45 yards in eight plays. The drive was capped by a 14-yard touchdown run by Aaron Newcomb, which was the longest run from scrimmage for the entire evening. Woods tacked on the insurance points with a successful conversion run.

Bishop Walsh made some progress on its last drive, but another sack by O'Connell and Scot Schroyer on a fourth-and-12 sealed the win for the Rams.

Newcomb led the Rams rushing effort with 75 yards on 19 carries, while Crosco finished with 60 yards on 16 tries. Justin DuVall, who left the game with a leg injury in the third quarter, led the BW ground game with 35 yards on seven carries.

Todd Logan paced the Spartan offense with 10 tackles, including a pair of sacks.

"We didn't perform nearly as well offensively as we had the week before (against Beall), but the conditions made it very hard to execute on offense," Coach Woods said. "A trapping offense like ours depends on our backs being able to hit the line quickly, and there was just no footing out there to be able to do that."

Woods also credited Bishop Walsh's defense for its effort. "This was the first time that they had everyone healthy this season," he said. "Plus they have played very well most of the season on defense. Beall only beat them by six points and against Allegany they were down by only a touchdown until the fourth quarter."

He also believed his team was still down following the frustrating loss to Beall the week before, a game in which the Ram offense amassed over 400 yards, but fumbled the ball seven times.

Woods noted the outstanding efforts his entire defense and in particular of O'Connell, describing his individual performance as "one of the best by anyone on our team this season."

Senior lineman Seth Tressler, the Rams' leading tackler, had to leave the game in the first half because of a sprained knee, and Woods utilized O'Con-

In Memory Of Matthew Sean Riley
on his 23rd Birthday
November 17th

Someday we'll be with you Matthew, and you will hold our hands.
And then, we know, that God will show us just how to understand.
Just why he took you far away when knowing all the while
The way we'd miss you everyday and long to see your smile.

You loved to live and work and plan and help your fellow men,
And you spoke a word of comfort to strangers as well as to a friend.
And though your life in years was short,
in service it was long,
So God just thought he'd take you where chosen ones belong.

But way beyond the sunset, Matt, we'll see again your loving face
Smiling so sweetly down at us, how proud to take our place
Beside you, knowing all the while we'll never have to part,
But just pal along together like we did right from the start.

We want to know the road you took so we can take it too,
And you can meet us half the way,
then we'll go back with you.
That time won't be long, Matthew it gets closer every day.
Then we'll take leave of earthly things, and quietly slip away.

We Love You

Food For Thought
by Traci Otto
McClive's Restaurant

From the Middle East comes a salad of chopped tomatoes, green onions, cucumbers, bell peppers, parsley and mint with a dressing redolent of cumin. Israelis call it Arab salad, the Arabs call it Israeli salad — and they all agree it's a favorite.

Super-easy, super-delicious potatoes are just scrubbed, cut in half or quarters, and placed in a roasting pan with 1/4 cup oil and 2 Tbs. chopped fresh rosemary, plus salt and pepper to taste. Bake in a 425-degree oven 30 to 40 minutes, turning now and then.

For special spicy chicken breasts, mix 1/3 cup orange marmalade with 2 Tbs. minced ginger, 2 cloves garlic and 1 tsp. dijon mustard. Marinate chicken overnight, then broil five minutes a side. Spread on more of the mix. Serve sliced on salad or rice.

Need to substitute dry herbs for fresh? As a general rule, a teaspoon of dried equals a tablespoon of fresh. But to adjust for intense flavor, use less fresh thyme, more fresh sage.

Huskies Topped By Panthers In Season Finale, 12-6

The Northern High Huskies, expected to finish among the area's 1A leaders this season, wrapped up a disappointing campaign on Friday with a 12-6 upset loss to Hancock, a team that has never defeated the Huskies.

Hancock	6	0	0	6--12
Northern	0	6	0	0-- 6

H--Jeremy Swain 1 run (run failed)
N--Brian Heslop 50 run (run failed)
H--Swain 1 run (run failed)

The defeat dropped the Huskies to 3-7 for the 1995 season, one that Coach Tom Vent is trying to put behind him and look toward better things in the future.

The contest with the Panthers of Hancock, played at Husky stadium, was almost all defense, as the Huskies managed only 122 yards of total offense and only five first downs, while the Panthers recorded just 198. But the two-touchdown performance of Jeremy Swain was enough for the Panthers, who came into the game having just knocked off a strong, playoff-bound Berkeley Springs team the week before.

A one-yard touchdown run by Swain in the first quarter, followed by a failed conversion run, gave the Panthers a 6-0 advantage.

The Huskies came back to tie the score in the second quarter when Brian Heslop broke loose for a 50-yard gallop to the end zone. The conversion run was stopped short and the score was knotted at 6-6 at halftime.

Third quarter play yielded no points for either team, but Swain and the Panthers won the game in the fourth period when Swain again scored on a one-yard run. The two-point conversion run again failed, but the visitors had all the points they would need for the victory.

"Hancock deserved to win the game," Coach Vent stated matter-of-factly. "Once again, we just didn't play well enough to win."

In trying to look at the positive side of the Huskies' 3-7 season, Vent noted that his team was competitive in every game.

"We gave up a total of 135 points and we scored 114 points," he said. "Most of our losses were close and to teams that are now in the playoffs (Southern, Westmar, Beall).

"Our kids really played hard in almost every game, so I really hurt for them," Vent said. "We've been doing a lot of soul searching and all we can do now is get beyond our disappointment and try to get better."

Vent alluded to a comment once made by Penn State coach Joe Paterno.

"Paterno said there's nothing better than a 3-7 season to really help your program," Vent said. "There's a lot of wisdom in that statement, even though I don't think Joe Paterno has ever experienced that!

"I love the game, but it really is just a game; which is something that I have trouble keeping in perspective sometimes," he concluded.

Vent and his staff have their work cut out for them for next season since they will lose 15 seniors to graduation next spring.

Late Touchdown

nell on defense and Shawn Strawser on offense to fill that void. "Shawn also did a super job for us," Woods said, noting that Tressler is listed as "questionable" for the game this week.

"Seth is probably only about 60 percent right now, so we just don't know yet if he'll be able to play," he said.

The contest between the Rams and Beall should be a repeat of the first clash two weeks ago in terms of excitement, but Woods is hoping that his team is able to do a better job of hanging onto the ball.

"You just can't win a football game if you fumble seven times," he said. "We plan to play smarter football, we hope to execute better offensively, and we have made a few defensive adjustments after learning a few more things about their offense."

Beall's wing-T offense is led by senior quarterback Ryan Patterson and three strong running backs in Mike Yates, Tony Leasure, and Jeff Holsinger. Kevin Crowe, at 210 pounds, and Ben Harman at 230, anchor the offensive line.

Their 5-2 defense is led by Yates and Shawn Opel, both linebackers, Leasure and Patterson in the backfield, and defensive end John Shaw.

"They are very similar to us in that they like to control the tempo of the game with their running game on offense, and their bend, but don't break, defense," Woods said. "They like to drive the ball through the middle, but again like us, will try to run the option against you when you least expect it."

Frostburg received about 18 inches of snow with the storm this week and, according to Woods, the Beall staff hopes to have machinery come in and remove the snow from the field so it will be playable Friday night. He said there is a slight chance the game will be moved to Saturday night.

"Not only will the field conditions probably be terrible, but we haven't had practice since Monday," Woods said yesterday. "In fact, we've had only four outside practices in the past three weeks because of the weather.

"This really has us concerned, because you just can't duplicate things with inside practices," he said. "You can't practice any kicking or special teams play, and you can't have any real contact at all. Our kids are in good shape and they are very excited to play, but we just hope their execution won't be too rusty from a lack of practice."

Besides Tressler, all of the other players are in good health, according to Woods.

"It should be another great football game," he said. "It's very rare in football that you get another opportunity in the same season to beat a team, which we consider a real plus for our side. If they beat us again, then they really deserve to move on toward the state title."

The winner of the game will then meet the victor of the Havre de Grace/Charles E. Hickey School contest on Saturday, Nov. 25.

In Loving Memory Of My Husband
John L. Fitzwater, Jr. who died November 18, 1985

My Love
Ten years now elapsed
Beyond that harrowing day.
Thoughts deeply embedded
Still inside do stay.
A myriad of memories linger;
At times grow anew.
I reminisce of happy days
Once shared with you.
Our family now grown,
Three great-grandchildren
you never knew.
We visit your resting place,
And I tell them of you.
On bleak November eighteen
As I've done each year,
I'll send my love to you,
And, somehow, feel you hear.

Helen C. Fitzwater

My Best Christmas Ever

My name is Joey and I am 7 years old and I live in Grantsville. I like it when its time for Santa Claus to come to my house. My best Christmas happened when I was just a little boy. Mommy, Daddy and me went to Pap and Mam-ma's to wait for Santa to come. In a little bit Santa came through the sky and made big shoes in the snow and looked in Mam-Ma's window. He looked like my Pap Pap only Pap doesn't have a furry beard thats white and his belly isn't as big. I closed my eyes so Santa would not see me then he left toys under the tree. I got the biggest wagon in the whole place. It was red and had wood on the sides like Pap makes things with. I pulled it all around then I got sleepy. I took a nap in my wagon until it wasn't dark outside anymore. It was my bestest Christmas ever.

Lakers Open With A Win And A Loss; To Host Tourney

The Garrett Community College Lakers opened their season this past weekend by participating in the Hagerstown Junior College Classic, and came home with one win and one loss.

Coach Dennis Gibson's team recorded an 87-79 victory over Howard Community College on Friday, and then dropped a 77-54 decision to Central Florida in a Saturday game.

Adrian Stokes finished with 31 points to lead the Lakers to victory over Howard, while freshman Chad Reese nailed six three-point shots and a pair of free throws to record 20 points. Also reaching double figures were sophomores Kandra Gray and Gunnell Hickman with 10 points each.

The Lakers held a 44-30 advantage at halftime and were up by as many as 17 points midway through the second half before Howard rallied to cut the Laker advantage to seven points with about five minutes remaining. However, Stokes, Hickman, and Gray each hit long-range buckets down the stretch to halt the rally and seal the win for Garrett.

Twelve of Stokes' points came on 12 shots from the foul line, and 15 more came on five three-point shots.

Pacing Howard CC were Daniel Sancomb and Javier Michaix with 24 and 18 points, respectively, while Tyrone Jones netted 14.

Coach Gibson described the Lakers' outside game as "excellent" and called Stokes' effort "outstanding" against "a team with a lot of talent and a lot of depth."

The Lakers' starting sophomore Damian Crosby hit a pair of early field goals, but then had to leave the game with an ankle injury. He remained sidelined Saturday night when the Lakers lost to Central Florida.

Thirty-one turnovers by the Lakers against Central was among the keys to their defeat, according to Gibson, who credited their opponents' defense with forcing many of those.

"They kept the man-to-man pressure on us almost the entire game," he said, "and we didn't handle it very well."

The Lakers trailed 44-24 by halftime, but then played almost evenly with the Florida team in the second half, when they were out-scored by only three points.

Stokes again led the Lakers in scoring by finishing with 21 points, while Vashawne Gross netted 11 and Hickman finished with 10.

Levant Williams scored 21 to pace Central Florida and Mike Grayer scored 15 points.

Gibson was pleased with the efforts of his defense during the second half, which is what he believes kept the Lakers from being out-scored by only three points in that half.

The Lakers, who opened their season ranked 16th in the nation in NJCAA Division II, will open their home campaign this Friday night when they host the annual Rob Michael State Farm Insurance Alumni Tournament.

Friday's 6 p.m. game will pit the New Kensington Campus of Penn State against Dundalk CC, after which the Lakers will play Potomac State in the 8 p.m. game. The consolation game will be played at 2 p.m. Saturday, followed by the championship game at 4 p.m.

Dundalk, who will bring a 3-0 mark into the tourney, will be the favorite to win the title, however New Kensington, now coached by former GCC coach Paul Holzshu, is the defending champion of the event. Potomac State will come in with an 0-1 mark.

The championship game will be followed by a GCC alumni game, provided there are enough former Lakers who register for the event. Those interested are asked to contact Coach Gibson at 387-3053 to register and/or obtain more information. Tip-off of that contest is set for 6 p.m.

Family Planning Services Offered By Health Dept.

The newest options in family planning and birth control are available for local residents through the Garrett County Health Department's "Healthy Options for Prevention and Empowerment" (HOPE) project.

As an addition to the health department's current family planning program, in existence since 1971, HOPE offers Maryland residents who qualify either the Norplant system or Depo-Provera as a method of birth control. Funds are also available for a vasectomy program with the support of local physicians.

"The Norplant system is a unique subdermal contraceptive system that provides five years of continuous birth control," a health department spokesperson explained. "The system consists of six thin capsules that are placed in a fan-like pattern just under the skin on the inside surface of the upper arm. The procedure involves a small incision and a local anesthetic and is completed during a 10 to 15 minute office visit. containing a synthetic, progestin hormone, the Norplant system is one of the most effective methods of reversible birth control.

"Depo-Provera is an injectable form of contraception, given as a shot in either the buttock or the upper arm. Its active ingredient is a chemical similar to the natural hormone progesterone, allowing protection against pregnancy for three months. Depo-Provera is over 99 percent effective and is reversible.

"Vasectomies are office surgical procedures for men that provide a permanent form of birth control."

In addition to operating the HOPE project, the health department's family planning program will continue to offer additional birth control options including birth control pills, condoms, contraceptive foam, diaphragms, IUD's, and vaginal contraceptive film. Services are available by appointment to residents who qualify and include a complete physical, pap smear, and birth control. All program services are offered on a sliding fee scale.

For more information and appointment scheduling, persons may call 334-8111 or 895-3111.

IT WAS PIE TIME AGAIN at Kitzmiller Elementary School recently as specially selected students were given the opportunity to "pie" three teachers. The requirement for receiving that honor was for each student, on average, to read 10 books or more in the month of September. The more books read, the more staff members to be pied. The students, pre-kindergarten through fifth grade, read 1,720 during the month, or an average of 18.5 books per child, which resulted in three teachers getting a face full of meringue. Pictured above are the student-elected teachers as they recover from the pie-ing. Shown left to right are Janet Morris, first and second grade teacher; Richard Stevens, kindergarten teacher; Kathy Klink, math resource teacher; and pie-thrower James Kent, a second grader and a member of the "pie royalty," or pie-throwers. Other pie royalty included Dewayne Canfield, kindergarten; and Danielle Harvey, first grade. Pie Bearers, or those who paraded in the pies, were Steven Terrant and Rachel Switzer, both kindergarten; Joey Moyer, first grade; Sarah Ford, second; Billy Whitacre, third; and Ronnie Coleman, fourth. Garb Bearers, or those selected to parade in the official garb for the teachers, were Amy Tichinel, kindergarten; Terry Switzer, first grade; Nick Greaser, second; Alysha Noble, third; Amanda Evans, third; Heidi Davis, fourth; and Alise Davis, fifth.

GCHD Offers Holiday Food Safety Tips

As the holidays approach and families prepare for their annual seasonal gatherings, Food Service Coordinator Tina Buckel of the Garrett County Heahh Department has issued a reminder about safe food handling practices.

"Unfortunately, associated with holiday meals is the occurrence of foodborne disease," Buckel stated. "In fact, those bouts of brief illness that people experience throughout the year and commonly attribute to the 'flu bug' are very likely not the flu at all. Chances are 'the bug' originated with something eaten, particularly if the primary symptoms were diarrhea, vomiting, stomach cramps, or nausea.

"You can, through the safe food practices outlined below, protect yourself, your family, and friends from the physical consequences and social embarrassment of a food-borne illness during the holidays and year 'round."

- Store potentially hazardous foods (those requiring temperature control) at 0 degrees Fahrenheit or below for frozen foods or 45 degrees Fahrenheit or below for refrigerated foods.
- Do not thaw foods at room temperature. Thaw in the refrigerator, or under cool running water, or as part of the cooking process. Microwave thawing is safe if the food is immediately cooked after the thaw is complete. Cook foods promptly after thawing.
- Fully cook all raw foods according to label or recipe directions and/or use a reliable food thermometer to insure the following temperatures are reached throughout the product. Avoid oven temperatures below 325 degrees Fahrenheit.

Poultry: 165 degrees Fahrenheit. For whole birds, measure temperature at the thickest part of the thigh - don't touch the bone.

Beef: 140 degrees Fahrenheit (no pink or red meat.)

Ground beef: 155 degrees Fahrenheit (until juice runs clear.)

Eggs: 140 degrees Fahrenheit with yolks and whites set or firm. Use pasteurized eggs in recipes calling for uncooked eggs.

- Never interrupt the cooking process of otherwise partially cook any foods.
- Cook food on the day of service whenever possible - "cook and serve" is the safest practice.
- Stuffing should be cooked outside the bird. If the bird is stuffed, combine the refrigerated ingredients and stuff the bird just prior to cooking. Stuff lightly, using one-half to three-quarters of a cup of stuffing per pound of bird. Ensure stuffing is cooked to at least 165 degrees Fahrenheit. Don't cook a stuffed bird in a microwave oven.
- Serve hot foods hot, at 140 degrees Fahrenheit or above, and cold foods cold, at 45 degrees Fahrenheit or below. Don't allow foods to remain out of temperature for longer than two hours cumulatively.
- Avoid leftovers if possible. Otherwise, refrigerate leftovers immediately. Room temperature cooling is unsafe. To promote rapid cooling, store food in shallow, uncovered pans on the top shelf of the refrigerator. Divide whole or large cuts of poultry or meats into smaller pieces. Reduce larger volumes of stews, sauces, and gravies into smaller portions.
- As applicable, reheat leftovers to 165 degrees Fahrenheit or re-serve them cold at 45 degrees or below.
- Wash your hands frequently, particularly after contacting raw food or going to the bathroom.
- Thoroughly clean utensils, cutting boards, and work sites between each use, especially between raw and ready-to-eat food tasks.
- Avoid handling raw vegetables next to raw meats.

"When considering these guidelines for application to your kitchen, be aware that the persons at greatest risk to the occurrence and consequences of food-borne disease are newborns, infants, pregnant women, the elderly, and persons with weakened immune systems or overriding serious medical conditions," Buckel added.

rested a Friendsville man earlier this month on drug charges. Gary M. Davis, 41, was charged with possession of marijuana with intent to distribute and possession of drug paraphernalia, according to the report.

The arrest was apparently the result of an investigation initiated by a tip about Davis bringing the illegal substance into the county from Kentucky. He was operating a pickup truck on Old River Road on Nov. 2 when officers stopped him and searched his vehicle.

According to the report, seven ounces of marijuana were found inside the truck, and a later search of his home revealed six and a half ounces of the illegal drug. The defendant was arrested, and then was released from custody the following day after posting $10,000 bond.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of William W. Wilburn, 34, Grantsville. He has been accused of probation violation, according to the report.

Sidney T. Burgess, 18, Crellin, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant this week. He apparently failed to appear in circuit court.

Baltimore. However, Edwards added that he would have preferred that the state receive a new expansion team in order to avoid the hard feelings that can be generated when an existing team relocates.

The Browns organization has agreed to maintain its headquarters in Baltimore for the next 30 years. However, NFL team owners have yet to vote on the proposed move.

Edwards' interest in football comes naturally. As quarterback for the Northern High School football team, Edwards led the Huskies through an undefeated season his senior year. At Fairmont State College, Fairmont, W.Va., Edwards played running back and helped his team win the national championships. The future legislator was drafted by the Baltimore Colts in the 1970's, but was ultimately cut from the team before seeing action on the NFL gridiron.

turn into a market parking lot, when her vehicle was struck from behind by a vehicle driven by Jeremy P. Schilling, 18, Salisbury, Pa.

Schilling reportedly received minor injuries, but was not transported. He was charged with failure to control speed to avoid a collision. A hospital spokesperson said she was not allowed to reveal Younkin's condition. Her 5-year-old passenger was reportedly uninjured in the 5:30 p.m. accident.

The investigating officer was Tfc. A.S. MacLane. Also responding to the scene were volunteers from the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad, and the Grantsville fire department.

DRUG ARREST

A Frostburg man was arrested early Thursday morning and was charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance. Kevin Andrew Vanella, 18, was charged after he was stopped by state police at 12:19 a.m., on Rt. 40 near Hill Top. A search of his backpack revealed suspected marijuana.

DNR Reminds All Hunters To Focus On Safe Hunting

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary John R. Griffin reminds all hunters to put safety first during deer firearm season, which runs from Nov. 25 through Dec. 9.

"Hunters in Maryland spend more than two million days each year in the field, and each year there are, unfortunately, a few accidents," Griffin said. "Most of these accidents are preventable, but only if hunters use good old common sense."

Last year there were 23 accidents which resulted in either two party or self-inflicted injuries. Of these incidents, nine involved falls from tree stands.

"Tree stand safety is an absolutely critical part of hunting," Griffin said.

One of Maryland's two fatal hunting accidents during the 1994-95 hunting season involved a tree stand. In Washington County, a 31-year-old man fell from his portable tree stand while hunting deer. He was not wearing a safety belt. As he fell, his gun discharged, hitting him, and the gun discharged again when it hit the ground.

Hunters using tree stands should keep the following in mind:

*The tree stand should be attached securely no higher than 10 to 12 feet.

*The use of a safely belt is essential. Manufactured harnesses are safer than a rope.

*Always use an equipment line to get unloaded firearms into or out of the stand.

*Keep the tree stand in good working order. Be certain to inspect it thoroughly each year and make necessary repairs.

*A portable tree stand does less damage to the tree.

Maryland law requires most people who hunt any wildlife or who accompany, aid or assist another in hunting must wear either a solid daylight fluorescent orange color cap; a vest or jacket that is solid daylight fluorescent orange or an outer garment of camouflage fluorescent orange worn above the waist that is 50 percent daylight fluorescent orange color.

No firearm safety rule ever presented an accident, Griffin said. Firearm accidents are prevented when people who are handling firearms care enough to do it properly and safety. "Respect your firearms and follow the following 10 Commandments of Firearms Safety," Griffin said.

1. Treat every gun the respect due a loaded gun.
2. Watch the muzzle! Be able to control the direction of the muzzle even if you should stumble.
3. Be sure the barrel and action are clear of obstruction and that you have only ammunition of the proper size for the gun you are carrying.
4. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger; know identifying features of the game you hunt.
5. Unload guns when not in use. Take down or have actions open; guns should be carried in cases to the shooting area.
6. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot; avoid horseplay with a firearm.
7. Never climb a tree or jump a ditch with a loaded gun; never pull the gun toward you by the muzzle.
8. Never shoot at a flat hard surface or water.
9. Store guns and ammunition separately beyond the reach of children and careless adults.
10. Avoid alcoholic beverages before or during shooting.

Most of what a hunter needs to know about hunting in Maryland can be found in the "Guide to Hunting and Trapping in Maryland 1995-96." The publication can be obtained from license agents, any of DNR's Regional Service Centers, or from the DNR Wildlife Division at (410) 974-3195.

Garrett Rural Info Co-Op Has Annual Meeting

Approximately 30 business leaders, GRIC members, and other community residents attended the first annual meeting of the newly formed Garrett Rural Information Cooperative, held recently at Garrett Community College.

Dr. Steve Herman, GRIC chairperson, introduced Board members and provided an overview of the origins of GRIC, its mission, goals and objectives. Dr. Herman emphasized that the primary focus of this county-wide cooperative initiative was to establish a public information utility to provide affordable access to information and related telecommunications services for county residences, businesses, and organizations.

"For the nominal cost of a $10.00 annual GRIC membership and below-market monthly subscription rates for the Garrett Community Network (GCNET), anyone with a computer and a modem can have access to world-wide information and telecommunications services without additional cost." Dr. Herman stated.

Kevin Bass, Randall Harman, and Don Storck, members of the Garrett Community Colleges' information Systems staff, presented the current status of the GCNET, and present plans for further development and enhancement. It was reported that there are now 139 users of GCNET including 17 businesses/organizations, with the number increasing daily.

GRIC project director Don Storck announced that the GCNET is now capable of offering and supporting World-Wide Web operations for any individual business or organization interested in setting up a "Homepage" for marketing their products or services. Also, a graphic web browser capability will be available within the next few weeks. The addition of higher speed, multi-media transmission capabilities through the use of ISDN telecommunication services is planned for the near future, as is an Alpha test of compressed interactive video service delivered to various locations throughout the community via GCNET.

Proposed Federal Budget Cuts May Affect Schools

Proposed federal budget cuts could leave Maryland's public schools with $33.3 million less to combat drugs and violence in the schools, train mathematics and science teachers, and teach basic skills to poor and disadvantaged students, according to a release from the office of Governor Parris Glendening. The impact of the proposed cuts on a wide range of education programs was outlined recently by state education officials at a meeting of the Governor's Work Group on Federal Budget Issues.

The House of Representatives has approved a fiscal year 1996 budget bill that would cut federal funds to the states schools by $33.3 million, more than a 9% cut. Hardest hit would be Title I, which would be cut by $15.4 million, or 17 percent. The program supports extra instruction for poor and disadvantaged children to help them catch up with their more advantaged peers.

The full Senate has not yet taken up its education budget bill, but the Senate Appropriations Committee proposed reducing education funding by $16.1 million. The full Senate is expected to take up the bill shortly.

THE BAD NEWS IS ... the chance for developing breast cancer increases as a woman grows older. The good news is that more older women are having regularly scheduled mammograms, thus enhancing their chances for early diagnosis and treatment. This means more women who might have died, will become cancer survivors.

Sadly, the there are those in the government who prefer to see the bottom line rather than the total picture. In suggesting that the frequency of mammograms funded by Medicare be cut back, these short-sighted individuals may well be cutting back on the potential years many women may live.

The statistics tell the story: While one in eight women will develop breast cancer at some time in their lives, 75 percent of all breast cancer cases occur in women 50 and older.

The AARP has launched a campaign called "Early Detection Saves Lives." If you're a woman 50 or over, help save your life by regular breast examinations (which you can do at home) and regularly scheduled mammograms. You would be doing yourself a favor that could be, literally, life-saving. Also get the word out to your kith and kin.

SEE YOUR DENTIST: She or he can help keep your teeth and gums healthy. And if you wear dentures, your dentist can keep them fitting properly so you don't suffer pain, or find yourself avoiding certain foods because of badly-fitting dentures. Also, ask your dentist if you're a good candidate for implants to replace dentures.

Another good reason for seniors, especially, to see their dentists is that yearly dental panoramic x-rays — which take in the head from eyes to chin and from ear to ear, could detect calicified-corroded arteries, which is a form of plaque that builds up in the arteries, and which may herald a stroke for those already exhibiting stroke symptoms. These would include high blood pressure, high cholesterol levels, fainting spells, blackouts, previous strokes, obesity, and a history of smoking and/or alcohol abuse.

Q. What is the value of a Mammy cookie jar marked "Brayton Mammy"?

A. Brayton Pottery worked in South Laguna Beach, Calif., from 1927 to 1963. It was well-known for its Mammy salt-and-pepper shakers and cookie jars. They were marked, "Brayton Laguna," "Brayton Laguna Pottery" or "Brayton California USA." We've never seen one marked "Brayton Mammy."

Several reproductions of the black woman with her hands on her hips have been made. Original Braytons, which sell for $1,500 or more, have white aprons with a zigzag hem design, striped shirts and kerchiefs and skirts in several colors. Reproductions, which sell in the $125 range, have checkered or plain aprons and solid-colored dresses or skirts.

Q. I have an old newspaper bag with a padded shoulder strap. It is made of canvas and has the name of our local newspaper on the side. When were newspaper bags used?

A. There are still a few towns in the United States where newspaper carriers are using the bags.

In the 1840s in New York City, the penny newspaper was distributed to about 55,000 people each day. Home delivery was not offered; newspapers were sold in stores, at newsstands and by newspaper boys on the street. The boys bought the papers from the company, then sold them for a few cents more and kept the profit. It was one way a boy could help support his family.

By World War I, cars clogged the streets and the boys often ran into the street to make a sale. The job became dangerous. In many cities today, it is illegal for children to hawk newspapers on a street corner.

The canvas bags used by newsboys have remained popular. Collectors use them to carry heavy loads at flea markets. We have designed a 16x12x10-inch bag for use by collectors. The padded strap, stitched canvas and name on the side are adaptations of an authentic 1930s newspaper bag.

If you want one, send $22.95 to P.O. Box 22900, Beachwood, Ohio 44122.

Dollars & Sense
by Bryon Elson

If you own a home, the easiest and most cost-effective way to borrow money is by tapping into your home's equity. You can do so through a home equity loan, which is similar to a second mortgage, or through a home equity line of credit. The primary difference is that lines of credit are open-ended. Essentially, you can use as much or as little of the line of credit as you want and pay interest only on the amount you receive. Lower borrowing rates, and interest that generally is tax deductible, make these loans particularly attractive. Nonetheless, it is important to shop around for the best deal, so you should compare application charges, fees, and closing costs, as well as interest rates. And, keep in mind, if you fail to repay the loan, you may lose your home.

If you have built up cash value in a whole life, universal life, or variable life insurance policy, you can borrow up to 95 percent of the policy's cash value. Interest rates vary, but they generally are lower than prevailing market rates. You repay the loan at your own pace — or not at all. At your death, however, the policy's death benefit is reduced by the amount of your outstanding loan.

If you participate in a qualified retirement plan, such as a 401(k), you may take out a loan against the plan. Generally, you can borrow up to 50 percent of the assets in your fund, up to the federal limit of $50,000. Usually, rates are a point or two above prime, and the interest you pay is credited to your own account.

If you do not own resources to borrow against, look to outside sources. For example, banks offer secured loans, backed by collateral (such as a car), and unsecured loans, based on your earnings capacity, net worth, and ability to repay. Interest rates on these loans are high so check with several lenders to find the best rates and terms. If you belong to a credit union, you should inquire about loans made to members. Credit unions often offer very competitive rates.

Home Tips

BOX IT — I keep a small cardboard box in my car trunk. When shopping for milk, pops, bleach, etc., I place these items in the box.

It keeps them from rolling around in the trunk and leaking. You can also add crumpled newspaper to keep small items in place. Helen B., Bakersfield, Mo.

VERSATILE TOMATO — Did you know you could use those tomato-shaped pin cushions for machine needles?

Use a marker and write in each section what size needles you have.

KEEPING TRACK — When everyone was still living at home, I kept what I called my kitchen list on the kitchen bulletin board (for most people now, that's the refrigerator door).

Anyone who brought up the last of anything from the basement was to write it on the list so I'd know to replenish the supply on my next once-a-week shopping trip.

After someone forgot to add it and we ran out, siblings "worked over" the culprit, who didn't forget again. The system worked very well. Josie V., Beaumont, Texas.

WAY COOL! — My husband has a trick for keeping the dogs' water cool during the day. He keeps two 2-liter bottles full of water in the freezer.

In the morning, he places one in the water bowl and at night refreezes it when he replaces it with the other bottle.

This way, the water stays cool and the dogs love it! Gina D., Phoenix, Ariz.

NICE MEMENTOS — Bring pictures to work of your family (husband, kids, mom, dad), your pets (dogs, cats, fish, whatever) and any special friends you have.

Not only will the photos brighten up your "home away from home," but you can also escape more easily when things get tough.

Since I can't be with my family during the day, I can be with them in a daydream every once in a while. Occasional daydreaming is a sure cure for relieving stress.

Delta Kappa Gamma Meets

The Alpha Alpha Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, a society of women educators, met recently at Will O' the Wisp restaurant, Deep Creek Lake, for a luncheon business meeting.

During the meeting, a letter from member Irmgard Koscielniak was read. Koscielniak, a home economist, is currently in Poland working on a nutrition education project.

Dr. Judith Pula, also a member, reported on the two presentations she delivered in New York for the recent Northeast Regional Conference. She also distributed information on publishing in the Delta Kappa Gamma Bulletin, the official journal of the DKG Society International, of which Pula is a member of the editorial board.

Barbara Flinn distributed information on educational legislative concerns. Rosanne Sherwood, member of the state legislative committee, announced that two state workshops are being planned.

Chapter President Wilda Massi was awarded the President's Pin by Past Chapter President Anna Marie Miller.

A program titled "Life after Retirement" was then presented by retired members Barbara Flinn, Jean Grose, and Mildred Wucik.

Other members in attendance at the meeting were Anna Beachy, Anna Bishop, Alice Eary, Dorothy Frame, Cheryl Glotfelty, Dr. Amy Harman, Joanne Harris, Alice Hevner, Dr. Lillian Mitchell, Gale Ringer, Carol Slagle, Betty Smith, Alice Snyder, and Dorothy Spaid.

The next meeting will be held on Nov. 18 and will include a Christmas auction, presentation of the recruitment grant, and nomination of officers.

Lighthouse Sends "Keepers Of The Light" Renewals

The Garrett County Lighthouse, Inc., Board of Directors has mailed membership renewals for "Keepers of the Light," and launched a campaign for more members.

"Keepers of the Light" was created last year to encourage people in the community to join Lighthouse in advocating for individuals with psychiatric disabilities. The "Keepers" helped furnish the dining hall at Lighthouse and assisted with educating the community about mental health services.

Another recent program begun at Lighthouse is the creation of silk and dried flower baskets that are available for gift giving during the holiday season. The baskets are currently on display at Lighthouse, or they can be specially ordered by calling 334-9126.

In other news from Lighthouse, Susette Lipscomb, support counselor, recently attended a conference titled "Creating Solutions: A Conference on the Employment of People with Disabilities." The conference was sponsored by Maryland Works, Inc., a non-profit association dedicated to promoting employment opportunities for people experiencing disabilities.

Lighthouse and Garrett County Mental Health will co-sponsor an in-service on November 16-17. R&D Instructional Services will present the seminar at Lighthouse for consumer specific behavior management training.

Lighthouse will be represented at a one-day seminar, "Violence in the Mental Health Workplace" on Nov. 20, which will focus on the prevention of violence, the potentiality of violence, and intervention strategies.

Correction Noted

Retired U.S. Air Force pilot and Korean War veteran Robert Railey, who spoke at Saturday's Veterans Day ceremony in Oakland, was incorrectly identified as an "ace" in last week's Republican. An ace is a fighter pilot who is confirmed to have shot down at least five enemy planes. Railey was a bomber pilot. Any confusion caused by this error is regretted.

In Memory Of My Beloved Sister
Jane Burdette
who passed away Nov. 13, 1994

How I miss you no one will ever know
It was because I loved you so.
It just seems as if you are away
And will be back some day to stay.
Your friends were many, they loved you too.
I know God needed you and He was
There with outstretched arms to take you
Home where you would have no more
Suffering, no more pain, but it was so
Hard to see you go.
I miss you so much, Jane, it has been a year,
But seems so many.
You must be so happy in Heaven talking
To Mother and Daddy, singing and praising Like you used to.

Love You,
Your Sister, Sue Frazee

WHAT IS DIABETES?

Normally, the sugars and starches in food are converted to a form of sugar called glucose. With the aid of insulin, a natural hormone manufactured in the pancreas, the blood stream distributes this glucose to the body cells where it is converted into ready energy or stored for future use.

You may have diabetes when the pancreas fails to produce enough effective insulin. The glucose then accumulates in the blood, and sometimes spills over into the urine. The symptoms, when there are some, may be frequent urination, abnormal thirst, hunger and loss of weight, weakness, itching, blurring of vision, and possibly skin infections. Have you had a diabetes test recently? If not, let your physician check you.

Bobby was raised in the city. It wasn't until recently that he had ever set foot in a cornfield.

Oh, he'd seen hundreds of cornfields from the window of a speeding car. And, shopping with Mother at the market, he's seen the golden ears peeping through their green jackets.

But when we visited the Stoner's farm, Bobby actually set foot in a cornfield. And Bobby looked at our host as though he were a millionaire.

"Gosh, Mr. Stoner," he said, "God sure gave you a lot of corn."

The other day we had a note from the Stoners inviting us to have Thanksgiving dinner with them.

"Please bring Bobby along," they wrote. "He helped us appreciate just how much corn there is in a cornfield–and where it comes from."

DISTURBERS OF THE PEACE

November 19, 1995

Background Scripture:
Acts 15:36 through 16:40
Devotional Reading:
Acts 15:36 through 16:5

I like peace and quiet as much, if not more, as the next person. Like most people, I tend to equate it with all that is good and desirable and, given the choice, I'd choose it every time.

But, although peace and quiet are generally to be desired, there are times when it is good for the peace to be disturbed. We tend to hibernate rather than grow in the midst of tranquility. So, sometimes it is only when our peace is disturbed that we recognize that there are needs to be filled, wrongs to be righted, changes to be made.

We often make the mistake of assuming that the church is most true to its calling when it avoids disturbing the peace of either its members or the community. Actually, if the church never challenges us, never disturbs our deep sense of self-satisfaction, can it really be the church?

1ST CHURCH EDEN

I'm not suggesting that the church should think of ways to disturb either its members or the community at large. But, unless your congregation is composed of perfect Christians and your community is without any reproach, just presenting the claims of the gospel will disturb the peace from time to time. If we never disturb the private and public tranquility, I don't see how we can be faithful followers of Jesus Christ, who disturbed the peace almost everywhere he went.

This was also true of the apostles. Like Jesus, wherever they went they met both positive and negative responses. When Paul and Silas arrived in Macedonia, "I'm sure they had no intention of stirring up opposition there. But, as they went about the city, they were followed and nettled by a disturbed slave girl who was being exploited by her owners. Finally, "Paul was annoyed, and turned and said to the spirit, I charge you in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her" (16:18).

Great! Paul healed this poor girl! But her owners didn't think it was so great. Perhaps, up to that moment they had been quite tolerant of these two foreign missionaries. But now their preaching had touched them where they were most sensitive: their pocketbooks. So, we can understand why they dragged Paul and Silas to the magistrates and cried, "These men were Jews and they are disturbing our city" (Jews were forbidden to make converts of Romans). "They advocate customs which it is not lawful for us Romans to accept or practice" (16:20, 21).

TOUCHING A SORE SPOT

Just how much Paul and Silas had disturbed the peace is indicated by the reaction of the Romans: "The crowd joined in attacking them, and the magistrates tore the garments off them and gave orders to beat them with rods. And when they had inflicted many blows upon them, they threw them into prison."

That's still not an unusual reaction when today the gospel impinges upon someone's material wealth or profit. Nothing I know will bring a faster, more certain negative reaction. People may be all for morality and righteousness, so long as it doesn't adversely affect profit on the bottom line. Sometimes even, I'm ashamed to admit, churches.

The Gospel of Jesus Christ takes just a reverse attitude: it is all for profit so long as it doesn't affect God's bottom line. When that happens, we cannot help but be disturbers of the peace.

These firms invite YOU to a House of Worship each week.

The students were selected based on their good attitudes in class, outstanding citizenship, excellent work ethic, and performance of an academic level appropriate to their abilities.

Janelle Bender, the freshman student of the month, is the daughter of Carl and Martha Bender, Accident. At Northern, Janelle is a member of the Youth for Christ Club (God Squad). She is a member of the Cherry Glade Youth Group and Moutaintop Youth for Christ Bible Quizzing. Her awards include Mountaintop Youth for Christ No. 1 Quizzer 1994-95, two Northern Middle School Semester Pride awards, and a Success In School award. In her spare time, she enjoys reading.

Sophomore student of the month John Snelling, son of John and Lillian Snelling, is a member of NHS's football, basketball, and baseball teams, and assists with the Dribbler Club during basketball season. He has been recognized as student of the month, and outstanding academics during a fall or winter sport. In his spare time, John enjoys swimming, football, basketball, and chess.

Anselm Waigand, the junior student of the month at Northern High, lives in Accident with his foreign exchange host family, Linda and Joida Sherwood. His parents, Regula and Gerhard Waigand, reside in Frankfurt, Germany. At NHS, Anselm has been involved in soccer, and with the Jazz/Pep Band. He is also involved in a youth group in Germany. His hobbies include electric and acoustic guitars, reading, and cycling. Anselm also enjoys traveling and visiting new countries. He has previously been an exchange student in France and Spain.

The senior selected for September's award was Tara Burdock, daughter of Connie and Harry Burdock, Frostburg. Her activities include volleyball, art club, and the Girls' Varsity Club, where she serves as secretary. Tara's community activities include the Adopt-A-Highway program, and the Mt. Zion United Methodist Youth Group, where she also serves as secretary. Her school awards include Maryland Distinguished Scholar, Who's Who, and All-American Scholar.

Each student of the month receives a trophy from American Trust Bank, and an invitation to an honors banquet at the end of the school year. The program is organized by the NHS Student Council.

Sweet Treats of the Season

What better way to spread cheer this joyous holiday season than sharing favorite homemade cookies with family and friends?

Whether they're presented in a special holiday gift basket or left the night before for Santa, delicious homemade cookies start with the right ingredients. Both Hershey's Cocoa, with its deep, dark chocolate flavor, and Gold Medal Flour are quality baking products that have been trusted by bakers for more than 100 years. And now, when combined with Fleischmann's Original Margarine, the only leading stick margarine with no added water, great results are guaranteed every time.

This holiday, serve your family and guests a variety of holiday cookies that can be enjoyed throughout the twelve days of Christmas — if they last that long!

COCOA-WALNUT CRESCENTS

- 1 cup (2 sticks) Fleischmann's Original Margarine, softened
- 2/3 cup powdered sugar
- 1/3 cup Hershey's Cocoa
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1-2/3 cups Gold Medal All-Purpose Flour
- 1 cup walnuts, finely chopped
- White chips, melted
- Semi-sweet chocolate chips, melted

In large bowl, with electric mixer at medium speed, beat margarine and sugar until light and fluffy. Add cocoa, vanilla and salt; mix at low speed until blended. Mix in flour and walnuts. Cover; chill dough 1 hour.

Heat oven to 325°F. Grease cookie sheet. Divide dough into 6 portions. Working with one portion at a time, roll into 18-inch long rope. Cut into 12 (1 1/2-inch) pieces. Form into crescent shapes, tapering ends. Place on cookie sheet. Repeat with remaining dough. Bake 15 to 18 minutes. Remove from cookie sheet; cool completely on wire rack. Dip crescents halfway into melted white chips; place on waxed paper to dry. Drizzle coated ends of crescents with melted semi-sweet chocolate. Makes about 6 dozen cookies.

CARAMEL THUMBPRINTS

- 1/2 cup (1 stick) Fleischmann's Original Margarine, softened
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 cup Gold Medal All-Purpose Flour
- 1/3 cup Hershey's Cocoa
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup pecans, finely chopped
- 10 caramels
- 1 tablespoon water

In small bowl, with electric mixer at medium speed, beat margarine and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg and vanilla; beat until smooth. Mix in flour, cocoa and salt. Cover; chill dough 1 hour.

Heat oven to 350°F. Form dough into 1-inch balls. Roll in pecans, pressing nuts gently into dough. Place 1 inch apart on ungreased cookie sheet. Press down centers with thumb. Bake 9 to 12 minutes. Remove from cookie sheet; cool completely on wire rack.

In small saucepan, over medium low heat, melt caramels and water, stirring frequently. Spoon 1/2 teaspoon caramel mixture into center of each cookie. Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

Note: Baked cookies may also be filled with creamy or chunky peanut butter or melted vanilla chips in place of caramel mixture.

"PERFECTLY CHOCOLATE" CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES

- 2-1/4 cups Gold Medal All-Purpose Flour

- 3/4 cup granulated sugar
- 3/4 cup packed light brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 2 eggs
- 2 cups (12-ounce pkg.) semi-sweet chocolate chips
- 1 cup chopped nuts (optional)

Heat oven to 375°F. Stir together flour, cocoa, baking soda and salt. In large bowl, with electric mixer at medium speed, beat margarine, granulated sugar, brown sugar and vanilla until creamy. Add eggs; beat well. Gradually add flour mixture, beating well. Stir in chocolate chips and nuts, if desired. Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls onto ungreased cookie sheet. Bake 8 to 10 minutes or until set. Cool slightly; remove from cookie sheet to wire rack. Makes about 5 dozen cookies.

- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup Hershey's Cocoa

In large bowl, with electric mixer at high speed, beat margarine, cream cheese, sugar, vanilla and egg until light and fluffy. Add flour and salt; beat on medium speed about 1 minute or until thoroughly blended. Divide dough in half. Beat cocoa into one-half until thoroughly blended. Cover; chill both halves at least 2 hours or freeze about 30 minutes.

Roll each half of dough into 12-inch square between 2 sheets of waxed paper. Peel off top sheet of waxed paper from each dough square. Lifting with bottom sheet of waxed paper, invert plain dough onto chocolate dough. Peel off top sheet of waxed paper. Roll doughs up tightly, peeling back bottom sheet of waxed paper. Wrap; chill at least 2 hours or freeze about 30 minutes.

Heat oven to 375°F. Cut roll into 1/8-inch slices. Place about 1 inch apart on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake 10 to 12 minutes or until cookies are set and begin to brown. Cool slightly; remove from cookie sheet. Makes about 5 dozen cookies.

COVER STORY

New Fab Four songs in Beatles Anthology

BY PETE BUCCI

Yoko Ono

The Beatles Anthology, a three-part documentary that begins Sunday, Nov. 19, on ABC, offers something which has not been heard in a quarter of a century – two brand-new Beatles tunes.

The special, which continues Wednesday, Nov. 22, and Thursday, Nov. 23, premieres the songs, "Free as a Bird" and "Real Love." They are previously unreleased recordings by John Lennon, in which the late musician sings and plays.

Paul McCartney, George Harrison and Ringo Starr added their voices, instrumentation and arrangements to create new original Beatles songs.

"We had two of John's compositions, each sung at his piano," says Jeff Lynne, who co-produced the new songs with the three surviving Beatles. "The way it came about, was, I believe, that Yoko (Ono, Lennon's widow) submitted them as two new songs that they could do.

"When you hear George and Paul sing along with John, you go, 'God, it's the Beatles.' That's why it sounded like that, because that's who they are."

According to Lynne, taking Lennon's work and creating new Beatles compositions from it was no easy task.

"They were mono tapes, with John singing on them with the piano as well," Lynne says. "And so you couldn't separate anything. John is actually playing piano in the records, too, which is a great thing.

"So it kept the integrity of that, and it wasn't like his voice just appearing out of nowhere. He was actually doing the performance at the same time."

Anthology includes interviews with McCartney, Harrison and Starr, and clips from an archive of video and audio tapes from Lennon's estate brings him into the narration.

Chronicling the Beatles' career from the band's beginnings in Liverpool, England, to its announced breakup in 1970, the special covers milestones like the band's 1960 performances in Germany, the "invasion" of America, their films and the band's experimentation with psychedelia.

"It was always one of Paul's things that, if they were going to do it, it would be nice if they could somehow do some new music, even if it was only incidental music to go behind a piece of footage," says Neil Aspinall, executive producer of Anthology. "And that's developed into 'Free as a Bird' and 'Real Love,' which is a real bonus for everybody."

"Free as a Bird" is included on The Beatles Anthology Volume One, a two-CD set hitting the stores this week. "Real Love" comes out on CD later.

The special features other rarities, like recordings of Lennon's first band, the Quarry Men, and McCartney's "In Spite of All the Danger," the first recording by McCartney, Lennon and Harrison.

Anthology is part of a recent surge in Beatlemania. In 1994, Capitol released The Beatles: Live at the BBC, culled from radio sessions between 1962 and 1965.

And so a new generation experiences the musical genius of the Beatles, ensuring the long and winding road will never end.

TV-PIPELINE

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: I am an avid fan of American Gothic. What can you tell me about the actor playing Sheriff Buck? Where can I write to him? –Nancy Nieman, Sylvania, Ohio.

Q: What can you tell me about the young actor who plays Caleb Temple on American Gothic? –Jade Estep, Timberville, Va.

Q: Both my daughter and I are huge fans of the new show American Gothic, but we are going crazy trying to remember what series or soap opera the actress playing Gail Emory used to appear on. Help! –Sue Smith, Flint, Mich.

A: I'm delighted at the avalanche of mail cheering what is turning out to be my favorite new show of the season.

Unquestionably one of the most versatile actors working today, Gary Cole plays Sheriff Lucas Buck, the sinister charmer who may be the devil incarnate. Born and reared in Illinois, he left college to move to Chicago, where he joined the prestigious Steppenwolf Theatre company.

Among his most acclaimed roles are Jack Killian in the drama series Midnight Caller; white-bread dad Mike Brady in The Brady Bunch Movie; and convicted killer Dr. Jeffrey MacDonald in the TV movie Fatal Vision. He lives in Los Angeles with his wife, Teddie.

Twelve-year-old Lucas Black, an amazingly natural young actor, makes his series debut as Caleb, which comes on the heels of his professional acting debut in The War with Kevin Costner. He lives with his family in Danville, Ala., when he is not working on the series.

Sue, you may have seen Paige Turco, who plays Gail, in the short-lived NBC series Winnetka Road, which is the only TV credit she lists in her bio. Feature film credits include Vibrations, the second and third Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles movies and the upcoming Pumpetus of Love, Dead Funny and The Feminine Touch.

Network addresses will be published again after the holidays, but many of you have requested this one, which is (actor's name), c/o American Gothic, CBS Inc., 7800 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90036.

Q: Can you supply the name of an old movie where a woman in a high-stakes poker game takes her hand to a bank to get a loan? –Margaret McMullan, Iraan, Texas.

A: I couldn't find the video, but it sounds like A Big Hand for the Little Lady with Joanne Woodward and Henry Fonda.

BY SUZANNE GILL

"As people there are things that we are drawn to," notes actor Ken Olin, "not because we believe in them or endorse them, but because they are realities that we live with, and they are dynamic."

Dead by Sunset, a two-part movie in which Olin stars, is all of the above. It airs Sunday and Monday, Nov. 19 and 20, on NBC.

The fact-based script is adapted from the latest book by Ann Rule (Small Sacrifices), about a Portland, Ore., man who torments and eventually murders his loving, accomplished wife, Cheryl (Annette O'Toole), because, as Olin puts it, "he felt she was humiliating him."

The film opens with the murder, then goes back six months to show how Olin's character, Brad Cunningham, hurts and betrays Cheryl with breathtaking premeditation. After her death, he marries another woman (Lindsay Frost).

"There are ways in which he is extremely appealing, charming and seductive," Olin notes. "Then there are ways in which his cruelty is so flamboyant, so unedited. It's extraordinary.

"What becomes significant to me is, 'So what are the psychological mechanisms involved in creating this kind of a man?'," Olin wonders.

"It's an interesting time to portray a character who is ostensibly such an upstanding citizen, a charming and appealing husband, a responsible father, but in reality is a person who is capable of extraordinary violence and cruelty."

Interesting, yes, but it was a rugged assignment for the actor best known as Michael Steadman in TV's thirtysomething.

"It takes its toll after a while," Olin admits. "I certainly don't want to live there anymore."

Forestry Board Meets, Tours Preston Nursery

The Garrett County Forestry Board held its regular monthly meeting on Monday evening, November 6 in the DNR Forest Service office at Mt. Nebo. Karin Miller reported to the board members about the Maryland Association of Forestry Board's fall meeting which was held in Easton on October 6-7.

The association members toured the new Preston State Nursery on Friday. On Saturday, October 7 the association members visited Johnson Lumber Company, a tree farm in Talbott County, the site of the Wye Oak, and Martinak State Park. After lunch, the members toured Glatfelter Pulp and Paper Company land to see various examples of site preparation methods and reforestation.

The Garrett board members had planned to sponsor a tour for teachers and students this fall as a part of Forest Products Week. The tour was postponed until the Spring of 1996, to allow the board more time to gather information. The forestry board is looking for old photographs that would show logging scenes of areas in the early 1900's that are forested today.

The board members discussed plans for Arbor Day 1996 and for their school book project.

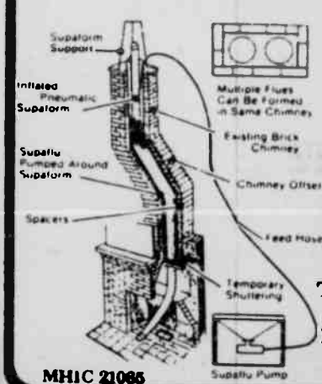
District Cubs Have Swim At Alpine Lake

The Deep Creek District of the Boy Scouts of America recently held its annual swim meet at Alpine Lake Resort. The activity allowed Cubs the opportunity to earn badges while also having fun.

Bob Stephens, the event organizer, stated that a total of 72 Cub Scouts from Garrett County participated. There were over 140 Scouts and family members who swam in the pool. Packs represented at the meet were Packs 95, 31, and 70.



Fourteen Webelos Scouts earned their Aquanaut badge by demonstrating basic rescue techniques, swimming at least 100 feet, and demonstrating their ability to complete surface dives and the elementary back stroke.

"I've never seen so many Cub Scouts enjoying themselves in one place as I did today," said Howard Boltz, a volunteer with the District who has been in Scouting for over 50 years. Deb Clatterback of Alpine Lake Resort added, "It was amazing how well the Cubs were behaved. This was one of our largest groups ever to use the pool and their was not one problem."

A spokesman for the Scouts noted appreciation to all of the volunteers who made the event a success, including Rick Kutchman, Allen Taylor, Carol Perrochio, Lee Thorne, Sheila Shaffer, and Ken Gotch.

Ferguson Home In Red Cross Tour Line-Up

Included in this year's American Red Cross Home for the Holidays house tours is the residence of Junior Ferguson, which is located on Herrington Manor Road. The tours of several local homes will take place on Dec. 1 and 2, with the proceeds to benefit the local chapter of the Red Cross.

The six-room brick rancher is just three years old, and inside visitors will view a vast collection of dolls. The collection was initiated 30 years ago by Ferguson and his now-deceased wife. The couple's first doll was given to them by George Rodeheaver, a well-known printer in the Oakland area. The doll is Bisque, made in 1920 by Armanda Marseille of Germany. It is named Baby Phyllis.

Also among Ferguson's collection is a doll made in Germany by Ricknagel that belonged to his mother. A photograph of her holding the doll at age seven, circa 1920, will be on display, as will a set of dolls representing the "Daughters of the Thirteen Colonies."

Other items on display will be a depression era bedroom suite and a Columbia wind-up record player, which also once belonged to George Rodeheaver. A Santa and Mrs. Claus arrangement with a work bench and tea set will also be exhibited, in addition to a collection of Santa dolls, Santa figurines, Christmas center pieces and toys, and an antique wicker baby buggy, and several other antique items.

JUNIOR FERGUSON RESIDENCE

The home will be decorated for Christmas by Mary Lou Stemple of Grandmother's House.

Tickets for the house tours are $5. For more information, persons may contact the local American Red Cross chapter.

Student Invited To Attend Nat'l Leadership Forum

Raechel V. Groom, daughter of Stana Vance, McHenry, has been invited to attend a session of the 1996 National Youth Leadership Forum on Defense, Intelligence, and Diplomacy, to be held in Washington, D.C., on Feb. 20-25, 1996.

Invitations to the event are derived from nominations based on academic achievements and accomplishments, as well as commitment to the national security of the United States of America. Miss Groom is one of only 350 juniors and seniors from across the country invited to attend the forum.

Raechel, 16, transferred to Northern High School this year from Martinsburg (W.Va.) High School, where she was a member of an accomplished jazz ensemble, a member of ACE (Academic Competition for Excellence), and a member of the school's Thespian Club. She currently plays alto sax for the Northern band and is a member of the jazz club.

The student was named in Who's Who Among High School Students for the 1994-1995 school year, and ranked number four in her class of 311 students (at Martinsburg). She currently is maintaining a 4.0 grade point average at Northern. She holds two academic letters, has received numerous certificates for scholastic achievement, has won awards for poetry, was named the Outstanding Symphonic Band Member for 1993, and obtained the Presidential Academic Fitness Award. Upon high school graduation, she plans to attend college and double-major in political science and French.

Miss Groom hopes to attend the forum, but is currently struggling to raise the needed $950 which will cover her transportation, hotel accommodations, and meals for the week-long session. Persons interested in sponsoring her may call or write to Rev. Doyle E. Payne at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, 318 East Oak Street, Oakland MD, 21550; phone 334-2391.

Entertainment Spending Up In County, State

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said Marylanders spent nearly $167 on taxable entertainment during the first quarter of fiscal year 1996 (July, August and September 1995), including $93,886 in Garrett County, almost 2% more than during the same three months of the previous year.

"Marylanders spent more on renting athletic facilities and equipment and on motion pictures, golfing activities and at amusement parks and less on athletic events and shows and exhibits during the summer months," the comptroller said. "Entertainment spending is an indicator of how people are spending their disposable income, and all that spending translated into more than $10.2 million in admissions and amusement tax revenue for local governments."

Statewide spending on motion pictures increased by 2.5%, to $30.8 million. Shaping up and participating in sports also generated $6.3 million in spending at athletic facilities and on equipment rentals, up by 34.3%.

Golf greens fees and cart rentals were responsible for consumer spending of more than $24.5 million, up 14.7% over the same period a year ago. Spending at miniature golf and driving ranges also increased by 6.2%, to about $5.2 million.

Spending on other popular summertime activities also posted increases. Amusement parks benefitted from a 16.2% increase in spending, to almost $9 million. Marylanders also spent more than $11 million on amusement rides, one-half of one percent more than spending for the same quarter during the last fiscal year.

Changing patterns of season ticket purchases resulted in a decline in spending for athletic events from $12.4 million to $9.7 million during the July through September 1995 period. The live theatre and concert category posted a decline of 41.7%, to $5.1 million, resulting from fewer concerts at major venues.

"The money Marylanders spend on entertainment generates admissions and amusement tax revenue which our office collects for Maryland's counties, cities and towns," Goldstein said. The comptroller noted that individual checks are on their way to local governments for their share of the $10,231,050 of admissions and amusement tax receipts. Included in the distribution is a check for $466,908, an increase of 17.3%, to the Maryland Stadium Authority as its share of admissions and amusement tax receipts.

"The 1995 distribution is 1.53% more than the $10,076,542 we returned to the local governments for the July-September period of 1994," Goldstein said. "We collect this revenue at rates set by local officials and return the money to local governments each quarter."

FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

Glimpse of The Past . . .

ENGLE'S MILL was built in 1835 by Samuel Engle and located along Bear Creek near Accident, and was reportedly equipped with the best machinery of the day. The mill produced cornmeal and ground wheat and buckwheat for farmers who resided in the area. It ceased operation in 1929 and was ultimately torn down. Now on the site is the Bear Creek fish hatchery. The photo, from the files of the Garrett County Historical Society Museum, was taken in 1939 and is published here courtesy of the Society and The Republican.

LIONS CLUB NEWS

The regular meeting of the Friendsville Lions Club was held Nov. 9 in the social hall at the Sand Spring Church of God. The ladies of the W.C.S.C. of the church served the meal to 12 guests and 26 members. This was Ladies' Night. The meeting was conducted by First Vice President Kenneth Metheny.

The guests included David Smith, district governor of 22W; Darlene Aulls, cabinet secretary; Richard Hott, cabinet treasurer; Wayne Johnson, Region I chairman; Jon Thayer, zone chairman; and Tom Jefts, past district governor.

David Smith spoke to the club about what it means to be a Lion and what Lionism is all about. He stressed the importance of obtaining new members as well as retaining present members. At the end of his presentation he installed two new members into the club, Jennifer Schroyer and Randy Dumire, who were sponsored by Lion Marlin Lawson.

As a fund-raiser the club is raffling off an eight-horsepower Cub Cadet snow blower. It is an 826T on tracks with a 26" wide cut. The cost of the tickets are $3 each or two for $5. The drawing is on the Maryland Daily Lottery on Dec. 15.

The report on the Community Park was given by Kenneth Metheny. He stated that everything at the park has been winterized and is secure.

There was a board meeting immediately following the regular meeting.

The next meeting of the Lions Club will be Dec. 14 at Twila's Old Mill Restaurant at 6:30 p.m. Anyone interested in joining the club may contact any member.

4-H ACHIEVEMENT

For Eglon Mountaineer 4-H members, their families, and leaders, November 10 marked the celebration of the past year when they met at the Maple Spring Church.

The Executive Committee, composed of officers Becky Snyder, Tom Teets, Melinda Teets, Maria Harsh, and Matthew Bachtel, used "Friends" as the theme for their opening devotions. "Let's Find Out," a game, and a camp song continued the program.

Members introduced their parents and told of their accomplishments during the past year. They also displayed their awards. All first-year members received pins and there was installation of new officers.

The Wildlife and Horticulture teams were recognized for their participation and accomplishments which included a trip to Oak Island, N.C., for the Wildlife team. Twelve members had perfect attendance and seven more missed only one meeting.

Personal recognition went to Melinda Teets as the Outstanding Younger Member and to Becky Snyder, the Outstanding Older Member; to Craig Rembold, Shawn Rembold, and Mark Bachtel for being first in completing talks and demonstrations; to Grant Marsh and Becky Snyder for being first in completing projects; and to Tim Harsh, Leah Strawser, and Kim Collins for selling the most county meat tickets. Door prizes were awarded and the meeting concluded with a dessert and snack bar. The next meeting will be December 11, at which time tray favors for Cortland Acres patients will be made. The club will travel to Cortland on December 27.

GRAY DEATH

Word was received of the November 10, 1995, death of Suzanne Gray, 34, at her Liberty, Mo., home. She is the daughter of Everett and Peggy Gnegy of Kansas City, Mo., and the granddaughter of Paul Gnegy of Plainsville, Kan., and the late Ruth Henline Gnegy. She is survived by her husband, Darrell Gray. Services were held in that area and she was buried near the grave of her late grandmother. Death was attributed to an aneurysm.

RECENTLY IN RUSSIA

Also making the trip to Russia as part of the U.S. Information Agency, W.Va. State Department of Education program was Peter Morgan of Aurora. Peter is a senior at Tucker County High School and this was his second year of participation in the program. His exchange student guest of last summer was from Siberia, so a visit to his home was not possible and his host family in Russia spoke no English. Aside from the noted places visited that were mentioned by Amanda Teets, the Tucker High junior who also is in the program, Peter was privileged to see the 11th Century cross which was used in the baptisms which changed Russia from a pagan country to a Christian nation. He also saw the original boat constructed by Peter the Great who founded the Russian Navy.

While in Russia, the American students competed in the International Space Olympics where Peter received awards in physics, math, and comprehensive science. He also met his guide from the previous year who had taught also at the Governor's Honor Academy here.

Nicole Teets was recently a guest of Mrs. McWilliams' 4th grade class to complement their study of animals with her first-hand experience. She recently graduated from training to work with animals in a zoo, her specialty being the cats. Mrs. Dixon's 5th grade studied Native Americans and have hosted Mike Lantz to tell of his experiences when he visited that country as carpenter-missionary. He has made at least two previous trips and plans another for this year.

There have been parent volunteers, members of the Aurora Extension Homemakers (who last week were involved with presentations on poison prevention, nutritious snacks, and "home alone" children), and representatives of the VFW (speaking concerning the flag and proper etiquette toward it) who have made presentations this fall for the students.

The school needs electricity and water to become ready for moving in.

Insure Your Grandchildren's Future

As a grandparent, you want to provide your grandchildren with something more than toys they will outgrow. Now, Woodmen has the answer.

You can give your grandchildren the security and protection of a Woodmen life insurance certificate. It is a gift that will keep giving. One that they will never outgrow.

The cash value of your grandchildren's certificates could help them pay for an education, make a down payment on a home or provide security for their future families.

While the cash value builds your grandchildren, ages 8-15 can enjoy Ranger lodge activities, hours of fun at Woodmen summer camps and participate in community service activities.

If you are looking for a special gift your grandchildren can use long after they have outgrown their toys, ask your Woodmen representative about the Grandparent Gift.

Hanst Papers Given To University Of Maryland Journalism College

GEORGE H. HANST

by Neil A. Grauer

The University of Maryland's College of Journalism has gratefully acknowledged the donation of the meticulously preserved notebooks and papers of Oakland native George H. Hanst, a Baltimore Evening Sun reporter and editor whose father was a long-time editor of The Republican.

"I am sure the Hanst Papers will prove to be of significant benefit to students in the College of Journalism, and to the research community generally, for many years to come," wrote Lauren Brown, curator of the Archives and Manuscript Department of the College Park Libraries, in accepting the donation of the papers from Mrs. Barbara Hanst, whose husband spent his entire 38-year newspaper career on The Evening Sun.

Mr. Hanst, who was born and raised in Oakland, died last January 6 of complications from a brain tumor. He was 60. His late father, George Herbert Hanst, was editor of The Republican for many years, and his mother, Polly Johnson Hanst, still lives in Oakland.

Upon graduating from Washington College in Chestertown in 1956, Mr. Hanst joined The Evening Sun as a copy boy and soon thereafter became a reporter on its staff. In covering the city's 8 police districts, he attained an infallible knowledge of Baltimore's landscape and law enforcement lore. Between 1967 and 1981, he covered the Baltimore City Circuit Court, then known as the Supreme Bench of Baltimore, reporting on every aspect of its criminal and civil proceedings. Periodically, he also covered the federal courts in Baltimore.

Mr. Hanst wrote a daily column, "The Court Docket," featuring elegantly concise and deftly crafted accounts of the trials, lawsuits, tribulations, tragedies, and human comedy that flowed through the city's courts. His tenure in the Baltimore Courthouse covered a 14-year period that witnessed not only an explosive increase in the civil and criminal caseload, but such landmark events as the round-the-clock trials in the wake of the 1968 riots following the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., as well as major political corruption and murder cases. Many now-prominent attorneys and jurists received their first press attention as young lawyers in a "Court Docket" item.

At the time of Mr. Hanst's death, Judge Joseph F. Murphy, Jr., now a member of the Court of Special Appeals, told The Sun that Mr. Hanst "exemplified the finest in newspaper reporting. Judges, attorneys, prosecutors, plaintiffs -- all unanimous about very few things -- did agree that they would get a fair and accurate account from a Hanst story."

In 1981, Mr. Hanst moved to the copy desk of The Evening Sun, where his precision with the English language and complete grasp of local and national geography and history earned him the reputation as " 'the most reliable editor to handle questionable copy,' one of the highest compliments you could give a copy editor," observed Frank Quine, director of development for the College of Journalism, in acknowledging receipt of Mr. Hanst's papers.

Throughout his career, Mr. Hanst retained practically all of the notebooks, newspaper stories, and headlines he wrote for The Evening Sun, neatly filing them in chronological order. The papers donated by his family include 134 reporter's notebooks from 1958 to 1981; 19 notebooks containing newspaper stories from 1957 to 1981; and 13 notebooks containing headlnes Mr. Hanst wrote from 1981 to 1988.

The University of Maryland's McKeldin Library archives staff is in the process of preparing a full-fledged research guide to the Hanst Papers. The papers then will be made available to students and scholars who wish to research and study the operation of the state's largest court system as chronicled in a daily newspaper, or the day-to-day work of a reporter on what then was among the most widely circulated papers in Maryland.

"We are most grateful for your generosity in allowing these materials to be housed in the Archives & Manuscript Department and made available here at the University of Maryland at College Park," Mr. Brown wrote to Barbara Hanst.

Neil A. Grauer has been a reporter and freelancer in Baltimore for 25 years and was a colleague of Hanst.

Today Is Reading Awareness Day; Help Available

Today, November 16, 1995, marks the second anniversary of the Garrett County commissioners proclamation that the third Thursday in November will be observed as Reading Awareness Day.

"Adult illiteracy remains a serious problem in our nation and county," stated a spokesman for Garrett Community College. According to 1990 census data, nearly one-third of the adults 25 years and over in Garrett County do not have a high school diploma. Over 16 percent of those adults have not attended and education above ninth grade. Many lack basic literacy and functional skills.

"The county commissioners and Garrett Community College recognize the value of a literate community with the benefits of literacy ranging from personal fulfillment to improved work force quality. Therefore, the college offers Adult Basic Education and Reading classes at little or no cost to Garrett County residents," the spokesman said.

Local businesses will be displaying Reading Awareness Day messages today. Additional information is available by calling the Oakland Center of GCC at (301) 334-8304.

Ellen Marie Tydings and Ira Nathaniel Evans were united in marriage on April 23 in a garden setting at the Boonsboro home of the bride. Pastor Jerry Cline officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Doris P. Tydings and the late William F. Tydins Jr., Oldsmar, Florida. The groom is the son of the late Fred and Mabel Evans, formerly of Kitzmiller, and the brother of Bertie E. Sharpless, Swanton.

The bride was escorted to the garden altar by her sons, Brian S. and Bruce W. Lovins. She wore a silk ivory lace dress with an overlying lace three-quarter jacket which was hand-embroidered with beads and pearls.

Serving as matron of honor was Brenda Jones Griffin, friend of the bride. I. Steven Jones, son of the groom, was the best man. Standing up for the groom were his children, Michael F. Evans, Cathy E. Piercy, and Julie E. Booth. Michael Evans also sang renditions of The Lord's Prayer and There Is Love.

The reception immediately followed the ceremony at the home of the bride.

The bride is a graduate of Bladensburg Senior High School and is employed with the United States Department of State in Washington, D.C., as a budget analyst. The groom attended Kitzmiller High School and is retired from Mack Truck, Inc.

After a honeymoon trip to Maui, Hawaii, the couple established residence in Boonsboro.

Oakland Cubs Collect 850 Pounds Of Food

Cub Scout Pack 70 of Oakland collected over 850 pounds of food for the annual Scouting for Food Drive. This nationwide food drive is the largest food drive of its kind in the country. Each year millions of pounds of food is collected for various organizations across the country by Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, and Explorer Posts.

Potomac Council of the Boy Scouts of America collects food that is taken to community food pantries in Western Maryland and neighboring West Virginia. Pack 70, which is sponsored by St. Peter's Catholic Parish, collected food for the House of Hope, which maintains several food pantries in Garrett County. In addition to collecting the food, the Scouts sorted the food by type and packaged the food for transport to the House of Hope.

"This is a great way for the boys to give back to the community and to experience the benefits of community service," a Pack 70 spokesman said.

Pack 70 will also be assisting with the annual House of Hope Food Drive that is held in mid-December.

Anyone desiring more information on Scouting may contact Potomac Council at 301-729-1300.

Foundation To Sponsor Second Tree Of Lights

The second annual "Tree of Lights" event, sponsored by the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation, will be held Friday, December 8, at 7 p.m., on the hospital grounds.

This annual fund-raising event is being organized under the direction of Foundation volunteer, Bea Crosco.

Mrs. Crosco explained that the special Christmas lighting ceremony, which is open to the public, gives participants the opportunity to purchase a light in memory or honor of a loved one or to give a gift to the foundation in general, with all proceeds going toward the purchase of patient care equipment.

After the lights are ordered, the purchaser will receive the same amount of postcards as lights purchased so the recipients of the lights can be notified by mail of the special gift made to them.

Each light costs $5, and there is no limit to the number of lights an individual may purchase. "Remembering family and friends with a gift to the Tree of Lights is a great way to start off this holiday season," commented Kathy Greaser, director of the hospital foundation.

The community celebration will begin with the lighting of the tree at 7 p.m., on the hospital lawn and will be followed by Christmas entertainment and refreshments in the community services center located at the hospital. "This event is open to the entire community. It will be an evening of fun and fellowship to mark the beginning of this year's Christmas season," concluded Ms. Greaser.

For more information about the Tree of Lights program, persons may contact the Foundation Office at (301) 334-2155 or watch for ads in future issues of The Republican.

TREE OF LIGHTS - The second annual "Tree of Lights," a fund-raising event that benefits the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation, is slated for Friday, Dec. 8, on the hospital grounds. Persons are invited to pay $5 for each light on the tree pictured above in memory or in honor of a loved one. See story for details.

Hepatitis A: Prevention and Treatmant

Hepatitis A is a highly contagious disease caused by a virus. The primary way people get hepatitis A is from being exposed to the hepatitis virus that usually enters the body by way of the mouth or rectum. Hepatitis A virus attacks the liver and can cause a number of symptoms including loss of appetite, fever, abdominal discomfort, headaches, and changes in taste and smell. Untreated cases may cause darkening of the unne and jaundice (yellowing of the skin). Some people get so sick that they have to be hospitalized.

Prevention: The best way to prevent the spread of the virus is to wash your hands properly before eating and after going to the restroom. A new vaccine that protects against hepatitis A recently became available. Adults who benefit the most from the vaccine include hospital workers, day care staff, military personnel, international travelers, animal handlers, and persons who frequently eat at restaurants.

Treatment: A single dose of immune globulin usually is given by injection to persons exposed to hepatitis A virus. Immune globulin helps minimize damage caused by the virus if given within two weeks of exposure. This treatment also may prevent acute attacks of hepatitis if given early enough.

Jennifer Barnard Will Attend 4-H National Event

Jennifer Barnard, Swanton, will be among more than 850 youth gathering in Memphis, Tennessee, November 24-28 for Youth Issues '95: A 4-H Congress. The Maryland Delegation will include 24 youth and four adults including Miss Alice Hevner, Extension Agent, 4-H, for Garrett County.

Miss Barnard, daughter of William and Debbie Barnard, and a junior at Southern High School, will represent Maryland in the National 4-H Fashion Revue to be presented during the conference banquet on Monday evening.

Delegates from more than 35 states and Puerto Rico will attend with state advisors, 4-H staff members, trustees, donors, and volunteers. This year's Congress will be an issues-based educational experience that develops leadership skills while recognizing contributions and accomplishments of the 4-H youth involved.

While building on its history of educating youth to solve issues critical to their lives, the 1995 4-H Congress will give 4-H members an opportunity to address youth issues through a satellite town meeting. The National Town Meeting will be down-linked to other youth in communities across the country. Orion Samuelson, nationally recognized agricultural journalist, will moderate the town meeting.

Youth and adults attending the conference will take part in educational workshops that address key issues identified by the delegates before the 4-H Congress. Delegates will hear from various speakers featured during general assembly sessions and participate in cultural tours and entertainment.

Other points of interest will be visits to the Agricenter International, Ducks Unlimited, the Memphis Zoo, and the Pink Palace Museum.

Another highlight will be the appearance of Miss Universe 1995, Chelsi Smith, who will relate her experiences and insights on life skills and challenges.

Maryland is proud to support the delegates to the Youth Issues '95 Congress. After returning from 4-H Congress, delegates will share their experiences to create interest for others to take part from their state and county.

Garrett County Represented At RC&D Meeting

Two local residents attended the recent annual meeting of the Mid-Atlantic Association of Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) Councils in Frederick, at which there were representatives from Councils in Delaware, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Maryland.

Paul Shogren and Ben Sansome represented Garrett and Allegany counties, respectively, at the meeting, where they learned about land and historic trusts, community development, grant writing, and federal assistance available to councils. The group also toured a bio-engineering bank stabilization project, a solar panel manufacturing plant, a solar powered portable water pump, and an ecologically engineered system for sewage treatment.

R C & D Councils are private, non-profit corporations carrying out community development and conservation projects in their regions. They are supported and assisted in their efforts by staff from the US Department of Agriculture. These councils seek funds, services, and labor from a wide variety of federal, state, and local agencies, private foundations and businesses. Projects are completed by the cooperative efforts of local agencies, organizations, businesses, volunteers, and contractors hired by the councils or governmental agencies.

Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick and Carroll counties comprise the Western Maryland R C & D area. The council is composed of representatives of the county commissioners, Soil Conservation districts, state agencies, and Garrett Community College. The council maintains an office in Hagerstown.

Specific goals of the council are to improve water quality, marketing of farm and forest products, logger skills and rural fire protection, promote environmental education, recycling, tourism, and economic development; develop new resource-based industries; and upgrade living conditions of area residents.

Anyone interested in starting a project with help from the Western Maryland R C & D Council may call Shogren at 334-1381 or Sansome at 777-2199.

Out of Sight and Out of Mind!

Introducing Tympanette, a hearing aid now available at Allegany Hearing & Speech Associates. This tiny device fits deeply inside your ear canal so that it is virtually invisible. No one will know that you are wearing a hearing aid!

The Tympanette is also extremely comfortable. AHSA's audiologists use state-of-the-art equipment to measure the ear canal and guarantee a perfect fit. The deep placement and customized fit significantly reduce the feedback and hollow sounds frequently associated with larger hearing aids. You'll forget that you're wearing a hearing aid!

The Old, Old Story

"This is the old, old story;
Say, do you take it in?
This wonderful redemption,
God's remedy for sin?

Do you at heart believe it?
Do you believe it's true?
And meant for every sinner?
Therefore, meant for you?

Oh! take this great salvation
That Jesus loves to give;
Believe, and you receive it,
Believe, and you shall live.

And if this little story
Has now brought peace to thee;
Let everybody see it,
That Christ has made you free.

Soon, soon our eyes shall see Him,
And in our home above,
We'll sing the old, old story
Of Jesus and His love."

FFA To Receive Free Computer Farm Games

The nation's largest Windows based agricultural software company, Farm Works Software, a division of CIN Data Service Inc. of Hamilton, In., will make one free copy of its "Stake Your Acres" farming game available to each of the 7,264 FFA chapters nationwide. FFA advisers received their copy of the game at the Farm Works booth at the National FFA Convention in Kansas City last week. "Stake Your Acres" normally retails for $39.95, which makes this gift worth almost $300,000 dollars. In addition to "Stake Your Acres," Farm Works also produces FarmTrac, FarmSite, FarmFund$, and FarmStock for farm management and record keeping.

The game, which works like the real software programs, starts with the player(s) inheriting a farm complete with a house, barn, fields, tractors, equipment, livestock and some operating capital. Then it challenges them to cope with real farm scenarios, natural disasters, and nasty insects. Players are rewarded for using good farming practices and common sense to stay profitable.

More information regarding the "Stake Your Acres" game and these other software programs may be obtained from their North East distributor, Nutrient Solutions in Lancaster County, Pa., at 1-800-270-0047. Martin Campfield, director of agronomic services and sales for Nutrient Solutions, says, "We think educators and students alike will love 'Stake Your Acres' because it is fun and educational. We want to be part of helping the next generation of farmers to see the importance computers will play in keeping accurate farm records and in farm management."

Am. Farm Bureau Expects Exports To Gradually Increase

While complete free trade did not immediately result from the GATT world trade agreement or the North American Free Trade Agreement, American agricultural exports will increase due to markets being gradually opened by those two agreements, according to an in-depth report commissioned by the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The report, "GATT and NAFTA: Major Provisions, Promises and Threats," compiled by Abt Associates Inc., is a comprehensive analysis of trade projections gathered from major U.S. commodity groups. The report was commissioned to provide and to help monitor trade barriers, according to John Skorburg, AFBF senior economist and trade specialist.

According to the report, in order to achieve major growth in U.S. agricultural exports, America's international trading partners and competitors must open their markets in accord with their NAFTA and GATT-negotiated commitments.

AFBF supported both trade agreements as a way to expand markets. The organization remains committed to increasing U.S. farm incomes through growth in international sales, according to AFBF President Dean Kleckner.

"In supporting the trade agreements, U.S. agriculture agreed to some sacrifices in reduced support and increased competition at home in order to gain access to bigger opportunities abroad," Kleckner said. "AFBF plans to remain alert to any threats to capturing those benefits."

The NAFTA analysis focused on U.S.-Mexico trade issues. Trade between the United States and Canada was analyzed in the context of GATT.

The NAFTA Component

Under NAFTA, all nontariff trade barriers between the United States and Mexico are to be converted to tariffs, and all tarilfs are to be reduced to zero within 15 years.

In 1994, NAFTA's first year, U.S. agricultural exports to Mexico jumped 25 percent to $4.5 billion. Corn, beef, pork, poultry, fresh and processed fruits, vegetables and products, oilseed products and nuts showed the largest gains. U.S. agricultural imports from Mexico increased five percent to $2.9 billion. This first year trade balance added an estimated 16,800 U.S. jobs, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

While the first six months of 1995 saw a sharp drop in exports to Mexico, medium to long-term prospects continue to be promising, according to the report. In looking at the recent trade downturn with Mexico, the report emphasized that it is important to distinguish between NAFTA impacts and those of other political and economic factors.

An economic austerity program in Mexico has increased taxes, cut government spending, decreased the value of the peso by about half and pushed inflation up by about a third in only a year.

"Mexico's financial crisis made U.S. exports more expensive and Mexican exports to the U.S. less expensive, eliminating the U.S. agricultural trade surplus with Mexico during the first six months of 1995." the report stated.

Mexico is expected to recover economically, with medium and longer term market prospects remaining positive.

Still, according to AFBF's Skorburg, the short-term trade problems caused by higher taxes, more government regulation and a weak currency must be addressed before Mexico can begin any sustained recovery.

Mexican Trade Picture

The report outlined a number of commodity specific trade highlights between the United States and Mexico, including:

•For the 1995 fiscal year through May, U.S. grain exports to Mexico were up 12 percent by value and 26 percent by volume.

•Through 1994, oilseeds exports to Mexico were up, largely due to increased soybean sales. In the first eight months of the 1995 fiscal year, oilseed and products exports were off by nine percent by volume and 13 percent by value, despite strength in vegetable oil, soybean meal and peanut sales.

•Exports of live cattle, especially breeding animals, to Mexico were up 67 percent in 1994. U.S. imports from Canada and Mexico were also up, but beef exports to both countries were up as well.

•Mexico only cut duties on pork two percent, but low prices resulted in increased U.S. sales to Mexico. So far this year, total meat and product exports are down nine percent by volume and 13 percent by value.

•Poultry exports in 1994 were double the tariff rate quota of 95,000 metric tons due to loose enforcement. Through May 1995, quantities were at about the same level, but values declined seven percent.

•There was a big increase in fresh non-citrus fruit exports to Mexico, especially apples, pears and grapes during the first year of NAFTA. U.S. horticultural imports from Mexico were also up sharply from 1991-94. U.S. exports have fallen most sharply since peso devaluation. Overall fruit and prepared fruit exports for the 1995 fiscal year were off one-third through May, with apples showing a 50 percent drop.

•Vegetable exports to Mexico increased 42 percent by value. Fresh market tomatoes accounted for one-fourth of U>S. vegetable imports. While imports fell in 1994, they were up 21 percent over 1989-93 average imports. Under NAFTA, tariffs were cut 24 cents per hundredweight (less than one percent of the market price). That prompted Florida growers to lodge a formal complaint with the U.S. Trade Representative.

•Through May of the 1995 fiscal year, U.S. vegetable exports were fairly flat. Imports from Mexico were up 20 percent by value and 15 percent by volume. Fruit imports were up 30 percent by volume and 20 percent by value.

•In 1994 cotton exports to Mexico were down in volume, but up two percent in value. Cotton exports were up 24 percent through May 1995. The value of U.S. cotton exports is up sharply since 1991.

•Dairy product exports were up in volume but down in value in 1994. Through May 1995, dairy exports were down sharply, except for butter. Processed food exports were up sharply through 1994.

The GATT Component

The GATT component states that as a result of the world trade agreement, world market opportunities will increase modestly across the board. With improved market access, competitive, efficient, low-cost producers of agricultural products will see major marketing opportunities.

"As USDA and many other observers have indicated, we have the potential to be entering a golden age for U.S. agricultural export growth," the report stated.

The report projected marketing opportunities for U.S. producers by commodity for the years 2000 and 2005. The report indicated, as seen in the following chart, strong potential growth for U.S. exports of wheat, coarse grains, rice, soybean and products, meat and dairy.

"While the GATT agreement put in place a policy framework that can facilitate export growth, it doesn't solve all of the outstanding trade problems, or eliminate the potential for new ones to emerge," the report stated.

The report analyzed a number of challenges U.S. producers must overcome to fully benefit from freer world trade, including: competitors' use of restrictive market-access measures and sanitary and phytosanitary trade barriers; competing nations that use state trading and monopoly marketing boards; phasing out of U.S. export subsidies and funding cuts for "green box" market development support; cross-commodity impacts of domestic and international subsidy policies; and other governmental policies that discourage export growth.

MARYLAND FORESTS

by Patrice Jastrzembski

Many of the wood products we use each day come from the forests of Maryland. Most people are quite surprised when they learn that the forest products industry is the fifth largest industry in the state of Maryland. Perhaps even more surprising is that it is the largest industry in Western Maryland and the second largest on the Eastern Shore.

Everything from cardboard to toilet paper is considered a forest product. There are many steps in the production of all forest products. As many as 10 people may be involved in the harvest and milling of each tree.

In Maryland more than 15,000 people are employed in the forest products industry. The jobs are very diverse, ranging from the planting, growing, and harvesting of trees to the manufacturing of wood and paper products in mills and factories across our state.

A glance through the yellow pages probably will not reveal the true number of forest products companies. A recent survey by the MD DNR Forest Service lists the following businesses in Maryland:

396 logging companies that harvest trees; 165 sawmills where lumber is cut (i.e., 2 x 4's, wood floor planks, etc.); two veneer mills and 12 veneer brokers (veneer is thin sheet of wood used to make plywood and for furniture); 37 tree chipping companies; 350 Christmas tree farms; one paper and pulp mill; and eight reforestation tree seedling planting companies.

Besides those just listed, there are hundreds more that manufacture secondary forest products such as moulding, wooden boats, caskets, doors, musical instruments, picture frames, signs, and maple syrup.

Every forest product company is important to Maryland. In 1993 alone, the forest product industry generated more than one billion dollars in economic benefits to Maryland.

The total economic value includes the total wages paid to individuals, the income to businesses generated by the sale of goods and services, the various taxes collected, and the export of primary wood products such as logs and lumber. (This is another little known fact about the forest products industry of Maryland - forest products are the third largest export from the Port of Baltimore).

We are very fortunate that Maryland has ample forests and a strong forest industry which provides us with the wood products we need.

Studies suggest that the demand for wood products will more than double by the year 2030. Since forest growth in Maryland currently exceeds harvest on average by 69 percent, our forests should be able to continue to provide us with the wood products we need without negatively impacting forest health.

All the citizens of Maryland, not just those employed in forest industry, should realize the importance of managing our forest resources wisely and harvesting trees responsibly. With that in mind our forests will continue to provide us with wood products, jobs, and a strong economy.

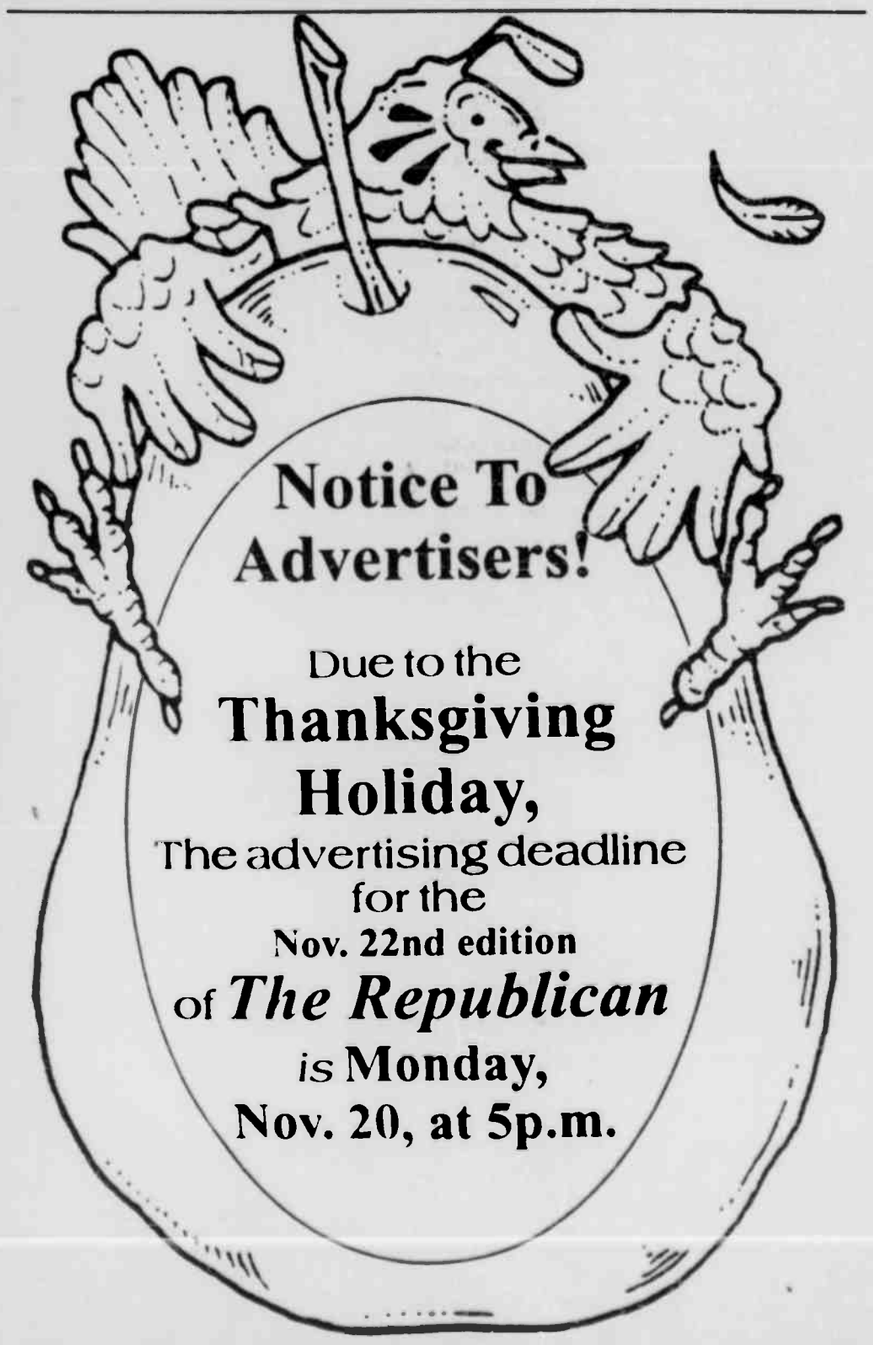
TURKEY TIME

With Thanksgiving coming near the end of the month, it is time to prepare the menu for the feast and take precautions with the turkey. It is important to handle and properly cook your Thanksgiving turkey.

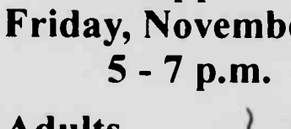


Frozen turkey should be thawed in the refrigerator. It could take 3-4 days to completely thaw a large bird. Leave the plastic around the turkey while thawing. If you are in a hurry, the turkey may be thawed by running cold water over it. Don't use hot water as this may pull out the fat and cause the turkey to be dry and tough. Be sure to take out the giblet bag stuffed in the cavity of the bird. Although giblets have been baked in the bird with no harm done, some packaging materials could melt and cause the meat to be unfit to eat.

Many turkeys come with a pop-up thermometer to tell you when it is done. Don't rely on it, at least by itself. Sometimes the thermometer will pop-up before the turkey is fully cooked. The result could be nausea, vomiting and diarrhea, because the turkey wasn't cooked long enough. Cook the turkey at 325 degrees Fahrenheit for 20 minutes per pound for an unstuffed bird or 25 minutes per pound for a stuffed bird. Turkey should reach an internal temperature of 180 degrees Fahrenheit to ensure that it has been thoroughly cooked. Do not stuff the turkey the night before because any bacteria that may be present, will start multiplying in the raw poultry and stuffing. Stuff the turkey prior to putting it in the oven.

Do not partially cook a turkey to finish cooking it in the next day because the turkey has not cooked enough to kill the bacteria and will not cool fast enough to prevent those bacteria from multiplying. Do not leave cooked turkey out for over two hours and remove all leftover turkey from the carcass after dinner and freeze or refrigerate immediately.

Take time and prepare a safe nutritious meal so it can be enjoyed and remembered as a happy occasion.



The USDA Meat and Poultry Hotline number for questions relating to meat and poultry is 1-800-535-4555 and can be reached from 10-4 Eastern time, Monday through Friday. The Cooperative Extension Service, 202 South Third St., Oakland, Md., 334-1990 can also answer questions concerning food preparation and safety.

Volunteers Needed

The National Multiple Sclerosis Society has openings for individuals who would like to volunteer in their area as a Friendly Visitor of Telefriend. Qualifications include warm hearts, dedication, smiles, and a pleasant personality.

Friendly Visitors are matched with a person in their area who has MS and lives in a nursing home or is homebound. Volunteers make bi-weekly social visits for a half-hour to their assigned companion. Visits involve friendly conversations and may include assisting with other activities such as reading or helping with light correspondence. Independent transportation is necessary.

Telefriends provide friendship and support over the phone, making the day a little brighter for someone with MS. Volunteers are asked to give one year of community service, reaching out to individuals requesting this service. They'll make one call a week to a designated person with MS. Telefriends will communicate to persons with similar hobbies, interests and backgrounds. Calls are local.

Friendly Visitors and Telefriend volunteers will be joining the new AmeriCorps "Bridge To Independence" volunteer program that helps people with MS achieve greater independence in their daily lives. Similar to the Peace Corps, AmeriCorps is a volunteer movement where citizens, businesses, schools and church's come together as partners in programs to solve the problems "in the spirit of service" for Americans who need assistance.

Professional training and orientation will be provided. For further information, please call Robia Tsraer at: (301) 791-5754. 37-2

Let's Get Down To Business!

This is a feature of The Republican to better acquaint our readers with various area business establishments.

The Peoples Network

The Peoples Network, private satellite broadcast advertised as "the largest television network in the world devoted to personal development and to personal development products," is currently being represented in the Garrett County area by Braun Distributors, operated by Art and Pat Braun, McHenry.

The TPN satellite broadcast system enables customers to receive 240-plus hours of original programming in their homes each month. The company also offers persons the business opportunity to become broadcast affiliates and market the system to others out of their homes.

The Brauns will describe the TPN system at a reception on Nov. 18 at 10 a.m. in continuing education room 308, Garrett Community College. To attend this event, persons must register by Nov. 16 by calling 387-8577.

According to TPN literature, "The network's primary goal is to become the leading force in the world-wide self-help industry by empowering individuals, families, and communities to pursue the best within themselves in business, at home, and in life . . .

"Both a broadcast company and a financial opportunity, TPN is building a fully integrated network marketing company to develop, manage, publish, produce, promote, and distribute products in multiple print and electronic formats."

BOCA Building Code Soon To Be Reviewed For GC

The Garrett County Office of Planning and Zoning is currently assembling a local committee to review the national Building Officials Codes Administration (BOCA) building code for application in the county.

This move comes in response to a recent piece of state legislation requiring each Maryland county to adopt some form of the BOCA code by Aug. 1, 1997. Currently, local building codes apply only to plumbing and electrical systems and to mobile homes.

After reviewing the BOCA code, the local committee will have the option to amend the code to make it more or less rigid before it goes into effect in the county.

John Nelson, director of the county office of planning and zoning, submitted a list of approximately 16 potential committee members to the Garrett County Board of Commissioners this week. Commissioner John Braskey asked Nelson to edit the list down to eight or ten names and then resubmit the list to the commissioners for final approval.

The commissioners also advised that the final list include southern, northern, and Amish/Mennonite builders.

"Frankly, I'm a little surprised at the number of local contractors that support this," Nelson told the commissioners during their regular Tuesday meeting this week. Nelson predicts that after the BOCA code goes into effect locally, it will cost between $300 and $400 have a new home inspected for compliance during the building process. Existing structures will be exempt from the new code through a "grandfather" clause, he added.

WINTERY CONDITIONS CONTINUED THIS WEEK, causing hazardous driving and numerous minor accidents, as motorists struggled again with blowing snow and icy roadways. Roads that had been wet throughout the day rapidly turned to ice by late Tuesday afternoon. The driver of this pickup truck escaped injury after he lost control of his vehicle on the snow-covered roadway and struck a tree. Mark B. Solomon, 52, Swanton, was reportedly traveling west on Rt. 135, near the Altamont Road, when the accident occurred. Maryland State Police at Barrack W, McHenry, charged Solomon with DWI (driving while intoxicated) following the 3:30 p.m. incident. Passersby, including Harold Paugh, Swanton, were the first to arrive on the scene, and helped Solomon from his truck. Also responding were volunteers from the Deer Park fire department, and Southern Garrett Rescue Squad.

Four Injured In Two-Car Crash Saturday Morning

Four persons sustained injuries in a two-vehicle wreck early Saturday morning, according to a report from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. All were treated for their injures at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Donna J. Hart, 19, Lost Creek, W.Va., was operating a 1991 Chevrolet four-door sedan southbound on Rt. 219 when the car crossed the center line and struck the driver's side of a 1990 Mercury sedan being driven by Paul R. Busby, 34, Maidsville, W.Va. Hart's vehicle traveled approximately 56 yards beyond the impact before coming to a stop in a snowbank. Hart reportedly told police that she had fallen asleep.

Nathan J. Hurt, 23, McHenry, was a passenger in Hart's vehicle, and Edith O. Busby, 31, Maidsville, was a passenger in the Mercury. All four were transported to the hospital by Southern Garrett Rescue Squad following the 1:30 a.m. wreck, according to the police report, and Hart was ticketed by the investigating officer.

More details about a Nov. 14 accident were provided this week by the sheriff's office. A 1988 Ford Escort being operated by

"WHEN WILL YOU LEARN TO TELL THE TRUTH!" exclaims the mother of Amahl, as the young lad tries to tell her about this unusual star in the East "that has a long tail." Only moments later does his mother realize that, this time, her son is indeed telling the truth. This photo was taken at a rehearsal of the Garrett Choral Society's presentation of Menotti's Amahl and the Night Visitors, to be performed on the Garrett Community College stage Nov. 30, Dec. 1, and Dec. 3. Playing the role of Amahl is 12-year-old Sheila Nolan, daughter of Chuck and Jane Nolan, Deer Park. Liz Gilbert is portraying the role of Amahl's mother. See story for details, and watch for a review of the play in next week's issue of The Republican.

Road Sign Delay To Be Resolved

Obtaining permission to install approximately 500 new road signs on private property has been made a top priority in the county's ongoing effort to officially name all county roads.

Concern over property rights issues had caused a delay in the installation of some 500 signs identifying newly renamed county roads. However, Garrett County Director of General Services Gary Mullich stated in an interview Wednesday morning that the issue is being resolved and is "not a stumbling block at this point."

Mullich explained that where the county does not possess right of way, the contractor installing the new road signs will ask each affected landowner to sign a form giving the county permission to place the sign on his or her property.

Garrett County Director of Planning and Zoning John Nelson came before the Garrett County Board of Commissioners this week to report on the problem. Following some discussion, Mullich explained, the commissioners advised that resolving the issue should be made a project priority.

The move to officially name all roads is intended to enable local emergency services personnel to respond to calls for help more efficiently.

Loch Lynn Man Convicted Of Sexual Offense

A Loch Lynn man was convicted in Garrett County Circuit Court last week of fourth degree sexual offense John C. Wallace, 43, was accused of molesting a 14-year-old boy last May, according to the court report. Several other cases were heard last Thursday, with the Honorable Fred A. Thayer presiding.

Wallace made an alford plea of guilty to the sexual offense charge, and Thayer accepted the plea. The judge sentenced the defendant to one year in the Garrett County Jail. Charges of child abuse, assault and battery, and unnatural sex practice were not prosecuted.

The charges were brought against Wallace after the teenager informed officials that he and another 14-year-old boy had spent the night at Wallace's home and the defendant came to him in the night and proceeded to sexually molest him.

Wallace also faced a drug possession charge, incurred by him when officers searched his home five days after the alleged sexual encounter. A quantity of marijuana was reported discovered. The defendant pleaded guilty to the charge and Thayer sentenced him to a year in jail, consecutive

Choral Society To Present Amahl And The Night Visitors

The Garrett County Society, under the direction of Nancy K. Learey, will present Carlos Menotti's Amahl and the Night Visitors on Thursday, Nov. 30, and Friday, Dec. 1, at 7:30 p.m. and again on Sunday, Dec. 3, at 2 p.m. The performances will be held in the theatre at Garrett Community College.

The story of the short operetta takes place at the time of Jesus Christ's birth, and opens with dialogue between an impoverished mother and her crippled son, Amahl. Because of their poverty, the mother has sold many of her assets just to keep her son fed.

Amahl, oblivious to this financial plight and much to the irritation of his mother, engages in fantasy tales and spends time trying to convince his mother that they are true. She is surprised to discover that he is not telling a tale when he informs her that three kings are at the door seeking shelter for the night. The kings tell Amahl and his mother that they are being guided by a star to see a child who has been prophesied to them. As the story unfolds, Amahl and his mother learn more about the child king who is to be the prince of peace, and whose presence in their midst brings about a miracle.

The role of Amahl will be played by Sheila Nolan, and the mother will be portrayed by Liz Rees-Gilbert. Playing the three kings are Tom Peterson, Don Sincell, and Dave Callis. Matthew Sincell will portray the kings' page, and several choral society members will be on stage as shepherds.

Accompanying the singers will be Dr. Marcene Huebner, pianist, and Angela Sincell, flutist.

Geoffrey Simon To Be Soloist In Bach Oratorio

Dr. Geoffrey Simon, renowned organist of Washington, D.C., will change roles this holiday season to perform as the bass soloist in the Garrett Choral Society's production of J. S. Bach's Christmas Oratorio. The concerts will be held on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 15 and 16, at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland. The performances will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Recognized as one of Washington's leading church musicians, Simon has appeared as organist or conductor throughout the United States and Europe. His recitals and performances of Baroque, romantic, and contemporary choral works with orchestral have met consistent approval from critics and the concert-going public alike.

Simon holds a doctor of musical arts degree from the Peabody Conservatory of the Johns Hopkins University and is a fellow of the College of Church Musicians. He currently serves as cantor at the Lutheran Church of the Reformation on Capitol Hill, and is the conductor of the Library of Congress Chorale.

Other soloists for the Oratorio will be featured in future issues of The Republican.

Admission to the concert will be $7.50 for adults and $3 for children aged 12 and under. The production is made possible in part through funding from the Maryland and Garrett County arts councils.

Oakland Rotary Begins Annual Christmas Project

The Oakland Rotary Club Christmas Project, a community effort organized and sponsored by the local club, is currently underway.

When the project began in 1981, the Oakland Rotary donated $500 to purchase food and toys for 10 needy families in Garrett County, according to Dr. David Bolinger, chairman. Over the years, the project has continued to grow, with the goal this year of serving 400 families.

"The ability to increase the number of families served in recent years is due, in large part, to the efforts and success of the Bausch & Lomb Rotary Christmas Auction, sponsored by the employees of Bausch & Lomb," Bolinger said. The goal of feeding 400 families will be accomplished by purchasing more

BOE Members Vote Unanimously To Accept New Public School Goals

A new list of goals for Garrett County public schools was adopted last week at the regular meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education. The unanimous vote of the board members came after several months of controversy surrounding the issue.

The goals of the school systems are reviewed by each new school board on a semi-regular basis. This year, board member Patrick Riley introduced a new set of goals and asked the remaining board members at the October meeting to adopt the list. Riley was criticized, however, for creating the goals without the input of teachers or administrators, and Superintendent Jerome Ryscavage asked that the goals be re-examined before this month's meeting with the assistance of school employees. This effort was made with Assistant Superintendent Albert Coviello spearheading the collaboration between administrators, teachers, and board members.

The goals created through this effort [illegible] based on Riley's suggestions but were made less specific, which was another criticism of his list. For example, Riley had suggested that the reading instruction be "phonetic-based," which brought protest from several members of the public and the school system, who maintained that some children do not learn well with phonetics and require other teaching methods.

While previous meetings were fraught with bickering over the subject, last week's gathering was calm and the goals were accepted with very little discussion. Riley thanked Coviello and other

Local Aerobic Team To Perform In Los Angeles

The Aerobic Diehards, a youth fitness team sponsored by Brenda's Body Shop dance-exercise studio, Oakland, have been invited to perform at the National Aerobic Finals competition in Los Angeles.

The 15-member team was invited to make the trans-continental trip after performing at the National Aerobic Championships Mid-Atlantic Regional Competition held recently in Baltimore. Also performing at this event were 49 other local students representing The Body Shop's All Stars, Power Pac, and Energizers teams.

"To receive an invitation to this event is rewarding and challenging," stated team coach Brenda Brosnihan. "We hope our appearance at this event will help encourage the organization of a youth aerobic competition."

At the Finals competition, the team will have the opportunity to meet and watch top aerobic athletes from across the U.S. and abroad, Brosnihan added.

Members of the Diehards team, now in its tenth year, have had the opportunity to meet Arnold Swartzenegger, perform at conventions and banquets, appear on The New Mickey Mouse

TWO LITTLE INDIANS AND A PRETTY PILGRIM were just pallin' around this morning at Loch Lynn Elementary School, waiting for 24 more hours to pass before the aroma of roasting turkey fills their homes and Thanksgiving begins. Lots of holiday activities are taking place in area schools today as the children learn about the historic holiday that began with Native Americans and the pilgrims. The students will be headed home early this afternoon, and won't return to the classroom until next Wednesday. There will be plenty to do outside during the vacation, as the county once again has received several inches of snow suitable for sledding and other chilly fun. The kids pictured, left to right, are Robert Shiflett, Cody Colaw, and Sarah Shaffer.

Author Jim Trelease To Speak At GCC

Best-selling author Jim Trelease will address parents, teachers, and the general public on Monday, Nov. 27, in the auditorium at Garrett Community College, beginning at 7 p.m. Trelease is the author of both The Read-Aloud Handbook and two anthologies of children's stories: Hey! Listen To This and Read All About It! He will speak on "Reading Aloud: Motivating children to make books into friends, not enemies."

"American literacy scores," Trelease has declared, "are due in large part to the fact that two-thirds of our children don't like to read. No player in the NBA was born wanting to play basketball. The desire to play ball or to read must be planted. The last 25 years of research shows that reading aloud to a child is the oldest, cheapest, and most successful method of instilling that desire. Shooting baskets with a child creates a basketball player; reading to a child creates a reader."

For 20 years Trelease was an award-winning artist and writer for a daily newspaper in New England. During this period he visited hundreds of classrooms as a school volunteer, talking with students about the joys of reading. Those visits, combined with his nightly reading to his own two children, became the springboards to his national bestseller that spent 17 weeks on The New York Times list. Three American editions have followed, along with British, Australian, and Japanese editions, bringing the total to more than 1.5 million copies in print - the all-time best-selling guide to children's literature for parents and teachers.

In his lecture presentation, Trelease uses an anecdotal style that rings with humor and enthusiasm, a spokesperson for the event stated. While the program is about children's reading, its content is aimed at an adult audience. Citing dozens of titles and demonstrating the simple techniques involved in reading aloud, Trelease traces its need from the cradle to adolescence.

The father of two grown children, Trelease also addresses common parent concerns such as reading in bed, comic books, "Hooked on Phonics," and television - including heartening examples of families that have excelled when TV viewing is controlled. A nationally recognized speaker, Trelease has been a featured presenter for most of the major reading and library associations of America, the subject of three "Dear Abby" columns as well as a recent article in The Reader's Digest, and his 150 speeches each year are usually booked 18 months in advance.

The local presentation is being sponsored by Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library, with the assistance of several local organizations and businesses. There is no admission fee to the event.

For more information, persons may contact Sheila Edwards at 334-9344.

WANTED: CLOTHING FOR DOLLS AND TEDDY BEARS - The Oakland Rotary Club, in conjunction with the local Cooperative Extension Service of the University of Maryland System, is seeking groups or individuals to sew or provide clothing for the 13-plus dozen dolls and Teddy bears to be given as gifts to children in need this holiday season. This project is part of a county-wide effort to provide food, clothing, and gifts to 400 county families. Local students may accrue service learning hours for completing doll or bear outfits, and participants may use provided patterns or design original costumes. The deadline for completed outfits is Dec. 11. To pick up a doll and/or bear to dress or to obtain patterns, persons may visit the local extension office located in the Garrett County Courthouse annex or call the office at 334-1990. Pictured, extension office representative Connie Hoalcraft and Oakland Rotary Past-President David Moe display some of the available dolls and bears.

Two Treated, Released After Weekend Mishap

Two people were injured in a two-car accident Saturday afternoon at the intersection of Deep Creek Drive and the Sang Run Road, McHenry.

Treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital were Dolores Ferguson, 61, and Stephanie Donahue, 37, who were both passengers in a vehicle operated by Buell Ferguson, 63, McHenry, that was struck by a vehicle operated by Charlie Bern Jr., 20, Morgantown, W.Va.

State police at Barrack W, McHenry, stated that Bern was traveling on Deep Creek Drive, and failed to stop at a sign at the intersection with the Sang Run Road. His vehicle subsequently struck Ferguson's car.

Bern and Ferguson were apparently uninjured in the 2:26 p.m. accident.

Hafer Opposes Slots At Md. Horse Tracks

Maryland State Senator John J. Hafer is calling for "the strongest opposition possible" to proposals to allow slot machines in state horse racing tracks and off-track betting parlors.

Hafer said his opposition to increased gambling in Maryland reflects his own "traditional values" as well as "the overwhelming feelings" of his constituents.

"Maryland's own state health department figures show that pathological gambling is already nearly epidemic, with a dollar cost estimated to be in excess of $2.2 billion," Hafer said, citing a state Department of Health and Mental Hygiene study titled Projected Impact of Casino Gambling in Maryland.

"To increase Maryland's reliance on games of chance, which over and over are shown to lure much of their profits from citizens who can least afford to lose their money, is simply not good citizenship."

The senator "is acting now so that citizens who oppose making Maryland's economy more dependent on gambling, instead of developing high-quality futures for our state and its children, will 'get serious' about making their voices heard," a Hafer spokesperson stated.

"Already the fat-cat lobbyists for casino and gambling interests are spending heavily to hijack the decision-making process away from Maryland's voters," the senator said in a statement issued from his Frostburg district office. "Politicians are posturing and pretending that they want what is best for Maryland citizens, but in many cases they are preparing to sell out to well financed special interests.

"Maryland already has more than sufficient opportunities for people to risk their personal resources," Hafer noted. "Putting slot machines in state horse tracks and off-track betting parlors is simply slipping camouflaged casino gambling into our state.

"Our state should not succumb to 'cheap and easy' philosophies of civic growth and irresponsibilities," he added, "or our population will be littered with more shattered lives as a result of pathological, addictive and compulsive gambling!"

Again citing the state health department study, Hafer argued that current data already shows nearly 60,000 Marylanders can be classified as pathological gamblers.

"Our own state health agency has estimated the social cost of gamblers' addiction in Maryland at $2.2 billion," Hafer said.

"Casino gambling is one of those temptations for 'easy money' that confront us all the time. But more citizens losing their money at gigantic, money-sucking so-called tourist gambling facilities or at walls of flashing slot machines at horse tracks and OTB parlors is not the way to bring intelligent, sustainable economic re-development to our Western Maryland region, or to our state and nation for that matter."

MSP Charge Oakland Man With Assault

An Oakland man was arrested early Sunday morning, in connection with a disturbance at the Yough Mountain Club, near Oakland.

According to a report filed with the Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, 44-year-old Cyril D. Doole was charged with two counts of assault, disorderly conduct, and wearing a handgun, following a disturbance that also involved Richard Leckert Sr., Frederick, and William Bierley, Baltimore.

Ofc. W.L. Mowbray, the investigating officer, reported that Doole was acting in a disorderly manner at the club, and was asked to leave. He reportedly grabbed Leckert by the arm, and struck Bierley with his head during a struggle. Doole then left the establishment, but returned later, and members of the club told the police that he was wearing a handgun at that time.

Doole was initially lodged in the Garrett County Jail, but was released on his own recognizance.

DWI ARREST

One DWI (driving while intoxicated) arrest was logged at the local state police barrack in the past several weeks.

Heath Edward Kelbaugh, 21, New Martinsville, W.Va., was arrested and charged with DWI on Nov. 6, by Ofc. E.S. Derham.

Oakland Man Is Cited By GCSO For Assault

An Oakland man was arrested this week on charges of assault and trespassing, according to the police log at the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. Harold L. Gregory, 48, was charged following an incident on Nov. 18.

Lawrence W. Gregory Jr. is the complainant in the case, and he reported to the police that he and his 12-year-old daughter were deer hunting on their land when the defendant approached them and threatened L. Gregory with a pocket knife. The altercation was apparently fueled by a recent property dispute between the individuals involved.

Gregory was charged by the sheriff's office with assault and trespassing on private property, according to the report.

The local law enforcement office also arrested a 19-year-old Loch Lynn resident this week. Michael Evans Jr. is accused of threatening Tracy and Ronald Warnick by pointing a gun at them on Nov. 19. He is also accused of destroying a window in the Warnicks' home.

Evans was charged with assault, reckless endangerment, and malicious destruction of property, according to the report.

A Texas man was charged with DWI (driving while intoxicated) this week. Willie E. Herrington, 34, Baytown, Texas, was arrested on Nov. 18 at 8 p.m. when a deputy responded to a report of a car in a snow bank. Herrington's vehicle was off the road on Rt. 219 north of Oakland, and Dep. C. Warnick apparently detected an odor of alcohol on the defendant. Herrington reportedly refused to take a breathalizer test and was subsequently arrested for DWI.

Three persons were arrested on the strength of bench warrants. Accused of failure to appear in court were Paul A. Dixon, 35, Friendsville, and Kelley L. Slaughbaugh, 18, Oakland. Accused of failure to pay fines was Aaron C. Weiser, 20, Pilesgrove, N.J.

Suspension Lifted For Local School Bus Driver

The Garrett County Board of Education was informed at the recent regular meeting that the suspension of Richard C. Thomas, a school bus driver who drove for Thomas Brothers, has been lifted. Thomas will be eligible to apply for reinstatement as a driver upon completion of required in-service training and other administrative requirements.

Thomas was originally suspended from his duties as a result of allegations made by a student riding his bus, as well as a criminal charge filed against him by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

The criminal charge against Thomas was apparently placed on the stet docket by order of the state's attorney with the agreement to dismiss the charge after a period of 30 to 60 days.

An internal investigation by the pupil transportation department has also determined that there is insufficient evidence to substantiate the charge against Thomas, according to a report from the education board office.

Count Your Blessings...

While various forms of a Thanksgiving observance have taken place in the United States since the time of the Pilgrims, it was not until 1863 that it was made an official holiday. It is interesting to us that President Abraham Lincoln, a man beset and besieged by so much tragedy in his life, was the person who made such a declaration at the suggestion of a young girl.

Lincoln was only 9 years old when his mother died. An extremely close female friend who many believed he wished to marry died suddenly. Another woman he proposed to turned him down. He was a victim of bankruptcy. He suffered numerous political defeats amidst his successful runs for office. He lost not one, not two, but three young sons to death at the respective ages of 4, 11, and 18. His wife, Mary, who was rather naughty and high-strung anyway, was mentally and emotionally devastated by these losses and her attempts to fulfill her role as First Lady.

Finally, by far the greatest, most depressing burden upon Mr. Lincoln, as if all of the above weren't more than enough, was the Civil War that ripped the nation in half, pitting neighbors against neighbors, families against families, and even brothers against brothers. He was hated by thousands.

Yet, it was right in the middle of this war that Lincoln declared a national day of Thanksgiving. Despite experiencing far more than his share of sorrow and pain in this life, Lincoln was obviously one who was still able to count his blessings and give thanks for them.

Lincoln, in so many different ways, sets a wonderful example for us, among them this ability to recognize and appreciate the good in our lives, to find those rays of sunshine in the middle of a horrible storm. Each of us has a variety of crosses to bear; yet may we set this Thursday aside to forget about the negatives in our lives and give thanks for those many good things which are so often taken for granted.

To the Editor:

Well, it's that time of the year again in Garrett County - hunting season. Unfortunately, wild game are not the only animals hunted and killed in our area. Approximately five weeks ago, our seven-pound, neutered, vaccinated, Siamese cat became the target of an ignorant neighbor for making the mistake of walking on his property. Our cat's punishment was a load of birdshot, which has blinded her in one eye and left her with 16 wounds and pellets in her body. She made it to our front door and collapsed near death because of his disgusting behavior.

Talking with three vets in our area and many residents, we have discovered we are not the only one with a vicious neighbor. We have heard many sickening stories of dogs taken to the vets limping badly, only to discover by x-ray that their pets were filled with shot pellets. Cats usually are not as lucky -- they just die instantly -- for the terrible crime of being too close to the idiot at the other end of the shotgun!

We received two messages on our answering machine as to the identity of the person responsible for shooting our cat and intend to have that person arrested and prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law, if we can ever prove his guilt. According to the deputy who came to our home, it is against the law to shoot domestic animals on anyone's property, unless they are endangering your life. Who could possibly be afraid of a seven-pound cat?

Our daughters, who own several Siamese cats, again, all vaccinated and all neutered, cannot understand how any sane adult can point a shotgun at their pet cat and pull the trigger. We have no explanations for them; this behavior is out of control and totally senseless! How do you cruel people look in the mirror at yourselves? Can you sleep at night, knowing you have seriously injured or killed your neighbor's child's pet?

To all of you trigger happy, frustrated people --please exercise some self control! The next time you see a neighbor's pet (which usually belongs to and is loved very much by their children) grow up and shoot your shotgun up in the air to scare the pet away!

A message to our neighbor: Remember, before we put a fence up to keep our dogs on our property, your dog visited us with regularity, and we did it no harm!

We hope that by printing this letter, your newspaper will help prevent another pet from suffering as ours has, at the hands of a neighbor.

Thank you very much.

Sincerely,
Buzz and Peggy Gosnell

To the Editor:

People here in Garrett County, and tens of millions more all over the world watched the widely televised criminal trial of O.J. Simpson. As you all know he was acquitted of the murder of his former wife, Nicole Brown Simpson, and her friend, Ronald L. Goldman, and early last month he walked out of the courtroom in Los Angeles a free man.

However one may feel about the justice served by that jury, it is interesting to note that O.J.'s troubles are just beginning. Three wrongful death suits in civil court have been filed against him by the families of the victims. Civil damages in wrongful death actions go back to the English law in the Middle Ages: today such suits are routinely filed against doctors accused of causing a wrongful death by improperly prescribing medicine or botching an operation, and against drunk drivers. Wrongful death civil suits arising from murder cases or sexual assault have been rare, because such people rarely have sufficient assets to make sense to bring a civil suit.

Lawyers for the Brown family have accused Mr. Simpson of stalking, attacking, repeatedly stabbing and beating his former wife with "malice aforethought." If successful, Mr. Simpson could be forced to pay punitive damages. The Goldman family has accused Mr. Simpson in the wrongful death suit of killing Ronald Goldman with "vicious and outrageous savagery." These suits have been filed in relatively affluent Santa Monica, almost assuring a jury that will be both whiter and wealthier than the downtown Los Angeles panel which acquitted him. In addition, the plaintiffs need only convince the jury that Mr. Simpson is "more likely than not" culpable, rather than the criminal test "beyond a reasonable doubt;" and, in California, only nine out of 12 jurors have to agree on a verdict in a civil case compared to the unanimity required in a criminal case.

Finally, there is the question of forcing Mr. Simpson to testify. It is not likely he could rely on the Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination as he did in the criminal trial. It is possible that if he refuses to testify, the court could order a default judgment for the plaintiffs. Stephen Yagman, a civil rights lawyer in Venice, Calif., who specializes in wrongful death suits noted, "The combination of all of these factors means that Mr. Simpson is in deep trouble in a civil case. Or, put it another way: O.J. had better get out of Dodge before the civil jury gets its hands on him."

To the Editor:

I, along with most of the residents of Garrett County, received mail last week addressed simply to Resident, Rural Route, Oakland, MD 21550. After reading this "Public Notice," I realized the return address was for the United Food and Commercial Workers Local 27 Union.

It simply continues to amaze me that this organization can use the U.S. mail, U.S. courts and laws to make statements and send letters that contain half truths, promote confusion, and insinuate that the United States of America and the National Labor Relations Board are responsible for the contents.

I have worked at Garrett County Memorial Hospital 20-plus years and I don't understand what the United Food and Commercial Workers Union could possibly contribute or offer to the hospital except interference, more half truths, division, and mass confusion -- for which Local 27 hopes to get paid hundreds of thousands of dollars from Garrett County workers.

Our hospital has come a long way in the 20 years I have worked here -- GCMH provides top quality healthcare in our community. Yes, we have had problems like all healthcare facilities. But we have come a long way to grow and change for a better future. Like all industries, we have had to tighten our belts and made mistakes along that difficult process. However, we continue to learn from the past and need to put those mistakes behind us so we can focus on a viable healthcare service in Garrett County.

I know most of the employees do not want or need "the chicken plucker union Local 27" to get us what we already have -- our dignity and our respect. The majority of the employees do not reflect the insinuations of that "Public Notice."

As far as coercements, restraint, and interference at last year's election, most all the GCMH employees did vote at that time so that fact, in itself, proved the Union claim was bogus. I highly resent the insinuations of Local 27 that all the employees want or need union interference or coercement, because the Union interest is purely for money they would take from Garrett County workers to fill their coffers, by using their half truths, unsupported promises, division, and constant confusion of facts.

Garrett County Memorial Hospital's excellent healthcare is what it is today because the employees are a team of dedicated workers who care about their future.

I ask you to consider these thoughts:

1. Ask unemployed steel workers and coal miners where their union support is now when they really need help.

2. What does Local 27 know about hospital healthcare in a rural community -- Local 27 ruined the Chicken Plant.

3. Garrett County does not need outsiders like Local 27 to destroy what we have worked hard to build in our community.

Yes, I encourage the residents of Garrett County to support the continuation of excellent healthcare by showing Local 27 our backs as we turn toward a bright future for ourselves, our families, our community, and the future healthcare service at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Sincerely,
Dave Terlizzi

To the Editor:

Chris Evans' letter shows that Homer Mellott was right while his vilifiers have been found wanting. The vices and problems prevalent in the schools today were almost non-existent when God's Word was used as the standard of morality. The removal of God's Word was accomplished (illegally in the opinion of many including mysell) by one dedicated atheist (Madeline Murray), the godless ACLU, an ultra-liberal U.S. Supreme Court, and the influence of the master of deceit (Satan), while complacent Christians fought with each other over nonessential doctrines such as immersion vs. sprinkling, etc! Now, nearly three decades later, (while the atheists laugh and gloat) Christians are still fighting with each other, conditions wax worse and worse, and they use such words on each other like "fanatics," "bible-pounding bigots," narrow-minded," "self-righteous," Ignorant," "holier than thou" to name a few.

Is it possible that some who say they are Christians but are really "wolves in sheep's clothing" (Matt. 7:15) the ones who label the others with names (Matt. 5:22)? Is the reason they appear to have a "holier than thou attitude" perhaps not imagination but fact?

Satan has used his divide and conquer tactics well. He is the master of it.

To the Editor:

The article "A Comeback Some Just Can't Bear" in the Washington Post (Nov. 6) reported about bear depredation complaints in Western Maryland. But it did not say that the culprits in this escalating situation are the business interests--the farmers, tree growers, and bee keepers--not the bears. There are nonlethal solutions to wildlife depredation, but nobody wants to use them.

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) routinely recommends nonlethal solutions--guard dogs, sound devices, low-voltage fencing--to people complaining of bear depredation. But farmers and others refuse to adopt these solutions, and the DNR can't force them to.

So the situation continues. Business and farming interests refuse to do anything to prevent bear damage. But they do continue to complain. In this way, they are almost forcing the DNR into adopting lethal solutions when they aren't necessary.

Ranchers, farmers, tree growers, and bee keepers are businessmen who should not be subsidized by state or federal taxpayers. Their profits are private. The extra dollars it would cost to prevent wildlife depredation should come out of their pockets as well.

To the Editor:

I surely didn't think that I would be writing another letter to you on this subject matter. I am sure by now that everybody knows that on November 28 the National Labor Relations Board will be conducting another vote at Garrett County Memorial Hospital for union representation. Flyers have been sent to all the employees and now, this time, to the general public. When you read this trash (I mean, material), you are reading distorted facts.

Let me set the record straight. First of all, we the employees were not restrained or coerced by the administration. They did not interfere at all. They showed us educational films about unionization. Some employees did not know about unions and how they work. The only other thing was to encourage people to vote. We, the employees, had our choice.

Second of all, of the five employees who were layed off, one has been hired back and the others had the opportunity to apply for each job that was available.

I think that this community, and I mean the entire county, believes the hospital has plenty of dignity and respect without the union being involved. Since the last union vote of September 1994, we have had increased wages and benefits and better employee morale.

All the union wants is money; employees' money. That is why they campaign so heavily even to send the public flyers. They must be hurting.

My campaign to my fellow employees is to vote on November 28, and to vote no to Local 27. My appeal to the public is to throw away your flyers. This hospital does not need a union. It will destroy health care in Garrett County.

Thank you,
Fred Callis
Concerned GCMH
Employee

Editor's note: The writer of the following letter to James J. Norton, of the National Labor Relations Board asked that it be published in this column.

Dear Sir:

Please find enclosed a "Public Notice" sent to the citizens of Garrett County from a questionable source. For those not informed of the situation, there could be considerable confusion as to the source of this "Public Notice."

This mailing reeks of manipulation of the facts and a very broad use of partial truths. I find such tactics to be questionable and very objectionable. I resent this mailing and question its legality.

If the United Food and Commercial Workers Union, Local 27, cannot be voted in by fair and honest means, then who would want to be represented by them?

Garrett County and Garrett Countians need Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and Garrett County Memorial Hospital needs the support of its citizens. This is not the time to let distorted statements interfere with the best decision for GCMH and Garrett County.

If the NLRB is the authority on the correct process in these matters, then I appeal to the NLRB to investigate such a "Public Notice."

I remain a concerned employee who supports GCMH and its ongoing efforts to improve the institution for its patients and employees.

Sincerely yours,
Judy Umstot

To the Editor:

There are 5,000,000 million human residents of Maryland. And there are, perhaps, 200 black bears. Yet some people are making the astonishing argument that bears are too numerous. They advocate the establishment of Maryland's first bear hunting season in more than 40 years.

The Humane Society of the United States (HSUS) believes that a bear hunting season would not only be cruel and unnecessary, but would critically deplete the extremely small bear population in Maryland. Already, black bears in Maryland face a myriad of human--caused threats, including poaching, habitat loss, and roadkills. What's more, Maryland bears often range into West Virginia or Pennsylvania where they are shot during the bear hunting seasons in those states. There is no evidence to suggest that the current bear population could sustain additional killing by trophy hunters in Maryland.

Bear damage to crops and property is minimal and highly specific, especially compared with virtually every other land mammal in Maryland. This minimal damage cannot be mitigated by hunting the population at large.

We need to learn to live with bears and recognize that they are a part of Maryland's heritage. Human intolerance toward black bears led to their virtual elimination from Maryland earlier in the century. We should not repeat the mistake.

Sincerely,
Wayne Pacelle

To Be A Pilgrim

Once upon a time there was a country where no ideas were tolerated except the official ideas, the legally adopted ideas. The ideas themselves changed from time to time as one political party lost power and another party gained it. The one principle to which each party subscribed was that the official ideas were the only ones to be tolerated. The time was the 16th and 17th centuries, and the country was England.

In the crucible of that prolonged religious and political conflict the United States of America was born. First, persecution merely provided a catalyst for those out of power to colonize North America, at which distance restrictions upon religion were more difficult to enforce.

Some called themselves "Puritans" (they had wanted to purify the Church of England) but others travelling under the label of "Pilgrim" or "Quaker" or "Baptist" or "Presbyterian" were puritans too. What they all had in common was a commitment to plain living. Their idea was to adorn their lives with holiness rather than with worldly trappings.

It was the century of the King James Bible, authorized by a monarch who did not want it either before or after the translation was done, but whose most enduring memorial is this Bible which established the canons of the English Language for more than three centuries. It was the age of radical and charismatic preachers, like George Fox and John Bunyan, whom God called from the life of small trade to the vast cathedral of the open field to proclaim the gospel in ways the world had not heard it proclaimed before.

Fox and Bunyan, contemporaries of each other and both expressions of puritanism in its full flower rather than being its first movers, make interesting studies. Though different in their doctrines they were one in that both preached a searing prophecy against the habits of worldly life and, at the same time, an open-armed fellowship which embraced all. Their co-religionists faced the choice of sacrificing principle at home or crossing an ocean to worship freely. They chose danger and freedom.

In America the contemporaries of Bunyan and Fox (the Baptist Roger Williams and the Quaker William Penn) advocated a tolerance not only of religious ideas but of all ideas. It was the experience and conviction of these original Baptists and Quakers, not solely but to a great extent, which gave birth to our First Amendment freedoms.

It is not an accident that the followers of Fox and Bunyan combined an ascetical standard of personal virtue and a broad tolerance for those who disagreed with them. They not only believed the tenets of their faith, they believed in the strength of their faith. In other words, they didn't feel the need to force their faith on anyone because they thought if they were good enough examples of what they believed others would be naturally drawn to that belief.

The Pilgrim lives faith at great cost to himself. His is the conviction that personal virtue and self-sacrifice make the best preaching. John Bunyan, 300 years dead, said it best, "He'll not fear what men say;/ He'll labor night and day To be a pilgrim."

There is another time and another place far more familiar to us than 16th and 17th century England. In that here and now, some seek to coerce agreement to convictions they do not believe enough to live. On the occasion of Thanksgiving we do well to rededicate ourselves to the best of our Pilgrim past -- a commitment to personal virtue and tolerance of others -- in order that our nation shall have some hope of a Pilgrim future.

When the Constitutional Convention (1787) was deadlocked for 4½ weeks Benjamin Franklin suggested: "I therefore beg leave to move that henceforth prayers imploring the assistance of Heaven, and its blessings on our deliberations, be held in the Assembly every morning before we proceed to business, and that one or more of the clergy of this city be requested to officiate in that service."

Arts Council Names Esther Yoder First Local "Friend Of The Arts"

FRIENDS OF THE ARTS -- Steve Schlosnagle, administrator of the Garrett County Arts Council, recently presented Esther Yoder, Grantsville, with a certificate recognizing her as recipient of the Arts Council's first annual Friend of the Arts award for "exemplary support of Garrett County arts."

The Garrett County Arts Council recently named Esther Yoder, formerly of Grantsville as recipient of its first annual Friend of the Arts award "for exemplary support of Garrett County arts."

In presenting the award, Council administrator Steve Schlosnagle remarked, "A certificate and gift of appreciation cannot express the full measure of regard and esteem accorded you for your remarkable support of our mission to promote the arts in western Maryland."

Mrs. Yoder served as teaching principal at Yoder School in Grantsville for 30 years. "It was bliss," she recalled, "watching children learn with a sense of enjoyment about learning, seeing that light in their eyes when they learned something new, and then watching them go on to become contributing adults."

After retiring from her formal role in education, Mrs. Yoder served as board member for Penn Alps in Grantsville for 12 years. She also served on the board of directors of the Garrett County Arts Council for six years and as general manager of the Spruce Forest Artisan Village in Grantsville for five years.

"One of the wonderful things about Spruce Forest," she remembered, "is that many of the artists learned their crafts right in the village from the demonstrations of other artists. The gentleman who is the bird carver was one of my students at the Yoder School. Because of visits to the village, by the time he was in eighth grade, he had become proficient enough in wood carving to become a demonstrator, and he is still there."

Esther Yoder was an active member of the Garrett County Arts Council, serving as chairman of the Council committee responsible for reviewing grant applications and making award recommendations. The Council allocated nearly $50,000 to local organizations and schools for arts programs and projects during Mrs. Yoder's most recent year of service.

"I saw the possibility of what the arts could become in the county," Mrs. Yoder commented. "GCAC funding has made it possible for developing artists to grow and to display their work for the public. I have enjoyed working with GCAC because we have a diverse group, and I sense an openness to all the arts as we consider grant applications."

Mrs. Yoder retired from the Arts Council this November prior to moving with her husband, Henry, to Goshen, Indiana, to live near her children and grandchildren. "There's something about the quality of life here that I will miss," she noted, reflecting on 45 years of living among "the mountains and the people who are the life of the mountains.... My life here has been good. I have missed no good thing. I haven't yet experienced everything I'd like to in my life, but I have missed no good thing."

The Garrett County Arts Council, recognized by the Board of Garrett County Commissioners as the "official arts agency for the county," plans to recognize a local Friend of the Arts annually, according to Ron Skidmore, president. Nominees for the award will be considered on the basis of exemplary support of Garrett County arts.

Western Maryland Symphony Slates Special Holiday Concert

The holiday season will be ushered in when the Western Maryland Symphony, under the direction of Maestro Jon Bauman, presents its Christmas concert at 8 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 16, in the Fort Hill High School auditorium, Cumberland.

The Cumberland Choral Society and two soloists from Washington, D.C., will join the WMS to open the concert with Antonio Vivaldi's "Gloria." The soloists are Amy Van Roekel and Molly Fillmore.

Vivaldi's "Gloria" is one of the most popular sacred works of all time. The music represents the passion, expressiveness, and sensitivity of the Italian Baroque music of the middle of the 16th century. The "Gloria" includes vocal music that is both lyrical and energetic. "Because Vivaldi had a permanent orchestra of the finest quality in Vienna, the music also contains wonderful instrumental composition," Bauman said.

The Christmas favorite, the "Nutcracker Suite" of Tchaikovsky, will begin the second half of the concert. This ballet music is the tale of a young girl and her present of a nutcracker. Unable to sleep, she sneaks downstairs to the Christmas tree to see a fantastic battle between some toy soldiers and an army of mice. She throws a slipper and defeats the invading army. The nutcracker is transformed into a handsome Prince and the young girl is swept away to a fabulous Kingdom of Sweets.

The suite includes the "Miniature overture," "March," "Dance of the Sugar-Plum Fairy," "Russian dance," "Arab dance," "Chinese dance," "Dance of the mirlitons" and "Waltz of the flowers."

The concert concludes with an invitation to the audience to sing along with "A Carol Festival" that includes "Joy to The World," "We Three Kings of Orient," "It Came Upon The Midnight Clear," "O Little Town Of Bethlehem," "Hark, The Herald Angels Sing," "Silent Night" and "O Come, All Ye Faithful."

"There just may be a visit by a jolly old friend from the North Pole!" Bauman said.

"The inspiration of music in this concert by the Western Maryland Symphony invites everyone to celebrate the majesty and humility, the magnitude and the grandeur of this joyous season," said Bauman.

Tickets will be available at the Book Center in Cumberland, Main Street Books in Frostburg, Book Mark'et in Oakland and Main Street Books in Keyser, W.Va. For more information, persons may call 301-724-1WMS.

Frostburg State Theater Offering Combines Talents Of Community

by Sherri Seidensticker
FSU News Service

"Dancing at Lughnasa," the second production this season by Frostburg State University Theatre opening Fri. December 1, will be a unique combination of local talent, university professionalism and an Irish dancing expert who happens to be a nun.

Director David Press says he choose "Dancing" because, "It's just such a beautiful play."

"In form, it's a memory play,' he explains. "It takes us back in time and place to this little Irish cottage."

In the play, a priest returns home to County Donegal, Ireland in 1936 after serving 25 years in a leper colony in Africa. His five unmarried sisters have remained in the rural cottage. While many would think of the family as isolated from the changes and pressures of the outside world, the story they tell shows they are not.

"It's easy for people who don't have money, who don't have possessions and who live in out-of-the-way places to wonder if their lives have any value or significance," said Press.

"It's clear that [playwright] Brian Friel appreciates the importance of these people living in a tiny, rural village."

The play is also about human needs that transcend all cultures. "The compelling need for joy and the need to celebrate and dance can't really be denied," says Press. "That's part of the spirit that comes through in the women of the show."

"This play is about people who love each other and are battling against things that suppress them. It has wonderful celebratory qualities," he adds.

While classic Irish dancing is a key aspect of the play, finding an expert on the subject in Frostburg was no easy task for Press.

"We were counting on having students from Ireland here this semester and for some reason, there were none," he said.

However, after contacting FSU's Campus Ministry, Press was put in touch with Sister Marietta Culhane at St. Timothy's in Midland.

She used to teach Irish dancing as she had learned it from her parents. Even though she is very busy with her many duties at St. Timothy's, she volunteered to come to Frostburg and help the students with dancing as it was done in the 1930's.

"It has been wonderful having a chance to meet this extraordinary woman," said Press. "She has her Ph.D in philosophy, was an academic dean at Essex Community College, and can she dance!"

Another challenge that came up in the play was scheduling the rehearsals at times convenient for the entire cast. "Any time you deal with ensemble acting, it's difficult to arrange schedules," said Press.

The cast includes Joanna Bradford as Maggie, Dale Coleman as Father Jack, Stephanie Owens as Kate, Shay Mace as Rose, Marusia Melackrinos as Agnes, Matt Merchant as Michael, Deborah Mulkey as Chri and Nicholas Yannariello a Gerry.

"Dancing at Lughnasa' will be performed Decem ber 1,2,7,8,9 at 8 p.m. an at 2 p.m. on Dec. 3 in th Drama Theater of the Per forming Arts Center. Fo ticket information call (301 687-4145.

FSU is committed t making all of its programs services and activities acces sible to persons with dis abilities. To request accom modations through th ADA Compliance Office call (301) 687-4102.

Intersession Schedule At FSU Released

For students who may be home for the winter break, Frostburg State University offers an extensive variety of intersession undergraduate classes in business administration, communication, computer science, economics, education, health, physical education, philosophy, physical science, political science and sociology. In addition, graduate classes in business administration, education, health, and physical education are also offered.

The intensive four-week session, January 2-26, is open to students enrolled at FSU and other institutions. Deadline for registration without late fees is December 15. Final deadline is Jan. 2.

Because all institutions in the University of Maryland System have a common calendar and there are many common GEP courses, credit is easily transferable, according to an FSU spokesman. This January also marks the first time that graduate courses for masters of business administration and special topics will be taught.

For more information on tuition, registration, or to receive a course schedule, persons may telephone the Office of the Registrar at (301) 687-4346, or stop by the office in the Hitchins Administration Building.

"Last-minute" vinaigrette combines half a pound of mushrooms, sliced thin, with the oil they're sauteed in (about 6 Tbs.), lots of chopped fresh herbs and 4 Tbs. red wine vinegar. Reserve, mix gently and spoon over delicate baby greens.

Lamb is luscious with fruit, so you know it's going to be great served with a balsamic-apricots-and-cinnamon dressing.

Party time: mix a cool dip of 8 ounces light sour cream, 1 Tbs. chili powder, 2 Tbs. chopped cilantro and a pinch of salt. The healthy part is dipping vegetables, not corn chips.

Another great chicken dinner: brown chicken breasts, then simmer in Provencal-style sauce of chopped onion sauteed in olive oil, chopped tomatoes, garlic, ripe olives and capers until done.

Smart cooks froze blueberries last summer to use for midwinter baking. The smartest ones know the key to success with them: fold frozen berries into the batter before they thaw.

Southern Auto Supply Gathering Toys For Tots

Southern Auto Supply, a local Parts Plus dealer, has announced that it is collecting toys on behalf of the Marine Corps, Toys for Tots Foundation.

The Toys for Tots program has been collecting toys for distribution to needy children for nearly 50 years. In recent years, an average of eight million toys has been collected each Christmas, according to a spokesperson for the program. More than 1,000 Parts Plus autostores in 26 states are collecting toys in conjunction with this program.

"Your participation in Toys for Tots not only reflects well on our community," said a spokesperson for the local effort, "it tells a nation that there are still people who care. If you are one of those caring people, help us give a little joy to a needy child. Your donation may be the only thing between a Merry Christmas and the heart-breaking sound of some parent telling his child, 'I'm sorry, but Santa isn't coming this year.'"

Persons interested in offering their support are asked to bring a new, unwrapped toy to the Southern Auto Supply Store in Mtn. Lake Park, where it will be placed in a box and distributed to economically disadvantaged children in the community. Those interested in making monetary contributions may send them to: Marine Toys for Tots Foundation, P.O. Box 1947, 715 Broadway Street, Marine Corps Base, Quantico, VA 22134.

Vietnam Veteran To Run Against Roscoe Bartlett

Vietnam veteran and University of Maryland teacher Steve Crawford on Tuesday announced his candidacy for Maryland's Sixth Congressional District seat, an office currently held by two-term incumbent Republican Roscoe Bartlett.

"It is time Western Maryland had a congressman who represents us . . . not rich individuals or big corporations, but ordinary folks . . . not the extreme, but the mainstream," remarked Crawford, who has recently spoken at retirement and nursing homes across the district calling for less severe cuts in programs that effect senior citizens.

Bartlett, Crawford commented, ". . . represents loyalty to Newt Gingrich."

Crawford also criticized "Bartlett's support for tax breaks and cuts in Medicare," a spokesperson for the candidate stated.

"What kind of Thanksgiving is that for you," Crawford said, "the generation who saw us safely through the Depression and World War II?"

Crawford volunteered for duty in Vietnam, and while there was decorated a half-dozen times, earning both the Bronze Star and the Vietnam Cross of Gallantry with Gold Star, a Crawford press release stated. He completed his service as a member of the "Green Berets," the release added.

The candidate has since served as a classroom teacher, an administrator, and as the executive director of the Center for International and Security Studies at the University of Maryland. Currently, Crawford teaches at the University of Maryland and operates a small consulting firm in Frederick.

Crawford holds a bachelors degree in political science and economics from Cornell University, a masters degree from Wharton Business School, and a Ph.D. from Columbia University. He resides in Frederick with his wife of 14 years, Liliane.

In 1994, Crawford entered the Sixth District's seven-person Democratic primary," the spokesperson stated. "He finished third - only 110 votes behind Neil Dhillon, who out-spent Crawford four-to-one, and mere percentage points behind the eventual nominee, former State Delegate Paul Muldowney."

District VI includes Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick, and Carroll counties and part of Howard County.

Rams Whip Beall; To Meet Havre De Grace

The Southern Rams took a major step Friday evening toward capturing their first state title in football, by defeating the Mountaineers of Beall High School in Frostburg, 20-7, in the quarterfinals of the Maryland 1A playoffs.

The victory also avenged a 30-20 loss to Beall that occurred just two weeks prior during the regular season, a game in which the Rams finished with over 400 yards of offense compared to 200-plus by Beall, but fumbled the ball seven times in the process.

The contest was again played on a wet, muddy field that had to be cleared of some 18 inches of snow the day before; however, the Rams fumbled only twice and lost just one of those fumbles, while the Mountaineers gave it up twice on four fumbles, one of which led to Southern's first score.

The win advances the Rams (9-2) to the state semi-finals, which will be played this Saturday against Havre de Grace, a team that defeated Charles Hickey School on Friday in its quarterfinal, 20-0.

The Rams did just what Coach Tom Woods wanted them to: control possession of the ball as much as possible and grind up as much time as possible in the process. Out of the 48 minutes of the game, the Southern offense held onto the ball for 30 and one-half minutes, and limited Beall to a total of eight offensive plays in the entire second half.

S- Aaron Newcomb 87 kickoff return (run failed)

Fourth Quarter

S- Howard Crosco 7 run (Crosco run)

THERE WAS JUBILATION in Frostburg last Friday night at about 9:30 p.m., at least by the players and fans of Southern High School, after the Rams defeated Beall, 20-7, in a Maryland 1A quarterfinal clash. As is evidenced by the appearance of the Rams in the above photo, the playing conditions were downright sloppy since the field was covered by some 18 inches of snow just one day prior to the game. The victory was even sweeter for the Rams because it avenged a loss to the Mountaineers on the same field just two weeks prior in the regular season. The 9-2 Rams will play at Havre de Grace this Saturday at 1 p.m. in the state semi-finals and, if successful, will meet either Kent County or Cambridge South Dorchester in the state title game the following Saturday.

The Rams were forced to punt on their first possession of the game, but the ball hit Beall's Will Aylor in the process and the Rams recovered the ball on the Mountaineers' 19-yard line. Quarterback Andy Woods scored three plays later on a 14-yard run around the end. The conversion run failed, and the Rams held a 6-0 lead at the 2:09 mark of the first quarter.

Beall's only successful drive, and only lead, of the evening, followed the ensuing kickoff, as senior quarterback Ryan Patterson engineered a 65-yard scoring drive. Senior running back Mike Yates did most of the work, as he picked up 58 of the yards on just four carries, including a 30-yard touchdown run to cap the drive. Nathan Bittner's successful conversion kick put Beall on top, 7-6, at the 11:13 mark of the second quarter.

The Mountaineers' lead lasted only 13 seconds, however, as junior running back Aaron Newcomb caught the ensuing kickoff on the Rams' 13 and raced 87 yards untouched down the sideline to put Southern on top for good, 12-7. The conversion run again failed.

The Southern defense was on the field for only three plays following Newcomb's kickoff, and it appeared that the Southern offense would add to its lead before halftime. However, with a first and 10 at the Beall 15-yard line, the snap from Ram center Tim Jeffreys to Woods was mishandled and the Mountaineers recovered to stop the threat.

The game was basically over at halftime, however, as the Rams completely controlled the contest throughout the third and fourth quarters. An insurance touchdown was added in the fourth quarter when Howard Crosco capped a drive with a seven-yard scoring run with just over four minutes left. He then concluded the scoring for the evening by running for the extra two points.

Crosco finished with 93 yards on 19 carries to lead the Rams' ground game, while Newcomb added 67 yards on 24 carries and Woods picked up 34 on eight attempts.

Yates led Beall's rushing with 64 yards on eight carries, while Patterson, who has paced the Beall offense all season, finished with a minus three yards. The Mountaineers recorded a total of only 106 yards of offense.

"This was a huge win for us," Coach Tom Woods said. "We had really taken our loss to Beall real hard. It's one thing when you are out-played and lose, but when you have almost twice the yardage and seven fumbles, it makes a loss a lot tougher. We thought we were the better team, but we really didn't know for sure."

Woods called the win a "team effort," but still noted the individual performances of a number of his players on both sides of the ball.

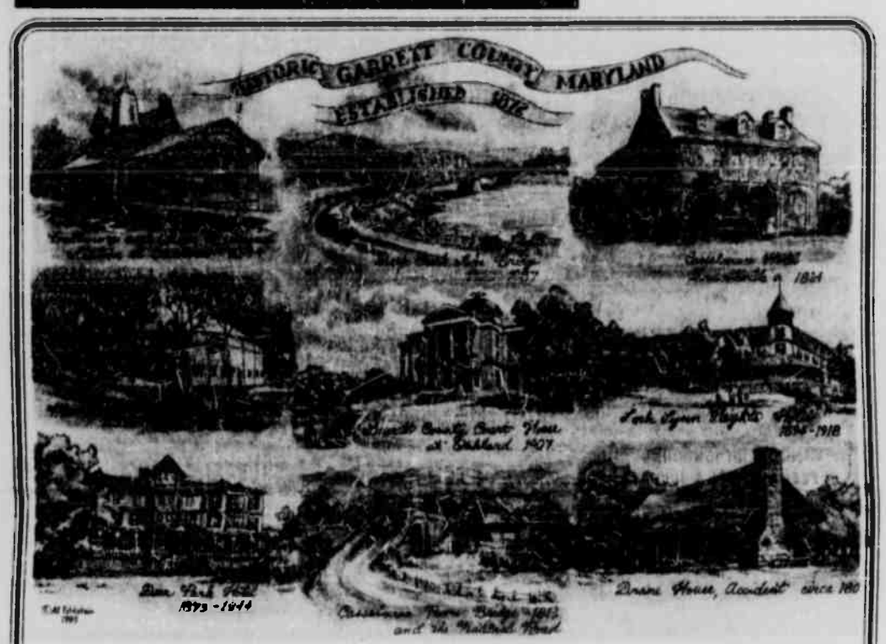
"Offensively, Howard Crosco had his best game of the season," he said, "and Dave Stephens (tight end) and Nathan Rickman (slot) had their best blocking games of the year.

"We also got a huge effort offensively from Shawn Strawser and center Tim Jeffreys," he said, noting that Strawser was playing for the injured Seth Tressler.

"To have only two fumbles and lose just one on a field in that condition was a major accomplishment," he said.

On the defensive side, Woods commented on the efforts of tackle Matt Glotfelty, end Bryan O'Connell, Danny Compitello, and Ben Getson.

"Matt just had a super game, Bryan had a second outstanding game in a row filling in for Seth at defensive end, Danny led us again in tackles (11), and Ben had a key interception and a key fumble recovery," Woods said.



Woods also noted his appreciation to the many fans and the community at large. "There was a great crowd at the game and the support all week long before the game was really appreciated by me and by our kids," he said.

Woods is hoping there is "a great crowd" at the game this Saturday at Havre de Grace, which is located about 30 miles north of the Baltimore Beltway just off Interstate 95.

After losing its first three games of the season, Havre de Grace has won eight straight, including a victory over 3A semi-finalist C.M. Wright in game number seven. The program is consistently among the top 1A programs in the state and has won two state titles in the past decade. They lost to Smithsburg in the quarterfinals last year.

Havre de Grace utilizes a wing-T and multiple-I offense that possesses excellent speed and is led by senior quarterback Bill Jackson (5-10, 160), whom Woods describes as "one of the top quarterbacks in the state."

"Jackson has thrown 25 touchdown passes this year," Woods said, adding that his favorite receiver is wide receiver J.R. Clark (6-1, 160), who has caught 15 scoring passes so far this season.

"They also have an outstanding tailback in junior Jameel Daily (5-8, 170)," he said.

Anchoring the offensive line are senior guards Josh Rollman (6-0, 200) and Joe Comer (5-9, 170).

"They mix the plays well and will pass about 40 percent of the time," Woods said, "and they love to go deep.

"They have the best team speed of any team we've faced this year. They run a lot on the perimeter, but will also run off-tackle several times in the game," he said. "The key will be to contain the quarterback and get good play out of our secondary."

IT WAS A MUD BOWL in Frostburg Friday evening when the Southern High Rams met, for the second time in two weeks, the Beall High Mountaineers on the same field. The Mountaineers won the first game, which was a regular season contest, but the Rams dominated play this time to win the 1A Maryland state quarterfinal, 20-7. The first touchdown was scored by Southern quarterback Andy Woods, pictured above on his way for six points, while Howard Crosco, shown below plowing through Beall defenders, scored the final touchdown and conversion. The second Ram score was on an 87-yard kickoff return by Aaron Newcomb. Crosco led the Rams rushing effort.

Havre de Grace's 4-4 and 6-2 defense is led by senior tackle Ben Neades (6-1, 275), junior ends Dwight Rabb (5-10, 170) and Al Mann (6-1, 180), and junior linebacker Wilber Ballard (6-0, 190).

"They have the best secondary we've seen so far this year," Woods said.

"Once again, ball control will be the key for us. If our offense can move the ball and our defense can keep their speed contained, we feel we have an excellent chance of winning the game," Wood said.

Junior Seth Tressler, the Rams' leading tackler who was expected to return to the Ram line-up this week, learned yesterday (Tuesday) that his 1995 season is over, as an MRI revealed a tear in a knee ligament, sustained in the Bishop Walsh game.

"This is a major blow to us," Coach Woods said this morning. "Plus it will be a missed opportunity for Seth since there will be a lot of college scouts at the next few games. He will probably have surgery within the next few weeks."

Also facing knee surgery and definitely out for the season is senior tackle Dale Schoch.

Linebacker Scot Schroyer received hospital treatment this week for an infected knee, but is listed as "probable" for the game.

The Rams, whose practice field is still covered by snow, received assistance from some county roads crews, who cleared the area inside the track at the school on Monday; however, snow was pouring down again Tuesday afternoon and the Rams practiced outside for only about one-half hour. The team will travel to Morgantown today (Wednesday) for a day of practice on Morgantown High School's Astro-turf-covered field.

They will also leave Oakland at 9 a.m. Friday and practice Friday evening at Aberdeen High School.

Garrett County residents planning to go to Saturday's game at Havre de Grace should follow Interstate 68 east, take 70 east to Rt. 695 (the Baltimore Beltway), take the beltway north toward Towson, take the Interstate 95 exit, follow 95 north for about 30 miles, take Exit 89 and turn onto Rt. 155 east, go about one and one-half miles to an intersection, turn right onto Juanita Street and travel about one mile; the school is located along the right side of the road. The trip takes approximately four hours and 15 minutes from Oakland.

The Rams will be staying at the Holiday Inn in Aberdeen. Others wishing to stay there may do so for $69 and may make reservations by calling 410-272-8100. Coach Woods said there is also a Sheraton Inn nearby.

If the Rams are victorious, they will meet the winner of the Kent/Cambridge-South Dorchester game in the state championship contest the following Saturday.

The Rams have reached the state finals on two occasions (1979 and 1980).

The defeats dropped the Lakers to I on the season, a mark they took into the Butler CC Tournament Monday evening (see separate story).

It was at the 10:07 mark of the first half that the Lakers had their 24-point lead over Potomac State on Friday, but by halftime Garrett was up by just six points, 42-36.

A three-point basket by PSC's Nakia Summers knotted the score at 76-76, after which the Lakers took the lead for good with an 11-2 run. Jymil Thompson scored [illegible] points for Potomac State [illegible] with 1 to play.

Leading the Cougars in scoring was Richard Smith, who scored 28 points, while Bubonovich finished with 22, Summers hit 13, and Adrian Brooks added 10.

Gunnell Hickman paced the Lakers' offense by hitting 25 points, and also pulled down a team-high 17 rebounds. VaShawn Gross finished with 21 points and 12 rebounds, Antoine Stokes recorded 19 points, and Brian Brehm was credited with eight assists.

The Lakers actually lost the game at the foul line, as they out-gunned the Catamounts from the floor by a margin, but connected on just eight of 12 free throws, while Potomac State hit 17 of 28.

Dundalk earned a spot in the finals by topping New Kensington in the other Friday game, 61-57.

A 40-point performance by New Kensington's Josue Nievas [illegible] Garrett's domination Friday's consolation game, although five Lakers did finish in double figures in the defeat.

Hickman and Chad Reese each recorded 23 points, with all but two of Reese's scored on three-point shots, while Hickman also had nine rebounds. [illegible] assists, Gross and Kanda Gray each had 10 points, and Brehm led the team in assists with seven.

Other New Kensington players reaching double figures were Jorge Llanos with 24 points plus nine rebounds, and Doug Graff with 11 points.

After trailing 10-2 in the early moments of the game, the Lakers rallied and led by as many as 10 points in the first half. They were up by just three at halftime, 46-43.

There were five ties and seven lead changes throughout the game, and the Lakers were up 71-66 at the 8:40 mark, but a pair of three-pointers, a two-point bucket, and a free throw gave New Kensington the lead for good at 75-71 with 7:17 remaining.

MVP of the tournament was Ken Bostic of Dundalk. Others named to the All-Tournament team were Hickman of Garrett, Jaquay Jackson of Dundalk, Summers and Richard Smith of Potomac State, and Nieves of New Kensington.

Lakers Defeat Butler And CCAC To Win Tournament

After placing last in their own tournament this past weekend (see separate story), the Garrett Community College Lakers came back early this week to capture first place in the McDonald's Tipoff Classic at [illegible].

The Lakers edged host Butler, 74-69, in Monday's game and then nipped CCAC-Allegheny last night, 69-68, to improve their record to 3-3.

The Lakers trailed by three at halftime against Butler, 41-38, on Monday, but then held the Pennsylvanians to just 28 points in the second half.

Gunnell Hickman, who was named to the All-Tournament team for the second tourney in a row, led the Lakers in points and rebounds with 19 and 14, respectively, while Antoine Stokes finished with 18 points, VaShawne Gross netted 13, and Chad Reese scored 12.

The Lakers were outgunned from the floor by a 16-14 margin, but connected on 21 of 29 free throw opportunities to secure the win.

Kevin Dill scored a game-high 23 points to pace Butler, while Jerry Noll netted 13 and Brian Denamell contributed 10.

Hickman and Kanda Gray each had 15 points in Tuesday night's one-point victory, as GCC Coach Dennis Gibson described Gray's performance as his best of the season. Gray also grabbed a team-high 10 rebounds and Hickman had two steals.

Stokes and Reese were right behind Gray and Hickman in scoring, as each pumped in 14 points. Nine of Reese's points were scored from three-point range, and Stokes was also credited with seven rebounds, four assists, and a pair of steals.

The Lakers led by as many as 11 points (41-30) late in the first half and were on top 43-36 at halftime. CCAC closed the gap in the second half, however, as the score was tied on several occasions.

With less than a minute left in the game and the score tied at 64 apiece, Gray hit a bucket and was fouled with 43 seconds remaining. He hit his free throw to give the Lakers a 67-64 advantage.

Each team hit another two-pointer to make it 69-66 and, with five seconds left, CCAC's Nehemiah Brazil nailed one final shot, also from two-point range, to conclude the scoring.

Brazil led the Cougars with 19 points, Richard Turner finished with 18, and Barron scored 14.

"This was a great win for us," Coach Gibson said, "because we lost to them last year and they went on to win the Region XX championship."

The Lakers, as well as the GCC women's team, will both play next Tuesday at Penn State-Altoona. It will be the season opener for the women's team, with tipoff set for 6 p.m. The men's game will get underway at 8 p.m.

The Western Maryland Branch of the Arthritis Foundation will hold its fifth annual Jingle Bell Run on Sunday, December 3, at the Country Club Mall in LaVale. The local race is one of many Jingle Bell Run events taking place this holiday season across the country. Runners and walkers are invited to tie jingle bells to their shoes and help raise funds to support the work of the Arthritis Foundation.

Included in the day's events are a 5-K run and a one-mile fun walk on the grounds of the Country Club Mall. A separate youth run for those 18 years of age or younger also is scheduled. Each course consists of flat, one-mile loops. Also, a Candy Cane walk for children will be held inside the mall. All entrants receive an attractive long-sleeve t-shirt, jingle bells for their shoes, refreshments, and an opportunity for prizes. Special prizes will be given to all youngsters who enter the Candy Cane Walk.

Prizes also will be awarded to participants based on amount of pledges they collect and turn in by the day of the event.

WINS SHOTGUN -- The Potomac Valley Council of the Holmes Safety Association recently presented a shotgun to Paul Snyder, center, an employee of Buffalo Coal Company, and the latest winner of the councils raffle. The Holmes Safety Association represents the mineral and allied industries with the main objective of preventing fatalities and injuries, and the improvement of the health condition of all mineral industry employees. Also shown are Barry Ryan, left, Council secretary, MSHA, and Mike Nestor, Council president, Laurel Run Mining Company.

Businesses, schools, and community organizations are invited to enter as teams. A special, rotating trophy is awarded to the team which raises the most money for the Arthritis Foundation. Team members from the Allegany County Board of Education were the recipients of the trophy last year.

Participants are encouraged to wear attire with a holiday flair, and awards will be given for the best costumes. Costume judging will take place prior to the events at Center Court.

For additional information about the Jingle Bell Run, persons may telephone the local branch of the Arthritis Foundation at 1-800-750-9078.

than 30,000 pounds of food from local grocers with money donated from the Oakland club, as well as funds raised from the auction. Eight hundred banana boxes will be filled with food for a Christmas dinner, including a turkey, yams, canned vegetables, fresh carrots, onions, celery, potatoes, and staple foods such as flour, sugar, soups, crackers, peanut butter, jelly, rice, spaghetti, cereal, macaroni and cheese, apples, oranges, margarine, and bread that will help feed needy families during the Christmas holiday.

Special "giving trees" will be located at Browning's Foodland, Grantsville Foodland, Mtn. Lake Park IGA, and the Accident IGA to enable the public to purchase food items to be added to the boxes, Bolinger said. With the help of hundreds of community volunteers, this food will be sorted and the boxes assembled at the National Guard Armory, Oakland, on Dec. 15.

Again this year, there will be giving trees located at the following businesses: Will O'the Wisp, Silver Tree Restaurant, Arrowhead Market, WalMart in LaVale, J.C. Penney Catalog Store, V&S Variety, Treasure Island Department Store, First United Bank & Trust in Oakland, Grantsville, and Friendsville, Bausch & Lomb, Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Garrett County Health Department, at branches of the Ruth Enlow Public Library, Mettiki Coal Co., McDonald's in Oakland, the Garrett County Courthouse, American Trust Bank, Penn Alps Restaurant and Craft Shop, and Fratz Hardware.

The needs indicated on these giving trees are determined and substantiated through the efforts of the Garrett County Health Department's Women, Infant, and Children (WIC) program, and the Garrett County Department of Social Services. Through cash donations provided by the public, the clothing items needed and toys requested by children will be purchased. These gifts will be delivered along with the food boxes on Dec. 16.

"The Oakland Rotary Club acknowledges the willingness of 99KIIJ, other service organizations, churches, groups, and individuals to participate in the project," Bolinger said. "Their unselfish assistance in helping to uplift the spirits of those less fortunate at this joyous season of the year, and to make this community endeavor a success, is sincerely appreciated." To assist with this countywide project, persons are asked to visit one of the giving tree locations to purchase a gift. Monetary donations are also welcome, and may be sent to: Oakland Rotary Christmas Project, P.O. Box 741, Oakland, MD 21550.

Blanket Drive Underway In Garrett County

The AmeriCorps team in the Community and Emergency Services Department of Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc. (GCCAC), is sponsoring a blanket drive again this year to help supply Garrett County families in crisis with needed blankets.

Last year's drive yielded more than 200 blankets, according to Tina Sumpter, an AmeriCorps member with C&E Services. "Thanks to the generosity of our community in donating so many blankets last year, we were able to supply many families with this much needed service," she said. "And now, with the cold winter months upon us, we are hoping that the community will again open up their hearts and help with this project."

Linda Green, director of Community and Emergency Services, explains, "Families who are having a hard time meeting their basic needs often are unable to purchase something as simple, yet necessary, as a blanket. With energy assistance benefits being cut by 25 percent, emergency funding completely drained for this year, and funding for the regular Maryland Energy Assistance Program (MEAP) season that will not be distributed until after the first of the year, many families will have to keep their thermostats set much lower or possibly even go without heat part of the winter. Thus, the blankets will be even more important this year, especially with regard to families with young children."

Donations of either new or used blankets are welcome and may be dropped off at the following locations: Gregg's Pharmacy, Friendsville Pharmacy, Eileen's Country Market, Arrowhead Market, Grantsville Library, J.C. Penney Catalog Merchant, Marvin's Men's Wear, Mt. Top Christian Assembly of God, St. John's Episcopal Church, St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Englander's Pharmacy, Bloomington United Methodist Church, Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland, or the C&E Services Office of Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc.

The drive began Nov. 21, and will run through Monday, Dec. 11. According to Green, some of the blankets collected in the drive will go to various charities throughout the county, and the remainder will be stored in the C&E Services Department of GCCAC where they will be used for families with heating crises, families who have been burned out of their homes, and other emergency situations.

Building Code

plumbing and electrical codes currently carry fees totalling $135.

Nelson stated that many local builders already comply with the BOCA codes. He added that his office currently recommends that local builders voluntarily follow these codes.

Garrett is one of only three of four Maryland counties that do not currently enforce the BOCA codes. The county does, however, maintain a building code for mobile homes.

Club Show and on two exercise videos, and see their accomplishments covered in newspapers and magazines, Brosnihan said.

"These small town kids not only work out hard physically," she added, "they also fund raise to earn money for their trips and uniforms."

The Diehards' performance routine includes displays of strength, flexibility, and endurance including one-arm push ups and high kicks.

"Although being a Diehard takes some sacrifice, the rewards seem to be endless with the best reward being a strong, healthy body," remarked team member Kristen Spurrier.

"I really like when other kids ask me what its like to be a Diehard, or to show them a certain exercise or skill," commented member Bethany Savage.

Marlana Beitzel added, "I enjoy the opportunities to meet new people and travel. Our trip to California will be the first time I will have ever flown on an airplane."

The Diehard team will sell pizza kits and refreshments at the upcoming Fresh Air Christmas event and will sponsor a New Year's workout titled "JumpStart 96" to raise funds for the L.A. trip. To contribute to the team's fund raising efforts, persons may call Pam Spurrier at 334-9702 for more information.

Carla R. Bowers, 27, Oakland, was southbound on Rt. 219 in the town of Accident when it apparently traveled left of center and struck a northbound 1990 Ford being driven by Clarence N. Kauffman, 75, McAlisterville, Pa. The accident took place at approximately 4 p.m., according to the report.

The Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad responded to the scene and transported the drivers to the hospital, where they were treated and released. No citations were noted on the report.

Man Convicted

to the first sentence.

A Kitzmiller man was sentenced for his conviction on the charge of "procure burning" in last week's proceedings. Leonard R. Paugh Jr., 36, allegedly hired his step-son, John Miller, to set fire to his trailer on Sept. 18, 1994. Paugh was originally charged with arson, but the state amended the charge. A count of malicious burning to defraud was not prosecuted.

Thayer sentenced the defendant to 12 months in the local jail, six months suspended. He also ordered him to make restitution to the insurance company. Paugh will be on three years of supervised probation upon his release from jail, according to the court report.

A Terra Alta, W.Va., man previously convicted on drug charges was sentenced to jail time by Thayer. Adam G. Tibbs, 20, was found guilty by a jury in a September trial of possession of marijuana with intent to distribute, merged with a count of possession of marijuana, as well as one count of possession of drug paraphernalia. These charges arose from a June 1994 incident. Tibbs was also found guilty of distribution of marijuana, merged with possession - both charges arising from a May 1994 incident.

Thayer sentenced the defendant to a total of three years in the Maryland Department of Corrections, with 18 months of the sentence suspended. The balance of the sentence will be served in the local jail, according to the court document. Tibbs was also fined $300 plus court costs.

The defendant was apparently observed by narcotics police agents as he made a drug transaction on May 18, 1994, at a picnic area located along Rt. 219, north of Oakland, and again on June 14, 1994, at an Oakland place of business.

A Friendsville woman was sentenced for her conviction on a drug possession charge. Cynthia F. Yeager, 20, pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana, and Thayer accepted the plea. He sentenced her to live days in the local jail, suspended. He then ordered her to be on one year of supervised probation.

The charge against Yeager arose in March after the Garrett County Sheriff's Office Narcotics Unit executed a search and seizure warrant at her home, where four marijuana plants were apparently discovered, as well as some drug paraphernalia and 110 grams of processed marijuana.

A Swanton couple faced drug charges in circuit court last week. Stancie F. Eisenwein, 32, and Judy G. Eisenwein, 33, were both charged in connection with incidents in December 1994 and April of this year, according to the report.

S. Eisenwein pleaded guilty to the charge of conspiracy and two counts of marijuana distribution. Several other related counts were not prosecuted. Thayer accepted the plea and ordered a pre-sentence investigation. The defendant's bail was continued.

J. Eisenwein pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana, and the judge sentenced her to five days in jail, according to the report.

The couple apparently were involved in drug sales and use in the observance of an undercover Natural Resources Police officer in December 1994, and again in the company of a county narcotics task force agent in April 1995.

Timothy L. Bussard, 25, Friendsville, pleaded guilty to the charge of marijuana possession with intent to distribute. Thayer accepted the plea and ordered a pre-sentence investigation. Bussard's bail was continued.

The defendant was charged after police officers of the sheriff's department searched his home on March 31, and reportedly found marijuana at the residence.

A charge of marijuana possession against an Oakland man was placed on the stet docket by order of the state's attorney. David F. Riley, 21, had entered a not guilty plea to the charge, which was filed against him following a search of his home on June 13 by the narcotics task force. Officers allegedly found one marijuana plant approximately three inches tall.

Three months ago this past Sunday our little angel was taken away in a terrible automobile crash involving an alleged drunken driver. Help prevent drunken driving so this doesn't happen to someone in your family.

Little Angels

When God calls little children to dwell with him above,
We mortals sometime question
the wisdom of His love
For no heartache compares with the death of one small child.
Who does so much to make our world seem wonderful and mild.
Perhaps God tires of calling the aged to his fold,
So he picks a rosebud
before it can grow old.
God knows how much we need them, and so He takes but few
To make the land of Heaven more beautiful to view.
Believing this is difficult still somehow we must try,
The saddest word mankind knows will always be "Good-bye"
So when a little child departs,
we who are left behind
Must realize God loves children
Angels are hard to find.

PLEASE DON'T DRINK AND DRIVE!

Herman Attends Convention For Gifted Children

The 42nd annual Convention of the National Association for Gifted Children (NAGC) was held November 8-12 in Tampa, Fla., and among the participants was Dr. Gail Herman, representing Garrett Community College.

NAGC is the premier membership association for educators and parents who believe in the importance of allowing every child to achieve his or her full potential. Approximately 2,500 attendees from across the United States, Canada, and other countries participated in convention sessions and special activities designed to address the needs of gifted students.

In two presentations titled "Kinetic Kaleidoscope: The Cyberspace of Visual Art" and "Father Time: Integrated Humanities, Science, and Arts Curriculum," Dr. Herman focused on showing how the arts can be successfully integrated with each other and with the content of history, science, and language areas.

Others speakers at the Convention included Keith Geiger, president of the National Education Association, and Joseph Renzulli, director of the National Research Center on Gifted and Talented.

Dr. Herman, wife of GCC president Dr. Stephen Herman, is a nationally known professional storyteller. The Hermans reside at Sky Valley, Deep Creek Lake.

Comfort was not 1950s' chair designers' primary concern. During the decade, many innovative chairs were made using plywood, tubular steel, rope, plastic, leather strips or foam rubber. The shape of the chair seems to have been chosen for its eye appeal, not its "seat appeal."

Sling chairs are deep and comfortable, but it is almost impossible to stand up gracefully when getting out of one. Cone chairs have narrow, prodding seats. "Z" chairs are made with stiff, flat, wooden seats. Woven plastic "ropes" were used to form seats that left a bare thigh with a waffle-pattern imprint.

Such chairs are now selling to museums and collectors as examples of '50s design. One unusual chair is the Flag line chair designed by Hans Wegner about 1950. The chair has a back that is permanently tilted to a reclining position and a seat that is low to the ground. The chair is made of rope and chromed and painted steel.

Wegner, who is considered one of the great midcentury designers, worked in Denmark as an architect and furniture designer. His first designs are dated 1941. He made many designs of leather and steel. Perhaps his best-known design is a 1947 wooden adaptation of the classic Windsor chair, called "the Peacock chair."

Q. I collect paperback books and want to find early editions. Do you have any suggestions?

A. Collectors tend to favor old Pocket Books editions.

Pocket Books, founded by Robert de Graff, was the first publisher of mass-market paperbacks. The company published 2,300 copies of Pearl Buck's famous novel, "The Good Earth." The books sold so well that the next year the company published 10 more paperback versions of hardcover books. The paperbacks sold for 25 cents. Pocket Books continued to reprint hardcover books until 1949. Then, added titles were introduced in paperback. Pocket Books became part of Simon & Schuster in 1966 and later became part of Gulf & Western.

Collectors have varied interests. Some want the works of a single author. Some specialize in murder mysteries. All want books with complete covers in good condition.

Because the paper used was very acidic, it tends to deteriorate in about 30 years. Keep paperbacks away from heat, light and moisture.

The Pocket Books logo has changed through the years. The original logo, Gertrude the Kangaroo, was used in 1939. It is a line drawing of a kangaroo reading a book. In 1943, the logo was redesigned by Walt Disney, and Gertrude became more amusing. There have been many other design changes. In 1986, a kangaroo was pictured in a rectangle with the Pocket Books name printed beneath.

Health & Nutrition
by Judith Sheldon

According to the NIH Healthline, a publication from the National Institutes of Health, there is definitely a connection between the benefits of exercise and our genetic makeup.

Our genes will largely determine how we respond to exercise, regardless of age or sex. (Please note that I never use the term, gender, since gender actually refers to grammatical differences. We living creatures have sexual differences, and I wish people wouldn't be so timid about using the word, sex, where and when it's appropriate.)

Dr. Claude Bouchard of Laval University in Quebec, noted that response to exercise is measured by the ability of the muscles to take up and use oxygen, as well as fat metabolism, performance of the heart, and changes in glucose and insulin levels, and other factors.

However, while we may respond differently to exercise, the fact is, all people derive some positive effects, including reducing the risk of developing cancer. Exercise has also been shown to help control diabetes. As Dr. Bouchard says, "Regardless of your genetic makeup, exercise is still important in maintaining overall health."

KNOW YOUR OATS: For centuries, people have relied on oats to provide excellent nutrition at relatively low cost. In recent years, we've been told about various health benefits of oats, which include helping to reduce the levels of LDL (the bad cholesterol) in the blood, and also helping to lower high blood pressure.

Now there's some evidence that oats, or similar soluble fiber food, such as beans, buckwheat (also known as kasha), and apples, may also have an important effect on blood glucose and insulin, which would benefit diabetics while also helping in weight control. Emerging research indicates that oat soluble fiber, because of its slower release of energy, may provide working muscles with an energy source on a more sustained basis, instead of going into less active cells to be stored as fat.

(By the way, if you have problems with dry skin in the winter, try putting some uncooked oats into a cheese cloth bag and hanging the bag under your bathtub faucet to allow the water to run through the oats and into your tub.)

Dollars & Sense

If you're a high school senior planning to attend college, now is the time for you and your family to start preparing.

So advises Deb Weisensel, manager, Operations, for the Credit Union Student Loan Network of the Credit Union National Association & Affiliates.

Weisensel offers this checklist of things to do during the school year:

* Take the entrance exam. Most schools require ACT or SAT results as part of the application. These tests can be taken ahead of time, and the results sent later to the schools to which you apply.

* Choose the schools to which you will be applying. Call admissions offices to request college catalogs from the schools you are interested in attending. The catalogs will describe the courses of study, assistance programs, tuition, room and board costs and campus programs.

* Estimate costs. How much do you need to finance a college education? If your family's finances can't swing it, consider the many financial aid options available, including Federal Family Education Loans from your credit union or other financial institution.

* File an aid application, if appropriate. To be considered for federal financial aid, you and your family must complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid — FAFSA. Need is calculated based on your family's federal tax return. The FAFSA is generally available in November from college financial aid offices and high school guidance counselors. As soon as possible after the first of the year, your family should complete its 1995 tax returns and file the FAFSA.

* Apply for a student loan. Many credit unions, as well as other financial institutions, offer Federal Family Student Loans, including Stafford loans for students and PLUS loans for parents.

Home Tips

FURNITURE TIP — I don't want to have my furniture professionally cleaned because of the expense. However, I've found when I remove the covers and wash them in my machine, putting them back is a real pain! Then I discovered that putting large garbage bags on those very stubborn foam cushions first helps the covers slip right on. Lynette C., Flanders, N.J.

NAIL-POLISH REMOVER — This tip probably isn't original but it saves me some money. I save all cotton that is stuffed in medicine bottles and use it to remove nail polish. Syracuse, N.Y.

NOTE: If you haven't had your flu shot yet, don't delay. Call your doctor or health center today to arrange for the vaccination. Most medical authorities agree this year's expected flu strain may present exceptionally difficult problems for many people, especially children, those with chronic ailments (diabetes, etc.) and seniors.

For those who believe they can get the flu from the shot, believe me, that's not possible. The vaccine does not use live viruses. The only way to get the flu is to be infected with living viral organisms.

Custom Furnishings

Custom Furnishings, a store offering a wide variety of furnishings and accessories, is located at 257 North Third Street in Oakland. Owner Julie Adams, of Oakland, says her goal is to bring a designer look and quality products to the public at affordable prices. "We offer 'good, better and best' in order that any budget or need can be met, with 90 days same as cash financing. Customers can purchase in-stock merchandise or special order for a custom look," said Adams

Christmas Open House will be on Sunday, November 26, from 1 to 4 p.m., and arriving just in time for the holidays are: curio cabinets, gun cabinets, rockers, recliners, massage/heat recliners, magazine racks, holiday gift items, quilts and linens.

The business has a strong interest in interior design, and the design center features unfinished furniture that can be finished for a customized look that is economical (a third of the cost of prefinished prices elsewhere).

Adams says there are wallpaper selections from two companies at 25 to 45 percent off all the time. There are cornices and other decorator products to offer a designer look. Carpet is also offered, allowing a customer to choose and match carpet and furniture at one stop. "If a customer wishes to carpet an entire house or one room, we sell carpet, usually installed within two weeks.

The gifts, accessories and some custom-made furniture are crafted locally.

Name brands are featured, such as Simmons Beauty Rest, Action by Lane, Lancer, and Singer.

"An in-store or in-home consultation is free, and our staff is ready to assist," Adams said.

Store hours are Monday through Thursday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Friday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.; and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.; with other hours by appointment. Custom Furnishings can be reached by phone at 334-0555.

to take "Christianity to the heathen," and not just to gain the wealth of the orient? Even in the 1930s we were not taught that truth. The very name "Christopher" means "send Christ."

Do you realize that when we are not allowed to teach time-proven values we are committing a "sin of omission," because the implication for students is that we adults have no values we believe to be worth teaching?

Do any of you pray at least once per day? Do we realize that our many blessings (including all the technologies) are from God, or are we giving ourselves undue credit?

Would there be harm in teaching our students to experience gratitude? Do we realize that morality involves eternity and God's promise of something far better than we've known or are capable of knowing, and that science et al involve only the brevity of one life? In my opinion getting back to the basics includes more than the three R's. It also has to do with where we came from, why we are here, and where we are going.

At least four members of our school board are "fundamental Christians," as am I; I too, am proud of their tenacity, and it is my hope and prayer that most of us will be honored to vote for them again. I praise God for every letter you have received that supports them. Let's let our kids know how much we love them and how much our Creator loves every one of us; that love indeed (not sex) is what keeps this world going around.

I will close with a quote from Bill Clinton, although his efforts do not appear to support it. This quote was taken from a bulletin insert we were given at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Sewickley, Pa., last Sunday. The insert was entitled "The Church Around the World," published monthly by Tyndale House.

"President Clinton recently spoke out in support of freedom of religious expression and directed the Department of Education to issue guidelines on religious activities to the nation's school districts for this school year. "Americans should never have to hide their faith,' Clinton said. "But some Americans have been denied the right to express their religion, and that has to stop."

Clinton said there is nothing in the U.S. Constitution that requires the nation's schools to be "religious free" zones. "There are those who say that values and morals and religions have no place in public education," he said. "I think that is wrong. This country needs to be a place where religion grows and flourishes. The First Amendment does not require students to leave their religion at the schoolhouse door. We wouldn't want students to leave the values they learn from religion--like honesty and sharing and kindness---behind at the schoolhouse door, and re-enforcing these values is an important part of every school's mission."

Sincerely,
Paul A. Eary

GIVING THANKS

Giving thanks always for all things... Ephesians 5:20
In everything give thanks... 1 Thessalonians 5:18

The key to being full of thanksgiving is realizing that God is in control. He is the "great filter" through which everything must pass. Both the good, and the "not so good!" Everything that comes into our lives ultimately is controlled by our heavenly Father, who loves us and not only wants but wills the very best for us. Whether the situation is an encouragement, a lesson, or a chastening, it is for our best, So we, like Paul, can say that we ought to be thank-full both "in everything" and "for everything."

-R. Brown

In sweet belief I know what way my life doth go -
Since God permitteth so - that must be best. - L. Gedike

DEFECTIVE PARTS MAY BE REPAIRED

Anything that has moving parts should have a periodic check-up to keep it in good reliable working order. Not only will it last longer but it will be more economical to operate, will perform better, will look better and will give greater pleasure and pride to the user.

While the above facts could and do easily apply to a toaster, a two-wheeler, or a lawn mower, they have their most practical and logical meaning when applied to your body. Make sure all your parts are in good working order by scheduling a physician check-up. When medicines are needed to help - we have them.

The poet both haunts and helps at Thanksgiving time when he wrote:

"Don't let it be forgot, that once there was a spot, for one brief shining moment that was known as Camelot."

A place, a time, a person, it makes little difference.

Camelot has come to mean "the height of something special." And Thanksgiving is a time of recalling one's Camelots. It is the reality (or memory) of little children gathered around an open fire in the den finding expressed delight in identifying flickering flames as "rabbit ears" or "teddy bear's feet."

Camelot is turkey served full-bodied to family members, but it is more.

Camelot is gratitude for life, and the life-giver without whose daily presence there would be no Camelots. It is thankfulness that God is actively, creatively, and redemptively at work in our world and in us.

Thanksgiving is reviewing the Camelots along the path and expressing gratitude for each. It is hearing the surgeon say "benign" instead of "cancer"; a kindly soul who rings your doorbell to enlighten the load; a letter with words that send doldrums scurrying for cover, and it is the reality of knowing that God cares; that He is the Source and Resource of all we shall ever need.

But Thanksgiving is better pronounced "Thanks-Living," the only true way to celebrate this Thanksgiving, Camelot Season.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

TO USE OR TO BE USED
November 26, 1995

Background Scripture:
Acts 18:18 through 19:41
Devotional Reading:
Acts 18:18-28

One of our besetting sins is the almost unconscious temptation to use God for our own purposes instead of being used by him for his. We want him to make us well, affluent, successful, and powerful and much of our prayer life is devoted to giving him a shopping list of what we want.

I realize that there is a fine line between asking God for his help and using him. Jesus certainly promised us that God is concerned with even our least important needs and desires and the New Testament again and again encourages to make them known to the Lord. But when the relationship with God is cultivated primarily for what we want to get from him, then we are simply trying to use God.

The world is not divided into those who try to use God and those who don't. Actually, probably all of us try to use him at some time or other for our own power or profit. That's why I called it an "almost unconscious temptation." Most of us, if we realized we were trying to use God, would back off. We know better than that. But often we deceive ourselves into thinking that, in seeking what we want, we are really seeking what God wants.

SELFISH INVOCATIONS

In one of his books, theologian Reinhold Niebuhr, quotes John Adams' warnings to Thomas Jefferson: "Power always thinks it has a great soul and vast views beyond the comprehension of the weak; and that it is doing God's service when it is violating all His laws." That is why God's help is invoked in some of the most selfish enterprises.

In Acts 19, we are told that "God did extraordinary miracles by the hand of Paul" while he was in Ephesus. Seven sons of a high priest named Sceva decided they wanted to have the same power and they began to practice the exorcism of evil spirits. "But the evil spirit answered them, 'Jesus I know, and Paul I know; but who are you?' And the man in whom the evil spirit was leaped on them, mastered all of them, and overpowered them, so that they fled out of that house wounded and naked" (19:15, 16).

I'm sure that the sons of Sceva justified themselves in saying they were only trying to help these poor souls in torment. But it was not helping others that motivated them; they sought the power of God for their own purposes. And what happened to them graphically illustrates what happens to all of those who seek to use God's power rather than be used by it: eventually the power masters and overthrows us.

THE DOOR TO POWER

Paul did not seek God's power, but God poured it into his life to accomplish his divine purposes. The late Halford Luccock, a renowned seminary professor and author, once wrote that "God gives power only to men who need it. He does not waste power. He gives it to those who have tackled something so big, so overwhelming, that their own resources are quite insufficient." Luccock said that, when we tackle a task that is too big for us, it opens "the door through which there comes the rushing of a mighty wind of the spirit."

This is what we find in Acts 19. Paul, responding to God's leading, tackles a job too big for him and, when he offers himself to God's purpose, that opens the door through which the Holy Spirit rushes into his ministry. Paul didn't ask for it, but because he offered himself, "God did extraordinary miracles" by his hands.

From Paul's letters we see that throughout his life in Christ, he consistently brought his needs and wants to God in prayer. But his overriding concern was not to use God for his own purposes, but to be used by him for the sake of the gospel. In our own relationship with God, we need aim no higher than that.

COVER STORY

NBC movie explores alien abductions

BY AMY HIBBERT

A mother fears both she and her daughter might have been abducted by aliens in NBC's Visitors of the Night.

The sci-fi thriller, premiering Monday, Nov. 27, stars Markie Post (Hearts Afire) as Judith, a woman who has been having nightmares about strange creatures since she was a child.

When her teen-age daughter, Katie (Candace Cameron, Full House), starts acting strangely, Judith begins to think they might have been victims of alien abductions.

Judith meets with a hypnotherapist and uncovers frightening childhood memories. She thinks she might be losing her mind, until her nightmares start becoming too real.

Bizarre things are happening in the town as well, such as strange crop circles. But Judith's friend, Sheriff Marcus Ashley (Dale Midkiff), believes they are teen-age pranks.

In a startling conclusion, Judith and Katie realize they must face their fears together.

The mother-daughter relationship was an aspect that attracted Post to the film.

"I thought the relationship between the mother and the daughter was really fun – for an actor, fun to play – and the fact that they were intelligent, normal people, who wanted to deny what had happened to them, rather than to go head long into the experience of being abducted," Post explains.

Alleged abductees' stories and the idea of aliens focusing on people who are related were used to create Judith and Katie.

"The (idea) was taken from people's experiences that have culminated in this story – those who have a common thread, a lot of it is in the movie," Post says. "I just thought it had some veracity and it was the best thing I had read in a long time."

Post chose not to interview any alleged abductees in preparation for her role, though.

Markie Post

"Actually, because this woman starts out completely as (someone who is) not a believer, and goes through this period of denial and disbelief, I wanted to stay just as 'ignorant' and let it evolve with the character," she says.

But, Post does have a fascination with stories of extraterrestrial life and abductions. She says she believes it would be interesting to have a close encounter with an alien herself.

"I think it would be sort of like what I expect dying is like: a good feeling, you know, that somehow fear is taken away because it feels natural and right," she comments. "I feel like that would be the way it was if it were ever to happen to me. Maybe it's because I'm sort of mentally prepared, so it wouldn't be so alien, as they say, to my experience."

The film gives viewers a chance to form opinions about life on other planets. Post also has formed her own opinions.

"I definitely think there is life outside of our planet," Post believes. "I don't base my life on it, though. I think probably my faith in there being a God is stronger. I wouldn't deny that this could happen, and there is way too much evidence pointing to the fact that it does happen, and that it does exist.

"I would love for it to be true. Maybe my wanting it to be true makes me believe it."

Sports idols' stories told in three-part special

BY AMY HIBBERT

Some of the greatest sports idols in American history are in the limelight again when their stories are told in a three-part TBS presentation.

Idols of the Game, starting Monday, Nov. 27, and continuing Tuesday and Thursday, Nov. 28 and 30, features profiles of great figures in baseball, tennis, football and other sports.

Actor Dabney Coleman efficiently leads viewers through the special as Scribe, a generic and ageless reporter. Scribe provides a segue from one life story to another, offering tidbits about each person.

The life story of Jim Thorpe kicks off the first night of the special. Through colorful anecdotes, including one from his son, Idols explores his achievements, from school football to the 1912 Stockholm Olympics.

The first night also dives into other idols' biographies, from baseball's Jackie Robinson to heavyweight champ Joe Louis. Parts 2 and 3 feature profiles of athletes including Chris Evert and Joe Namath.

Their sporting careers are explored through film clips and interviews with people like Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Jesse Jackson, as well as with some of the idols themselves.

The special also examines how America molded some of its sports figures into larger-than-life gods, citing, for example, the "Hope of Democracy" title Joe Louis was given when he entered the ring to fight Max Schmeling of Germany in 1936.

Idols also explores the differences in attitudes toward men and women in athletics. And Part 3 examines the role of money and the growth of commercial sponsors in sports.

SOAP TALK

McClain leaving AMC; GL finds a Hart

BY CANDACE HAVENS

The rumors at ABC are running rampant that Cady McClain will not continue as Dixie on All My Children.

The actress has said she is ready to move on to other things. ABC will not confirm McClain's departure. Her contract is up in April, but there is a chance she could be going a lot sooner.

Insiders say that AMC's executives brought back Marcy Walker as Liza in anticipation of McClain's departure.

McClain joined AMC in 1988. After only one year on the show she won a daytime Emmy for outstanding performance by a juvenile female.

In other news: The search is over at Guiding Light, and it certainly took long enough. The producers finally found a replacement for Leonard Stabb, who played Hart. Marshall Hilliard is the new Hart.

Stabb left the role after suffering severe head injuries during a hang gliding accident in 1993. He was in a coma for several months and continues to recover.

GL plans to make Hart a major player in Springfield.

Dear Candace: I have been a fan of The Bold and the Beautiful for a while. I really liked the story line with Taylor (Hunter Tylo) and Prince Omar (Kabir Bedi).

I have to say that since Taylor has moved back to Los Angeles I have really wanted her to get back with Ridge (Ronn Moss). I was pleased when he chose to marry Brooke (Katherine Kelly Lang).

I also hope that James (Ian Buchanan) will help Taylor through all this.

I think Stephanie (Susan Flannery) could do more to keep Ridge and Brooke apart. She does not seem to like Brooke very much. – Erin Partrick, Greenville Junction, Maine.

Cady McClain

Dear Reader: When Stephanie finds out that her ex-husband, Eric (John McCook), and Taylor were in love, she may not think Brooke is so bad.

It was somewhat amusing recently when Taylor was explaining her relationship with Eric to James. She told James that the relationship was one of the healthiest she had ever experienced. Now remember, Eric is the father of her soon-to-be ex-husband, Ridge. Taylor needs to find a new man, preferably one she isn't already related to.

TV PIPELINE

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: Please tell me what you can about Mitzi Kapture of Silk Stalkings. –H.E.S., Erie, Pa.

Q: Where can I write to Mitzi Kapture? –Kathy Cross, Mooresville, N.C.

A: A native of Yorba Linda, Calif., Kapture grew up in Atlanta, where she studied at the Alliance Theatre. She landed guest roles on MacGyver and Lightning Force, as well as a Perry Mason TV movie, after she returned to California.

Theatrical films include The Vagrant and Angel: The Final Chapter. Married to singer-songwriter Bradley Kapture, she is scheduled to direct several Stalkings episodes.

A USA Network publicist advises fans to write to Kapture c/o Silk Stalkings, Stu Segall Productions, 4705 Ruffin Road, San Diego, Calif. 92123.

Q: Who is the handsome actor who played Almanzo Wilder in Little House on the Prairie? –Cynthia Herr, Bradenton, Fla.

A: That was Dean Butler, who later would play Rapunzel's Prince in the Broadway musical Into the Woods.

Q: I love JoBeth Williams, who I think bears a striking resemblance to actress Susan Hayward. Are they related? Also, is Miracle in the Rain available on video? –H. Grau, Hanford, Calif.

A: No on both counts. Sorry.

Q: I recently caught The Goodbye Girl on a local station. Is the girl who played Marsha Mason's daughter now playing the policewoman on The John Larroquette Show? If so, what has she done between the two roles? –Nancy Chevalier, Mount Pleasant, N.C.

A: Despite a strong resemblance, these are two different actresses. Young Quinn Cummings copped an Oscar nomination for her work in Goodbye, but her career sputtered not too long after that. Elizabeth Berridge, who played the maid in the NBC sitcom The Powers That Be and Mozart's wife in the film Amadeus, plays Officer Eggers on Larroquette.

Mitzi Kapture

Q: Why did Chad Lowe leave the NBC sitcom Spencer so soon? –Mister Kelley, Long Beach, Calif.

A: According to The Complete Directory to Prime Time Network TV Shows, "Lowe abruptly quit the show in a salary dispute after only a few episodes."

CLARIFICATION: I appreciate the many well-meaning letters I received "correcting" a recent answer about Fritz the Cat, but the answer stands, folks. The question was about a cartoon cat by Robert Crumb, the underground artist, NOT the more familiar Felix. The letter writer was looking for the 1972 adult animated film by Ralph Bakshi.

Route 40 Elementary Students Offer Holiday Turkey Recipes

Members of Theresa Warn's second grade class at Route 40 Elementary School, Frostburg, Garrett County, were recently asked to divulge their families' Thanksgiving turkey recipes.

The resulting list of cooking directions may not meet current food handling standards or the rules of spelling, but the children's thoughtful observations reveal their fascination with the tradition of Thanksgiving dinner.

The students' recipes are as follows:

Michael McKewen: Bake 39 degrees. Take it out. Wait a while. Then put sos on it. Then eat.

April Kyle: Buy at store. Bake for an hour. Check turkey with thermometer. Take out stuffing and add broth. Eat the turkey and enjoy.

Jessica Beal: One hour. Put flour on it. Take the fat off. Wash it off. Put stuffing in the turkey.

Kayla Ashley Paul: The turkey might come in a plastic thing. Let it sit out on the counter. Then you can put some soose on it. Then put it in the oven. Then check it in a while.

Tyler Warn: Buy turkey at store. Bake for an hour. Check turkey with thermometer. Take out stuffing. Eat the turkey.

Craig Joseph Brown: Dress it with baking oil, and bake it on about 300 degrees.

Brandon Garlitz: You cook it about 100 degrees and take the stuffing out of the turkey. It comes in a bag and its skin is cut off.

Ronnie Wilhelm: I cut the fat off. You put salt and pepper. You put on onion. You stuff the turkey.

Heather Deem: Buy the turkey. Put salt on the turkey. Then you put on the thermometer. Then you time the turkey. Then you cook the turkey. Then you take the turkey out. You wait 'til it cooks. Then you bake the turkey brown. Put it on the porch to cool. Then your mom takes the thermometer out. You eat the turkey.

Anthony Trainum: Buy it from the store. Cook it for 10 minutes on 100 degrees. Put salt and pepper on the turkey. Stuff the turkey. Take it out of the oven. Eat the turkey.

Katie Warn: Buy the turkey or kill the turkey. Clean the turkey. Pick the insides out. Put the oven on 150 degrees. Stuff the turkey or leave the meat in it. Set the table. Put it on everybody's plate. Eat the yummy turkey.

Amy Elizzabeth Moon: Buy it at the store. Pay for it. Bring it home. Take it in your house. Un rap it. Put it in the oven. Cook it in the oven for 10 minutes at 100 degrees. Take it out. Have a nice time and eat it.

Nicky Bulka: Buy a turkey at the market. Get these ingredients: seasoning, onion rings to go around the turkey, salad, grease. Cook the turkey for 60 minutes on 100 degrees. Put the ingredients around the turkey. Grease the turkey for five minutes.

Tara Custer: First you have to cook the turkey. My grandma puts onion on it. My mom puts the oven on for 100 minutes. My dad puts grease on the turkey. The turkey tastes yummy. My mom puts stuffing.

Colleen Jones: Let the turkey sit to get warm. Put in thermometer. Put turkey in oven. Cook turkey for 60 minutes. Take turkey out of oven. Let turkey sit to cool. Put turkey on table. Then eat it.

Shelby DeVore: Ingredients: Crisco to put in pan. Heat oven for 10 to 16 minutes. Take off the skin. Put the turkey in the pan. Put the turkey in the oven. Bake turkey for 10 to 17 minutes. Take out of oven. Let it cool for 10 minutes. Have fun and eat it.

Brittany N. Cooper: Buy the turkey. Strip the turkey. Stuff the turkey. Put the turkey in the oven. Set the oven for 100 degrees. Bake the turkey for 25 minutes. Take the turkey out of the oven. Let it cool for 11 minutes. Eat the turkey.

Cody Kamp: Buy the turkey. Stuff the turkey. Cook the turkey for 100 hours. Put the grease on. Eat the turkey.

Derek Cutter: Buy the turkey. Unthaw the turkey. Put the thermometer in it. Cook the turkey. Stuff the turkey. Get the turkey out of the oven. Eat the turkey.

Casey Kamp: Buy it. Take the paper off. Put it into the oven. Put salt and pepper on it. Then eat it.

Jason Wilson: First you set the oven for 200 degrees. Then you stuff the turkey. Next you bake the turkey for 30 minutes.

Megan Elissa Garlitz: My mom stuffs the turkey. My mom puts it in the turkey oven. Mom lets the turkey in the oven for three minutes. I get the table ready. Then we eat the turkey. The end.

Ricky Mosser: Buy a turkey. Put it in the oven. Put the temperature at 100 degrees. Wen done take the turkey out. Then set the table and cat it. And that's all the ingredients.

Jolissa Lewis: You need to go to the store and get the turkey. Then you need to cook the turkey. Then you chek the turkey. After you chek the turkey, then you put dressing around the turkey. Then you need to make other things

Lacey Ann Garlitz: They bake the turkey in the oven. "The turkey is sweet," says my mom. They get the turkey in the bag. Cook it in the oven for 30 minutes.

First United, Myersville Bank Now Consolidated

Richard G. Stanton, chairman of the Board, president and chief executive officer of First United Corporation, has announced that the merger between First United National Bank & Trust and Myersville Bank has been completed. All Myersville Bank community offices will now operate under First United National Bank & Trust.

"For some time we have had customers inquire as to why they cannot make a deposit for Myersville Bank at a First United National Bank & Trust office," Stanton said. "Of course, our First United customers wished to have the same opportunities at Myersville Bank offices, especially in our Hagerstown market area. For this reason we researched our options and sought regulatory approval to merge the two banks."

He continued, "Now that both banks have merged, it will give our customers a choice of 22 community offices located throughout Frederick, Washington, Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland and Mineral, Hampshire and Hardy counties in West Virginia. Also, the company will gain greater efficiency by operating as a single institution."

Myersville Bank has been a part of Frederick County since 1898. The bank began in part of a store at 415 Main Street, Myersville (presently Kline's Woodworks), moving next door to 417 Main Street, and in 1902 settling in at 419 Main Street (now occupied by C. Basil Grossnickle Insurance). In July 1973, the bank expanded and built at the present location, 207-09 Main Street. The Bank expanded its network of offices into Smithsburg (1989) and in Hagerstown, Frederick Street, in 1993. In late 1993 the Bank was purchased by First United Corporation.

First United now operates six full-service community offices in Washington and Frederick counties: including Myersville, Riverside Center - North Frederick, Smithsburg, Hagerstown (Frederick Street), Martin's Dual Highway Food Store (Hagerstown) and Martin's Valley Park Food Store (Hagerstown).

First United Corporation headquartered in Oakland, is a one-bank holding company whose subsidiaries are First United National Bank & Trust and Oakfirst Life Insurance Corporation. As of September 30, 1995, the Corporation posted assets of $482.4 million.

Community Fire Protection Funds To Be Awarded

Volunteer fire departments from across the state of Maryland have submitted requests for funding this year through the U.S. Department of Agriculture - Forest Service, under the Rural Community Fire Protection Program.

In 1994, the Rural Community Fire Protection Program was funded on the national level with 3.4 million dollars, and Maryland received a total of $34,185. These funds were distributed to 35 volunteer fire departments. In the four western counties of the state, $18,830.50 was distributed to 18 fire companies.

In 1995 Maryland will receive only $14,500 under the program. All fire companies that applied for the funding will be notified by November 30 if their requests will be funded.

According to the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, the Rural Community Fire Protection Program is designed to assist volunteer fire companies in protecting human life, livestock, wildlife, crops, orchards, farms or other improvements, and other values in rural areas. The criteria for receiving funding is based on a point system. Some of the points are allocated according to the degree of protection in the company's locality, necessary equipment requirements, the amount of funding received previously, and need. Each spring, applications for this funding are sent to each volunteer fire company in the state.

Gosnell Twins Among Who's Who

STEPHENIE (SEATED) AND RACHAEL GOSNELL

Rachael and Stephenie Gosnell, twin daughters of Buz and Peggy Gosnell, Accident, have been named to Who's Who Among American High School Students for the 1994-95 academic school year. This is the second year that the girls have earned this award. Both have completed their freshman and sophomore years at Northern High School as distinguished honor students, and maintain 4.0 GPAs.

Rachael was chosen as the Outstanding Biology Student of the Year in 1994-95. In the Environmental Science Division, she won first place at the county science fair, first place at the regional science fair, first place as the Navy/Marine Corps Distinguished Achievement Award, was invited to compete for the Naval National Science Award, received the Certificate of American Ingenuity from the Edison Society, and won the Young Edison Award with a $500 scholarship presented by the Applied Energy Systems-Warrior Run at Frostburg State University. She has received the certificate of appreciation from the Maryland State Bar Association for the past two years.

Stephenie won first place in the county science fair, first place in the regional science fair, and the Army Achievement Award, all in the Biology Division, and received the Certificate of American Ingenuity at Frostburg State University. She also participated in the Maryland State Envirothon this past spring. Stephanie has received the certificate of appreciation from the Maryland State Bar Association for the past two years.

Rachael and Stephenie participate in cross country, track, the Mock Trial Team, Wildlife Club, Mock Trial Club, Model UN, and the Academic Team at NHS.

Both girls are active in community service. They have helped organize toy collections for flood victims and needy children at Christmas, as well as a video tape collection for the pediatric ward at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. They were also instrumental in the organization and collection of donations for local animal shelters, and have volunteered their time at the Garrett County Agricultural Fair for the last two years.

Both Stephenie and Rachael are planning to continue their education after graduation, and will pursue careers in law. They were two of 350 juniors and seniors nationwide who were invited to attend the National Forum on Law and the Constitution in Washington, D.C.

The sisters are the granddaughters of Terry McBride, Deep Creek Lake, and Lucile Browning Grant, Newbury Park, Calif., a former resident of Oakland.

Lonaconing Man Found Guilty In District Court Of Forgery Charge

A Lonaconing man was convicted in last week's Garrett County District Court proceedings of one count of forging private documents. Additional charges of uttering a false document, and bad check charge were not prosecuted by the state's attorney's office.

Clinton E. Meese, 29, was sentenced by Garrett County District Court Judge Ralph M. Burnett to serve two years in the Maryland Department of Corrections.

The charges against the defendant, filed after his May 2 arrest by Maryland State Police, stemmed from the theft of a check from his father's business in Salisbury, Pa. After Meese stole the check, he forged his father's name, and cashed it in the amount of $42.50 at the Wild Water Inn.

In other district court news, an Oakland man was sentenced in last week's district court proceedings, after being found guilty in October of two counts of battery.

Randy L. Lantz, 38, convicted of those offenses by Judge Burnett, was handed to six month sentences for the offenses. Each sentence was suspended except for 90 days (a total of 180 days for the combined offenses). Conditions of his probation state he must have no violent contact with children, and he must seek counseling with the health department as to disciplining children. Lantz will serve two years of supervised probation upon his release from incarceration. The defendant was charged with the offenses on Sept. 4, after he struck a 16-year-old female, on two separate occasions.

Two out-of-county men were sentenced to serve 48 hours in jail, after pleading guilty to one count each of possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS). Aaron C. Weiser, 20, College Park, and David E. Marsans, 21, Silver Spring, were also fined $150 each, and placed on six months of unsupervised probation. Charges of possession of CDS paraphernalia were not prosecuted by the state's attorney. Conditions of their probation state the men must also complete 20 hours each of community service.

The charges against the pair, who were two of several persons arrested, stemmed from a Jan. 11 incident when officers from the Maryland State Police Drug Enforcement Division executed a search and seizure warrant at their room at the Wisp Hotel. The officers located more than 15 grams of marijuana, along with several items of drug paraphernalia, including a film canister containing marijuana residue, and smoking papers in Weister's luggage and wallet, and 5.8 grams of marijuana and drug paraphernalia in Marsans' luggage.

During a sentence revision hearing for Joseph W. Martin, 22, Grantsville, the judge suspended the original sentence, except for time already served. Martin pleaded guilty in September of two counts of battery. He was sentenced at that time

Mettiki Wins Environmental Recognition

Mettiki Coal Corporation was recently recognized by the Interstate Mining Compact Commission (IMCC) for significant achievement in compliance, reclamation, drainage, and innovation in mining.

The IMCC is a multistate governmental organization representing 17 member states in which coal and other minerals are mined. The compact's purpose is to advance the protection and restoration of land, water, and other resources affected by mining.

Gregory Conrad, executive director of the IMCC, stated that Mettiki's nomination by Governor Parris Glendening "demonstrates the kind of quality and innovation that speaks loudly and clearly of the state's and the Mettiki mines' dedication to the maintenance of environmental protection through efficient mining and reclamation practices."

Garrett County's Official Arts Agency

The Garrett County Arts Council

Wishes to thank the community for supporting our primary annual fundraising activity

The 16th Annual Heritage Craft Festival

The purpose of the Garrett County Arts Council is "to aid, encourage, advance, and coordinate activities dedicated to the promotion of cultural arts in Garrett County and to integrate such activities into the life of the community."

During the past year, the Council allocated nearly $50,000 to local organizations and schools presenting arts programs to the local public.

We proudly supported the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, the American Indian Inter-Tribal Pow Wow, the Spruce Forest Summerfest and Quilt Show, Garrett Choral Society productions of Broadway Show Tunes and Handel's Messiah, the GCC Democracy in America Chautauqua, the Annual Old Time Music Festival, the Oakland Civic Club production of Enjoy Yesteryear, the McHenry Highland Festival, the Maryland state "Official" Banjo and Fiddle Championships, GCC's productions of The Stage Canteen and The Foreigner, Accident's Independence Day Exhibit of Art, presentations of the National Tap Ensemble and Classical Vietnamese Bamboo Xylophone, Imagimime in the public schools, and much more!

Community support makes our work possible!

This expression of appreciation is therefore extended during this Thanksgiving season to our membership for continuing support and to the community for supporting our annual Heritage Craft Festival. A special thanks is extended to Marcette Danner for coordinating the Festival and to the faculty and staff of Broad Ford Elementary and Southern Middle School for use of school facilities. Thanks to Karin Rodeheaver of Not Just Quilts for producing another stunning quilt for raffle, thanks to all who bought a raffle ticket; and congratulations to Debbie Scheermesser of Keyser, WV, for purchasing the winning ticket. Thanks to The Republican newspaper for publicity and to all 88 contributing craft vendors.

Last and foremost, congratulations and best wishes are extended to Esther Yoder, festival volunteer and recipient of the Garrett County Arts Council first annual Friend of the Arts Award for "exemplary support of Garrett County arts." The Council recognizes that this award cannot convey the full measure of regard and esteem accorded Mrs. Yoder for her remarkable support of our mission to promote the arts in western Maryland.

With warm wishes for a Happy Thanksgiving!

My Best Christmas Ever

My name is Joey and I am 7 years old and I live in Grantsville. I like it when its time for Santa Claus to come to my house. My best Christmas happened when I was just a little boy. Mommy, Daddy and me went to Pap and Mam-ma's to wait for Santa to come. In a little bit Santa came through the sky and made big shoes in the snow and looked in Mam-Ma's window. He looked like my Pap-Pap only Pap doesn't have a furry beard thats white and his belly isn't as big. I closed my eyes so Santa would not see me then he left toys under the tree. I got the biggest wagon in the whole place. It was red and had wood on the sides like Pap makes things with. I pulled it all around then I got sleepy. I took a nap in my wagon until it wasn't dark outside anymore. It was my bestest Christmas ever.

Thanksgiving Meal Still Good Buy, But Cost Up In 1995

Overall higher retail turkey prices will help increase the cost of this year's Thanksgiving dinner by nearly a dollar and a quarter but the traditional meal remains a good buy, according to the American Farm Bureau Federation.

In its annual nationwide Thanksgiving survey of retail food prices, Farm Bureau found that the average cost of this year's holiday meal for 10, including turkey, cranberries, pumpkin pie and all the trimmings, will be $29.64 That cost is $1.24 more than last year's $28.40, yet overall the meal remains a comparative bargain according to AFBF President Dean Kleckner.

"Thanksgiving is a time to reflect on the bounty made possible by America's farmers," Kleckner said. "From the farm gate through the processing and distribution pipeline, America's food production system is truly a miracle for which we all should be more thankful.

Accounting for more than half of the $1.24 price increase over last year's meal were higher retail turkey prices. The 16-pound turkey cost survey shoppers an average of $ 12.68 --79 cents per pound-- an increase of 67 cents per bird compared to last year. The highest turkey price paid this year was $1.19 a pound by shoppers in Indiana and Ohio, while the lowest price was 38 cents a pound also paid by an Ohio shopper.

While turkey production is up 200 million pounds in 1995, wholesale turkey prices also are up, due to increased demand and exports that have increased 17 percent from last year. Other reports indicate that part of the turkey price increase is due to losses in flocks during hot weather this summer, especially in North Carolina--the nation's leading turkey-producing state.

At $2.96 per person this year, the meal prepared from the AFBF shopping list includes turkey, stuffing, sweet potatoes, peas, rolls with butter, cranberries, a relish dish, pumpkin pie with whipped cream, coffee and milk

Most other items also had slightly higher prices this year, including a 12-ounce package of brown-and-serve rolls, $1.24, up 15 cents; a 14-ounce package of cubed stuffing, $2.39, up 13 cents; three pounds of sweet potatoes, $1.73, up 11 cents; a 12-ounce package of fresh cranberries, $1.95, up nine cents; one combined pound of carrots and celery, 61 cents, up three cents; a 12-ounce package of frozen peas, $ 1.04, up three cents; a one-half pint carton of whipping cream, 74 cents, up three cents; and a package of two, nine-inch frozen pie shells, $1.29, up two cents.

The only price drop was a gallon of whole milk, which was $2.29 this year, down one cent from last year. A 30-ounce can of pumpkin pie mix remained unchanged at $1.36, as did a category of miscellaneous ingredients (coffee, onions, eggs, sugar, flour, evaporated milk, and butter), which cost $2.32.

At $29.64, this year's meal cost is the highest since AFBF started compiling its Thanksgiving survey with the present menu in 1986. The previous high was in 1990 ($28.85). Prices of past surveys include 1994, $28.40; 1993, $27.49; 1992, $26.39; 1991, $25.95; 1990, $28.85; 1989, $24.70; 1988, $26.61; 1987, $24.51; and 1986, $28.74.

Wise shoppers in all areas of the country should be able to meet or beat the cost of Farm Bureau's survey meal, In some cases, supermarkets are offering ready-to-eat, fully prepared, family Thanksgiving meals for less than $40.

The survey was conducted by 78 volunteer shoppers in 29 states. The menu has remained constant since 1986 to allow for valid price comparisons.

Farming In Maryland.....

State Nutrient Management Program On Track

Maryland Department of Agriculture (MDA) Secretary Lewis R. Riley today announced that Maryland is on track with its Tributary Strategy goal of implementing nutrient management plans on 1.2 million acres of its cropland by the year 2000. As of June 1995, 735,000 acres were being protected under state-approved plans designed to curb nutrient runoff from farm fields. The effort is a key tool in Maryland's bid to reduce nutrients entering the Chesapeake Bay 40 percent by the year 2000.

"Our Nutrient Management Program continued to receive tremendous support from private industry in 1995. During the fiscal year ending in June, nutrient management plans covering 133,700 acres of Maryland cropland were developed by industry consultants enrolled in our certification and licensing program," Riley said.

In addition, nutrient management plans for another 90,000 acres of cropland were developed by a team of specially trained Cooperative Extension Service consultants.

Established in 1989, Maryland's Nutrient Management Program helps farmers manage nutrients from animal wastes, commercial fertilizers, and urban sludge. Its aim is to make certain that crops are getting the right amount of nutrients at the right time in the growing season to prevent excess nutrients from polluting groundwater and streams. Using soil tests, manure analyses, and sophisticated computer technology, consultants provide farmers with a "prescription" approach to fertilizer use. This helps ensure that nutrients applied are used by crops and not lost to the environment.

In 1993, MDA received legislative authorization to certify qualified members of the private sector to join a core team of 21 specially trained Cooperative Extension Service consultants as nutrient management providers. To date, more than 300 consultants have been certified under the privatization effort.

Cooperation and participation between government agencies and private consultants are key elements in the program's success. In 1995, this teamwork approach to managing agricultural nutrients resulted in a marked improvement in the quality of nutrient management plans and recommendations being made to Maryland farmers.

Through its Nutrient Management Certification and Licensing Program, MDA offers certification examinations twice annually for qualified individuals along with periodic training seminars.

Corn Harvest Nearly Completed

For the week ending November 19, field corn harvest was nearly completed ahead of schedule. Soybean harvest continued at a below average pace. Many areas are experiencing problems with soybean harvest due to wet field conditions. Some areas in Western Maryland are experiencing difficulties due to snowfall. Small grain seedings continued. Wheat and rye seedings were running at a slightly above average pace. Barley and wheat conditions ranged from very poor to excellent with the majority of both in good condition. Rye condition ranged from poor to excellent with the majority of the crop in good condition. Pastures were one percent very poor, three percent poor, 23 percent fair, 63 percent good, and 10 percent excellent. Fifth cuttings of alfalfa hay continue at a slightly below average pace. Hay supplies were mostly adequate.

Topsoil moisture was 62 percent adequate and 38 percent surplus. Subsoil moisture was seven percent short, 75 percent adequate, and 18 percent surplus. Conditions allowed for an average of 2.5 days suitable for fieldwork.

Maryland's progress for the week ending November 19 was as follows, listing the item, this week's percentage, last week's percentage, last year's percentage, and a percentage for the 5-year average.

Crop progress: Corn Grain, harvested, 98, 96, 91, 91. Soybeans, harvested, 76, 67, 85, 80.

Planting progress: Rye, 95, 81, 95, 94. Wheat, 94, 85, 93, 92.

Negotiators Reach Agreement On Farm Bill

Republican House and Senate farm bill negotiators have reached an agreement on the future of major agriculture programs, with the exception of dairy. The plan will largely remove the government from farming over seven years.

The agreement, hammered out as part of the budget reconciliation conference report, leans toward House Agriculture Chairman Pat Roberts' (R-Kan.) Freedom to Farm Act, but with "safety net" provisions in place should prices drop sharply.

The agreement alters programs so that farmers would have greater leeway in deciding what they want to grow. Farmers would have more freedom to react to market demands by planting whatever program crop they choose.

"You would be able to plant for the market rather than have your planting decisions affected by government farm payments," said Mary Kay Thatcher, an American Farm Bureau Federation senior governmental relations director. Additionally, farmers would no longer be required to purchase catastrophic crop insurance in order to qualify for farm program benefits.

Eligible producers who participated in the programs in any one of the past five years could enter into seven-year "production flexibility contracts" between 1996 and 2002. The agreement reduces payments for wheat, feed grain as, cotton, and rice over seven years. Farm subsidies would no longer be tied to market fluctuations, but capped at set levels.

These "market transition payments" would guarantee farmers close to $36 billion from 1996 to 2002 with annual payments starting at $5.5 billion in 1996, peaking at $5.8 billion in 1998 and dropping to $4 billion in 2002. Additionally, the current tie between growing a crop and getting payments would be cut. However, the government would still provide an 85 percent marketing loan if market prices fell too far.

The marketing loan would be in place for soybeans, wheat, feed grains, cotton, and rice. Thatcher said that will provide a safety net for farmers worried about dramatic price drops.

The Republican negotiators also reached agreements on the peanut and sugar programs, which, along with dairy, were major stumbling blocks.

"I think peanuts and sugar have come out probably better than opponents might have anticipated when the year started," Thatcher said. Under the agreement, peanut support payments would be cut by 10 percent, while sugar growers would be guaranteed seventeen cents a pound instead of the current 18 cents.

The future of the dairy program has yet to be resolved, but House Speaker Newt Gingrich (R-Ga.) noted that reform of the federal milk marketing orders and the dairy price support program will be high on Congress' agenda following the Thanksgiving recess.

Other provisions in the tentative agreement include changes to the conservation reserve program, the export enhancement program and the market promotion program. CRP reauthorization will be handled later, but GOP negotiators have tentatively agreed to reduce CRP payments in half by 2002.

EEP funding would decrease to $350 million in the first two years, then gradually increase to $579 million by 2000, falling to $478 million by 2002. All of these amounts are well below the maximum GATT-legal levels. The MPP, meanwhile, would be cut by $10 million a year.

As with most negotiated agreements, this is a mixed bag of things farmers like and dislike. But Thatcher says studies show most farmers would do better under this agreement in the long term than with a continuation of current programs with 30 percent unpaid flex acres.

"There won't be any target prices, but they will be gaining additional flexibility and won't make as many trips to the local CFSA office," Thatcher said. "And, the market will be determining what they grow and not the government."

This is not the end of farm bill budget negotiations, however. President Clinton has vowed to veto the reconciliation bill, and last week promised farm-state Democrats he would stick to his proposed $4.2 billion in farm spending cuts.

CHOOSING A CHRISTMAS TREE

A growing group of environmentally-conscious consumers continues to keep the sale of real Christmas trees strong. According to the National Christmas Tree Association, consumers are showing a preference for real, natural, products. Quality trees at various prices are attracting young families to the tradition of celebrating Christmas with a real tree in their home.

Artificial trees can be used year after year, but they are made of non-biodegradable plastic and metal. A real tree, in contrast, is a recyclable renewable resource that appeals to those concerned about the environment.

Young trees grow faster and release more oxygen than older established forest trees, the growers note. Therefore, younger trees will put more back into the environment.

When trees are harvested, they provide a fresh, fragrant symbol for the holiday season. Recycled, they provide wonderful mulch and soil enrichment for gardens.

An estimated 36 million families will use real Christmas trees in their homes this year, the association reports.

Real Christmas trees are grown for the purpose of cutting. And, the growers assert, millions of these trees are grown on soil that is not suitable for other crops.

Selecting the Christmas tree is a fun holiday tradition in many families. Since many trees are cut in early fall to meet the Christmas demand, your primary concerns should be to buy a fresh tree and keep it fresh. Here are some pointers from the West Virginia University Extension Service:

Before you shop for a tree, decide where you want to display it. Will it be in a corner or by a window? How high are the ceilings in that room? Keep the locations in mind when you're looking over the trees. You might be able to buy a less expensive, poorly formed tree, for example, if it's to be in a corner where only part of the tree will be visible.

Shop early. If you wait, you're likely to find only poorly formed, broken or dry trees.

Choose a tree that will hold its needles well. Douglas fir and balsam fir are excellent choices. So are Scotch, red, and white pines.

Different tree species have different characteristics. Balsam fir is the lease dense; its large, open spaces provide lots of room for ornaments. Douglas fir and spruces are a bit denser. And pines, especially Scotch pine, are the bushiest.

Spruces dry and lose needles the quickest, the firs more slowly. Pines keep their needles the longest.

Scotch pines are among the least expensive trees. Another consideration is sharpness of the needles. If small children will be playing around the tree, you'll want to avoid the sharp-needle spruces.

When you find a tree you like, hold it by the trunk and bounce it on the ground. If needles fall, it is not fresh. Gently pull the needles at the end of a branch. Bend them. The needles of a fresh tree will be firmly attached and pliable. Rub your fingers across the stump; a really fresh tree will be sticky with resin. The tree also should be clean and free of moss, vines or foreign material. Freshly-cut trees grown by local, experienced growers usually will give more satisfaction than trees shipped long distances.

Recycle that real tree. Your real Christmas tree has uses after the holiday season, too.

Place it in the garden or backyard for use as a bird feeder; orange slices, bread, and suet will attract the birds and brighten up the winter landscape.

Keep in mind that your tree is biodegradable. You can remove its branches and trunk and use them as mulch in your garden. Branch tips and needles also provide aromatic stuffing for sachets.

Farm Bureau Plans Annual State Convention

The 80th Maryland Farm Bureau Annual Meeting will be held December 3-6 at the Sheraton Fontainebleau Hotel in Ocean City.

National affairs issues will take center stage. With issues such as the 1995 Farm Bill, Endangered Species and new members of Congress dominating the national political landscape, informational sessions dealing with these subjects will be offered.

In addition to the informational sessions, the MFB Delegate Session Business Meeting, the Farm Bureau Women's Business Meeting and the election of officers will highlight the business sessions during the three-day meeting.

Registration opens at 6 p.m. on Sunday with a vesper service following at 7:30 p.m. A desert reception, compliments of Nationwide Insurance, will follow.

The Farm Bureau Women's Business Meeting opens the first full day on Monday. Cora Widdowson, chairman of the Farm Bureau Women, will call the meeting to order at 9:30 a.m. Linda Reinhardt, chair of the American Farm Bureau Federation's Women's Committee, will address the meeting.

A panel discussion on the Endangered Species Act will convene at 10:15 a.m. The impacts the ESA has on agriculture in Maryland and across the United States will be discussed among a panel of six.

John Wolflin of the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service, Catherine Pieper Stevenson, director of Fish Heritage and Wildlife with the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, George Edwards, a member of the Maryland House of Delegates and Gail Owings, Kent County Office of Planning, are among the panelists.

The afternoon session begins with a synopsis on "Washington and Congress: Where Are We And What Does It Mean."

Dr. Arnold Abrams, a respected motivational speaker who has helped develop Maryland Farm Bureau leaders in the past, will conduct a session on "How Can I Effectively Respond To Washington And Not Feel Trapped In The Land Of Oz?" Dr. Abrams uses humor and a personal approach to challenge and motivate his audience.

The Maryland Farm Bureau Dairy Committee Conference and Service-To-Member Chairmen's Salemark Conference will round out the afternoon with 4:30 sessions.

For entertainment on Monday, the six-piece show band, "The Roadsters," will take us on a trip back to the 1950s and 60s with tributes to Buddy Holly, Elvis, The Tops, Dion and others.

Delegates to the annual meeting get down to serious business on Tuesday morning, with the Delegate Session Business Meeting convening at 8:30 a.m. Maryland Farm Bureau President C. William Knill will preside.

Bill Lee, vice president of Business Accounts with Nationwide Insurance, will address the meeting.

Following a group luncheon at noon, the business meeting will reconvene at 1:15 p.m. Lewis R. Riley, Maryland Secretary of Agriculture, will address this session.

A reception and the awards banquet will highlight the evening festivities.

Wednesday morning promises a full slate, with the Delegate session wrapping up businesses. The election of officers will cap the convention.

HOME ECONOMICS
Guide to Better Living

TEN TIPS TO HELP CUT HOLIDAY EXPENSES

Because of the recent furlough of Federal Government Employees, and layoff of other businesses, many Maryland residents will be celebrating a financially leaner holiday season this year. People living on a reduced income will have less disposable income to spend on gifts and entertaining.

Fortunately, a scaled back Christmas or Hanukkah can still be special. Some suggested tips to avoid spending beyond your means this holiday season are:

*Determine how much money you can realistically afford to spend on holiday gifts, entertainment, etc. Include such 'hidden" expenses as travel, long distance phone calls, decorations, wrapping paper and ribbons, cards and postage. Estimate what you can spend for each category and record your actual expenses afterward to help in next years planning.

*Comparison shop and take advantage of sales. This involves planning ahead and taking time to check several places for the gift you want. It's especially important with toys because the prices sometimes vary considerably from store to store.

*Check out yard sales, flea markets and holiday fairs; they can be sources of unexpected, inexpensive treasurers, such as classic books, vintage jewelry and quality handmade items.

*Give gifts of service. Coupons that the recipient can return to the giver in exchange for a service, such as babysitting, house painting, yard work or dinner preparation (and clean-up) are appreciated by friends and relatives, especially those with hectic schedules.

*Make cards, gifts and decorations. Homemade bread or cookies; a hand-knit sweater, or a child's finger painting represents a labor of love and are valued accordingly. Decorations made with colored paper and glitter, chains hung with popcorn or cranberries, and vases filled with holly and other evergreens from your yard add a sense of personalized beauty to any home.

*Choose lightweight for mailing. It's just as easy to find a nice gift that weighs several ounces as one that weighs several pounds, and a lighter gift costs less to send.

*Mail cards only to friends and family you won't see during the holiday season. You can hand deliver cards to neighbors and co-workers, or simply extend verbal holiday greetings in person.

*Reuse bows and wrapping paper when possible. Wrapping paper can often be used twice, and bows can brighten packages year after year. This form of recycling also makes good environmental sense, limiting the amount of waste destined for landfills.

*Host a potluck holiday party. Most people attend parties to enjoy the company of friends -- not to get a free meal. Chances are, they won't mind contributing something to eat or drink.

*Pay cash. Charging leads to overspending. Then when the bills for gifts, party food and decorations arrive in January, many people find they can't pay them off.

Plan ahead and involve family members in planning for the holiday. There is generally a better selection of gifts, also size and colors when you shop early. You can save time and money, and the stress of the "last minute shopper."

The Cooperative Extension Service's programs are open to all citizens without regard to race, color, sex, disability, religion, age or national origin.

HOLIDAY MEALS PREPARATION QUESTIONS

It's that time of the year again. Time for baking and getting ready for company and gift giving as well. For first-time bakers, as well as the seasoned bakers, sometimes we have questions relating to the meals we are baking and sometimes the cookies didn't turn out like the picture showed.

Here are phone numbers that may be helpful to you should you need some assistance.

*Butterball Turkey Talkline is in operation Monday through Friday from October 28-December 3, from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. CST. 1-800-323-4848.

*Reynolds Turkey Information Line will run from November 1-Dec. 27, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. 1-800-745-4000.

*USDA's Meat and Poultry Hotline is always in operation Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. EST. 1-800-745-4555.

Two Christmas Tree Sellers To Support Hospice

Green Acres Garden Center and Forman's Tree Farm, both located in Oakland, will donate a portion of their proceeds from this year's Christmas tree sales to Garrett County Hospice, Inc.

"Dave Taylor [of Green Acres] and John Forman [of Forman's Tree Farm] have supported Hospice in many different ways over the past years and decided this would be an excellent expression of thanks to Hospice for the services the organization has provided to the terminally ill and their families in Garrett county for 13 years," a Hospice spokesperson stated.

"Hospice is encouraging residents to shop at home this year and support local businesses that support Hospice," commented Taylor. "We at Green Acres are looking forward to helping Hospice by sharing our Christmas tree proceeds with their program."

Forman added, "I am fully aware of the Hospice concept and the compassionate care they give to their patients."

Both Forman's and Green Acres offer fresh-cut evergreens ranging in height from six to 10 feet. Available species include Fraser Fir, Blue Spruce, and White Pine.

Allegany Rehab Restructures, Promotes Trio

As part of a corporate wide restructuring, Allegany Rehabilitation Associates and sister company Allegany Hearing and Speech Associates have announced the promotion of Edith Robb, Tim Dully, and Dave Saba to vice president.

Allegany Rehab and Allegany Hearing and Speech are companies that provide physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, and audiology for dozens of nursing homes and several hospitals and out-patient clinics in the tri-state area.

EDITH ROBB

TIM DUFFY

DAVE SABA

"With the changes in the health care industry occurring so rapidly, coupled with the tremendous growth that we are experiencing, we felt that ARA/AHSA needed to change in order to prepare us for the next century," stated CEO/Managing Partner Carol Clulee.

Robb, a certified speech-language pathologist, has been with ARA/AHSA since 1989. She has served as department coordinator of the speech pathology department and coordinator of quality improvement, and since 1994 she has held the office of central regional director.

In her new capacity as vice president of clinical affairs, Robb will be responsible for the quality of care in all therapy services and will oversee the departments of physical therapy, speech therapy, occupational therapy, and audiology. She will also continue to coordinate the company's continuing education program.

Robb received a B.S degree in hearing and speech sciences from the University of Maryland, College Park, in 1974 and an M.S. degree in speech pathology from Towson State University in 1977. She is a board member on the Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, a member of the Allegany County Home Health Advisory Group, and a member of the American Speech-Language and Hearing Association. Her husband, John Robb, is a local attorney and she is the mother of two children.

After spending five years with RehabWorks as manager of financial reporting, Tim Duffy joined the ARA staff as controller in 1994. He is currently the vice president of finance, a role in which he directs the financial affairs of the organization and prepares financial analyses of operations. Duffy is responsible for the company's financial plans and policies, its accounting practices, and its relationships with lending institutions and the financial community as well as the maintenance of fiscal records and the preparation of financial reports.

Duffy served six years with the U.S. Air Force Reserves and is a member of the Health Care Financial Management Association and the Economic Development Committee of the Allegany County Chamber of Commerce. Duffy received his education at the University of Massachusetts and will soon enter the M.B.A. program at Frostburg State University.

Dave Saba joined Allegany Rehab as director of the Western Region in July. In that capacity, he oversaw the organization's activities in Allegany, Garrett, and Mineral counties. As vice president of operations, Saba will be responsible for ~~analyzing~~ performance and staffing trends, directing customer service and delivery, and trouble-shooting operational issues in each of ARA's three regions.

Saba came to ARA after serving two years as manufacturing engineering/operations manager with Bausch & Lomb, Inc., Oakland. Before that he worked for three years with Michelin Tire Corporation as a department manager and quality engineer.

Saba is a 1983 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy and served seven years as a Navy pilot and flight/tactics instructor. He received an M.S. degree in engineering management from the University of South Florida and is a certified quality engineer. He is a member of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Board of Governors and currently serves that group as CEO search committee chairman and bylaws committee chairman. He is also a member of the St. Matthew's Episcopal Church Vestry, Oakland, and coaches youth soccer in Garrett County. Saba is married and has two children.

"The development of this team enables us to be positioned to quickly identify and react to new opportunities in the rehab industry," stated CEO/Partner Bill Freas.

Allegany Rehab offices are located in Oakland, Cumberland, Hancock, and Frederick as well as in Somerset, Pa., and Keyser, W.Va.

Spirk Receives Promotion With Bausch & Lomb

Bausch & Lomb, Inc., based in Rochester, N.Y., has announced the promotion of David L. Spirk, Deep Creek Lake, to the position of corporate manger of training and development. In this capacity, Spirk will be responsible for the training and education of more than 14,000 employees worldwide.

Spirk moved to Oakland in 1991 when he joined Bausch & Lomb as the manger of Employee Involvement and Organizational Development. He was promoted to the position of human resources manager in 1992. During his time in Garrett County, he has served as the choir director of Pleasantview Baptist Church, a member of the Western Maryland Private Industry Council, and a member of the Garret County Memorial Hospital Foundation's Special Prospects fund-raising team. He served as secretary and key liaison between the Mountaintop Soccer Association and the Garrett County Board of Education when soccer was added to the list of varsity sports at both Southern and Northern high schools.

Spirk has also served as a volunteer assistant soccer coach for the Southern Rams and has been a strong proponent of adding certification of coaches and referees for the youth soccer program.

His wife, Karen, has also been actively involved in the community. She has worked in a nursing home ministry, held a variety of offices in the Christian Women's Club, and was chief coordinator of the North American Soccer Camps held for the past two years in Garrett County.

The Spirks have four children: Kara Burns, Little Rock, Ark.; Krista Young, San Diego, Calif.; David, Jr., who is attending Hendrix College in Arkansas; and Derek, who is attending Frostburg State University. They will finalize their relocation to Rochester after the first of the year.

State Troopers Prepare For Holiday Season

Maryland State Police Superintendent Colonel David B. Mitchell has ordered all state troopers to make traffic safety their number one priority during special holiday patrols for this Thanksgiving weekend.

As of noon on Wednesday, additional troopers took to the highways as part of Operation CARE (the Combined Accident Reduction Effort), and will continue to assist with the many travelers who will be taking to the roads during the holiday.

"This is the time of year when we experience the largest volume of traffic upon our roadways," Colonel Mitchell said. "We want every motorist to feel safe while traveling through Maryland, and we will do everything possible to ensure their safety."

Troopers will be using a variety of enforcement techniques that include RADAR, VASCAR, and LASER speed enforcement, sobriety checkpoints, and DWI (driving while intoxicated) saturation patrols. Troopers will also be readily available to provide those motorists who become disabled with the assistance they need to get on their way safely, Mitchell added.

State police encourage travelers to play a part in Operation CARE by not combining drinking and driving, and reporting those who do to the police. Cellular phone users can assist by reporting roadway hazards to their local police immediately, or if traveling on Maryland interstate by dialing #77.

The 1994 Thanksgiving holiday was marred by seven fatal accidents on Maryland roads, Mitchell noted, three of which involved alcohol.

NEW GLAF DIRECTORS MEET - The newly elected board of directors for the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) met recently for a day-long "retreat," initiating plans for the coming year. Several new members joined the board at the annual meeting held in October, at which a review of the past season was given as was an overview of next year's schedule of events. New officers were then elected by the board members. The non-profit volunteer group is a fund-raising entity that schedules and presents a variety of arts programs in the county from spring to fall. Of the issues discussed at the retreat, members learned that plans for an arts "showcase" building have been scrapped. The multi-purpose building was to have housed a stage and an art gallery, and to have had room for convention activities. It was to have been built at Deep Creek Lake near the Arrowhead Plaza. The plans for the building were dropped because of budget constraints, among other problems. GLAF will, however, be a part of the scheduling of performances and activities at the stage being built at Deep Creek Lake State Park, according to Fred Stemple, executive director for the organization. The new directors also discussed new fund-raising ideas and agreed to all be a part of one of the several GLAF committees. "This will be a working board," reported Helen Earles, administrative assistant. Pictured seated left to right are Jane Fox, Charity Janssen (Garrett County Arts Council representative), Marcene Huebner, Dan Muss, Gerald Polansky (vice chairperson), and Earles. Standing in the same order are Howard Bell, Sandy Flanigan (chairperson), Crede Calhoun, Nancy Learey, Mark Stutzman, Ruth Beltzel, Martin Heise, Ruth DiPaolo, Charles McIntire, and Stemple. Not present for the photo was John Porcaro, treasurer.

Workers Comp. Rates Decreased By IWIF for '96

The Injured Workers' insurance Fund (IWIF) has announced a 10.1% reduction in the cost of workers' compensation insurance for Maryland employers. IWIF President and CEO Paul M. Rose cited lower on-the-job injuries and internal cost savings as the principal reasons for the rate reduction, scheduled to take effect on January 1, 1996.

The 10.1% reduction is the average reduction for all employers insured by IWIF, with greater reductions expected for some employers, Rose said. Employers across Maryland will begin receiving notices regarding the reductions in their premium rates this week. IWIF currently insures 31,000 Maryland employers representing 479 classes of employees; premium rates for 26% of these classes (123) will fall by at least 15%, while rates for 7% (33 classes) will rise by as much as 12%.

The Injured Workers' Insurance Fund sells workers' compensation insurance to any employer in the state of Maryland, including those who are unable to or choose not to obtain insurance from private companies. All Maryland employers are required by law to carry insurance to cover the costs of on-the-job injuries and rehabilitation.

Approved by the IWIF Board of Directors for calendar year 1996, the rate reduction comes after an analysis by the actuarial firm of Deloitte and Touche showed the Funds' loss costs have decreased. This is attributable to fewer accidents and claims being filed and to the greater use of a "Total Quality Care" (TQC) program for employers and their injured employees. The TQC initiative, in particular, is responsible for holding down medical and indemnity costs while, at the same time, ensuring that injured workers received top notch medical care. An ongoing aggressive anti-fraud campaign also has netted the Fund considerable savings by cracking down on and refusing to pay fraudulent claims, Rose said.

Also contributing to the decision to reduce premium rates, Rose said, is lower operating costs for IWIF. Internal cost containment exercises and staff restructuring have reduced operating costs to further strengthen the organization's financial health. A continuous improvement program has shifted some staff into customer service roles, leading to staff savings and improved claims processing times, he said.

"This rate reduction will further strengthen our competitive position and give insurance brokers and agents an even more attractively priced product to sell to employers seeking workers' comp coverage," Rose said. The reduction comes on the heels of a similar rate reduction by several private insurance carriers in Maryland, though IWIF remains overall the lowest cost insurer for Maryland businesses. IWIF currently insures approximately 25% of all businesses in Maryland. "Existing IWIF customers are benefitting from both lower costs and better customer service and our product is now even more attractive to other businesses," Rose added.

The Injured Workers Insurance Fund has operated in Maryland since 1914. It was established to benefit Maryland employers, and currently has assets and reserves of approximately $800 million. The Fund is fully self-supporting, operating solely with investment and premium incomes and insures over 31,000 Maryland businesses.

May Prevent Wrinkles

For a number of years products including Retin A (tretinoin) have been used to reverse skin damage caused by aging and exposure of the skin to the sun. Such products reportedly worked by speeding up the natural turnover of new skin cells.

The newest products being promoted to prevent wrinkles contain the antioxidant vitamins (vitamins A,E, and C). Literature distributed with these products indicates that they may be better than Retin A because they prevent damage to the skin in the first place. Antioxidant vitamins may sound familiar because they have been found to protect against cancer and heart disease when taken orally.

According to a recent article in the journal Health, a few studies show antioxidants, notabley vitamin E, may work as a mild sunscreen, blocking ultraviolet rays of the sun. According to the article, some skin specialists believe the real advantage of topically applied antioxidants occurs because of what they do below the skin's surface. One study reported that vitamins E and C, when applied to the skin of test animals, reduced inflammation by almost one-half compared to nontreated animals. Such vitamins are capable of penetrating deep into skin. Scientists and health experts are calling for more research to explain the topical effect of these substances.

Found Guilty

to 120 days in jail.

One count of assault, filed against Brian E. Siegert, 27, Fort Howard, was placed on the stet docket at the request of the complainant, Renee E. Gahan, who filed the charge after an altercation began when the two were arguing about the use of a car phone.

Jason P. Kelley, 21, Oakland, was not prosecuted on one count of battery, because the victim declined to testify. The charge was filed on Sept. 6, after Kelley was involved in an argument with Reynolds J. Picou, Bayard, W.Va., that eventually led to a fight.

In a related case, Picou, 30, was also not prosecuted on one count of battery, because the victim, Kelley, also declined to testify.

One count of keeping/harboring a nuisance dog, filed against Deborah A. Thayer, 38, Oakland, was placed on the stet docket. The charge was filed on Sept. 2 by Joseph L. Friend, Oakland, who claimed Thayer reportedly was unable to keep her dog under control.

A Pittsburgh woman pleaded guilty to one count of CDS possession. She was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $150, and placed on one year of unsupervised probation. Conditions of her probation state she must also complete 40 hours of community service. An additional charge of possession of CDS paraphernalia was not prosecuted by the state's attorney.

Sandra D. Holzer, 36, charged with those offenses on May 27, after park rangers and sheriff's deputies who were conducting a drug check point at Swallow Falls State Park, observed her attempt to turn her car around, and exit the park. A subsequent search of Holzer's vehicle revealed a multi-colored pipe wrapped in tissue paper, and a 35mm film canister containing marijuana.

In related cases, two co-defendants, Terri L. Benson, 38, Pittsburgh, and Cheryl L. Smith, 44, New Cumberland, Pa., were each not prosecuted on CDS charges, because of Holzer's plea of guilt.

DNR CASES

Several people were present in last week's district court proceedings, or paid district court fines, in cases relating to Department of Natural Resources (DNR) investigated incidents.

A Frostburg man pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty of one count of failure to obey the navigational rules on Deep Creek Lake. Brian R. Fike, 29, paid a $75 fine, plus $20 in court costs for the guilty verdict. A separate charge of operating a vessel in a negligent manner brought a not guilty verdict by Judge Burnett. Fike was charged with the offenses on July 15, by Natural Resources Police Officer (NRP) D.B. Robinson.

Christopher R. Meyers, 20, Friendsville, pleaded guilty to two counts of possession of firearm-killed deer in closed season. He paid a total of $200 for the combined offenses, and was placed on six months of supervised probation. Additionally, he was ordered to complete 50 hours of community service. Meyers was charged with the offenses on Sept. 22, by NRP Officer Walter K. May.

Nine out-of-county men paid fines of $70 each in last week's district court after being found guilty of target shooting in a non-designated area. Ranger 1st Class J.H. Frank cited the following men for target shooting on Sept. 30 at Savage River State Park, in the Poplar Lick area, near the power line: Carlton P. Dentinger, 45, Joseph M. Miller Jr., 51, Douglas W. Nevitt, 45, and Larry D. McKay, 50, all of Greenbelt; Bernard L. Jones, 45, Riverdale; Robert D. Dietz, 43, Brandywine; Gerard C. Kanopka, 46, and Robert J. Bello, 47, both of Bowie; and Greg P. Messer, 42, W. Lanham Hills.

Six Oakland area teenagers paid fines for possession of intoxicating beverages while under 21 years of age, and for littering in a state forest. Each paid a total of $130 in fines and court costs for the offenses. Those fined include Vanessa L. Madigan, 18, Deer Park; and Nathan D. Mersing, 18, Paul S. Berkeridge, Michael P. Glotfelty, 18, and Garry E. Holland Jr., 18, all of Oakland. Each member of the group was cited by DNR Officer G. Zimmerman. They were reportedly at a campsite on Oct. 8, on Snaggy Mountain.

Steven R. Eyler, 20, Oakland, was fined $120 for driving in a non-designated area. He was fined on Oct. 26, after he was reportedly hunting without a permit in a handicapped hunting area on Piney Mountain.

DWI CASES

Several DWI (driving while intoxicated) and DUI (driving under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) cases were heard in recent district court proceedings.

Michael Allen DeWitt, 20, Oakland, pleaded guilty to one count of DUI. He was fined $150, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, and placed on one year of supervised probation. He was also ordered to complete 40 hours of community service as part of his probation, and a one-year alcohol restriction was placed on his driver's license. DeWitt was charged with DWI on July 29, by Maryland State Police.

Tamela Renay Tevalt, 30, Martinsburg, W.Va., was convicted of one count of DUI. She, too, paid a $150 fine, was sentenced to 30 days in jail (suspended), and placed on one year of supervised probation. She was ordered to complete 20 hours of community service, and a one-year alcohol restriction was placed on her driver's license. Her arrest for DWI by state police occurred on Nov. 30, 1994.

Rex Alan Guthrie, 35, Kitzmiller, was found guilty of violation of probation, stemming from his state police arrest on Dec. 13, 1993. The judge reimposed a 96-hour jail term, and continued Guthrie's probation.

John Franklin Hamrick, 51, Morgantown, W.Va., was granted probation before judgment on a guilty verdict for DUI. He was fined $350, and placed on one year of supervised probation. A one-year alcohol restriction was also placed on his driver's license. Hamrick was arrested for DWI on July 3, by state police.

Peggy Ely White, 48, Md., pleaded guilty to DUI. She was fined $150, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, and placed on one year of supervised probation for the offense. Se was also ordered to complete 30 hours of community service, and a one-year alcohol restriction was placed on her driver's license. White's arrest for DWI was on May 28, by sheriff's deputies.

Everett Boyd Weimer Jr., 34, Md., was found guilty of violation of probation, stemming from his March 24, 1993 DWI arrest by state police. The judge revoked Weimer's probation, and reimposed a one-year jail term.

CLARIFICATION

In last week's district court report, a case involving Joseph L. and Terri A. Hutzell, Friendsville, who were not prosecuted on one count each of felony theft, it stated that the events were cited according to "district court records." As in any case, the description of events taken from the district court records is from the "charging statement," which gives only one side of the story.

Sarbanes Names New Western Md. Representative

U.S. Senator Paul Sarbanes announced this week that Timothy Magrath has been named his new Western Maryland representative. Magrath will begin work at the senator's Cumberland office on Dec. 4.

"I'm delighted that Timothy Magrath is joining my staff," Sarbanes commented. "He brings a solid background in legislative affairs, a commitment to Western Maryland, and a realistic understanding of what is required to make government work in the 1990s. But most important, he knows how to listen to people, so he can understand what is important to them and communicate that back to me."

Magrath comes to Sarbanes' office from the office of U.S. Representative Karen McCarthy (D-Mo.) where he served as a legislative assistant and system administrator since January. For 11 years before that, he was on the staff of the Committee on House Administration. In that role, he worked with a wide variety of constituent groups, House members and staff from both parties, and members of the private sector representing a diverse group of interests.

Magrath received a B.S. degree in international business from Florida State University and an M.A. degree in international development from American University, Washington, D.C. In his new role on Sarbanes' staff, Magrath replaces Beth Little, who has taken a position in public relations with the Monongalia County (W.Va.) Health Department.

Magrath and his wife reside in Allegany County

Maryland Environmental Service, 2011 Commerce Park Drive, Annapolis, Maryland 21401, on behalf of the Garrett County Office of Solid Waste and Recycling, applied for a permit to discharge storm water runoff and leachate from a sanitary landfill, located off Sang Run Road, four miles northeast of Oakland, Maryland, to Round Glade Run and an unnamed tributary of the Youghiogheny River which are protected for a public water supply and the propagation of trout.

As a result of comments received by the Department in conjunction with publication of the tentative determination, the following changes have been made in the draft permit: 1) limitations now apply directly to the leachate, except for the limitation on biochemical oxygen demand, 2) the daily maximum effluent limitations for the leachate have been revised based on the expected dilution in the sediment control ponds - ammonia 290 mg/l, total iron 60 mg/l, total manganese 40 mg/l, total copper 0.18 mg/l, total zinc 1.2 mg/l, total lead 0.82 mg/l, total cadmium 0.039 mg/l, and 3) monitoring without limitations for all effluent characteristics except biochemical oxygen demand will be required for discharges from the sediment control ponds. All other provisions of the draft permit, as stated in the tentative determination, will remain unchanged.

A final determination has been made by the Department to issue the proposed permit with the above revisions unless a request for a contested case hearing on the final determination is received by the Department on or before December 1, 1995.

Any person adversely affected by this final determination may request a contested case hearing. Requests must be submitted in writing no later than December 1, 1995 to the Maryland Department of the Environment, Water Management Administration, 2500 Broening Highway, Baltimore, Maryland 21224, Attn: James Metz.

The request must include the name, address, and telephone number (home and work) of the person requesting the hearing, the name of any other party for whom the person requesting hearing may represent, the name and permit number of this final determination, and factual allegations with sufficient particularity to demonstrate that the person is aggrieved by the final determination and that it is legally inconsistent with any provisions of law applicable to the final determination or is based upon an incorrect determination of a relevant and material fact. Westvaco Sales, Earnings Still Setting Records

Westvaco Corporation (NYSE/W), a major manufacturer of paper, packaging and specialty chemicals, has reported its fourth quarter and audited year-end sales and earnings for fiscal 1995.

For fiscal 1995, which ended on October 31, 1995, sales were a record $3.3 billion, a 26 percent increase over 1994's total. Sales records were set in each quarter of the year, concluding with a fourth-quarter figure of $872 million, more than 14 percent above the total for the same period in 1994.

Net income for fiscal 1995 totaled $281 million, or $2.78 per share, more than two and a half times the 1994 total of $104 million, or $1.03 per share. Fourth quarter 1995 earnings totaled $89 million, or 88 cents per share, a 73 percent increase over 1994 fourth quarter earnings of $51.3 million, or 51 cents per share. Earnings for the year and for the second, third, and fourth quarters each represented all-time records for their respective periods.

At the end of August, Westvaco announced a three-for-two common stock split and a 20 percent dividend increase which were distributed to shareholders on October 2, 1995.

Commenting on Westvaco's 1995 performance, John A. Luke, Jr., president and chief executive officer, noted that while excellent market strength prevailed throughout most of the year, a moderation in U.S economic expansion over the past several months has been accompanied by customer inventory reductions in some markets served by the company.

"This is a very natural aftermath following the very strong market growth that we have experienced in the past 18 months," he said. "We remain optimistic about our potentials in the United States, as well as about the wide number of opportunities which we see throughout the world. However, we probably will experience a temporarily softer period of market demand during the next few months."

Luke noted that Westvaco has a "sound and proven long-term strategy of emphasizing innovation based on differentiated products and services as well as aggressive global marketing."

Union Rejected By Employees Of GCM Hospital

By a more than two-to-one margin, employees at Garrett County Memorial Hospital on Tuesday rejected Local 27 of the United Food and Commercial Workers Union's bid to represent them.

A total of 173 of the 198 employees who were eligible to vote in the election did so. The union challenged the right to vote of 13 of those employees, whose votes were not counted in the tally. The count showed there are 110 employees against the union and 53 in favor.

This was the second time in the past 14 months that the hospital employees rejected Local 27's attempt to organize them. However, the results of that election, held on Sept. 30, 1994, were challenged by the union, which claimed that hospital management had "restrained and coerced employees and interfered with their freedom of choice on whether or not to be represented" by the union. The National Labor Relations Board sustained that argument, rendering the results of the first vote invalid.

Instead of appealing the NLRB's ruling, the Board of Governors of the hospital decided to go ahead and hold a second vote.

"We had a number of options to consider, but we were confident that the employees would once again reject the union's bid and, this time, we believed it would be by an even wider margin, which it was," stated Donald W. Sincell, board chairman.

"In these times of great changes and challenges in the delivery of health care, we at Garrett Memorial look forward to continuing to provide top quality medical services for the communities we serve," stated Donald Battista, acting president/CEO of the hospital. "This would not be possible without our excellent employees, and we are pleased to be able to continue to work directly with them."

Local 27, by law, cannot attempt another organizing bid at the hospital for at least one year.

Property Tax May Be Paid In Halves Beginning July

A recent decision by the Maryland General Assembly will grant Garrett County property owners the option of paying property taxes on a semi-annual basis.

The measure, set to take effect July 1, 1996, will permit each property owner to hang on to half of his or her total property tax for a few extra months, but Garrett County Treasurer Patty Glover is concerned that the resulting loss of interest and summer cash flow may put a strain on county coffers.

"I have fears of there being some lost interest," Glover stated in an interview this morning. "Normally, we would start collecting interest Oct. 1. So, if the property owner pays half his or her bill, for instance, on July 1, then we would lose interest [on the second installment] in October, November, December, and January."

To compensate for this loss of interest, the General Assembly's measure gives Maryland counties permission to levy a variable "administrative fee" on property owners who opt to pay semi-annually.

"The commissioners would establish a lost interest rate which we would go by," Glover explained. "There is a cap - we can recapture up to 25 percent of that lost interest."

Although the details have not been worked out, Glover speculates that interest will accrue on a property owner's second tax installment if it is not paid by Jan 31. Interest will most likely begin to accrue on the first installment in October.

In addition to the loss of interest, Glover is concerned that the new system will leave the county cash poor in the summer and fall. She explained that her office normally collects $6 million in property taxes in July. If the majority of property owners opt to pay semi-annually, the county will have less money to work with during the summer and fall construction seasons.

Property tax bills mailed after July 1 will include figures informing each property owner how the semi-annual option and ac-

Baltimore Man Arrested On Gun, Drug Charges

Following a traffic stop during the early morning hours of Thanksgiving Day, a Baltimore man was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies on drug and weapons charges.

According to sheriff's office reports, 45-year-old Terry L. Miller was driving a white van east bound on Rt. 135 near the intersection of Leon White Road when he was followed by a deputy's cruiser and paced at approximately 65 to 70 miles per hour.

The report indicated that the deputy activated his emergency equipment and followed the van until it pulled into a driveway along Deer Park Hotel Road. The deputy reported that he then administered field sobriety tests to Miller, and Tfc. W. L. Mowbray of the Maryland State Police (MSP) administered a toximeter test to Miller, the result of which was listed as .03. Miller was then arrested for driving while intoxicated (DWI) and transported to the sheriff's office, records indicate.

Tfc. Greg Seaman, a drug recognition expert (DRE) with the MSP, reportedly then evaluated Miller at the sheriff's office and expressed his belief that the suspect was under the influence of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS). However, Miller reportedly refused to undergo a blood CDS test.

Following a search of Miller's van by a police dog, Miller was charged with possession of cocaine with intent to distribute; possession of cocaine; possession of marijuana; possession of CDS paraphernalia; possession of PCP; as well as transporting a handgun while engaged in a drug trafficking crime and transporting a handgun in a vehicle, the sheriff's office report indicated.

Miller was released on $25,000 bond.

NRP, Task Force File Drug, Game Charges Friday

Several search and seizure warrants for game and drug violations were served last Friday, resulting in the arrests of several Friendsville area residents.

According to reports filed by Natural Resources Police (NRP) Cpl. Walter May, a joint effort with the Garrett County/Oakland Drug Task Force resulted in the seizure of a 22 calibre rifle, deer meat, hunting paraphernalia, and a spotlight from a Sand Spring residence. Also seized in the 7:30 a.m. search were six plastic bags containing suspected marijuana.

Diana Sines, 36, Sand Spring Road, and Becky Lynn Kitt, Bruceton Mills, W.Va., were each charged with possession of deer during a closed season, which carries a $520 fine for each offender. Ryan Lee Sines, 18, Sand Spring Road, was charged with two counts of hunting deer during closed season, with a $520 fine for each offense, and four counts of possession of deer during closed season, $520 for each offense.

The three were also arrested by the drug task force and charged with possession of marijuana with intent to distribute, possession of marijuana, and possession of drug paraphernalia. They were initially lodged in the Garrett County Jail, but were relased after posting $500 bond each.

Cpl. May also served a warrant at the Trap Run Road residence of Craig Stanton, Friendsville. With the assistance of NRP Officer John Milbourne, Stanton and Bradley Hoover were issued citations for two counts each of hunting during closed season, with a

Fousek Named Garrett Roads Director In Two-To-One Vote

After searching for a new candidate to fill the post, the Garrett County Board of Commissioners this week voted two-to-one to retain former County Administrator Robert Fousek as Garrett County roads administrator.

Commissioner Roger Glotfelty cast the sole dissenting vote.

"Bob has been a good employee during my term, but, with all due respect to him, I would have preferred it if he had decided to seek employment somewhere else," Glotfelty stated in August, at the conclusion of a lengthy lawsuit against the county filed by Sang Run resident John Hinebaugh.

Following the settlement of that suit, Fousek retired from his position as county administrator, but the county board moved to "retain" him as personnel and business affairs officer.

This week, the commissioners confirmed that Fousek will continue to work with the county's office of economic development "in a marketing support capacity."

After the August conclusion of the lawsuit, Fousek also retained his role as interim-roads director, a position which he has held since Paul Shockey retired from the post in 1991. However, at the time the suit was settled, the commissioners indicated that they would begin a search for a permanent roads administrator.

Commissioner John Braskey commented early this month that if the commissioners chose not to hire any outside candidates for the roads position, Fousek might be appointed permanent roads director.

The commissioners also moved this week to assign additional responsibilities to new County Clerk Lamont Pagenhardt. This week's reshuffling of duties will save money for local taxpayers, the county board said.

"The realignment, as planned, will reflect a cost savings to the county," the commissioners stated in a press release issued this week. "It will more closely align the duties being assigned the individuals with their respective background and expertise."

The release also noted that "The areas of budget and finance will be shared by both managers with the total responsibility to transfer to Mr. Pagenhardt after a transition period on or before July 1, 1996."

'95 "Fresh Air" Christmas Event Set For Friday

The 1995 "Fresh Air" Christmas will be held Friday, Dec. 1, beginning at 5 p.m. in downtown Oakland.

This year's celebration of the season will feature musical entertainment from the Southern Middle and High schools' chorus groups at 5:30 p.m., Northern Middle School's honor chorus at 6 p.m., and the Southern High band at 6:15 p.m.

"A highlight of the evening will be when the Southern and Northern choruses combine together with all of the other performers to sing Silent Night," said Cathy Clocker of WKHJ-Radio, sponsor of the fourth annual event. "This joining of groups shows one of the best examples I can think of for brotherly love and coming together for the spirit of Christmas."

A visit from Santa Claus is set for 5:45 p.m., "if weather is clear from the North Pole to Oakland," Mrs. Clocker said, and Garrett County's own "Andrews Sisters" will perform at 6:45 p.m. to help kick off the town's Christmas shopping season

McHenry Man Faces Illegal Hunting Charges

Charges are pending against a McHenry man who allegedly used hundreds of pounds of feed corn to lure deer, turkeys, and other animals to his yard, where he shot those animals, and then burned their carcasses.

According to a report filed by Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) Officer John R. Milbourne, Kurt Hermann Meyr, 36, will be formally charged on Saturday. Milbourne, along with several other NRP officers, executed a search and seizure warrant on Nov. 26, after being contacted by confidential informants, and found the carcasses of 17 animals at Meyr's home. Five deer, three turkeys, and one fox had reportedly been burned.

A five-foot long feeder made from plastic plumbing pipe, hung vertically in a tree, was filled with corn and molasses to attract deer and bears, Millbourne said. Meyr also apparently threw corn on the ground to entice animals to his rural log home, which he shares with his wife and three children.

Spent cartridges were reportedly found inside the house on a window sill and on the top of a baseboard heater, indicating Meyr may have fired a weapon out the window, according to Milbourne's report.

Industrial Spill Being Watched By State Officials

State officials are monitoring a coal-related industrial spill that is blackening water in the Potomac River as it moves downstream toward the Jennings Randolph Dam.

Officials from the Water Management Administration said the accidental spill of 70,000 gallons of coal slurry from the Mettiki Coal Corp. does not pose a threat to water quality or aquatic life. The situation is continually being monitored, according to Scott Boylan, western division chief of water management's inspection compliance division.

Boylan said the spill at Mettiki went unnoticed by the public until residents in the Gorman and Kitzmiller areas began noticing discolored water in the Potomac's North Branch. Publicity about the spill was not released because "we didn't feel there was any specific health or safety issue," Boylan said. He attributed the discolored water to a fine coal residue in the slurry that has worked its way downstream.

The spill involved a sediment-laden, liquid byproduct of a treatment process Mettiki uses to reduce the acidity of water pumped out of its deep mines. The slur-

Friendsville House Leveled By Fire Tuesday

A two-story, unoccupied house near Friendsville was leveled early Tuesday by fire of undetermined origin.

Volunteer fire fighters from Friendsville, Accident, and Markleysburg, Pa., responded to the property, located along Blue Goose Road off Rt. 42, at 3:45 a.m. and found nothing but flames. Terry Spear, assistant fire chief of the Friendsville VFD, said that there was literally nothing left of the wood-frame structure standing when fire fighters arrived.

"There weren't even any walls left standing when we got there," Spear said.

There was also an outbuilding in flames. Spear estimated the total loss to be at least $40,000.

According to the Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office, the property is owned by Richard Thomas. Deputy State Fire Marshal Steve Wendling is continuing his investigation of the incident.

ON HIS WAY to scoring three touchdowns and recording 112 yards of rushing Saturday afternoon at Havre de Grace High School was Southern High School running back Aaron Newcomb, as the Rams defeated the Warriors, 28-20, to advance to the Maryland 1A state championship game this Saturday at College Park. The semi-final clash with Havre de Grace featured three lead changes in the score before the Rams' powerful running attack finally put the deciding points on the board with just over a minute to play in the game. Persons Charged With Battery, Use Of An Inhalant Oakland resident Charles W. Moats, 38, was arrested on a battery charge after he allegedly struck Robin E. Moats, 32, Oakland, on Sunday evening.

According to Garrett County Sheriff's Office records, a sheriff's deputy observed a tan Renault parked with its emergency flashers on along the road side on Oak Street at Fourth Street, Oakland, around 10:20 p.m. on Nov. 26. The driver, Robin Moats, was alleged upset and crying, and the deputy reported that her eye was swollen and her lip was scratched.

According to the deputy's report, Robin Moats indicated that she and the passenger in her car, Charles Moats, had been engaged in a dispute and he slapped her two times in the face.

The report states that Charles Moats indicated to the deputy that he had been arguing with Robin Moats and that he hit her. Mr. Moats was then arrested and charged with battery.

The suspect was later released on his own recognizance.

In an unrelated incident, two male juveniles, ages 17 and 15, were arrested in Mtn. Lake Park by a sheriff's deputy on the evening of Nov. 24 for allegedly inhaling a dangerous substance.

Responding to a tip that a youth was inhaling a dangerous substance, a deputy traveled to the scene and questioned two teens, one of whom reportedly admitted to sniffing the substance. At this time, both youths were arrested and transported to the sheriff's office, the report stated.

Both youths admitted in writing to inhaling the substance, police documents indicated. The teens were then released into their parents' custody, the report concluded. The case will be turned over the juvenile services department.

World AIDS Day Noted In County

A total of 190 countries around the world have designated Dec. 1, 1995, to be World AIDS Day to draw public attention to the AIDS pandemic. This week, the Garrett County Board of Commissioners followed suit and proclaimed the day in the county.

"The global spread of the HIV infection and AIDS necessitates a world-wide effort to increase communication, education, and preventive action to stop the spread of HIV/AIDS," the commissioners' proclamation stated.

At Tuesday's proclamation ceremony, the commissioners donned red ribbons, a symbol which, according to the American Association for World Health (AAWH), "demonstrates compassion for people with AIDS and their caretakers, and support for education and research leading to effective treatments, vaccines, or a cure."

In the U.S., activities for World AIDS Day across the country are coordinated by the AAWH, in conjunction with the World Health Organization (WHO), the Pan American Health Organization, and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

This year, World AIDS Day will link communities throughout the United States in a unified observance of dimming lights. In Washington D.C., the White House will dim its lights from 7:45 to 8 p.m. to demonstrate a commitment to the fight against the AIDS pandemic and to pay tribute to those living with and those who have died from AIDS.

TIE A RED RIBBON - In recognition of the eighth annual observance of World AIDS Day, slated for tomorrow, the Garrett County Board of Commissioners issued a proclamation stating, in part, "We, the Garrett County commissioners, do hereby declare Dec. 1 as World AIDS Day and urge all citizens to take part in activities and observances designed to increase awareness and understanding of HIV/AIDS as a global challenge, to take part in HIV/AIDS prevention activities and programs, and to join the global effort to prevent the further spread of HIV/AIDS." Pictured left to right are Commissioner Roger Glotfelty, Southern High School student Krysta Stacy, Garrett County AIDS Council (GCAC) member Joelle Plauger, Northern High School student Abby Bruch, GCAC member Robin Storms, GCAC Chair Roxanne Reed, GCAC member Donna McIntock, and Commissioners John Braskey and Wayne Wilt. See story.

The World Health Organization designated the theme for World AIDS Day 1995 as "Shared Rights, Shared Responsibilities." The theme is intended to emphasize both the rights that each person has to avoid infection, receive health care if infected, and be given respect and personal freedom, a Garrett County Health Department spokesperson stated. The theme is also intended to urge the world to focus on the shared responsibilities of individuals, families, communities, and governments in educating one another, caring for those infected, and developing a strong support system, the spokesperson added.

According to WHO, all communities are being affected by the continuing spread of the AIDS pandemic. As of June 1995, WHO estimated that 20 million men, women, and children worldwide have been infected with HIV and that approximately 4.5 million of them have developed AIDS, a 20 percent increase from last year. In the United States, as of December 31, 1994, 441,528 people in the U.S. had been diagnosed with AIDS. Of those, 270,870 have died.

This year will mark the eighth annual observance of the World AIDS Day.

Information on local activities or HIV/AIDS services are available by contacting Garrett County's AIDS Council through the Garrett County Health Department at 334-8111 or 895-3111.

Oakland City Police Investigate Theft From Naylor's Store

Oakland City Police are currently investigating the report of a stolen mini-bike that was on display in front of Naylor's True Value Hardware Store in Oakland.

According to a report filed by Officer Chris Feller, the 3.5 HP red and black Thunderbird mini-bike, valued at $699, was taken from the store at approximately 8:10 p.m. on Nov. 24. An employee at the store reportedly saw a man in his 30's or 40's put the bike in the trunk of a maroon-colored four-door car. The man then hurriedly placed a 6- or 7-year-old child in the back seat of the vehicle, and left, according to the report.

The employee told police that she was not on duty when the apparent theft occurred, but was in the store making a purchase. She said she didn't think anything of it at the time, but when she arrived at work the next day, she learned the bike had been stolen.

Anyone who has information about the theft is asked to call the Oakland Police at 334-2100.

GFWC Votes To Support Women's Shelter Endeavor

The GFWC Civic Club of Oakland, Inc., voted recently to adopt the establishment and ongoing support of a women's shelter as the organization's next special project.

Co-chairmen Martha Jachowski and Bobby Andersen plan to start the club's efforts by calling back into action the 52 local organizations that successfully worked on the "1993 Year of the Garrett County Woman." Organizations and individuals who did not participate in this effort, but are interested in the establishment of a women's shelter in Garrett County are asked to call Jachowski at 387-6659, or Andersen at 334-4459.

"The Garrett County Commission on Women has done a marvelous job in starting this endeavor," Jachowski said. "It is time now that this becomes a countywide effort."

"This affects all of our citizens," Andersen added, "men, women, children - and the well-being of our whole county."

Civic club members voted to begin their "Women's Shelter Project" by donating $1,650 of the prize money they received from the International General Federation of Women's Clubs for their "Community Improvement Program" titled "The Year of the Garrett County Woman." The balance of the club's $2,500 award is being used to promote the planting of service trees in Garrett County. One hundred seedlings were distributed last spring, and full-size trees are being planted in public settings.

Past civic club projects have included support for the establishment of Garrett County Memorial Hospital's VIVA (Volunteers In Various Areas) program, and the establishment of Garrett County Lighthouse, Inc., a rehabilitation program for people with mental illness as a non-profit private agency.

VOTING IN SUPPORT of the establishment of a women's shelter in Garrett County are members of the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland. This special project, headed by Martha Jachowski and Bobby Andersen, was adopted during the club's November meeting. (See story)

Grantsville Man Injured Friday In Two-Car Mishap

A Grantsville man was injured Friday morning in a two-vehicle accident on Rt. 40, at the intersection with the New Germany Road.

Maryland State Police at Barrack W, McHenry, said 80-year-old Woodrow Jacob Durst, was transported to Cumberland Memorial Hospital after his 1994 Chevrolet truck struck a 1994 Chevrolet Blazer, operated by George Ellwood Hamilton Jr., 53, Artubus.

According to the police report, Hamilton was traveling north on the New Germany Road and had pulled into the intersection with Rt. 40. He was reportedly attempting to back up, when his vehicle was struck by Durst's pickup.

Durst was treated and released following the 10:33 a.m. accident, according to a hospital spokesperson. Neither Hamilton, nor his passengers, George Shawn Vitkauskas, 16, and Jerry Dolan Sowers, 28, both of Bakimore, were injured, and Durst's passenger, Alverta May Stanton, 65, Grantsville, was also reportedly uninjured.

Hamilton was charged in the accident, police said.

Also responding to the scene were volunteers from the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad, and the Grantsville fire department.

ONE INJURED

A Herndon, Va., woman was injured in a single-vehicle accident Friday morning on Interstate 68.

Natalie Rae Burton, 21, was transported to Cumberland Memorial Hospital by Frostburg Ambulance, but was not listed as a patient that evening.

Police said Burton was traveling west on I-68, when she apparently lost control of her 1995 Chevrolet Cavalier, causing the vehicle to skid off the road and strike a guardrail.

Eastern Garrett firefighters also responded to the 10:11 a.m. accident. Burton was charged with failure to maintain control of her vehicle.

CAR OVERTURNS

A Friendsville man received minor injuries late Monday evening, in a single-vehicle accident on Rt. 42, near Second Avenue in Friendsville

State police said Steven Grant Savage, 35, was traveling north on Rt. 42, when he lost control of his 1988 Chevrolet Beretta, causing the vehicle to travel off the road, strike a large rock, and overturn. The car came to rest on its roof.

Savage told the investigating officer that the accident occurred because of a defect in the vehicle's steering mechanism.

Volunteers from Northern Garrett Rescue Squad also responded to the 10:45 p.m. mishap, but the emergency room at Garrett County Memorial Hospital had no record of his being admitted.

County Chamber Of Commerce Has Two-Day Meeting

Members of several tourism and economic development organizations joined forces recently to discuss ways of increasing sensible economic development for Garrett County. Participating organizations included the Garett County-Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council, the Greater Oakland Business Association, Deep Creek Lake Business Association, and Garrett Community College. The two-day event stressed the "Benefits of a Unified Voice," concerning marketing and advertising of the county's resources.

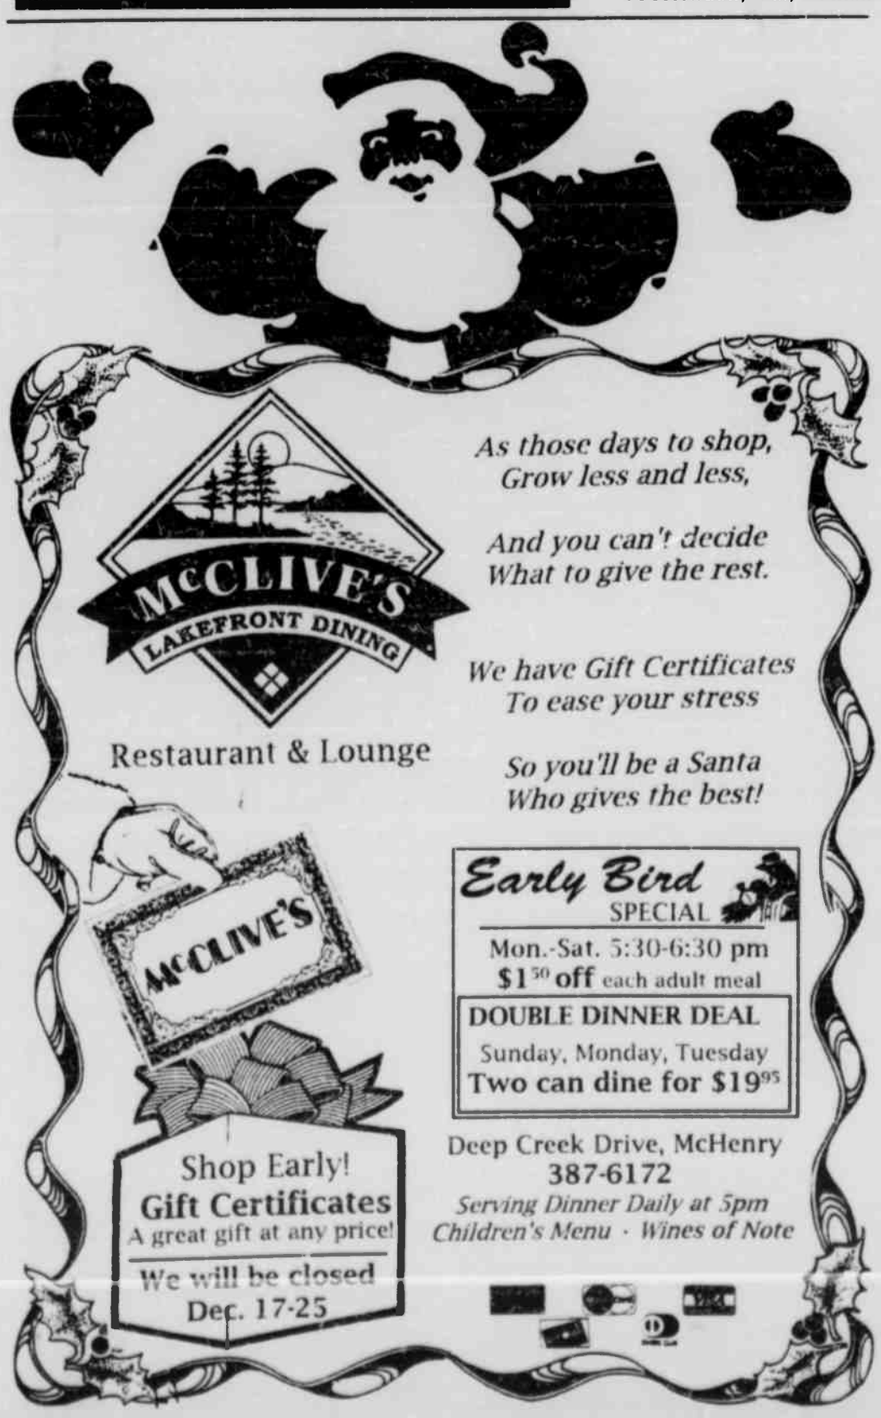
Sharon R. Thomas, the executive director of the Allegheny County Chamber of Commerce, functioned as a facilitator for this meeting. Jerry Geisler, general manager of Wisp, and president of the promotion council stated, "There is a definite need for agencies to share resources and learn from one another. The growth and development of our county will certainly be enhanced when agencies with similar missions join hands to more effectively communicate between each other."

Many ideas were discussed and a goal was developed stressing the importance of cooperation among organizations. The goal states that development organizations partner in providing a point of presence for the advancement of county prosperity through marketing strategies aimed at economic and tourism development, as well as greater employment opportunity, according to Thomas.

The group also discussed the assets available of Garrett County and the challenges they face in promoting these assets. Subcommittees were formed to address the issues brought up during the meeting, and a Plan of Action Committee was formed to aid the process of cooperation and communication among the different organizations. Many areas of promotion were discusses, including the increase of support, knowledge, and promotion of the highly successful whitewater rafting industry that already exists on the Youghiogheny River.

A committee meeting to discuss shared visions and commonalities of all business groups will be held as a result of this event. Details will be announced at a later date. Interested persons are invited to attend the next Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, on December 14, at noon, at Pizzeria Uno. A summary of the cooperative meeting and an action plan will be presented.

"This event should help to increase communication between parties, and better cooperation most certainly will be easier after this event," stated participant Jim Hinebaugh of the Department of Economic Development.



HELP FOR SANTA in the form of a $100 donation was given by the Ladies Auxiliary of VFW Post 10077, Deer Park, this week to Lou Stouffer, better known in the area as Santa Claus. Stouffer annually collects toys, clothing, and other gifts and makes literally hundreds of visits to the area's less fortunate families to make Christmas much brighter for them. The funds will be used for gasoline to power his "sleigh." Making the presentation was Darlene Skidmore, secretary of the Auxiliary. Good used and new toys, books, jewelry, and other gift items for the local Santa to distribute may be dropped off at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland (Center Street entrance), or persons may call him at 304-789-8743.

Shopping at Home...

While it's hard to believe, another holiday shopping/buying season is truly upon us, and as we go about trying to fulfill those gift lists, we sincerely hope that local residents will do as much local buying as possible.

There is no question that most of the best buys and a greater variety exist at the major malls, factory outlets, and the Wal-Marts of the world (We use Wal-Mart here merely as an example of the huge department stores.) The small, downtown stores will never be able to do the kind of volume sales that are needed in order to regularly sell at rock-bottom prices. Sadly, many downtowns in this nation are literally being destroyed by the businesses mentioned above.

We are not suggesting that it's a crime to occasionally take a shopping trip to the area malls. It makes for a fun outing and enables one to purchase some items that simply are not be available at home. However, we believe if the item can be purchased in one's hometown for a price that is not grossly higher, then that's where it should be purchased.

There must also be some value placed on service, which is almost non-existent at many of the big stores, but is often outstanding and far more convenient at the small local store.

Then, of course, one should also remember that the $10 saved on that pair of pants purchased at the mall was more than consumed in the gasoline it took to get there and the food that had to be purchased for lunch.

Citizens should never forget that local businesses provide jobs and a significant chunk of tax money to their communities. And when local people are collecting donations for dozens of different worthy causes, programs, emergency service organizations, and various charities, or selling ads for a school yearbook or a program booklet, or needing sponsors for athletic teams or a school trip, upon whom can they always depend? Wal-Mart? A factory outlet? The area malls? No; it is always the local businesses who support such efforts, and most of them do so willingly and graciously, because they recognize how important it is to be supportive of their community and its people.

It must be a two-way street. The loss of any legitimate local business is a loss for every single citizen in that community.

"AFTER SOME DIFFICULT YEARS AT THE PALACE, I DECIDED TO LEAVE THE PRINCE AND MOVE IN WITH SEVEN DWARFS."

To the Editor:

It's a rare day, indeed, when I find myself in agreement with the liberal Democrat from Vermont, Sen. Patrick J. Leahy, but most Americans (who haven't yet been brainwashed) would agree with Sen. Leahy's latest sage advice regarding the validity of our nation's media polls: "Just ignore the polls of the day!"

I recall writing a letter to the editor almost 20 years ago (that's when pollsters like Gallup and Harris had some credibility), in which I concluded that the real purpose of many of these polls was not to measure public opinion, but to mold it. If that were true 20 years ago (and it was), it is far truer today, with most of the poll taking being performed not by professional pollsters, but by hyphenated ultra-liberal TV/newspaper conduits (e.g. ABC/Washington Post). And it really doesn't matter too much which alphabet soup you prefer (ABC, NBC, CBS, PBS,...), the broth is uniformly liberal to socialist.

And now, not content with the monopoly they enjoy on the news and the polls, they now compete with each other with their liberally-biased advocacy shows (60 Minutes, 48 Hours, Day One,...), invariably pitching the liberal bias on controversial issues, be it gun control, federal law enforcement excesses at Waco and Ruby Ridge, our nation's militias, conservative critics of the UN and the New World Order,...ad nauseam.

Fortunately, most Americans have now caught on to this blatant liberal bias of our national news ("views") media. Indeed, more perceptive and discerning observers of our national scene consider the national media a mouthpiece of the New World Order, a long-standing, clandestine attempt by international bankers, multi-national corporation moguls, and other global elitists to impose on us a one world socialist government, which, of course, can only be attained at the cost of our national sovereignty and Constitutional freedoms.

With the passage of NAFTA and GATT/WTO, both of which passed the Congress despite strong opposition of the American people (thereby demonstrating the globalists' control of the leadership of BOTH political parties), the New World Economic Order is virtually a fait accompli. Now the dicey part begins,...the New World Political Order, which can only be achieved by taking away our national sovereignty and Constitutional rights. And clearly an armed populace is an obstacle to such a venture. Could that possibly explain the national news media's decade-long harangue against gun ownership and the Second Amendment?

Sincerely yours,
Robert Hohl

To the Editor:

"Strict Construction."

What does that phrase mean with respect to the "Constitution?" Would you believe it cost Judge Robert Bork, probably the best qualified individual in the world, his chance to serve on the United States Supreme Court. It was also the basis of the vicious attack from the Left on Clarence Thomas, not withstanding the lies of Anita Hill, that failed by the narrowest of margins to block Justice Thomas' nomination to that august body. They are both "Strict Constructionists."

Simply stated, "Strict Construction" means if ain't "in" the constitution - or added to it by an "Amendment" - ya can't do it!

Nowhere in the constitution is there a single word that gives the president, one man, the power to commit (or to authorize the commission of) an act of war on foreign soil. The Clinton administration's position relative to his supposed unilateral authority to send American troops to Bosnia, is grounded in "recent" American history. But that history reflects either ignorance of or a callous, dismissive attitude on the part of our elected officials toward this country's founding principles that in "recent" times has led us all down the road to Socialism and a disastrous Welfare-State; among other things.

When the delegates to the Constitutional Convention in 1787, changed the language of that noble document so that Congress was empowered to "declare" rather than "make" war, it was, as James Madison emphasized, to leave "to the Executive (the president) the power to repel sudden attacks" against the United States, and for no other purpose. The Supreme Court ruled in 1801, in Talbot vs. Seeman: "The whole powers of war being, by the Constitution of the United States, vested in the Congress; the acts of that body can alone be resorted to as our guides." The court noted furtner that Congress may authorize "general hostilities or partial hostilities," therefore, not the Executive!

It's not even arguable to anyone who understands the English language. Words do have meaning - despite the often incredulous actions of career politicians. Call them while you can make a difference and let them know what you think.

Respectfully yours,
Ronald R. Rowan

I live in a nursing home, and walk with a quad cane (a cane with four small legs). I'm totally dependent on the cane. I'm not able to take one step without the cane and a leg brace. Several patients wanted a cane like mine. Some got one, perhaps with help from a nurse, doctor, or therapist; even though they can walk just fine.

I hope Medicaid or Medicare wouldn't be used to pay for a cane for anyone who can walk without one! Tax dollars should be more wisely used. Agree?

To the Editor:

The article in Cumberland Sunday Times, "Garrett County schools have new set of goals," I agree with most of the nine goals approved by the Board of Education, but phonics supported by board member Patrick Riley, in my opinion, should be one top goal.

For example, when my son was in the second grade, he came home with a pamphlet with a picture on the front cover, and he was all thrilled, telling me about the story the picture meant to him. I turned the paper over and he had every question marked wrong. I asked him, "Paul, you knew all about what the picture meant to you, why did you get all the questions marked wrong? His reply, "I could not read the questions!"

Well, this was a shock to my wife and me, and what to do to help him.

There was a lady in Kitzmiller who taught me in the fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh grades in school in a town above Shallmar, called Dodson. We went to school over a bowling alley, and when they were bowling you could not hear the teacher, so we waited until this was over. So much for this piece of history. My son, with the help of this kind lady, learned to read the "A.E.I.O.U." way.

To me, in the first four grades in school you are taught to read; after that you read to learn. I really think Mr. Patrick Riley is really right when he stressed phonics is the way to go, but let me add that my daughter did not have the problems my son had, and she made very good grades, so phonics really can not be applied with every child.

Maybe I am talking out of line, not being a teacher; and my views may not fit with this day and age, but the end result is to do what is the best for students, emphasis on application of reading, writing, and mathematics.

To the Editor:

Our coalition applauds Congressman Roscoe Bartlett for co-sponsoring H.R. 2275, the Endangered Species Conservation and Management Act. By co-sponsoring this legislation, Congressman Bartlett has shown his dedication to bringing common sense back to the Endangered Species Act.

The Endangered Species Act is one of the most significant, powerful and well intentioned pieces of environmental legislation ever enacted, anywhere in the world. There are, however, major problems with the act that must be addressed. H.R. 2275 faces these problems head-on and not only guarantees that endangered species will be protected, but that the rights of America's citizens will be safeguarded as well.

Right now, the private citizens who own land that is habitat to protected species are afraid of what the law will do to them and their ability to use their property. In fact, Assistant Secretary for the Interior George Frampton has gone so far as to say, "From a private landowner's point of view, the Endangered Species Act is like a nuclear weapon."

Congressman Bartlett, as well as each of the bill's 120 co-sponsors, has pledged to make the act work better for people and nature. Despite the accusations that have been levelled by the environmental community, H.R. 2275 will not "gut" the Endangered Species Act. On the contrary, it gives people reasons to want to protect species on their property and at the same time safeguards the private property rights of all Americans.

Once again, on behalf of the nearly 10 million people represented by our coalition, I thank Congressman Bartlett for supporting this legislation which will guarantee both the protection of our rights and the survival of our nation's rich natural heritage.

Sincerely,
James A. McClure

The special USO Canteen Party, held on Nov. 11 at Southern High School, tuned out to be a warm and reminiscing evening, supported by so many residents who dared to wander out on such a bad (weather-wise) evening.

Because of the sudden snow-covered and slick roads, the musicians (The Crosswinds) were not all able to make the event, which meant the promised sounds of the Big Band Era did not happen. It was still a wonderful evening, with the veterans attending and standing at attention when the girls portraying the Andrews Sisters sang each of the military songs.

A big thanks to everyone who supported this. The money raised will make a big difference in the ability of the local chapter of the Red Cross to be prepared to help military families and local disaster victims.

Because of our two principal sponsors; Mettiki and Bausch and Lomb, and because of the following churches donating the food, we were able to have a successful fundraiser: Oakland churches: Church of Christ, St. Matthew's Episcopal, Oak Park Church, Pine Grove Church of the Brethren, New Life Christian, St. Paul's United Methodist, and St. Peter's Catholic Church. Friendsville churches: United Methodist, First Christian, Accident Churches, St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran, Laurel Run Church of God, and Zion Lutheran; Emmanuel Lutheran Church of Bittinger, Mt. Top Christian Assembly of God, Mtn. Lake Park; Oak Grove Church, McHenry; St. John's Episcopal, Deer Park; and St. John's Lutheran Church, Swanton.

Also a big salute to the following veterans: Bob Baker, Paul Bieri, Lawrence Cosner, Wilmer Crosco, Sheldon Dearden, Geno Deanla, Fred Everse, Leonard Iswert, Willard Elliott, Robert Eaton, Clint Englander, Edward Frankhouser, Bob Flinn, Bill Heise, Harry Kight, James Jackson, Ed Kelly, Jake Langworthy, Russell McConnell, Charles Nolan, Tom Peterson, Kenneth Ridder, Carl Rebele, Bob Railey, Leo Rowan, Norman Regnier, Carl Spiker, Kenneth Stahl, Robert Stevenson, Eric Sines, Robert Sincell, George Schelfel, Fred Tichnell, Walter Ward, Walter Wotherspoon, Rick Wakefield, Paul Buchanan, and Paul Shogren.

And a special thanks to the Civic Association of Kitzmiller for the use of the American flags and to Hazel and Bill Meyers for the small table flags. God bless you all.

View From My Window

by Jeffrey Wilson

St. Andrew was a first century, Galilean Jew, a fisherman by trade, the brother of St. Peter and one of the original 12 disciples of Jesus. Somewhere along the line he had become the patron saint of Scotland. Though I may never have said so out loud, the St. Andrew of my unthought presuppositions wore a kilt and Glengarry and, perhaps, played a bagpipe.

Once such things are put on paper they are obviously silly, and yet no sillier than the Scottish claim to possess the stone which Jacob used for his pillow. The Scots, in fact, do not possess that stone just at the moment. They resent that the English possess it in Westminster Abbey where anyone can see it under the throne of Scotland.

About 700 years after the birth of Jesus the inhabitants of what we call Scotland and Ireland were very zealous Christians. They had magnificent monasteries filled with monks who were prepared to set out upon the ocean in coracles (circular, keelless and rudderless rowboats) in order to evangelize the world. They produced incredible art work in their prayerbooks and Bibles.

Those Celtic Christians desired a closer attachment to the characters of the Bible. Out of that highly imaginative wishful thinking arose some of the most fascinating of Scottish legends. I use the word "legend" with care: it is a fanciful story that has been woven around a kernel of historical fact.

One of those legends was that the bones of St. Andrew which had been housed in Constantinople (modern-day Istanbul) were brought to Scotland in the 700s and that the Scots (or Picts as they were then) built a church over the bones at the site of modern day St. Andrews, on the east coast of Scotland.

It was in Greece that St. Andrew's life came to an end. As a result of his preaching he was sentenced to death by the leading, local official of the Roman Empire. His x-shaped cross became Andrew's symbol in the church. The Scottish flag consists of a blue St. Andrew's cross on a white field. The chaps of the cross, though not the colors, is incorporated in the Union Jack of Great Britain. So potent was the symbol of St. Andrew's cross even in America that the southern confederacy chose it to give shape to their flag, the stars and bars.

Because another set of legends depict St. Andrew preaching on the north shore of the Black Sea. The Russians too claimed him as their patron saint. His cross has figured widely in Russian imagery both sacred and secular just as it has in Scottish traditions.

I have always warmed to the Kilted St. Andrew. In Scotland this day of commemoration is still celebrated, if ofttimes in a less than apostolic spirit. The more I study the little that is actually known about St. Andrew, I come to like him all the better.

He never moved to center stage, but played well an essential supporting role. He was, as someone observed, the great introducer. Three times St. Andrew took someone to Jesus, first and perhaps most significantly his own brother, Peter, whom Jesus appointed to head the earthly church. Andrew's was a ministry of moving along the fringe of the crowd and making sure someone got the attention he needed when otherwise his needs and his gifts might have been ignored.

In a season of the year when hospitality among friends and family is the order of the day, St. Andrew reminds us that bringing people together is important work. It is not enough, however, to invite those who feel comfortable with each other already. The example of St. Andrew encourages us also and especially to introduce strangers who in meeting may discover important things they never otherwise could have known.

A Lesson in Kindness
by John R. McEwen

Taking the stage tonight at Garrett Community College is the touching mini-opera Amahl and the Night Visitors by Gian-Carlo Menotti. Directed by Nancy Learey, the Garrett Choral Society has delivered a fine performance of this Christmas classic about a young crippled boy who meets the three kings on their way to see the baby Jesus. Draped in all their finery and carrying their regal gifts, they are a bizarre but welcome sight to Amahl and his mother, a widow so poor she has no wood for the fire, much less food to give her son. But she offers them her home in which to rest on their long journey.

While the kings sleep, Amahl's mother finds herself tempted by the gold and other riches possessed by them. "I wonder," she muses, "if rich people know what to do with their gold. . . Do they know how a child could be fed?" Her love for her son drives her into a terrible conflict: is she needy or greedy? In the end she and Amahl learn the true meaning of charity from the kings, and from the baby they seek.

The part of Amahl is played in this production by 12-year-old Sheila Nolan, a good singer who is very gifted in stage presence. Nolan is quite endearing early in the production as we learn that Amahl has a habit of telling fibs to his mother. Naturally, when he says that there are three kings at the door, the mother, played by Liz Rees-Gilbert, is less than amused. As Amahl cheeks again, Nolan gives an irresistible double-take to the audience: yes, there are three kings! What'll I tell Mom?

Gilbert (the mother) lets her love shine through, though; just a few minutes after threatening her son with a spanking, she is delivering a heartfelt testimonial that he could just as well be the sweet, poor child the kings are looking for. Gilbert embodies the mind and soul of a parent wanting the best for her child, willing to lower herself even to crime for his sake, if need be.

The kings are played by Choral Society wise men Tom Peterson, Don Sincell, and David Callis, three of the richest, most beautiful male voices Garrett County has to offer. No wonder Nancy keeps using them as the kings. They deliver Menotti's beautiful three-part harmony with a smoothness that rivals any barbershop quartet. The characterization done by Peterson is quite amusing, as he tells Amahl what he keeps in his beloved box, without which, he says, he never travels. When he gets to the third drawer, we learn what really makes him tick. Matthew Sincell does a fine job as the kings' page.

A backdrop of shepherds and townspeople are performed by various Choral Society members, featuring Samantha Suder and Bethany Savage in a short ballet performed for the kings.

Providing beautiful piano accompaniment is Marcene Huebner, assisted by Angela Sincell on flute. Both play Menotti's score with ease and style.

Technical aspects of this production were apparently not designed by one person, but they work very well. The set, which is Amahl's house, is properly meager and sparse. Everyone is draped in middle-eastern peasant clothing, except the kings, of course, who are clad in regal robes and bejeweled crowns, beards, and wigs. And their page looks sharp, too. Callis, as Balthazar, looks great in blackface--it's hard for a white man to do that without looking like "Mr. Bones."

If you feel that opera is not your thing, Amahl and the Night Visitors is an excellent way to try it on for size. It's like "opera lite:" it's a fun show, very short, funny, and moving. It is an interesting take on the wise men story, and it is a real study in a parent's love for a child. Go to see it tonight and you'll still be home in plenty of time for ER.

Performances are slated for this evening and Friday at 7:30 p.m., and on Sunday at 2 p.m. Tickets are available at Englander's Pharmacy in Oakland and at the door.

Emergency Food Providers See Growing Need In Region, County

Western Maryland has witnessed dramatic increases in the numbers of people turning to food pantries and soup kitchens to provide food for themselves and their families, according to recently released results of the Maryland Food Committee's 1995 Emergency Food Provider Survey.

However, this conclusion came as no surprise to Linda Green, Director of the Garrett County Community Action Committee's Community and Energy Services Program. Green commented this week that her office is attempting to address increasing need with limited resources.

'Within the county we are experiencing more crises this year because of lack of funding for a lot of these programs," Green stated. "Last week and the week before last, over the Thanksgiving holiday, we had so many people calling, saying, 'We really don't have enough money to buy the basics.' And, we're not talking welfare people, I'm talking working poor, where mom and dad are working at $4.25 an hour, and basically two children.

"We are in desperate need of donations of food to give to these families when they come in," she added. "Their money is just not stretching."

The Food Committee's survey compares the numbers of persons emergency food providers helped during the month of October in 1994 and 1995. Over 20 providers from Garrett, Allegany, Frederick, and Washington counties took part in the survey.

Emergency food providers participating in the survey helped 17,785 persons with emergency food in October, 1995 - an increase of 13.8 percent over the 15,623 individuals or families helped in October 1994, the survey indicated.

"This high percentage becomes even more alarming since nearly 25 percent of providers surveyed reported either having to cut back on services provided, or having turned hungry people away," a Maryland Food Committee (MFC) spokesperson stated. "With an increase in need, a decrease in government funding, and large cuts in nutrition programs and other government assistance to the poor pending, this last line of defense against hunger for those in need of emergency food is barely holding together."

Four of the survey participants were soup kitchens, facilities which serve hot meals, usually one per day, to a limited number of people one to seven days per week. The four soup kitchens combined provided meals to 12,392 Western Maryland residents in October, 1995. This marks an increase of 11 percent over the 11,118 served in October of last year.

Food pantries, which provide a three- to five-day supply of groceries to help people cope with food emergencies, experienced a 20 percent increase in the numbers of people served in October of 1995 compared to October, 1994. A total of 5,393 individuals or families were assisted by food pantries in October, 1995, while 4,505 people were helped during the same month in 1994.

Food pantries are intended to provide periodic food assistance for persons experiencing temporary food emergencies. However, the MFC survey indicates that a number of local residents return to the pantries with some regularity.

"For many individuals and families in Western Maryland, food emergencies are a regular occurrence with over 60 percent of clients needing assistance six to 12 times per year, and over 25 percent of clients asking for help more than once a month," the MFC spokesperson added.

Green commented in an interview this week that she recently discussed the issue with District VI Congressman Roscoe Bartlett.

'We met with Congressman Bartlett a couple of months ago and he suggested that we try to find local churches or individuals that would provide funds to the food pantries within Western Maryland . . . We have done some outreach on that, but we're still not receiving enough food to meet these crises," Green said.

"We tried to explain to him that private charities are already taking care of people, helping non-profit organizations such as the House of Hope [and] Community Action. The churches are already doing basically what they can do," she added.

"But he has a mind-set, it's like he thinks, 'Let the churches give more,' and we can't make him understand that the monies from these churches are just not there," Green asserted.

Green is also apprehensive about pending federal budget cuts to social programs.

"Next year? I even hate to think about that," Green remarked. "The churches are giving, individuals are giving, but they're also trying to take care of their own people within their own congregations. I honestly don't know what's going to happen to these people. I don't know where they're going to turn to get those necessities . . .

"The problem we're seeing this year, and will see next year also, is that the Maryland Energy Assistance Program is being cut and the funds that people were using for food are now being used for fuel."

In Western Maryland, soup kitchens reported that 46 percent of their clients are families with children, and food pantries reported that families with children make up 65 percent of their clientele, the MFC survey indicated.

Participating soup kitchens and food pantries also reported that one out of every five clients served is a senior citizen, the survey showed.

Survey participants reported that over 35 percent of the people they aided were employed in some capacity.

B&L Recognized For Partnership In GCC Program

B&L RECOGNIZED FOR CONTRIBUTION TO COLLEGE & ME PROGRAM - Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of Garrett County Schools, lsft, and Dr. Steve Herman, president of Garrett Community College, center, recently presented a certificate of appreciation, mounted on a plaque, to Bausch & Lomb representative David Spirk during a reception at the college. B&L was recognized for its contribution to the College & Me program, now in its fourth year. (See story)

In a ceremony held recently at Garrett Community College, a plaque was presented to representatives of Bausch and Lomb to express appreciation for the company's contributions and service to the College and Me Early intervention program. Presenting the plaque to David Spirk of Bausch & Lomb were GCC president Dr. Steve Herman and Superintendent of the Board of Education Dr. Jerome Ryscavage.

In his remarks, Dr. Ryscavage commended Bausch & Lomb for its significant contribution to the young people of the community in making them aware of higher education opportunities available to them. He commented that in 1989, 54% of the Garrett County high school graduates planned to go to college, and that in 1994, that number had risen to 71%. He praised the College and Me program for encouraging young people to seek higher education.

Dr. Herman recognized the Regional Education and Service Agency for making it possible to start the College and Me program and thanked the board of education for its partnership and commitment to continuing the program after the funding ended. Noting that a community college graduate with an associate degree typically earns twice as much as a high school graduate, and that a four-year college graduate with a bachelor's degree earns four times as much, Dr. Herman recognized that the College and Me program gives children a tremendous opportunity.

In receiving the plaque, Spirk expressed his wish that other members of the management team could have attended the ceremony and praised Mary Rush for her help in supporting the program.

Betsy Fowler, coordinator of the College and Me program, released figures that show the extent of Bausch & Lomb's contribution to the program now in its sixth year. A total of $15,000 has been contributed by the company to provide every fifth grader with a College and Me sweatshirt and a candy bar through the candy business class taught by a company employee. In addition, over 200 man hours have been given to teach two classes per week. According to Fowler, a total of 2,053 students have been reached by this program that brings every fifth grade class in Garrett County schools to the college campus for one week.

ITV Courses Available For SHS Students

Four Garrett Community College courses will be available to qualified Southern High School students through interactive television during spring semester according to an agreement recently reached between the college and Board of Education.

The courses will be taught by an instructor in the interactive video lab of the college and transmitted to the lab in Southern High School where a second instructor will be present.

Courses scheduled for this delivery system are: Expository Writing (ENG 101) taught by Lonnie Brewster, Basic Speech (SPC 101) taught by Ben Sincell, and Calculus II (MAT 191) and Statistics (MAT 210), both taught by Janet Thomas.

To be eligible to take these courses, high school students must have taken the appropriate prerequisite courses and received grades of "B" or better. The courses will begin the week of January 22 and will meet during the normal school day. A reduced tuition will be charged the high school students and text books will be provided.

U.S. Home Care Week Noted By Local Agency

National Home Care Week, an observance intended to honor providers of home health services across the country for the services they render in their communities, has been designated for Nov. 27 through Dec. 3 this year.

Observing this week locally is the staff of the Garrett County Health Department (GCHD) Certified Home Health Agency.

The term "home health" refers to skilled care provided in an individual's home. Services may be rendered by nurses, aides, physical and speech therapists, and/or social workers. Typical skilled care could involve wound care, general assessments, exercises, assistance with personal care, counseling, or psychiatric nursing and teaching. These services can be utilized after a hospital stay or as an alternative to hospitalization.

Through the health department's home health agency, persons in need of skilled care can receive home health services if they are unable to leave home or experience extremely difficult in leaving home. Care may be received by persons of all ages, including children, and home health care is covered by Medicare, Medical Assistance, and private insurance, a GCHD spokesperson stated.

Services are also available on a sliding fee scale if appropriate eligibility has been met.

Five offices located throughout the county organize services for the agency, and two on-call nurses are available 24 hours a day to respond to emergencies. Free, in-home evaluations for residents 18-years-old and older can be scheduled through the agency's Geriatric Evaluation Services Team, a group which consults with local physicians to determine home care heeds.

"Home health care allows disabled and chronically ill citizens of all ages to remain with loved ones in surroundings that are familiar and comfortable," the spokesperson said. "National surveys continue to show that most people prefer to receive medical care and related supportive services in the home.

"There is also a significant and growing body of evidence that home care services stimulate quicker and fuller recoveries and improvements than comparable services within institutions," the spokesperson added.

For more information, persons may contact the Garrett County Health Department Certified Home Health Agency at 334-8113 or 895-3112.

continuing to search for a new roads director, the commissioners appointed Pagenhardt, an Oakland resident formerly employed with Allegany County government, to the position of county clerk. In this role, Pagenhardt is responsible for directing the commissioners activities, supervising the commissioners' staff, acting as a liaison between the commissioners and county agency heads, and serving as the commissioners' media envoy.

In addition to these duties, the commissioners stated this week that Pagenhardt, "will assume effective immediately the areas of human resources and benefits administration. In addition, he will assume the legislative liaison position which serves as coordinator for new or amended local legislation and review of state-wide legislation as it impacts Garrett County."

Rams Use Punishing Running Attack To Defeat Warriors, Advance To Finals

It was the run against the pass, and, after three tied scores, the run ultimately won the game.

Such is one description of the football clash held Saturday afternoon along the banks of the Chesapeake Bay in Havre de Grace, where the Southern High Rams finally emerged as the 28-20 victors over their hosts and thus earned a spot in the Maryland State 1A championship game, set for this Saturday at the University of Maryland's Byrd Stadium in College Park.

It was no surprise to anyone at Saturday's game that the Ram offense would keep the ball on the ground most of the afternoon, while the Warriors would primarily put it in the air. However, the power of the Southern offensive line, coupled with outstanding pass coverage by the Ram defensive secondary against one of the state's top quarterbacks, proved to be the key factors in the Rams' being able to prove that they were the better of the two teams.

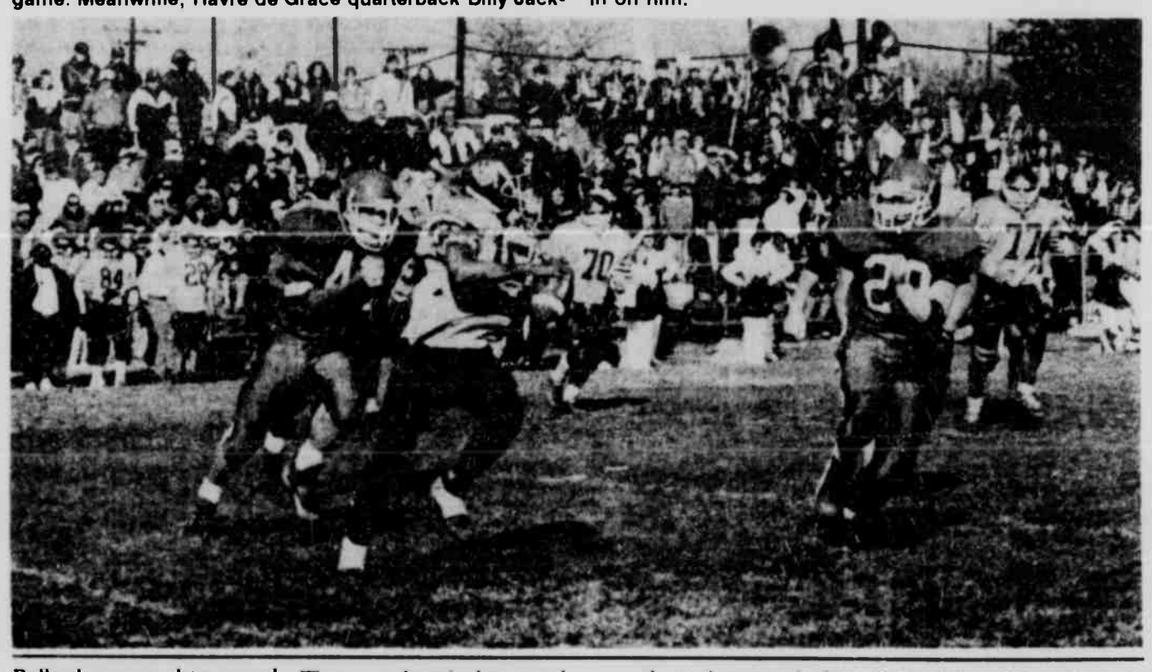
All but 15 of the Rams' total offensive production of 250 yards were generated via 54 running plays, with Aaron Newcomb, Howard Crosco, and Andy Woods gaining most of that total.

Newcomb, who finished with 112 yards, scored three of his team's touchdowns and also played well defensively, while Crosco recorded 64 yards and a touchdown on 17 carries and quarterback Woods picked up 59 yards on seven option keepers around the ends.



Havre de Grace quarterback Billy Jackson, who came into the game with 25 touchdown passes, added three more to his total and completed 10 of 19 tosses. Wing back J.R. Clark received two of those scoring aerials, but was limited to just three catches for the day. The Warriors' leading ball carrier, tailback Wilbur Ballard, managed to record only 25 yards on eight carries against the stingy Ram defense.

SOME KEY RUNNING on the option play by Southern High quarterback Andy Woods (#19 above) kept the Havre de Grace defense somewhat off-balance and unable to consistently control the Rams' powerful inside running game. Meanwhile, Havre de Grace quarterback Billy Jackson, one of the most talented players in the state, received intense pressure all afternoon by the rushing Southern defense. He is pictured below looking for one of his receivers, as Joel Uphold, left, and Aaron Newcomb, right, close in on him.

The Warriors wasted no time putting the first points of the game on the board, as Jackson engineered a scoring drive that featured a 39-yard completion to Damon Presberry to give his team a first and goal at the Rams' eight-yard line. Then, on fourth down and six, Jackson hit Clark with a six-yard touchdown pass. The pass for the conversion was no good and Havre de Grace led 6-0.

The Rams responded with a 10-play, 73-yard scoring drive to knot the score at 6-6, as Crosco scored on a five-yard run that was set up by a 21-yard carry by Woods. The run for the conversion was stopped short.

After stopping the Warrior offense, the Rams took possession, but quickly turned the ball over with a fumble on their own 45-yard line. It was Southern's only turnover of the day. Havre de Grace nearly turned the Ram miscue into more points, but Joel Uphold knocked down one of Jackson's passes in the end zone and then Newcomb sacked Jackson on a fourth down play, giving the Rams the ball at their own 41.

Southern took its first lead of the day by moving the ball 59 yards in 14 plays, and in the process ate up all but nine seconds of the first half. Newcomb capped the drive with a three-yard touchdown run.

While all but one of the Rams' offensive plays of the day were on the ground, the second scoring march featured a key third-down, 15-yard pass from Woods to tight end Dave Stephens for a first down.

The second and final throw of the afternoon by Woods was also to Stephens for the two-point conversion after Newcomb's three-yard touchdown run. Although Stephens came down with the ball with an apparently clean catch, the officials ruled that it touched the ground and that he did not have possession of it and the score remained 12-6 at halftime.

The score was tied for the second time soon after the opening kickoff of the second half, as the ball inadvertently spun off the side of the Warrior kicker's foot, went about 15 yards, and then bounced right into the hands of a teammate, giving Havre de Grace possession on the Rams' 46. A few plays later, Jackson connected with Clark on a 27-yard touchdown pass. Another missed pass for the conversion left the score tied at 12-12.

The Rams took the lead again late in the third quarter, as they one again methodically marched 53 yards down the field on eight plays. The effort was highlighted by a 28-yard run by Woods that put the ball on the Warriors' seven-yard line. Newcomb scored his second touchdown three plays later on a two-yard carry. A run by Woods for the conversion just broke the plane of the goal line and the Rams led 20-12 going into the final period.

Havre de Grace did not quit, however, and knotted the score for the third time when Jackson capped a drive with a three-yard touchdown pass to Al Mann and then hit Clark with a conversion toss to make it 20-20.

The winning 56-yard drive by the Rams was actually aided by a somewhat controversial clipping call against Southern lineman Justin Steyer that nullified a touchdown run by Newcomb.

Newcomb broke loose on the apparent 29-yard scoring run, but as he crossed the goal line, Steyer, who was about seven yards behind Newcomb, nudged a Warrior defender in the back and was called for the foul, nullifying the touchdown. This occurred with nearly four minutes left in the game.

TOTAL ELATION was experienced and shared by Southern Rams, their fans, and their coaching staff when the final buzzer sounded Saturday at Havre de Grace with the Rams on top, 28-20. Rams Use did score on a one-yard dive by Newcomb, all but a minute and 15 seconds remained on the clock, giving the quick-striking Jackson and Warrior offense much less time to rally.

The Warriors started their final drive at about mid-field, and the last play of the game was a fourth-down pass that was broken up inside the Rams' five-yard line.

The Rams did not punt a single time in the game, and were stopped only once on downs and once by the fumble.

"We knew going in that if we were able to control the ball and the tempo of the game, we would have a very good chance of winning it," stated Coach Tom Woods. "One of the main keys was the play of our offensive line, which was as good as it has been all season. They just didn't adjust to us defensively and we were able to just keep pounding away at them.

"The fact that our defense was very disciplined in staying with their receivers was another big factor," he said. "Their quarterback was as athletic as anyone we've seen this year, but we made it tough for him to find anyone open."

"They were just too strong for us," stated Havre de Grace coach Tom Marron. "We also hurt ourselves on one of their scoring drives by jumping offsides twice."

Woods said he believed the Rams missed an opportunity to put the game away much earlier when they failed to score after a turnover by the Warriors in the third quarter deep in their own territory. "We had the ball on their 15, but then got pushed back by a couple of penalties and we didn't score," he said. "A touchdown would have given us a 28- or 26-12 lead at that point."

Woods noted the performance of Aaron Newcomb, both offensively and defensively, and the efforts of Danny Compitello at fullback in the fourth quarter. "Aaron played very well on both sides of the ball, and Danny did a super job for us at fullback in the fourth quarter by picking up some key yardage," he said. "Plus Andy's (Woods) ability to run outside was just enough to keep things mixed up and help us with our off-tackle, inside game."

The major spoil of the victory is an opportunity for the Rams to play one more game and for the Maryland state 1A title, which would be the first-ever state football championship for Southern High School. It will be the third time in the school's history that the Rams have made it to the title game.

The final opponent will be Cambridge-South Dorchester, a team that is sporting an 11-1 record (Southern is 10-2) and earned a spot in the finals by recording a mild upset win, 27-0, over previously undefeated Kent County High School in the other semi-final game.

Woods likens the Cambridge team to Musselman from the standpoint of its wide-open, quick offense that features some 30 running plays and at least two dozen passing plays.

The multiple-I, double-slot, occasionally run-and-shoot offense is led by its senior quarterback Ryan Fleetwood (6-1, 170), who like Andy Woods, is the son of the head coach.

"Ryan Fleetwood is the best, most complete quarterback that we will have faced this season," Woods said. "Not only has he passed for 1,600 yards, but he also runs the option extremely well. He's just a great athlete, who has already accepted a baseball scholarship to Division I James Madison."

Fleetwood's favorite targets are seniors Hance Camper (6-3, 210) at split end and Antwan Lake (6-5, 225) at tight end, the latter of whom Woods also describes as "a real Division I prospect."

"The keys for us defensively will be to stop Fleetwood on the option, and to somehow contain Camper and Lake," Woods said, adding that Cambridge passes the ball about 50 percent of the time.

"We are slightly bigger than they are on the offensive line, but they have very good quickness, much like Havre de Grace," he said.

The 4-4 Cambridge defense is paced by senior guard T.V. Johnson (6-1, 260), senior defensive end Durell Lake (6-0, 225), senior linebacker Ty Quon Murry (5-10, 170), and senior safety Tyree Jenkins (6-1, 180).

"They are much like us on defense," Woods said. "They basically just read and react, and don't do a lot of blitzing.

"This should be their year because they are such a senior-dominated team," he said, adding that they start only two juniors. "We really weren't surprised that they beat Kent, even though their only loss was to Kent in the regular season.

"Cambridge is better than Havre de Grace, but not as good as Fort Hill," he said. "Once again, our ability to control the ball and the tempo of the game will be the key for us."

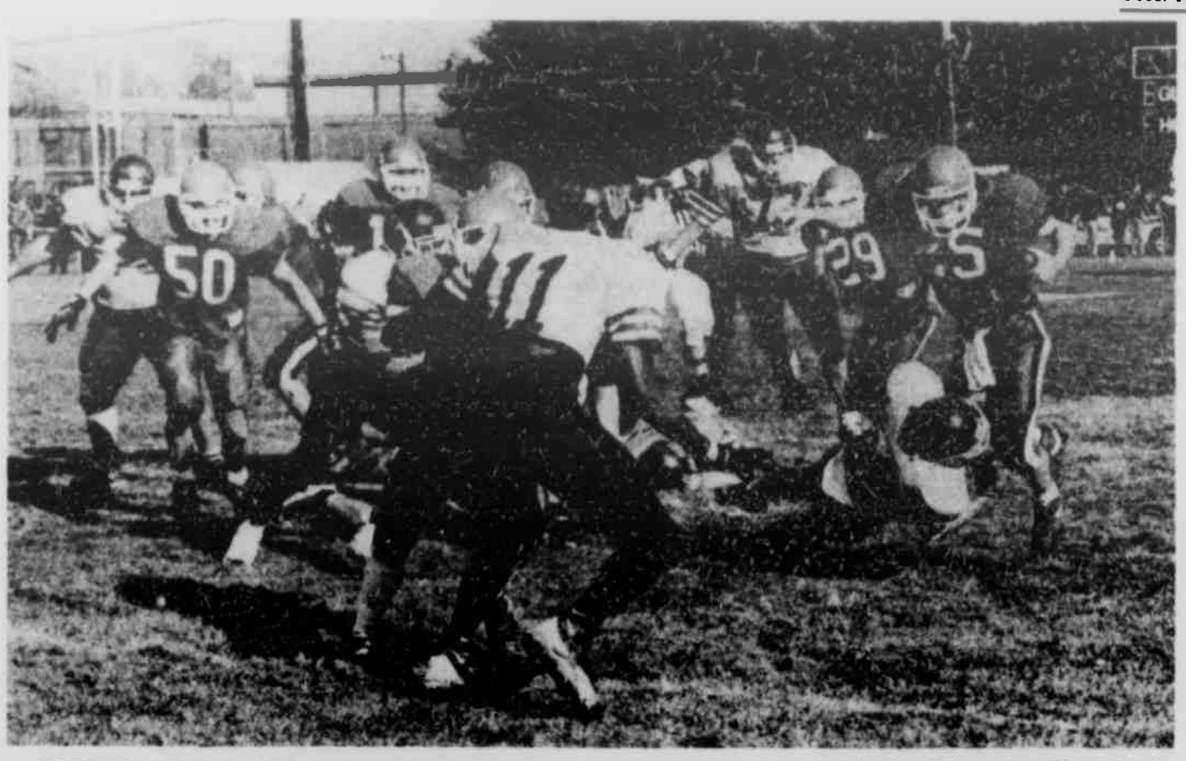
Woods pointed out some rather ironic connections with the Cambridge coaching staff, besides the fact that the game will feature two father/coach-son/quarterback relationships.

"Doug Fleetwood, the head coach, is also the principal of the school, and his assistant, Al Thomas, is vice principal," Woods said. "I coached with both of them, along with Augie Waible from Baltimore Poly, in the 1984 Maryland Big 33 game.

"Doug has won two state championships at Cambridge, and Al, who just arrived at Cambridge last year, won five state titles during his 15 years at Seneca Valley and two more as coach of Damascus High School," he said. "They are great guys, and they obviously know how to coach."

Once again because of winter weather conditions, the Rams have had great difficulty in practicing for the title game. They did get one day of outside practice in on the astroturf at Morgantown High School Monday, but another practice scheduled there on Wednesday had to be cancelled because that field was also covered with a few inches of snow.

One piece of good news, however, received this week is that big junior lineman Seth Tressler, the leading tackler for the Rams this season, has been cleared by surgeons to play in the title game. "Seth is still facing surgery, but the surgeon said that he can do no additional damage by playing," Woods said, adding that Tressler's knee is "pain-free" right now.



"This is just a huge lift for all of us," he said. "Seth is a great player who has certainly earned a spot in the championship game."

The kickoff at Byrd Stadium in College Park is slated for 1 p.m. Saturday. Tickets, which are $5 each (under 7 free), may be purchased at the south gate of the stadium, and the Southern fans will sit on the north side of the stadium.

Directions from Oakland to the stadium are as follows: Take U.S. Rt. 68 east, take U.S. Rt. 270 toward Washington, go east toward Silver Spring on the D.C. Beltway (Rt. 495), take the College Park exit (Rt. 1), turn onto Rt. 193 west and travel about two miles; the entrance to the campus will be on the left.

The Rams and Southern cheerleaders will be staying at the Greenbelt Marriott (301-441-3700 for reservations). The Southern Garrett Band will also perform at the game.

"This is our third time in the state finals," Woods said. "We hope it turns out to be a charm."

Laker Women Drop Opener To Altoona

The 1995-96 basketball season opened on a disappointing note for the Garrett Community College women's team, as the Lakers lost to host Penn State-Altoona Campus, 79-40.

Michele McCarty paced the Lakers' scoring effort by hitting four three-point shots and finishing with 15 points, while Amy Harman recorded 10 points and four assists.

The Lakers were never really in the game, as Altoona held a commanding 41-14 advantage at halftime.

Melissa Fink led the Altoona offense with a 19-point effort, Natalie Nuzzo finished with 12 points and seven rebounds, and Angela Daniels had five steals and three assists.

Leading Garrett's rebounding was Crystal Wagner with eight grabs.

The Lakers, who are coached by Dennis Gibson, will attempt to even their record this evening when they play at CCAC-Allegheny in Pittsburgh, with tip-off set for 7 p.m.

Four Inducted Into Southern Hall Of Fame

Four former gridiron stars at Southern High School were inducted recently into the Southern Football Hall of Fame during a pre-game ceremony at the school's athletic field.

Inducted were Steve Bennett as a defensive back, J.R. Bosley as running back, Rick Shaffer as a defensive lineman, and John Stem as an offensive lineman.

Bennett, who played for the Rams in the early 1980's, was named the Dapper Dan Defensive Player of the Year in Western Maryland after recording eight interceptions that year in leading the Rams to a 9-2 record. Among the highlights of his career was a 95-yard kick-off return with 58 seconds remaining in the 1984 game against Musselman which propelled the Rams into the playoffs.

Bennett has been a Maryland State Police officer since 1987 in the Frederick/Hagerstown area. He and his wife, Tammie, are the parents of two children, Jordan and Jessica.

Bosley became one of Southern's legendary tailbacks during the mid-1980s and led the Rams to an undefeated regular season in his senior year (1987). He was a key figure in two of Southern's all-time biggest victories, a 33-27 comeback win over an undefeated Tucker County team and an overtime victory over Allegany that same year in the playoffs, in which he scored the winning touchdown.

Bosley's football career continued at Frostburg State University, where he started as a running back for three seasons. He presently works as a youth counselor at Victor Cullen Academy, and resides with his wife, Erika, and sons Zack and Hayden in Cresaptown.

Rick Shaffer starred for the Rams in the early 1970s as both a bruising defensive tackle and as fullback on offense. After being a three-year starter on Coach Bill Frost's teams, Shaffer went on to play for West Virginia University, where he earned a full scholarship and played for Coach Bobby Bowden as a starter on the 1976 Peach Bowl team that defeated North Carolina State, 14-10.

Shaffer, manager/owner of Shaffer Ford Sales in Oakland, resides in Oakland with his wife, the former Kathryn Bartlett, and their two children, Holly and Bart.

The Southern High teams of the late 1980s earned an 18-4 record with John Stem among the offensive line starters, with the highlight of his career being named to the 1990 Maryland Big 33 team that played the Pennsylvania Big

ASI Triathlon Slated For Spring

Another first for the Adventuresports Institute of Garrett Community College will occur next spring when the first intercollegiate Adventure Sports Triathlon is held in Garrett County. Scheduled for April 12, 13, and 14, the triathlon is being planned by students in the Adventuresports program and will include participants from 10 invited colleges.

According to Mike Logsdon, program director, the triathlon will consist of three events: whitewater paddling, mountain biking, and rock climbing. Teams will consist of three participants, all of whom must have earned at least 12 credits at an accredited college or university with a minimum 2.5 grade point average. Each team member may compete in a maximum of two triathlon events, with the best team members score tallying as the team score.

Both individuals and team winners will be named, with scoring accomplished by timing the duration from start to finish of each participant's time in the two chosen events.

It will be possible for each college to enter up to nine participants that would include two teams of three members each, two individual competitors and a team coach who must be an employee of the college.

FATHER, SON BAG BUCKS - Joshua Harris, 9, son of Greg and Shari Harris, Oakland, bagged the first buck of his young "career" while hunting near Deer Park on Junior Hunters' Day (Nov. 18). Then his dad harvested this 14-point, 148-pounder on Wednesday of this week, also near Deer Park. Joshua's kill was a six-point. The first day of regular firearms season (Saturday) yielded about four dozen more bucks than were taken on the first day last season.

DNR Announces Opening Day Deer Kill In Garrett Co.

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary John R. Griffin has announced the unofficial numbers for the first day of deer firearms season in Garrett County and throughout the state.

"Garrett County's firearms deer hunters used excellent hunting conditions to increase the opening day take by 59 over the 1994 opening day," Griffin said. Unofficial figures indicate that Garrett County firearm deer hunters harvested 1,136 on opening day, compared to 1,077 during the 1994 season's opening day. Statewide, those figures were 16,140 compared to 14,003 during the 1994 season opener.

Statewide, weather conditions were ideal for hunting on opening day, Nov. 25. Temperature, wind and moisture conditions were generally suitable across the state for successful deer hunting, Griffin said. Maryland's estimated 97,000 licensed firearm deer hunters responded by increasing the opening day unofficial take by 15 percent over last year. The unofficial figures will change slightly when tallied by computer later this winter.

The four new inductees join Ron Colaw, George Corliss, Paul Cornish, Brent Sanders, Zack Gibson, and Alfred "Blue" Marucci in the SHS Football Hall of Fame.

Lakers Crush Altoona, 79-49, For Fourth Win

Behind some effective three-point shooting by Chad Reese and strong inside play by Kanda Gray, the Garrett Community College Lakers coasted to a 79-49 victory over host Penn State-Altoona Campus Tuesday night. It was the fourth win in seven starts for the Lakers, who will host Catonsville this Saturday in their first Maryland JUCO Conference game of the season.

Reese, a freshman from Terra Alta, W.Va., nailed five three-point buckets and finished with 17 points, while Gray, a freshman from Owings Mills, netted 15 points from the inside.

The Lakers were up 41-30 at halftime, but then steadily pulled away. The Garrett defense allowed only 19 points in the second half.

Also reaching double figures for the Lakers were Antoine Stokes with 13 points and VaShawne Gross with 12. Gunnell Hickman scored nine points before having to leave the game with an injury.

Pacing Altoona in scoring was T.J. Frazier with a game-high 22 points. He was the only member of his team to reach double figures.

Saturday's game against Catonsville will get underway at 7:30 p.m.

The Lakers will also play at home next Wednesday against Anne Arundel CC.

Police Charge

mission of its owner. The truck, a 1986 Ford Ranger, is owned by Wayne T. Bolden.

In his report, Tfc. R.H. Sharp stated that the barrack received information that the truck had been taken from Wayne's Water and Wells. He later saw the vehicle as it traveled along Rt. 219, near the scenic overlook, and began his pursuit. Sharp said that when Farrell noticed he was being followed, he quickly drove into a private driveway and abandoned the vehicle. The suspect then fled on foot behind a house and Sharp, with the assistance of Natural Resources Police (NRP) Officer Richard Towers pursued until they were able to apprehend him.

The officer learned that Farrell had posted bond and had been released from jail just one hour prior to the theft. He is currently lodged in the Garrett County Jail, where he is being held on $200,000 bond.

ARRESTED FOR HANDGUN VIOLATION

An Indianapolis, Ind., man was arrested Saturday for knowingly transporting a loaded handgun on a highway.

According to a report filed by Tfc. Sharp, 31-year-old Timothy James Eichel was a passenger in a vehicle operated by his brother, Ronald Eichel, that had been stopped for speeding. The trooper stated that as the driver was looking in the glove compartment for his registration, a handgun was observed in plain view inside the compartment. Sharp had Ronald Eichel exit the vehicle, and he placed him under arrest. Eichel reportedly told the officer the gun was in the vehicle, but it belonged to Timothy Eichel. The officer at that point noticed the passenger attempting to place something under the seat.

It was later learned that the gun, a .380 semi-automatic that was loaded with seven rounds of metal-jacketed ammunition, was no longer in the glove compartment, but it was located under the car seat. Eichel told the officer he has a permit in the state of Indiana to carry a weapon.

Following his arrest, Timothy Eichel was lodged in the Garrett County Jail. He later posted $500 bond and has been released.

ARRESTED ON VARIOUS CHARGES

A Glen Burnie man was arrested early Monday morning after he was initially stopped by Tfc. Mark Clapper for speeding on Interstate 68 (75/65 mph).

Michael Joseph Blottenberger Jr., 26, was charged with speeding, attempting to elude a police officer, giving false and fictitious names to a police officer, and failure to display a driver's license on demand.

After his stop, Blottenberger reportedly told the officer that his name was Craig Michael Barlow, but when a check through the Motor Vehicles Administration revealed no such person, he said his name was Michael Anthony Thompson. Again, a check through the MVA showed no information. Sometime later, Blottenberger admitted to his true identity, and it was learned he has a lengthy criminal and traffic record.

Following his arrest, he was taken before a district court commissioner, and was released after posting $500 cash bond.

DWI ACCIDENT

A Morgantown, W.Va., man was charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI) following a single-vehicle accident that occurred on Rt. 560, near Loch Lynn, Friday afternoon.

State police said Robert Ray Wilt, 66, was traveling north on Rt. 560, when he drove off the road, struck a ditch, and traveled into a field. He reportedly told Tfc. E.S. Derham that another car ran him off the road.

Wilt, who was also charged with negligent driving, was not injured in the 4:14 p.m. mishap. Following his arrest, he was released on his own recognizance.

DWI ARRESTS

Three additional DWI arrests were logged at the local state police barrack during the past week.

Kenneth Russell Case, 49, E. Northport, N.Y., was arrested and charged with DWI on Nov. 24, by Tfc. Mark Clapper. The trooper also charged Case with exceeding the speed limit (for traveling 75 miles per hour in a 65 mph zone) on Interstate 68.

MOTHER, DAUGHTER CAPTURE CYCLING HONORS - A local mother and daughter are emerging as two of the top mountain bike racers in the area, as Diane Kuhn and her daughter, Holly, finished at and near the top in the 1995 West Virginia Mountain Bike Series. Eleven-year-old Holly, pictured left, was named the state champion in the Junior Women division, while Diane finished in second place in the Sport Women's category, a group that included 29 women. They competed in races all over the state of West Virginia to amass the points that determined the top finishers in the series. The Kuhns are sponsored by Blackwater Bikes, of Davis, W.Va. Diane is married to Dennis Kuhn and the family resides in Gorman.

Charles Francis Fox, 35, Oakland, was charged with DWI on Nov. 24, as he traveled along Rt. 219, south of the Sang Run Road, at the scenic overlook. The arresting officer was Tfc. E.S. Derham.

John Michael Millican, 42, Oakland, was arrested on a DWI charge on Nov. 26. The arresting officer, Tfc. G.A. Seaman, also charged Millican with negligent driving, and failure to drive in a single lane. The trooper reportedly observed Millican's vehicle travel off the side of the road several times along Rt. 135 at Mtn. Lake Park.

Carrots and ginger and nmmmmn! Peel and slice a pound of carrots and boil with a small peeled-and-cut-up potato (as a thickener). When tender, process with ½ cup each chicken broth and heavy cream, salt, pepper and ½ tsp. or more grated ginger.

Peach sundae is a super dessert if the fruit is seasoned with vanilla and a little white wine.

There's lots of flavor and very little fat when you "poach" fish in the microwave. Put fish in a dish with a little orange juice, zap on high until opaque, about 4 minutes. Serve with a salsa of chopped garlic, mango, green onions and a big pinch of red pepper.

Want real tomato flavor in the middle of winter? Choose cherry tomatoes or ripe plum tomatoes for true taste.

Smart dieters choose sandwiches with lean meats like ham, turkey and roast beef. These have far less calories and fat, ounce for ounce, than pepperoni, salami, bologna or pastrami.

Smart dieters know they'll find plenty of delicious, good-to-eat choices on the menu at

IRENE J. THOMAS

Gary A. Hawk, CPA, and Irene J. Thomas recently accepted positions with Rodeheaver & Associates, Certified Public Accountants, Oakland.

Hawk, who is an in-charge accountant with the firm, was previously employed as a staff accountant with a Fairmont, W.Va., area CPA firm for three years. He successfully completed the CPA examination this year. His career in public accounting began while he was in college, when he was employed part-time as a staff accountant for another Fairmont area firm.

As in-charge accountant with Rodeheaver & Associates, Hawk is involved in providing tax and audit services to individual and small-business clients of the firm.

"Gary's experience will prove valuable in providing quality tax, audit, and management services to many of our clients," stated a spokesman for the firm.

Originally from Mt. Storm, W.Va., Hawk recently returned to the area, where he resides with his wife, Jackie. He enjoys hunting, softball, and basketball, and coaches Little League baseball and basketball.

Ms. Thomas, who has accepted a staff accountant position with Rodeheaver & Associates, was formerly employed in Johnstown, Pa., by Scansaroli and Swetz, CPAs, as a staff accountant on governmental audit engagements. She holds a bachelor of science degree in accounting from the University of Pittsburgh, Johnstown Campus, and is currently working toward successfully completion of the CPA examination.

Ms. Thomas will be involved in all aspects of the local firm's audit practice, which includes governmental, non-profit, and small-business clients.

Six Arrested On Marijuana Charge

Garrett County sheriff's deputies arrested six persons Tuesday evening on a charge of possession of 12 grams of marijuana and paraphernalia.

According to a sheriff's office press release, deputies responded to Lewis B. Naylor Drive at 10:20 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 28, after receiving a report that a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) violation was allegedly taking place in an apartment.

Upon making contact with an apartment occupant, one of the deputies reported that he detected a strong odor of marijuana emanating from the apartment. A subsequent search reportedly revealed 12 grams of suspected marijuana and various items of CDS paraphernalia.

The deputies then proceeded to arrest Michelle L. Belcher, age 19, Oakland; James R. Roe III, age 22, McHenry; Roxanne M. Niner, age 18, Grantsville; Michael S. Baisden, age 19, Oakland; James C. Brammer, age 21, Ohio; and Casey M. Carey, age 20, McHenry. All six were arrested on the charge of possession of marijuana/paraphernalia and were incarcerated in the county jail.

Following a bond hearing on Wednesday morning, Belcher was released on $500 cash bond and the other five suspects were released on their own recognizance.

Industrial Spill

ry byproduct, which reduces acidity itself, is pumped from the treatment plant into deep mines to help treat the water still inside the mines. The slurry is transported overland by a series of pipes and pumped into a well-like opening that carries it underground.

According to Boylan, the spill occurred when the well collapsed on itself. Although the pipe network featured a leak-detection system, the well was not equipped with such a monitor and the spill went unnoticed for about 24 hours, causing the spill of an estimated 70,000 gallons of slurry before the failure was detected.

Although there is no reason for state officials to think there was any negligence involved, Mettiki is being required to develop a leak detection system in the well where the slurry is pumped, Boylan said.

The spill quickly found its way to Laurel Run, a tributary of the North Branch of the Potomac River. Mettiki officials responded to the spill immediately, vacuuming the slurry and containing it where they could. At one point, crews boated into the remote and inaccessible Laurel Run to shovel the slurry from the stream banks.

There have been no reports of fish kills or other significant environmental damage in other parts of the river, Boylan said.

"Mettiki has been very prompt and responsible in jumping on this and correcting it," he added. State officials have not yet settled the matter with the mining company, but Boylan said he does not believe any fines will be issued or permits revoked as a result of the spill.

Man Faces

arrived at Meyr's home to investigate complaints, they found the burned animal carcasses. Some of the meat had been removed from one deer. The head of another deer and the antlers of a third were reportedly missing.

"The turkeys that were burned had the breasts removed," Milbourne said. "That's what the family was eating. But nearly all of the deer that were burned had nothing taken off them. Meyr said he didn't like deer meat."

Police confiscated eight photographs of Meyr and others posed with bear and turkey carcasses, along with a bear claw necklace, 21 packages of frozen illegal deer and turkey meat, four 50-pound bags of feed corn, the feeder, and a spotlight. They also seized a 12-gauge shotgun, a semi-automatic assault-type rifle, and a Russian-made assault rifle.

When the charging documents are filed, Meyr will be charged with seven counts of possessing deer out of season, four counts of shooting turkeys out of season, two counts of failing to take deer shot in season to a checking station within 24 hours of harvest, and one count each of failing to take a killed turkey to a checking station, hunting black bear (a protected animal in Maryland), and hunting spring turkey with a rifle.

Hunters are restricted to using shotguns during the spring season, Milbourne noted, because they have a shorter range than rifles.

Majestic Sweetness

Samuel Stennett

Survey the beauties of His face,
And in His glories dwell;
Think of the wonders of His grace,
And all His triumphs tell.

No mortal can with Him compare,
Among the sons of men:
Fairer is He than all the fair
That fill the heavenly train.

To Heaven, the place of my abode,
He brings my weary feet;
Shows me the glories of my God,
And makes my joys complete.

Since from His bounty I receive
Such proofs of love divine,
Had I a thousand hearts to give,
Lord, they should all be Thine!

Scopolamine Patch May Reduce Drooling

Drooling (excessive release of saliva) is a problem associated with brain injuries, mental disorders, nervous system development problems such as not enough oxygen reaching the brain at birth, and neurological diseases such as cerebral palsy and Parkinson's disease. Saliva release from the saliva glands is under the control of the cholinergic part of the nervous system. Medicines that block the chemical acetylcholine (called anticholinergics) have been used to treat drooling. The primary drawback to most of these medicines has been their poor absorption and side effects. Reports indicate, for example, that two-thirds of persons treated with anticholinergics experience dry mouth. This has lead researchers to look for better treatments.

Scopolamine is a prescription anticholinergic medicine that may be applied in the form of a skin patch to prevent motion sickness. Research indicates that this medicine also may be effective for drooling in adults and children. In the mid-1980s researchers noted a 50 percent reduction in saliva flow 12 to 18 hours after applying scopolamine patches to 21 healthy volunteers. Several years later a case report indicated a significant reduction in drooling in a man with a history of traumatic brain injuries. The akin patch is not recommended in persons with glaucoma.

Ward Director Of Garrett Counseling

Garrett Counseling Services has announced the appointment of Scott Ward, M.A., L.P.C., as director of the organization.

Ward has over 30 years of mental health counseling experience. Prior to becoming director of Garrett Counseling Services, Ward spent three years as a clinician/therapist for the former Garrett Counseling, Inc. He also served as director of mental health for the Garrett County Health Department for 15 years.

Previously owned by Ms. Jean James, Garrett Counseling Services is now affiliated with Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The private counseling firm offers a broad range of care, including services for those in the private sector as well as complementing the existing outpatient mental health services available at the Garrett County Health Department.

The firm currently works with Bausch & Lomb to provide that company with an Employee Assistance Program (EAP), offering an immediate and direct response to the needs of employees while maintaining confidentiality. According to Ward, EAP's are helpful in reducing absenteeism, alcohol and drug abuse, and stress, and reducing employer costs while keeping employees healthier and happier.

Some of the goals of Garrett Counseling Services are to make EAP's available to other area businesses, as well as bridge the gap in available children and adolescent services.

"Garrett Counseling Services has a good foundation, and I look forward to expanding on that foundation to offer comprehensive, locally available services that will assist in improving the quality of family life in our area," said Ward.

For more information about Garrett Counseling Services, persons may call (301) 334-2281.

Glimpse of The Past . . .

HOPEMONT STATE HOSPITAL, which has served in various capacities over the years, is pictured here much earlier this century when it treated patients suffering from tuberculosis. Many of the buildings seen in this photo are long-gone, and the roadway (W.Va. Rt. 7) is wider and in considerably better condition today. This photo is on loan by Harold Murphy and is published courtesy of the Garrett County Historical Society and The Republican. The Society is currently offering both memberships and a number of books, any and all of which would make good holiday gifts, according to Cliff DeWitt, Society president. More specific information about these items will appear in next week's paper.

Baltimore Sun, 11-26-95. The front page article, "Federal Workers Worried..." describes the barest tip of a monstrous iceberg dead ahead in taxpayer waters.

Newspapers can provide the most basic public service possible from newspapers by obtaining the General Accounting Office's (GAO) new report on government pay and benefits, and publishing excerpts for its readers.

According to the Sun, the GAO report indicates that "hundreds of thousands" of federal workers are "significantly overpaid" for the work they do. Don't forget this is a government report, so the problem is vastly understated. My guess is that federal payrolls can be cut as much as nine billion dollars a year while losing less than five percent of the workers.

I am personally acquainted with government workers whose salaries exceed $50,000 and $60,000 a year for work which the private sector routinely pays $22,000 to $30,000 a year.

Some of these folks make decisions and do role work that could be done just as well by high school graduates as by people with master's degrees. Our hyper-credentialed public sector has well proved that advanced degrees do not indicate competence or high quality work.

It is an unpleasant necessity to get government quahfications, pay, and benefits in line with value conscious markets for the work. Both federal and state civil service systems are out of line with America's realities in 1995.

Displaced government workers can do what workers put out of work by governments' attempts to idiot-proof life have done. Or they can do whatever the 78,000 supervisors ATT is laying off intend to do.

It's time government workers experienced what a stockholder's economy feels like. Get nervous, baby, it's show time.

Sincerely,
W. L. Welch
Gortner

To the Editor:

They did something right: Our forefathers founded this great nation on Godly principles. God blessed this great empire as no other nation on earth. Thank the true and living God who blessed their endeavors.

The Bible is the Almighty Book that brings fear of the Almighty Creator on everyone. Sinners quake before it and attempt to flee from its presence and its precepts, not admitting it has all the answers to the world's ills. Thus we have gone into the following results. Our constitutional rights have been betrayed by those we have entrusted to preserve them. The state and church is to be separate. We are guaranteed freedom of speech and religion. Our officials have taken oath to defend and uphold the constitution of our U.S.A. But?

The state has outlawed the Bible and prayer and Judo Christian worship in our schools. Churches are being taxed and zoned out of existence, church doors are being padlocked for violating state laws, and preachers jailed. Our nation has taken a downward spiral in morals, honesty, and truth. Consider these statistics:

- While our population has increased only 41 percent from 1960-1990, violent crimes have increased 500 percent (U.S. Dept. of Justice)
- According to the F.B.I., juvenile arrests have nearly quadrupled.
- The percent of American children depending on welfare has risen 3.5 percent in 1960 to 8.5 percent in 1970, and 12.9 percent in 1991. (Taken from the Washington Post, September 23, 1992.)
- The number of unmarried, pregnant teenagers doubled in the past two decades. (National Center of Health Statistics)
- In 1990, there were approximately 1.6 million abortions performed. (The Alan Guttmacher Inst.)
- Teen suicides have more than tripled since 1960. (National Center for Health Statistics)
- Drug related emergency room visits taken from 21 cities was 40,000 in 1988. (National Institute of Drug Abuse Survey)

The hand writing is on the wall. Do you think we can learn something? Prov. 29:2 reads, "When the righteous are in authority, the people rejoice, but when the wicked beareth rule, the people mourn." We may run from God, but we cannot get away from Him.

Sincerely,
Homer Mellott

Home Tips

EGG-ED ON — While I was working on my car radio, the screws and parts kept falling off the seat.

I used a foam egg carton to hold parts. It worked great. Bob A., Albany, Ga.

BAKING SODA — To cleanse built-up mousse, hair spray and shampoo from hair, I put a few heaping tablespoons of baking soda in a large plastic cup with water, mix well and massage down to the roots and out to the ends of my hair. Then I rinse well and shampoo and condition as usual. Hair will really shine.

The frequency will depend on how much goo you put on your hair. I usually do this about once a month. Janie K., Bradford, Pa.

MAKE IT PRETTY — A quick and satisfactory alternative to tinting various icings for cake decorating can be achieved by cutting diagonally through colored mini marshmallows with kitchen shears. The resulting "petals" can be arranged in flower shapes and green "leaves" on the cake top. Charlotte D., Waynesboro, Va.

PLASTIC CONTAINERS — My tip concerns plastic lids that are hard to fit onto the containers.

I submerge the lids in hot water and they soften and become more pliable and will go on the containers with very little effort. This technique has saved me a lot of frustration. Hilda V., Anaconda, Mont.

MEASURING CUP — I have a suggestion for measuring shortening.

If you run very hot water in your measuring cup, let it stand a second or so, then dump the water and measure your shortening. It will slide right out and leave no trace of shortening in the cup. Cecilia L., Camden, N.J.

KEEP IN TOUCH — My daughter is away for college for the first time. She says she has a hard time getting all her letter-writing materials together to write home, so now, every time I write her, I enclose a stamped envelope with blank paper inside and our home address on it (I even put her address up in the left-hand corner).

Now I hope she will write. This is good for anyone away from home.

TOGETHERNESS — My mom had a great idea for family reunions. She took an address book with her and had everyone write their addresses, phone numbers, birthdays and anniversary dates in it.

FIRST AID WARNINGS: A recent survey shows many of us are not as concerned as we should be about the basics of first aid.

Dr. Leonard Gravier, a pediatric surgeon and founding member of the American Trauma Society, says this lapse could have serious and potentially life-threatening consequences.

A release from the Warner Wellcome Company, in conjunction with the American Red Cross, presents some facts that should alert all of us to the importance of proper first aid procedures.

For example, the release notes that although they no longer make front page news, Strep A infections cause the deaths of at least 50 people a year. Strep A, which incudes a strain known as the flesh-eating bacteria, can enter the body though a tiny cut or scrape. Yet most people ignore these wounds, believing that if they're so small, there's nothing to worry about. However, infections can and do occur.

Dr. Gravier points out, "The biggest single mistake people can make is not medicating a minor wound to kill germs, and not providing the protection necessary during the healing process."

The American Red Cross advises the following steps for dealing with minor cuts and abrasions:

1. Cleanse. If you get a minor cut or scrape, wash it thoroughly with soap and water.

2. Medicate. Use a broad spectrum antibiotic ointment (check with your pharmacist for recommendations) to kill infection-causing bacteria and help speed healing.

3. Bandage. Cover the area with a bandage and keep it clean. This procedure should be repeated two to three times a day until the wound is healed.

Q. When was Royal Dux made?

A. "Royal Dux" is the common name for Duxer Prozellanmanufaktur, located in Dux, Bohemia — now Duchcov, Czech Republic — starting in 1860. The firm specializes in porcelains, busts of art nouveau-style maidens, large figures and ornate vases.

Royal Dux is still being made.

Q. In describing pomona art glass, what is meant by the terms "first grind" and "second grind"?

A. Pomona glass is clear, with a soft amber border decorated with pale rose or blue flowers and leaves. The background of the glass is covered with fine lines. It was made by the New England Glass Co. from 1885 to 1888.

Pomona glass items were made for the dining table. You can find berry sets, finger bowls, pitchers, tumblers and vases.

The term "first grind" means the glass was made between April 1885 and June 1886. Pieces during that period were decorated by cutting through a wax surface on the glass, then dipping it into acid.

"Second grind" means the item was made by a less-expensive method of acid etching.

Q. I love dogs. Over the years, I've saved the licenses from every dog I've owned. Does anyone else collect dog licenses?

A. There are dog lovers who collect license tags, rabies tags, collars and paper memorabilia associated with licensing dogs. The tags can be found in many antiques shops and flea markets. They are usually mixed in with jewelry and other "smalls."

Dog licensing in the United States started about 1860. Tags from the 1890s have the most intricate designs and are highly prized. They sell for as much as $3. Pre-1950 tags cost about $2. Newer tags sell from 50 cents to $1.

Dollars & Sense

Tax planning is a year-round process but if you assess your tax situation now, you can take action to lessen your tax bill before the end of the year.

It is usually wise to time the receipt of income for the year in which you will owe less tax. For example, if you anticipate receiving a year-end or holiday bonus, consider the tax implications of receiving this additional income at the end of 1995 ot the beginning of 1996. Try to schedule, to the extent that tax law allows, receipt of your bonus in the year in which it is subject to less tax.

Generally, if you are self-employed or work on a freelance basis, you have more flexibility in timing the receipt of income. To push income into 1996, simply delay billing clients until January 1, or bill them late in December when payment this year is unlikely. You also can reduce your 1995 taxable income if you incur more deductible expenses, such as the purchase of new equipment and supplies, subject to limitations, by December 31.

If you defer receiving income from your investments into 1996, you may not have to pay taxes on those earnings until April, 1997, subject to rules for paying estimated taxes. Buying six-month or one-year U.S. Treasury bills may accomplish this goal.

You also should shift money from taxable investments to tax-free investments like municipal bonds and municipal bond funds. This way, you will start earning tax savings as soon as the shift takes effect.

Most taxpayers make their charitable contributions at the end of the year. The reason is simple: You receive the same deduction as if you made the contribution in January, and you have use of the money for the rest of the year. Remember, when you donate $250 or more to a qualified charity, you now must get a receipt for your donation. Canceled checks are no longer sufficient proof.

A tax-savvy way to make donations is with appreciated property such as stocks, real estate, and other investments that have increased in value since their purchase. If you have owned the asset for more than a year, generally, you can deduct the current market value of your contribution and avoid paying tax on the appreciation.

Over the intervening 19 years, Burrell has grown to 20 facilities and clinics in southern Missouri providing inpatient, residential, outpatient and various other specialty behavioral health services to approximately 10,000 patients a year.

In addition to serving as president and CEO of Burrell, Inc., Schaible also serves as president of Burrell Foundation and as vice president for Behavioral Health for Cox Health Systems.

He was also recognized for a number of other contributions to the Springfield community and the State of Missouri. He has served on numerous local and state commissions, task forces and boards. Most recently he served on the Governors' Commission on Management and Planning. Various activity's of Dr. Schaible were acknowledge in the Special Senate Resolution presented to him at the banquet. In addition, he has served the state in several other capacities including special advisor to the director of the Missouri Department of Mental Health, a member of the State Advisory Council for Psychiatric Services, and Missouri's Medicaid Task force.

In its recognition of Dr. Schaible, the City of Springfield, in a Special Proclamation, noted his early leadership role in what has become one of the City's premiere real estate developments--The Medical Mile and Bradford Park.

In the Chamber of Commerce's recognition, Dr. Schaible was praised for his ethical application of progressive business practices to the management of health care services; for his successful cost containment efforts and; the model services established; and, for his vision and leadership toward the integration of health and behavioral health services.

Schaible also was the recipient of the 1992 John J. Sweeney Award for outstanding leadership in and contributions to the field of mental health.

Dr. Schaible is the son of Wes and Wilma Schaible. He attended the U.S.A.F. Academy, Clark University in Worcester, Mass., and received his doctorate from West Virginia University. He is married to Carol Clutter whose parents, Von and Carrie Clutter, live in Accident. Carol is assistant manager of Bio-Medical Center in Springfield.
